Let Temple, Mikulak, Hughes & Co. Tell 'Em; Other Games Are on Tap

WE'LL keep quiet from now on about the "high school" stuff that southern California sports writers are throwing in the direction of Oregon's southern bound grid team. Here in the Northwest, we know we have a great football machine in Prink Callison's Webfoots, and no press box guy can tell us differently.

Let the boys themselves read the cracks that are directed at them, and you can count on it that tomorrow afternoon in the Coliseum of that "Utopian" city, Los Angeles, a little bunch of "wilt-ing upstarts" are going to show the ex-champion Trojans just how big time football is played in the Pacific Northwest. We are willing to leave it to Temple, Mikulak, Hughes, and Co. to avenge our outraged dignity.

The Oregon-Southern California argument is by no means the only conference clash on the coast this week end, but it is the only one that will have any bearing upon the final standings; this is, of course, if everything comes out as it is planned.

Idaho and Montana accompany the Ducks into California, invading the campuses at Berkeley and Palo Alto, respectively. Neither Stanford or California should have much trouble coming out with a victory here. Both games were scheduled as "breathers" before the annual "Big Game" to be played between the Indians and Golden Bears Thanksgiving day.

U.C.L.A. Bruins will come north to meet the up-and-down Washington Huskies in the fourth conference clash of the day. Pretty hard to dope this one after what the Bruins' big brothers did to Pheasant's machine in the South a week ago.

While the Webfoots are defending their spotless record under the California sun, no less than four other undefeated and untied outfits will be meeting similar stiff competition throughout the nation.

The two leaders of the midwest, Michigan and Nebraska, will have tough sledding in sneaking through Minnesota and Pittsburgh, respectively, to keep their records clear. In fact, the dope shows that the Lemon-Yellow has as good a chance of pushing over the Trojans as the Wolverines have of beating the strong Minnesota eleven or the Cornhuskers of surmounting the Panther hurdle.

In the South, Georgia risks her Rose Bowl aspirations and undefeated and untied record against Auburn, conqueror of Tulane.

The Princeton Tigers will entertain a dangerous Navy eleven.

22 Yearlings Will Be Given First Awards

Freshmen Have Fairly Successful Year

Borden, Bishop, Nye, Farrar, and Hardisty Considered Best Varsity Material

Twenty-two yearling gridsters will receive Frosh numerals this year for their efforts on the gridiron, according to selections made by Billy Reinhart and Irv Schulz, freshman coaches.

Fred Hammond, freshman president, announced that the numerals will be presented at the next meeting of the class, to be held soon.

The Ducklings have just finished a fairly successful season in which they broke even with their traditional rivals, the Oregon State Rooks, in two games, and held Coach Hobson's powerful Normal school eleven to a 7-to-0 score.

Among the numeral winners, Elmore "Biff" Borden, flashy backfield star, is regarded as the cream of the crop for varsity material next year. Bishop, at full, will next year try to fill Mikulak's shoes and Bill Nye also is looked upon with favor at half. In the line Farrar, at center, has attracted mention as a worthy successor to Bernie Hughes. Joe Murray has turned in good performances at both the tackle and wing berths. In the guard position both "Duke" Hardisty and Pat Fury turned in good performances.

Gridsters Showing Scholastic Ability

The Oregon grid squads are not only giving a good account of themselves on the gridiron this year, but are also proving their ability in the classroom, according to latest records.

Disproving the common supposition that football men are all brawn and no brains, mid-term grades of both the Oregon varsity and frosh grid squads average 1.3 points.

Duke, look like sure fire winners; but the experts won't be surprised if at least three of the leaders are dropped in the five-way show provided by Oregon-Southern California, Michigan-Minnesota, Nebraska-Pittsburgh, Princeton-Navy, and Georgia-Auburn.

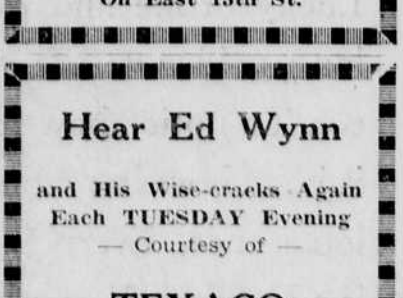

The Princeton Tigers will entertain a dangerous Navy eleven.

Two Mighty Midgets

These two speedy atoms of the grid world will meet on the same field tomorrow afternoon when Oregon's Webfoots clash with the University of Southern California Trojans at Los Angeles. On the left is Troy's all-American candidate, cotton-haired Irvine Warburton, who will carry the burden of the ball-packing duties of the ex-champions. Maury Van Vliet, reserve halfback, is the Webfoots' claim for featherweight honors. He alternates at left half with Co-captain Mark Temple.

