SPORTS
 THE athletic activities of the University of Oregon, its competitive teams and otherwise, should be the concern of each and every student on the campus. Keep abreast of the sport news of your University if you are not actively a participant.

Our Side of It

By MALCOLM BAUER

Squad to Arrive This Morning; 'No Alibis'; Sigma Chi Wins Tilt

"NO alibis." That was the answer Prink Callison gave to eager, and perhaps cynical southern California sports writers, when they contacted him after the Southern California game last Saturday. And that is the answer that all Oregon backers should have when encountered by the leering "wise guys" who had their money on the Thundering Herd.

And, what's more there should be no necessity for alibis. Oregon's grid aggregation played a great game Saturday. A great game that is attested by the statistics. We grant that football games aren't won on statistics, nor are they won on the tardy remarks of sports scribes on the virtues of the winner or loser. Count on it that if Southern California beat us 26 points Saturday, they were 26 points better than we were, because there were no gifts in that game. Every Oregon player that saw action saw to it that El Trojan fought for everything it got.

Just remember, that this morning at 7 a. m. those Webfooters are going to be back on the campus. They won't be a smiling bunch nor a happy bunch, but they will be the same thirty men that Oregon rooters sent south with thunderous cheering four days ago, and they constitute just as great a squad now as they did then. They have won eight out of their nine games so far this season. . . . A record that no more than a dozen major teams of the country can boast, and they aren't through winning yet.

Again: They played a great game; but, remember, they were playing a great team.

Intramural football, or no intramural football, fraternity pigskinners who can't make the varsity grade are still finding it almost as much fun stomping on the brothers of the tong across the street as boxing the ears of Oregon State's Beavers and Washington's Huskies. Sunday morning the burly Sigma Chi canceled Sunday school engagements long enough to establish their supremacy over S. A. E. in a rough and tumble grid game at Hayward field. Joe Gordon will gladly receive all the praise for his team's 13 to 0 triumph.

Incidentally, this was the first time a score has been made in the annual Sigma Chi-S. A. E. grid fracas in the three years of its existence.

Who will meet the winners? George Godfrey, bustling headman of the Colonial theater, dropped in long after the deadline last night to tell us to be sure and not miss the exclusive shots of the Webfoot-Trojan games he is showing at the campus cinema today. The grid reel has been running for the past two nights, and is being held over tonight by popular demand.

They're great shots of Saturday's nightmare.

Board to Make Decision
 The matter of the exchange scholarship between Hawaii and Oregon has been referred to the state board of higher education. Further developments await the decision of the board.

Troy Defeats Oregon With Aerial Attack

Cotton Warburton Plays Outstanding Game

Upset Shatters Webfoots' Hopes Of Playing Annual Rose Bowl Tilt

COLISEUM, Los Angeles, Nov. 18.—(Special)—Howard Jones' aerial circus proved to be too much for the undefeated and untied Oregon Webfoots and although they displayed the fight of a Tartar the Trojans from Southern California came to life again and ruined whatever hopes the big green team from Eugene had of playing the annual Rose Bowl game by handing them a 26 to 0 defeat before 60,000 cheering fans who flocked to the Coliseum here today to witness the annual battle between two of the country's mightiest gridiron forces.

Warburton Stars
 It was Irvine "Cotton" Warburton, 147-pound Trojan quarterback, who with his great pass receiving, punting and masterful running spelled defeat for the emerald agates.

The little cotton-topped mite of the Trojans, who for the first time of his varsity career, started a game, snatched three passes out of the sky, the first two opening the way for touchdowns and the third one leading the way for his 55-yard dash to a touchdown. When Warburton left the game in the final stanza of play he was given an ovation by the large crowd that would rate second to none in the history of the famous Coliseum in whose thresholds the world's greatest athletes gathered for the Olympic games in 1932.

Parke Constant Threat
 Bobby Parke, Duck quarterback and "Mighty Mike" Mikulak rated as the outstanding fullback in the conference, were the main threats of the northerners. Parke's superb kicking several times pulled the greenhorns out of bad holes and Mikulak's great defensive play proved to southern Californians that Mike is indeed worthy of the title of "the best defensive fullback in the country." Charles "Sphinx" Wishard, veteran end, also starred on defense for the rain state gridlers.

