Disarmament Need Stressed By Miss Rankin

United Action Important States Speaker

AGITATION IS URGED

First Congresswoman Talks to Large Audience Last Night in Villard Hall

Stressing the importance of united action in assisting world disarmament, Miss Jeannette Rankin, first woman elected to the United States congress, spoke before a large assemblage in Villard hall last night.

Miss Rankin who has been engaged in promoting world peace for several years and is associate secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, urged everyone to write to senators or congressmen asking questions about armaments and international peace. "When you receive a reply, write a letter of thanks and ask another question. When this letter is answered, repeat the process, asking still another question. Keep this up until they realize that people are interested in peace. If you are sent a form reply, send a telegram collect and you will soon receive a personal letter."

Futility Emphasized

Miss Rankin emphasized the futility of building huge armaments as a means of protection. She compared nations to persons who locked their doors and became more frightened than before. "The more arms people get, the more scared they become," she said.

"We have a tremendous responsibility," she stated, "if we do not persuade our government to abolish the building of armaments, other nations will go on building them until finally a 'preventive' war will result. The munition manufacturers are working hard to abolish disarmament conferences and it is up to us to work just as hard to bring about world peace."

Large Amount Spent

"While we claim to be a peace nation," she continued, "we spend more money for past wars than any other nation of the world. More than $238,000,000 is spent every year in America for battleships, and 600,000 people get something out of armaments."

Speaking of past disarmament conferences, Miss Rankin deplored.

Speech Division Class To Hold Public Forum

The speech division's class on the conduct of discussions will hold this week's public forum Thursday at 4 o'clock in the men's lounge room of the Gerlinger hall.

Glenn Pope will lead the discussion on the topic, "How Shall We Deal with the Liquor Control Problem?" All college students and townspeople are invited to attend and join the discussion.

C. L. Huffaker to Talk To Both Debate Teams

C. L. Huffaker, professor of education, will address the men and women's debate squads in a joint meeting scheduled for 7:30 this evening in room 13 of Friendly hall.

Huffaker's subject will be "The Present Crisis in Education." Members of both squads are making a special study of this subject in preparation for the first of the symposium debates which are scheduled for an early date in the winter term.

Successful Salesmen Will Get Free Tickets To Utterclass Dance

Ticket representatives for Saturday night's Junior-Senior Purgatory Prowl who sell 10 or more ducats will be given free admittance to the dance, it was announced last night by Nancy Archbold and Corwin Calavan, who are in charge of arrangements for the annual affair.

Members of the men's living organizations are urged to buy from the ticket representative in their own group.

Tickets may be obtained this week. The admittance charge is 60 cents per couple.

60,000 Persons View Oregon-U.S.C. Contest; U of O Share $20,000

Unofficial reports from the graduate manager's office indicate that about 60,000 persons witnessed the Oregon-U. S. C. game in Los Angeles Saturday. Oregon's share of the gate receipts will be approximately $20,000.

Assistant Dean of Portland Medical School Will Visit

Dr. Harold B. Myers Will Grant Interviews to Pre-Medical Students Tomorrow

Dr. Harold B. Myers, assistant dean of the University of Oregon medical school in Portland, will be on the campus tomorrow.

University pre-medical students planning to enter the Portland school may turn in their names for 20-minute interviews with Dr. Myers to Mrs. Oden Monjay, secretary in Prof. O. F. Stafford's office in room 1 of McClure hall.

Interested students are urged to sign up before tomorrow. The conferences, which are important for prospective medical students, will begin at 8:20 a. m.

An assembly for all students interested in pre-medical work is slated for 11 a. m. The interviews with Dr. Myers will be resumed at 1 p. m.

Phi Beta Pledges Organize Group

Pledges of Phi Beta, music and drama honorary, organized as a group at a meeting held last night in Gerlinger hall. Ann-Reed Burns was elected president, and Theda Spicer secretary.

