

The Tip-Off

By BILL PHIPPS

IN the deep shadows which are rapidly engulfing the fading light of the football sun we found an all-American selection you haven't seen. This one was picked on a strictly mathematical basis in a survey conducted by the 20 leading college papers of the United States. The Oregon Daily Emerald working in conjunction with the papers of Alabama, Southern California, Dartmouth, Colorado, San Diego State, Carnegie Tech, Chicago, Illinois, Duke, Colgate, Kansas, North Carolina, Notre Dame, Yale, Princeton, Vermont, Michigan and Florida sent in its choice of the nation's best.

The final tabulation with the number of votes received by each player on the first and second team follows:

Webfoots Get Prepared for Beaver Tilt

Oregon Tied for Second Place in Race

Washington Leads Conference With Two Victories Over Vandals

Conference Standings

By BILL EBERHART

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Washington	2	0	1.000
Oregon	1	1	.500
Washington State	2	2	.500
Oregon State	1	1	.500
Idaho	0	2	.000

The first hoop game of the Oregon State series is only three days away, and Coach Bill Reinhart of the Webfoots began his campaign yesterday to mold his boys into shape for Saturday night's tilt.

His principal job is to vary the Oregon offensive system in such a way that it will function against the Beavers' zone defense.

Reinhart's particular system against Oregon State is new to Budd and Willard Jones, who are playing their first season under the Webfoot colors, but they are catching on rapidly and will undoubtedly help the Oregon machine to work smoothly against the Corvallis champions.

Oregon Breaks Even

The Oregon team emerged from the Washington State series with a victory and a defeat, and is now considered by all sides to be a dangerous threat to any aspirant for the title, and by many to be a serious contender for the championship itself. The mere winning of the first conference game marks the Webfoots as a team to be watched.

Last year, it will be recalled, Oregon was the underdog of the division, kicked from pillar to post by every team in the Northwest, and winning only two out of the 16 league games. Even Southern Oregon normal won two out of three from the Webfoots. So Oregon is on the comeback trail and means business in a serious way. With new deals in nearly every-thing else, Reinhart has declared one for his basketball team.

The Oregon State Beavers appeared before their series with Washington State to be the team to beat for the championship. They lost only their all-star center, big Ed Lewis, leaving O'Connell, Hibbard, McDonald, and Lenchitsky to carry on this year, more veterans than any other team possesses. But they split with the Cougars, the Cougars split with Oregon, and quite a mess is thereby created as far as any predictions are concerned.

Until either Washington or Idaho plays one of the other teams, nothing can be told about their strength, except that they are more nearly matched than last year, when the Huskies turned back the invading Vandals by overwhelming scores. The most obvious deduction is that Washington is weaker than last year, for Idaho lost four men from the first team and the Huskies lost only two. The scores last weekend were 35 to 29 and 31 to 25, not very decisive. Anything may happen when the two teams play in Moscow.

The game between Oregon and Oregon State will be played in McArthur court this Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

 Mrs. Lois Baker, attendant in room 30 of the old libe, returned to work yesterday after an absence of several days on account of illness.

Vital Cogs in Oregon's Hoop Machine

Jack Robertson, forward (left), Captain Gib Olinger, guard, and Jim Watts, forward, veteran members of Coach Bill Reinhart's rejuvenated Oregon quintet. With the opening conference series with Washington State written into the books, these stellar performers are directing their attentions to fattening the Webfoots' .500 average this weekend at the expense of the Oregon State Beavers, defending coast champions.

Idaho Prepares To Renew Series With Washington

Vandals Confident of Victory Over League-Leading Huskies On Home Floor

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Jan. 10.—(Special)—The University of Idaho Vandals will seek revenge for a pair of six-point defeats at the hands of the Washington Huskies when the league-leaders invade Moscow this weekend for a two-game basketball series on Idaho's home floor. Washington defeated Idaho at Seattle 35-29 and 31-25.

Inland Empire fans are confident that on the home court and in familiar surroundings, Coach Rich Fox's Vandals will be at least six points stronger than they were last week in the mammoth Washington basketball pavilion.

Free throws apparently were the deciding factor in the Huskies' victories on the coast. Each team scored 24 field goals in the two-game series, but Washington sank 18 free throws to the Vandals 6.

The Huskies counted 13 baskets to 12 for Idaho the first night and made 9 foul conversions to Idaho's 5. Idaho led Washington 12 to 11 in field goals the second game, but the Vandals were sadly outpointed in the matter of free throws, 9 to 1. Idaho players missed 8 free shots in the first game and 6 in the second game.

A record crowd is expected to witness the first conference basketball game in the Inland Empire this season when Washington and Idaho renew their feud in Idaho's Memorial gymnasium Friday and Saturday nights.

Lindstrom Reported Better
 J. O. Lindstrom, business manager of the University, who has been confined to his home during the past week because of illness, is reported to be progressing favorably and is expected to return to his work next week.

Oh! Oh! Here Comes Mike, Watch Out For a Cruncher!

What will the Oregon All-Stars' formation be like? Will they use the box formation or the "Z"? Are they going to use a huddle? This is the way their basketball games may appear to the spectators.

The boys will come out of a squirrel cage huddle, going into box formation with Wishard at the center post. Mikulak will take the pass from center and with Cuppoletti ahead of him, to take out the referee, will charge down the floor. Hughes, after taking out the timekeeper and two guards, will go through for the center, leaving "Mighty Mike" with but two men between him and the hoop.