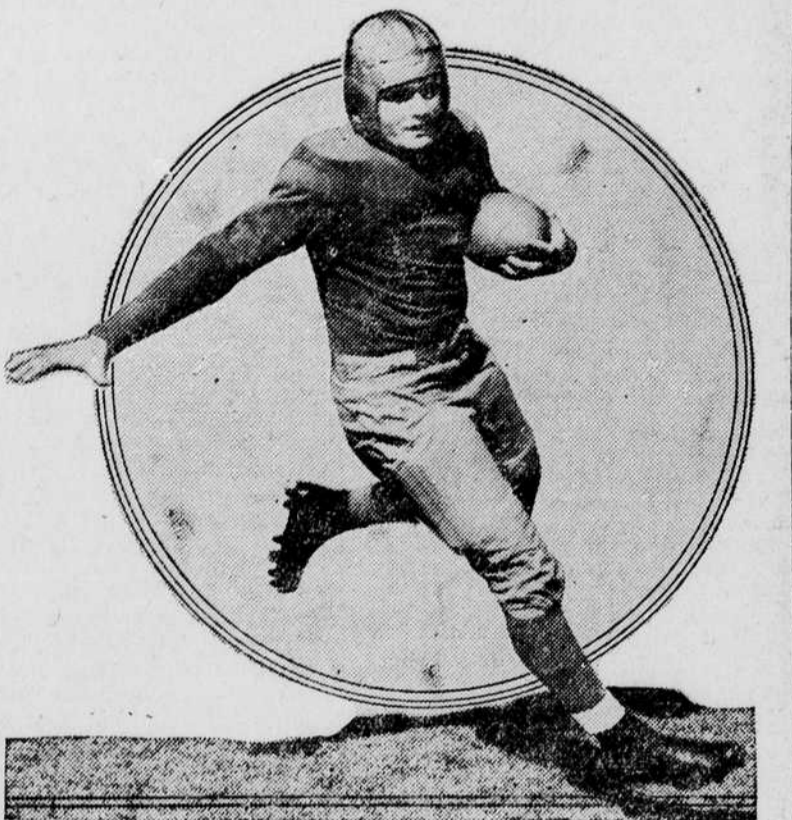

Mindful of last week's defeat for the first time in 28 starts at the hands of the Stanford Cardinals the men of Troy scored their initial touchdown before the game was five minutes old.

Ducks Threaten
 The Oregonians came back strong in the second period to advance the ball to the U.S.C. 15-yard line on straight power plays but lost the ball on a pass over the end zone.

It was an ideal day for the game as a mild south wind helped to cool down the rays of old Sol. The Callison men fought hard to the finish but the old maestro Jones, and his hardy exponents stubbornly refused to open the gates of Troy. Both teams gained the respect of all that witnessed the classic.

Directs Girl Scouts
 Helen S. Cantine, who graduated from the University in the class of '26, recently returned to Portland to become director of the Portland council of the Girl Scouts. Miss Cantine has spent the last several years in New York as secretary to the head worker of the Lenox Settlement house in New York.

Turned Back Bruins

Matt Muczynski, bulky University of Washington quarterback, was one of the main cogs in the Huskies' 10-to-0 win over U. C. L. A. at Seattle Saturday. He will lead the Purple south December 9 to make the Northwest's last stand against the Men of Troy.

Three Grid Elevens Remain On Unbeaten and Untied List

Another chapter was written in the most hectic season of college football history when no less than four previously undefeated contenders for the national crown were defeated the past Saturday; namely, the teams of Nebraska, Michigan, Georgia, and Oregon. This leaves but three undefeated and untied contenders left in the mythical race which are Duke, Princeton, and Army.

As a result of Southern California's 26-0 victory over the Oregon Webfoot there are no undefeated teams on the coast, and Minnesota's feat of holding the Michigan Wolverines to a scoreless tie, the fourth tie chalked up by the Gophers in Big Ten competition this season, leaves no undefeated, untied teams west of the Alleghenies.

Nebraska Wins
 The Nebraska Cornhuskers, successful in winning all previous games and the Big Six championship, went down before the powerful Pitt Panther, 6 to 0. A distinct upset in the South saw an inspired eleven from Auburn overthrow the highly touted Georgia team 14 to 5, thereby eliminating the Bulldog from the selective undefeated list and the chance at the Rose Bowl game.

Army chalked up her eighth straight win when the Soldiers defeated Penn Military 12 to 0, being held by the latter to no score until the last period.

Princeton defeated Navy, 13 to 0 to record her seventh win of the season and remains as the only team in the country that is undefeated on by opponents.

Duke Undefeated in South
 Duke, coached by the peerless Wallace Wade who produced championship teams at Alabama before transferring to Durham, North Carolina, school, overwhelmed North Carolina, 21-0. At the present time it appears that this only undefeated team in the South has the inside track to the Rose Bowl invitation.

