

ELECTION OF OUTSIDE CHANCELLOR PROPOSED

Roscoe Nelson Quits Position On State Board

Chairman Resigns After Deliberation

STATEMENT IS MADE

Governor Meier Accepts Action
In View of Ill Health of Portland Attorney

Roscoe C. Nelson, chairman of the Oregon state board of higher education, resigned yesterday from the group. He made his decision after serious deliberation.

In commenting on his action, the Portland attorney said, "I believe this action best for the cause of higher education in Oregon."

He further stated that it had not been his intention to attack the University of Oregon or its students in his address.

In a statement following his resignation he declared:

"No judge will pass upon a cause, a party to which believes him to be prejudiced. In retiring, he does not do so under fire, nor does he admit a factual basis for the challenge. He withdraws so that the suit may submit his controversy to a court, the impartiality of which is constant and whose ultimate judgment cannot thereafter be assailed upon the grounds that the court had been prejudiced."

Nelson indicated his contacts with the University faculty under existing circumstances "could be nothing but embarrassing."

Governor Meier in accepting the resignation stated that he knew that Nelson was not in the best of health and that doctor's orders had been given Nelson to rest.

More Rally Ties to Be Sold at Co-op Today; Lid Supply Exhausted

Another allotment of 100 rally ties was received yesterday and will be placed on sale at the Co-op this morning. This is the third and last order placed for ties, and makes a total of 700, 600 of which have already been sold.

The entire supply of rooters' lids purchased by the A.S.U.O. and distributed free to students was exhausted yesterday.

Students desiring to sit in the rooters' section at the game must have both a rooters' lid and a rally tie.

Dean of Medical School Plans Visit To Campus Soon

Dr. Harold B. Myers Invited by
Advisory Committee to Aid
Students With Programs

Dr. Harold B. Myers, associate dean of the Portland Medical school, is to visit the campus some time in the near future for the purpose of holding personal interviews with pre-medical students planning to attend medical school next year. He will help students to adjust their programs so they will be best fitted for the work there. Students will be allowed 20 minutes for each conference, and must sign up for the time.

Myers has been invited by the pre-medical advisory committee, consisting of Dr. Will V. Norris, professor of physics; Dr. E. S. Conklin, professor of psychology; and Dr. H. B. Yocom, professor of biology, and will arrive prior to the aptitude test.

Those students taking the test, the Association of American Medical College Aptitude test, which will be given in room 105 McClure, December 6 at 2 p. m., must apply immediately to Dr. Yocom. A fee of $1 is required of each one taking the test.

Six Students Get Jobs

Due to the efficient work of the employment agency in locating various jobs, six students were able to meet last installments on registration fees Saturday. Such jobs as cutting lawns, washing windows, fixing radios, irons, sweepers, and cutting wood were the means of the earning of this money.

Library Plans Being Pushed To Completion

Proposed Building Site
Is Chosen

PLANS CONSIDERED

Proposed Infirmary Awaits Final
Action; 30 Per Cent of Cost
Would Be Gift

Plans for the proposed $250,000 library on the Oregon campus are being driven to completion, it was stated last night by F. E. Callister of Albany, member of the Oregon state board of higher education and chairman of the building committee of the group.

Ellis F. Lawrence, dean of the University school of fine arts, is in charge of plans for the project and is now completing them.

Site Chosen

The site for the proposed building has been chosen. The location will be the east side of Kincaid street between Thirteenth and Fifteenth. This situation would place the library between Condon hall and the education building.

Another site had originally been proposed. It is Thirteenth street between Condon and Johnson halls. Callister indicated that the selection of Kincaid had been made in order to provide for future expansion.

Plans Considered

Tentative plans for the structure are now being considered by Governor Meier's advisory committee of the Public Works administration. Official action will be taken by the committee after Lawrence has submitted his completed plans. From this group the project can be forwarded directly to the Public Works administration in Washington, D. C.