Here Mike remembers the play that the East pulled on the West when Beattie Feathers of Tennessee ran 60 yards in the recent Shrine game and tosses a quick lateral to Temple. Then he throws a block on the two remaining players, letting Mark Temple score. Count 2-0.

Five More Wear Order of Yellow O

Five men were voted into the Order of the O at a meeting held last night at dinner in the Sigma Chi house. Those elected were Con Fury, Budd Jones, Stew Milligan, Frank Michek, and Maurice Van Vliet.

A committee consisting of Bob Parke, Ted Giesecke, and Ladd Sherman was appointed to make arrangements for the second annual boxing and wrestling exhibition.

The Order of the O has reserved a section immediately behind the time keepers' table at the Oregon State game next Saturday for present and former members of the Order of the O.

Campus Boxers Begin Fisticuffs In Gym Ring at 4

Reigning Champs Fail to Enter To Defend Titles; Finals Slated for Friday

All men who are entering the boxing tournament are requested to weigh in at the men's gym today between the hours of 1 and 3.

The all-campus boxing tournament will open this afternoon on the main floor of the men's gym with men registered to start hostilities in every class from lightweights to heavyweights. No last year's champion of any class will be in the ring to defend his title, so speculation as to possible winners is wide open, with any "dark horse" considered at even odds against some men perhaps a little better known.

Following the weighing in early in the afternoon, all the contestants will gather at 4 and the schedule of opponents will be drawn up. Several of the men are in doubt as to whether they will make their weight limits, so this makes it necessary to wait until after the weighing in before the bouts are scheduled. Due to this fact, it is possible that only a few bouts will take place today, and as only a few elimination rounds will be necessary, the finals may be run off Friday.

The events are being held on the main floor to enable the contestants free use of the ropes and also to accommodate the spectators viewing the matches. Last year's bouts, held in the small boxing room, disclosed the need for more space for both the boxers and the crowds.

Frosh Quintet Trims Eugene High 47 to 18

Lewis and Williamson Scoring Leaders

Coaches Use Many Substitutes in Ragged Game; Second Period Fast

With both coaches using substitutes freely, Gene Shields' yearling hoop squad handed Eugene high a 47 to 18 trimming in a ragged game at the Igloo last night. Williamson and Lewis were on a scoring spree for the frosh and made 14, and 13 points, respectively.

Although the 10 to 8 lead at the half, the high school boys dominated play that period. The frosh were breaking slow and could not seem to get their passing attack clicking. Eugene had possession of the ball the majority of the time but failed to make their setups good when they passed in under the basket.

Lewis opened the second period with two field goals and a foul conversion and from then on the frosh hit their stride and started rolling baskets in from all angles, with Williamson and Lewis leading the attack. With Murray controlling the tip at center they kept possession of the ball easily.

Opening with this spurt and then staging another scoring rally in the last few minutes of play the frosh rolled up 37 counters in the last half, to the losers 10. Liebowitz, at guard, acted as feeder and contributed some nice blocks and passes to aid Lewis and Williamson in their scoring spree.

These spurts seemed to affect the yearling team play in general, and the entire second period they were breaking faster, and the team work and passing was much smoother than during the opening period.

Thirteen Men Used
 Wright and Danner were the leading scorers for the losing five, with 3, and 2 field goals respectively. Eleven other men were used on the high school team and Shields used a total of 13 men on the froshman team. Only three persons were called during the first half, but as the contest speeded up in the final period the referee was forced to call several more in order to keep the game in hand.

This was the second game of the year for Shields' men and although he said the boys looked rather ragged he seemed quite well pleased with the prospects of a good season.

Sigma Hall Wins In First Handball Test, Three to 0

Delta Tau Delta Receives Forfeit From Alpha Hall; First Round Ends Today

TODAY'S HANDBALL GAMES

4:00—Kappa Sigma vs. Phi Kappa Psi.
 5:00—Omega Hall vs. Chi Psi.

Sigma hall had little trouble last night in advancing to the second round of the donut handball elimination tournament, when they walked over Sigma Phi Epsilon with three straight victories. In the other scheduled contest Delta Tau Delta was awarded a victory by the forfeit route when Alpha hall failed to report.

In the singles sessions Shepherd won his games with a comfortable margin from Lottridge, 21-12, 21-12, and Chaney downed Schlessler 21-16, 21-7. Wishard and Foley provided a little tougher opposition for the victors in the doubles game, but Dunton and Winslow came through with a 21-10, 18-21, 21-6, victory.

Today's first game will mark the end of the first round, and the 5:00 game will see the Omega hall boys and the Chi Psiis open the second bracket.

Hayward Urges Cinder Turnouts

All men who hope to make either the freshman or varsity track teams next spring should turn out immediately if they expect to be in condition by spring term, according to Col. Bill Hayward, track coach.

"There are 40 men out now but that isn't enough. We need more distance men," said Hayward yesterday.

Experience is not necessary. A student may think he has no ability at all as a runner but he may develop into a good jumper or weight man.

Hayward is planning to start some intramural and interclass races and meets soon and will reveal his plans in the near future. In the meantime he urges everyone who has any interest in track to try out this term.

Regular gym credits will be given to those who report regularly for practice.