Mary Babson was appointed as drama chairman for the term. She is to plan a skit or short play for a dinner party to be given early in winter term for patrons and patronesses of Phi Beta. Assisting her will be Helen Harriman, Dorothy Smith, Dorothy Parks, Nora Hitchman, Pauline George, Virginia Wappenstein, and Kay Briggs.

Margaret Stauff will be song chairman and Betty Wilson ensemble chairman.

Members of Phi Beta announced that the pledges will take the fraternity exam Tuesday, December 5. Initiation will be held probably soon afterwards.

Trade Honorary To Hold Initiation

Pan Xenia, foreign trade honorary, will initiate eight new members this afternoon at 4:45 in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall.

Floyd Baxter, Arthur Muller, Charles Goetting, Horace Neely, Donald Burke, Leonard Lungren, Gilbert Olinger, and Glenn Halladay are the students who will be initiated.

Following the ceremony the new members will be guests at a dinner to be given them at the Mari-gold tea room.

Contrary to the announcement made yesterday, A. M. Scott, vice-president of the Pillsbury Flour Mills company, will not be on the campus today to talk to the foreign trades class. Scott was to be a guest of honor at the Pan Xenia dinner.

Delta Gams Lose Borrowed Police Siren; Offer Reward

By WINSTON ALLARD
Somebody stolen a siren from the Delta Gamma house late Friday night—not the regular type of D. G. siren to be found on the front porch late Friday nights but a large nickel-plated, electric police siren, equipped with a storage battery. The equipment, borrowed from Chief of Police Carl Bergman, was used as a noise-maker in the homecoming parade. Friday, in preparation for the dance it was moved to the front porch.

The last Delta Gam arriving home at 12:14 3-4 saw the nickel-plated object gleaming from the darkness but the early risers found it not. During the night some person or persons unknown removed the siren for some reason also unknown. The Delta Gams believe it was done in a spirit of fun by some one with a misguided sense of humor.

Dr. Nakamura Denies Causes For Hostilities

Japanese Called Pupils Of America

FRIENDSHIP IS FELT

Speaker Declares American Navy In Pacific Superfluous, Asks Quota Immigration

"Take the money spent on navies and build a bridge across the Pacific," advised Dr. Kaju Nakamura, Japanese diplomat, who spoke at Villard hall last night.

Dr. Nakamura, who has made six round-the-world trips and has crossed the Pacific 30 times, commented upon the general feeling of friendship for Japan which he has encountered during his travels. "We hear of possible war between America and Japan, but if we would look upon the Pacific as a connecting link between teacher and pupil, there would be no need for 'misunderstanding,'" he declared. "Japan is the pupil of America, and because she is growing up and wants to feel independent there is no need to become alarmed. All pupils sooner or later grow up."

Misunderstanding Feared
The Japanese educator stated he was not afraid of guns, of armaments and ships, but misunderstanding between nations. "My people are different from your people in their customs," he said, giving illustrations to prove the point, "and it is sometimes difficult for us to understand each other, but if we try to comprehend the reasoning of the other person, there should be no difficulty."

Nakamura characterized Japan's problem as being the world's problem. "Everyone has a right to fight for his existence," he said, "and Japan is doing just that."

Friendship Promoted
Dr. Nakamura has been instrumental in promoting a more friendly feeling between Japan and the United States. He had much to do with sending three Japanese university students to this country last year. He was also responsible for their visit to the University last November.

When the University's Pacific basin good-will debate team stopped in Japan two years ago, Nakamura took a personal interest in the aims of the tour and saw that the debaters understood Japan's viewpoint in regard to the Manchurian situation, which was particularly active at that time.

Fleet Not Needed
In a Portland interview, Nakamura suggested that Japan invite the entire American fleet to visit its shores and have the sailors meet the Japanese people in order

U. S. Congresswoman To Speak at Assembly

Miss Jeannette Rankin, first woman representative to the United States congress, will be the speaker at the Eugene Leadership Training school assembly tonight.

Miss Rankin will speak at 8:30, the meeting being turned into a mass meeting for the townspeople. Classes will begin at 7 instead of 7:30. Miss Rankin's subject has not been announced.