Other games on the Pacific Coast in the South resulted in a Stanford win over Montana, 33 to 7, and a stubborn Idaho Vandal holding the Golden Bear of California to a one touchdown victory, the Berkeley boys winning, 6-0. Washington, playing on its home field, whipped the invading Bruin from UCLA 10 to 0, all scoring done by the stellar Husky end, Bill Smith. Sunday at Kezar stadium in San Francisco, the St. Mary Gael and Santa Clara battled four torrid quarters to a 6-6 tie. Gonzaga beat Columbia of Portland 13 to 8.

Denver Upsets Utes
 An upset in the Rocky Mountain loop resulted in a Denver victory over the University of Utah, 13 to 0. Colorado Aggies won over Colorado Mines, to share the leader-

Oregon Aquatic Stars to Try for All-Oregon Team

Six University of Oregon aquatic stars will leave for Portland Wednesday to participate in tryouts for the All-Oregon team. Those making the trip are Wally Hugg, Francis Oglesby, Bob Needham, Paul Lafferty, Jim Reed, and Chuck Reed.

Two men will be picked for each event in making up the team that will represent Oregon in an international meet with Canada in December. All amateurs in Oregon are eligible, and it is expected that the universities will contribute a great many contestants to the team.

REMAINING CONFERENCE GAMES

Nov. 25—Washington vs. W. S. C. at Pullman; Stanford vs. California at Palo Alto.

Nov. 30—W. S. C. vs. U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles.

Dec. 9—Washington vs. U. S. C. at Los Angeles.

The University of Oregon's chances of occupying the number one position in the coast conference at the end of the season depends upon whether California and Washington want second and third positions badly enough to lift themselves by their bootstraps out of fifth and sixth niches. Otherwise, Oregon will have to share the top roost with Stanford and Southern Cal.

Oregon has completed its conference schedule, but the Indians must face California in the "Big Game," which is expressed in capital letters again this year, and Southern California must meet the Huskies.

Just what the chances are of Washington defeating U. S. C. will not be clear until this Saturday's game between Husky and Cougar is played. Washington has looked both good and decidedly off form this season, but if they come out of the Cougar game in good condition they should have a chance. Southern California will play the Notre Dame has-beens

Saint

The Webfoots have but one more game on their 1933 schedule, and that is with Saint Mary's at San Francisco, Thanksgiving day. He is Al Nichelini, right half of the Moraga eleven, and one of the scoring threats behind the ton of beef in the Gael line.

this week end in North Bend and Georgia Dec. 2 at Los Angeles. The Cardinal-Bear melee this year is California's contribution to the series of conference-determining games. Oregon had its Oregon-Oregon State game and Idaho and Montana contributed their share in a race to give the other team cellar honors. Only Washington will not have a deciding game this year.

Oregon, Oregon State, Idaho and Montana have finished their conference schedules and must wait to see what the others do before they know whether Oregon will be alone on top, or Montana alone in the basement.

Extension Work to Be Used at Roseburg CCC

Officers of the C.C.C. camp at Roseburg are making plans to organize study groups among their men, using the general extension division correspondence courses for the work. Probably one group will study principles of economics. It has not been decided whether they will work for credit or not. All plans are tentative.

Sammies Win Hard Fought Hoop Contest

Sigma Chi Five Loses in Donut Feature

Kappa Sigma Defeats Sherry Ross And Chi Psi Win by Forfeit From Omega Hall

Today's "B" Basketball Schedule
4:00	Beta Theta Pi vs. Omega Hall.
4:40	Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Phi Delta Theta.
5:20	Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Phi Gamma Delta.

In a bitterly fought contest last night for the leadership of their league, Sigma Alpha Mu came from behind to edge out a 6 to 5 victory over the Sigma Chi five. The game was a battle from the opening whistle to the last second with both teams checking hard and possession of the ball changing constantly.

Ike Donin led his team in their hard earned victory by not only holding the flashy Lewis to one field goal, but also dropping in 4 of his team's counters. With the score 1 to 0 in their favor at the end of the half, the Sigma Chi boys maintained a lead until late in the final quarter when Donin sank the winning goal. For the losers Faust turned in a nice game besides making three points.

Due to the importance of the battle and to the hard checking which featured it, in addition to the regular official, Paul Washke also acted as referee from the sidelines.

In another game featuring a comeback in the second half, the Kappa Sigma five won over Sherry Ross 22 to 14. Only the third quarter of this match was dull with the hall boys outplaying their opponents the first half but in the final canto the Kappa Sigs came back strong and started flipping in counters from every angle. Wade led the scoring for the victors with 10 points, and Heimken continued his outstanding play for Sherry Ross and made 6 counters. Chi Psi won by forfeit from Omega Hall, when the hall boys failed to show up at the scheduled time.