Awaiting final action of the PWA in Washington is the $100,000 proposed infirmary for the campus here. Of the money sought by the University for the two projects, 30 per cent would be an outright gift and the remaining 70 per cent would be borrowed, repayment over a period of several years.

Chancellor Kerr Must Go, Declares Dean Morse

DEAN WAYNE L. MORSE, center of the educational upheaval that has rocked the state for the past week, yesterday issued a statement calling for the resignation of Chancellor W. J. Kerr, declaring that the chancellor can thus best serve the interests of higher education in Oregon.

The statement, issued shortly after the resignation of Roscoe C. Nelson from the state board of higher education, follows:

"Mr. Nelson's resignation is indicative of the true character of the man. I was convinced that when he fully appreciated the fact that his presence on the Board was inimical to harmony in higher education, he would resign. During the last few days Mr. Nelson has learned many facts concerning higher education which he did not know at the time he delivered his unfortunate speeches. As a result, he is now in a position to speak out to the people of this state, and knowing him to be a fearless man I sincerely hope that he will do so. Again I wish to repeat that my controversy with Mr. Nelson has not been a personal one. I have not and shall not stoop to personal abuse. I am very fond of Mr. Nelson personally and my spirit of friendship has not been extinguished by this controversy, which simply had to come.

"Intellectual honesty compels me to call the attention of the people of this state to the undeniable fact that harmony in higher education is impossible until a chancellor is appointed who is free from long-standing partisanship in educational controversies. I do not mean to reflect upon Dr. Kerr's outstanding service to the State College. However, it must be obvious to all impartial observers that if Dr. Kerr is sincere when he states, as he has so many times, that he is devoted only to the best interests of higher education in the state, he can best accomplish this end by resigning from the chancellorship. Such an act on his part would be truly great and would enrich him in the history of Oregon.

WAYNE L. MORSE"

Correction Made On Date of Arrival Of Col. Campbell

Conflicting Information Received
At Personnel Office Causes
Misunderstanding

The announcement made yesterday stating that Col. W. T. Campbell, autogiro expert, would be on the campus was erroneously announced as a result of conflicting information received by the personnel office.

Campbell will be here today and will either land in a field near the campus, or the plane will be at the Eugene airport, where students may inspect it if they wish. He will give an address at a public meeting to be held in Villard hall at 7:30.

Campbell has lectured in 36 states during the past 18 months. He has delivered his address at Carnegie Institute of Technology, University of Illinois, Harvard University, University of Tennessee, and other colleges.

Band Will Have Heavy Schedule at Portland

A heavy schedule will confront the University of Oregon band upon its arrival in Portland. It will leave at 4:30 Friday afternoon and arrive in Portland at about 8 o'clock. At 11 o'clock it will participate in a big down-town rally.

From then on it rests until 10 o'clock Saturday morning when it will assist in the Armistice day parade. At 12 o'clock it will play for the big student rally and then perform as usual at the game.

The Oregon State band will also function on the ball field.

Rally Dance to Be Given Friday at Multnomah Hotel

Celebration to Be Broadcast From Arabian Room Over KGW
And NBC System

Two parties will take place at the Multnomah hotel in Portland in connection with the game festivities on Friday and Saturday.

The entertainment, to be held in the Arabian room, will feature Jim Taff's 17-piece orchestra with Ed Cheney, who appeared on Broadway with Ed Wynne, in charge of the floor show.

The Friday night rally, which is the one that has formerly been held in the studios of KGW, will be broadcast from the Arabian room over KGW and the NBC system. The coaches and prominent sporting authorities will speak.

The cover charge for each night is fixed at $1.50 a person. There will be no regular dinner, but food may be ordered from the set menu. For students with A. S. U. O. cards, the cover charge will be 75 cents on Friday night.

Students Urged to See Art Exhibit in Portland

Students are urged by the art and architectural departments to attend the art exhibit which is being held in Portland this weekend. This is a rare opportunity which will not be available to the student body again.