Dr. Nakamura Visitor In University Library

Dr. Kaju Nakamura, Japanese diplomat who spoke in Villard hall last night on "Japanese-American Relations," yesterday visited the League of Nations publications department in the library.

He showed much interest in the collection of literature of and about the league, and asked about the extent to which the material found there was used.

Dr. Nakamura appeared to be greatly interested in the success of the league, and was of the opinion that if the United States had been a member of the institution, its position would have been much more stable.

All men representing the Yeomen in the intramural sports competition are especially urged to attend.

Future Transportation

Club Plans Mass Meeting to Honor Group Founders

Tonqueds Will Give Program for Dean Schwering, Mrs. Macduff On November 28

A mass meeting in honor of the founders of Tonqueds, Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering and Mrs. Alice B. Macduff, will be held in Gerlinger hall by Tonqueds, organization of Eugene women attending the University, on Tuesday, November 28.

Roselind Gray and Lucille Williamson are chairmen for the event and Dorothy Parks is in charge of the program.

The annual semi-formal Christmas ballet will be held on December 23 with an admission charge of 75 cents a couple.

The committee in charge of the dance is: Catherine Coleman, chairman; Mae Schnellbacher and Eunice Elliott, ticket sale; Virginia Endicott, decorations; Eloise Knox, program; Janet Hughes, patrons and patronesses; Ruth King and Dagmar Haugen, publicity; and Lois Platt, decorations.

Yeomen Will Meet To Discuss Dance

The no-date dance to be held by the independent women and the Oregon Yeomen, men's independent society, next Friday night will be the topic for discussion at the Oregon Yeomen meeting to be held at the Y hut tonight at 7:30.

The dance had been scheduled for the Friday night preceding the Oregon State football clash, but due to the sudden change in train departure, it had to be postponed.

Further discussion as to the feasibility of getting the Yeomen picture in the Oregonian will take place.

All men representing the Yeomen in the intramural sports competition are especially urged to attend.

Dr. Nakamura Visitor In University Library

Dr. Kaju Nakamura, Japanese diplomat who spoke in Villard hall last night on "Japanese-American Relations," yesterday visited the League of Nations publications department in the library.

Students Offered Chance to Earn Next Term's Fees

Prize Money to Be Given in Radio Contest Sponsored by Loan Society, Station KORE

A chance for University of Oregon students to earn their fees for next term is now being offered by the Beneficial Loan society of 209 Tiffany building and radio station KORE. Any student who can sing, play an instrument or otherwise entertain over the radio is eligible for the $150 in prize money offered. This is a local talent contest. Anyone is eligible to compete for the three final prizes of two-month radio contracts at $25 per month.

Many vocalists have signed up for broadcasts.

The sponsors of this program are interested in obtaining more contestants who can play an instrument. No restrictions are placed as to the number of contestants who can enter. Musical groups may enter as a single unit. If they win, they may divide the prize money.

The only rules of the contest are that those who want to broadcast call up the radio studios at phone number 3 and make an appointment for the time that they will go on the air.

Admission Gratis To St. Mary's Tilt

Free tickets for the St. Mary's game in San Francisco on Thanksgiving day will be given to all students making the trip.

Tickets will not be given out in advance, but may be obtained from Tom Stoddard, assistant graduate manager, or Hugh E. Rosson, graduate manager, at the Clift hotel in San Francisco the day before or the day of the game. The tickets will be in a special student section.

Tickets in a special section reserved for Oregon supporters are now on sale in the graduate manager's office in McArthur court for $1.65. General admission tickets may also be obtained for $1.10.

Help on Term Papers Given by Library Staff

Term papers, looming up unexpectedly before students, are keeping the staff in the reference department of the library busy lately.

Miss E. Lenore Casford and other reference assistants, will be glad to help students find material for term papers.

The University library contains many reference sources that are not generally known to students, and anyone wishing material that is difficult to find may ask at the reference desk for assistance.