Campus Athletic Tournaments to Be Finished Soon

Tennis Singles Championship Is Only Event Remaining on Fall Program

Five of the all-campus sports tournaments were ended this week, leaving only one to be completed. When the last tournament, the tennis singles, is played, the all-campus sports will be wound up for this term. According to Earl Boushey, the boxing tourney will be held during the winter term instead of this fall.

In the handball singles, Caldwell defeated Chatterton to annex the title. He won his second crown this year when he teamed up with Gearheart to defeat Donnin and Whiteley in the finals of the handball doubles. Harold Hull defeated Bileau 5 and 3 to annex the golf championship. In the horseshoe finals, Elliot outpitched Nye to take that title. Newton and Hutchinson played together in the finals of the tennis doubles, and downed the team of Robbins and Mountain.

Newton may be the second double winner in all-campus sports this year if he is able to beat out Thompson for the tennis singles championship.

line coach, who watched the Jones dynasty crumble before the Stanford Indians last Saturday. "I am convinced that the Webfoots have more real ball players on their squad than the Trojans, and if they play heads up ball throughout the game they will add another digit to their eight successive victories."

The members of the team were greatly cheered to hear that the mercury has taken a considerable drop in the south, and they are all determined to down the Trojans.

The squad will arrive Friday morning and will be quartered at the Mayfair hotel in Los Angeles.

Madigan's Gaels To Meet Broncos In San Francisco

Strenuous Practice Sessions in Order After Victorious Eastern Jaunt

SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE, Nov. 16.—(Special)—Home from their triumphant conquest of the East where they upset the mighty Fordham university Rams by a score of 13-6, and with a 7-0 victory over the College of the Pacific, Saint Mary's Galloping Gaels are undergoing strenuous practice sessions this week in preparation for their tilt with the University of Santa Clara Broncos on Sunday in Kezar stadium.

Coach "Slip" Madigan sent his squad through one of the stiffest scrimmages and drills seen on the Moraga campus in a decade. It is just ten years since the Broncos spilled the Madigan men 10 to 9 even though they were held to one first down by the Moragans.

The Moraga maestro had one of the closest calls of his career last year when an inspired Bronco eleven was barely nosed out 14-13, the Gaels coming from behind in the last few minutes of the game. Santa Clara holds a slight edge in the tilt Sunday since they face a jaded and travel-worn Saint Mary's varsity, as the game at Stockton with Pacific showed.

the better chance you will have of winning the Participation prize.

Interclass hockey games will be played off next week.

Fijis Lose to Delts in Slow Hoop Contest

Phi Psis Eke Out Close Win in Other Tilt

Phi Delta Theta Wins by Forfeit; Lees and Thomas Are Outstanding

TODAY'S "A" BASKETBALL SCHEDULE
 4:00—Alpha Tau Omega vs. Phi Kappa Psi.
 4:40—Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Sigma Kappa.
 5:20—Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. International House.

Featured by slow and ragged play yesterday's intramural "B" basketball tilts were won by the Delta Tau Delts, who downed the Fijis 11 to 7 and the Phi Psis, who barely nosed out a 6-to-5 victory over the Kappa Sigs. The Phi Delt-Chi Psi tilt was won by the Phi Delts by virtue of a default.

Although all the games were ragged, the Phi-Delt match was by far the most outstanding of the day. Lees starred for the Delts, while Wilhelm tried to keep his team in the running by sinking four points. Both teams threw away many cinch shots by trying to hit the basket from all angles of the floor.

A game that needed constant warning on its roughness was the Kappa Sig-Phi Psi affair. Here again many sure shots were missed. Thomas of the losers was the outstanding player of this match but his efforts were in vain. Thomas entered the game in the second quarter and was responsible for four of his team's five points.

Grid Millinery

Tom Sasaki, Brawley, Cal., grid star, exhibits his novel football helmet, said to be the only one of its kind in the entire nation. It is necessary for Sasaki to wear glasses, even when playing football, and his helmet makes it possible. The lenses are one-quarter of an inch thick.

Bob Erskine Back in Troy Lineup Again

Star Tackle Has Been Out Since Gael Game

Trojan Mentor Threatens to Keep Griffith and Clark on Third String Saturday

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Bob Erskine, huge left tackle of the U. S. C. Trojan team replaced Howard Tatsch in the lineup for a half hour of rough defensive scrimmage yesterday. Erskine has been out of the lineup since the St. Mary's game, but will be back for the Oregon game Saturday.

No other changes have been made in the lineup. Headman Jones threatens to keep Griffith and Clark on the third string until the Notre Dame game. Yesterday's scrimmage was against Oregon plays and wound up the heavy work until Saturday when Oregon will be on hand to run their own plays.

Offensive drill was stressed today and will probably feature the rest of the week's program. Jones is not only bearing down on his men with stiff workouts, but the Trojans are also on the receiving end of numerous comments by their coach.