Besides Oregon's own art and architectural exhibits, a collection of the old masters has been sent to Portland from New York expressly for this exhibition.

According to Dean Lawrence of the school of fine arts, it will more than repay any student to spend some time at the exhibition.

Students Given Permission to Leave Friday

Rally Train Tomorrow
At 4:30 P. M.

DEMAND SATISFIED

Assembly Scheduled in Gerlinger
Friday at 11 o'clock;
Classes Dismissed

A train will leave for Portland tomorrow at 4:30 p. m. for the benefit of all students desiring to go at that time. The originally planned rally train will still leave at 7:30 Saturday morning, according to announcement of Tom Stollard, assistant graduate manager.

On Friday morning at 11 o'clock, a rally assembly will be held in Gerlinger hall under the direction of Mickey Vail, chairman. All students, whether planning to leave Friday or Saturday, should be at the rally, Vail said. Dean Wayne L. Morse of the school of law will be the principal speaker. Eleven o'clock classes will be dismissed for the assembly.

Rally Slated

The train Friday afternoon will arrive in Portland at 8 p. m., enabling students to march from the central depot with the University band, which will leave Friday, to the Broadway theater, where a short rally will be held under the direction of Portland alumni of the University. Twelve members of the rally committee left today to take care of arrangements for a huge rally to be held at the Broadway theater at 10 o'clock, two hours after the first rally.

Students using the Friday afternoon train are urged to be at the Sixth avenue entrance of the Portland hotel at noon Saturday to participate in the rally preceding the game from the hotel to Multnomah stadium.

Arrangements Possible

Classes will not be dismissed on Friday afternoon. Students with late afternoon classes can probably make some satisfactory arrangement with their professors, according to Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration.

A rumor was circulated around the campus yesterday that women would not be allowed to go on the Friday afternoon train. However, the student advisory committee, consisting of Dean Onthank; Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women; James H. Gilbert, dean of the school of social science; Virgil E. Earl, dean of men; L. K. Shumaker, supervisor of English bureau; C. E. Spence, professor of law; and Tom Tongue, president of the A. S. U. O., officially passed on the matter, and women will be permitted to go.

Procedure Outlined

All women who have not exchanged their student body cards for reserved seats to the game must do so before noon today at McArthur court. Absolutely no tickets will be issued on the train or in Portland. The game tickets will be shown on the train on the way to Portland, and a return ticket will be given each woman while en route.

Men's student body cards will not be exchanged for tickets but will be shown for passage on the train and will be collected at the stadium. Men will also be given return train tickets while en route to Portland.

Rally Ties Purchased On Credit Must Be Paid For by Coming Friday

All students who purchased rally ties on credit must pay for them on or before Friday, according to Bob Hunter, president of the Order of the O.

The agreement which the students signed specified that the ties must be paid for on the tenth of the month. The money will be collected by the Skull and Dagger representative in each house.

Portland Oregonian Recommends Kerr Return to Corvallis

University Faculty Should Choose Head
From Own Members, Says Daily
In Editorial Reverse

PORTLAND, Nov. 8.—(Special)—The Portland Oregonian will declare editorially tomorrow that the only method of restoring peace to higher education will be by the selection of a man from outside the state as chancellor, letting Dr. W. J. Kerr return to Corvallis as president of the state college. The University faculty, the Oregonian says, should elect its president from the members of its faculty.

The reversal of the Oregonian's previous stand on the higher educational situation is explained as its conception of the only move which would meet the situation and "rescue higher education."