New Members For Judiciary Group Planned

Committee Will Maintain Present Powers

DECISION TENTATIVE

Present Constitution of Student Body Undergoes Revision; Clause Ambiguous

Present powers of the judiciary committee will be retained in full force in the new A. S. U. O. constitution, and the personnel of the committee will be increased from three members to five, it was tentatively decided yesterday at a meeting of the constitutional revision committee in Johnson hall. Judicial interpretation over any part of the constitution and by-laws and over all student legislation would be granted the committee under the new arrangement, Glen Hieber, chairman of the committee, declared.

Clause Ambiguous
A somewhat ambiguous clause in the present constitution gives the committee power to render "an opinion as to the correct judicial construction or interpretation of any part of this constitution and by-laws."

To the present personnel of three faculty members were added two students, who may be either upperclassmen or graduates. The present members of the committee include the dean of the law school, the dean of men, and the executive secretary of the University.

Under the new plan, the faculty members will consist of the dean of the law school and any two other faculty representatives.

Dean Permanent Member
The law school dean is the only permanent member of the judiciary committee. The other four members will be appointed for one year by the incoming president of the student body.

Members of the constitutional revision committee were appointed recently by Tom Tongue, president of the student body, to supervise alteration of the present A. S. U. O. constitution. They include Hieber, Corwin, Calavan, Walter Gray, George Birnie, Bill C. Davis, Malcolm Bauer, Geraldine Hickson, Virginia Hartje, Helen Kendall, George Bennett, John Kendall, and Charles Kennedy.

Proxy Band Replaces Oregon Group at Game

Because of the expense that would have been entailed, the University band was not sent to Los Angeles for the Southern California football game. The Huntington park community band of California volunteered its services in order that the Webfoot team might have its customary support.

The Huntington Park band numbers 35 pieces in contrast to the 70-piece Oregon band directed by John Stehn.

The total cost of sending the University band to California would have amounted to over $1900, according to Tom Stoddard, assistant graduate manager.

University Medical Service Safeguards Student Health

From September 18 until commencement there is always a doctor available for students. He may be secured by calling the infirmary. The campus physicians are on call at all times, 24 hours a day every day, including holidays and vacations.

If patients are able they should call at the dispensary, during hours, before going to the infirmary. However, if this is impossible they may go directly to the infirmary.

If a doctor is called to the residence of a patient a charge of $1 for day calls and $2 for night calls is made.

When a student calls for a doctor out of hours, he should call the infirmary, as he will be then sure of reaching one. The doctors may not always be reached at home, so it is always advisable to call the infirmary.

The doctors rotate their call duties. If a patient calls for a certain doctor and they say he is not on call it merely means that he is

Student Identification Cards to Be Withheld, Stoddard Announces

Student body cards collected for admission to the Oregon-Oregon State game in Portland will not be returned, according to Tom Stoddard, assistant graduate manager.

There are no activities for which the cards will be necessary during the remainder of the term.

Committee for Purgatory Prowl Will Start Work

Decorations for Junior-Senior Dance Will Feature Devils, Caverns and Red Lights

Final committee appointments for the Junior-Senior Purgatory Prowl, to be held at the Campa Shoppe next Saturday, were made known yesterday by Nancy Archbold and Corwin Calavan, co-chairmen of the affair. Work on the decoration motif and arrangements for the dance will begin immediately.

Decorations for the event this year will follow the "Purgatory" idea with devils, dark caverns, and red flood lights carrying out the general theme. Miriam Henderson will be in charge of the decorating, while Harold Birkenshaw will direct the construction.

Other members of the directorate include Lucille Coate, patrons and patronesses; Dorothy Cunningham, secretary; John Casey, features; Fred Whittlesey, ticket sales; Bill Neighbor, clean up; and Malcolm Bauer, publicity.

Ticket sales are scheduled to begin today. The price per couple is 60 cents. Only upperclassmen will be allowed to purchase the ducats, which may be obtained from representatives in each men's living organization on the campus. The names of these representatives were announced in yesterday's Emerald.

Those named to aid the directorate with arrangements for the dance are: decorations, Norris Perkins, Douglas Plilton, D. O. Goodall; construction, Paul Wagner, assistant chairman, Roger Comstock, Joe Bishop, Bob Ballard, George Chamberlain, Bob Downey, Ken Lottridge, Ted Geslocke, Virgil Estes, Stan Haberlach, Jack Allard, Tom Emmons, Jay Brown, Mervyn Rhodda; clean up, Don Thompson, Reed Swenson, George Schenk, Hartley Kneeland, Jim Ringrose, Harold Peterson, Jim Wells, Cy Doiph, Mike Pinkstaff, Tom Klusterman.

Skull and Dagger To Give Informal

With the purpose in mind of giving the underclassmen something to do on the evening of the junior-senior dance, Saturday night a show and dance costing only 15 cents is being sponsored by Skull and Dagger, men's sophomore service honorary.

The dance will be at the Craftsman's club from 8:30 to 10:30. It will be an informal affair with dates not necessary.

A ticket will be given at the door for admittance to the Colonial theater after the dance. The picture will be "Saturday's Millions."

Tickets will be on sale at all houses Thursday.

Dudley Watson To Give Talk in Assembly at 10

Gerlinger Will Be Scene Of Meeting Today

CLASSES DISMISSED

Visiting Artist Will Discuss Topic Of Development of Taste In America

Dudley Crafts Watson, official membership lecturer of the Art Institute of Chicago, will speak on the "Development of American taste" in a student body assembly today at 10 o'clock in Gerlinger hall. All classes will be dismissed.

He is a lecturer and teacher for the James Nelson Raymond public school and Children's Lecture fund. He is also art lecturer and instructor for the extension department of the University of Wisconsin. Annually he speaks to art associations, museum, business men's clubs, civic groups, and countless schools throughout the United States.

The lecturer, after studying at the Art Institute of Chicago, worked in the studios of Sorolla in Spain and Sir Alfred East in England. For some years he was a teacher at the Art Institute of Chicago. He was a director of the Milwaukee Art Institute, and was art editor of the Milwaukee Journal.

Now he is a member of the academic staff of the Delphinus society, writing those years of its chapter programs devoted to modern and applied arts. As a painter he is represented in the Milwaukee Art Institute and in many private collections throughout the United States.

Watson is a well known and effective speaker, and has addressed innumerable colleges and universities on his lecture tours. He endeavors to show the people the use of art in everyday life, as well as the idea of more constructive living.

Instructor Here To Go to Stanford

Charles Dawson, new assistant instructor in the chemistry department, will leave for Stanford university January 1 to accept a post-doctor research fellowship conferred in recognition of good work done while he was fulfilling the requirements for his doctor's degree.

Dawson received his master's degree here in June, 1931, and the following fall, on a University fellowship, went to Stanford. There he completed the work for his doctor's degree August 15, 1933; the actual degree will be conferred next June.

Research for diffusion is the nature of the work Dawson will carry on under the research fellowship, under the direction of Dr. McBain of Stanford.

Dress Rehearsal Held For Guild Hall Gaieties

The admission price for the Guild Hall Gaieties has been set at 20 cents, according to reports from the drama division yesterday.

The first dress rehearsal of the complete show was held Monday night, and Mrs. Seybolt, drama division director, was well pleased with the results.

Each skit is chosen for its laugh value.

Unpaid Library Fines Squared by Deduction In Student Deposit Fee

Library fines, if not paid by the end of the term, are transferred to the registrar's office to be taken out of the $5 deposit of the student, according to a statement issued yesterday by M. H. Douglass, librarian.

There is an extra charge of 25 cents when an account has to be so transferred, to defray the cost of extra labor, etc.

Fines for reserve books amount to 25 cents to $1 an hour for returning the book late. On other overdue books the fine is 2 cents a day, with 10 cents additional if the fine is not paid when the book is returned.