It laid the opposition to the chancellor to deep-seated prejudice in University circles against the selection of a man who once headed a rival school. The full editorial, which appeared under the heading "We Indicate a Course," follows:

"This newspaper concludes with regret that there never can be restoration of peace and progress in higher education in Oregon while Dr. Kerr remains as chancellor. It believes this is due to no fault or any failure on the part of Dr. Kerr, but to conditions beyond his control or that of the board. The time has passed when ordinary measures can be expected to work substantial or lasting improvement. If their birthright of higher education is to be saved for the boys and girls of this and future generations in Oregon there will have to be extraordinary action. At present, affairs are going from bad to worse.

"Let Dr. Kerr be sent back to Corvallis as president of the state college. Let a president for the university be elected from among the members of the university faculty. Let the board find a new chancellor from without the state. This newspaper was among those who approved the selection of Dr. Kerr as chancellor. It believed the selection was the best that could be made for the then existing situation. It believed Dr. Kerr would administer the chancellorship competently, and that he would be fair to each and all of the institutions under his charge. He has fulfilled these expectations.

"But prejudice in university circles against the chancellor who once headed a rival school was too deep to be overcome. Its depth had been underestimated by those who favored Dr. Kerr's election, including this newspaper. It went so deep that nothing the chancellor could do—and he has done many worthy things—ap-

Sturdy, yet good-looking sport clothes seemed to favor the animal part of the world. There were camel hair sports coats, swagger or belted, rabbits hair dresses, doe skin gloves, and pig skin shoes. The twin sweater sets and suede jackets, and hill-billy brushed wool sweaters are still to be favorites with college women. A dominating feature in sport clothes is the ascot scarf, which can be detached and quite change the style and chicness of a dress. Yellow, brown, and maroon colors predominated in the sport clothes.

Some of the afternoon dresses showed the influence of Chinese culture in color selection and tunic style of design. A new type of monk-hood and nun collars, making use of metal cloth, entranced the coeds with their mysteriousness and old world atmosphere.

Dance and dinner dresses featured the Mae West silhouette, and were shown in various lengths. Jeweled clips worn in the hair with evening dresses are quite the thing, according to Miss Reifenhuth, stylist from Berg's, who described the models and commented on their utility. Coats and eye-

Guild Hall Players to Present Variety Show November 24

Contrary to the policy of past years, the Guild Hall players this year will give a variety show as their first fall term production. The show is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, November 24 and 25, in the evening.

Formerly the group opened its seasons with full length, serious plays. However, in the words of Mrs. Seybolt, the drama division's director, this year the players and their associates will go completely frivolous. She states that there is not a serious thought in the whole program.

Since the beginning of the term, the players, accompanied by campus musicians and entertainers, have been traveling to C.C.C. camps where they presented an evening's amusement for the boys. Their contributions have been welcomed enthusiastically in each case. In some camps, members have been found to be clever entertainers in their own right. Some of these will be invited to take part in the players' variety show.

Among the 33 campus actors to be added to the drama group this year are many singers, dancers, and comedians. Since "doubling in brass," the stage term for taking part in the play as an actor and in the interlude as an entertainer, is the order of the day in the C.C.C. camps, these little acts have been tried under production conditions, and therefore will not be new when given on the players' variety program.

First there are the McCall brothers, Tom and Harry, whom Mrs. Seybolt calls the "prize campus clowns." They team up to entertain with saxophone and banjo. Then there is Marion Bass, blues singer who caused the camp boys to sit up and take notice. She will appear with Dale Brown, popular campus pianist, as her accompanist.

Gertrude Winslow and Helen Vinson will appear in specially arranged dance numbers. They promise to be gay and not to go "Mary Wigman" on us, Mrs. Seybolt says.

A number of one-act farces and black-outs have also been slated. Among them are "How Perfectly Absurd," "Give the Audience a Chance," and a duet for man and girl, depicting a love scene with a very modern economy of words.

Finally, there is to be a Chinese grotesque in which Tom McCall plays the God of Fate. Even Jove himself could not tower more threateningly over puny man, says the director.

The popular price list will be released later, as will the exact hour of the show. It is planned to raise the curtain early, possibly at 7:30.
