

Varsity Team Enroute North To Play Husky

Eleven Hoopers on Trip With Bill Reinhart

Final Workout on Washington Floor Tonight; Series to Be Webfoots' Crucial Test

By BILL EBERHART
 Eleven varsity hoopers will accompany Coach Bill Reinhart and Student Manager Jim Ghormley on the invasion into the firing-range territory of the University of Washington, pace-setters of the northern division. The contingent will embark at 8 o'clock this morning, and will be the guests of Oregon Alumni association at a luncheon this noon at the New Heathman hotel in Portland.

Unable to decide which man to leave at home, Reinhart last night announced his intention to take an 11-man squad on this first road trip of the season. These players will make the trip: Gib Olinger, Jack Robertson, Willie Jones, Bud Jones, Ron Gemmill, Bill Berg, Bob Miller, Jim Watts, Ed Kunkle, Roland Rourke, and Glenn Sanford.

Practice Stated for Tonight
 In preparation for the two-game series Friday and Saturday nights, Coach Reinhart plans to send his squad through a final workout on the Washington floor tonight. Bill realizes that all eyes in the conference will be focused on this series and he is holding the practice session tonight for the purpose of applying a few finishing touches.

The last week of practice has been spent in changing the Webfoots' offensive attack back to the orthodox Reinhart system, after the shift to a delayed offense that was used against Oregon State. Hee Edmundson, Husky coach, has always employed the man-to-man defense, for which Reinhart's blocking system was fashioned.

Galer and Lee Cause Worry
 To guards Olinger and E. Jones will fall the assignment of holding down the scoring of Hal Lee and Bob Galer, Washington sharpshooters. Lee's looping long shots have bothered Oregon teams for two years.

Galer has developed into the league's leading point-maker just this season. If Olinger can duplicate his feat of last year in holding down the scoring of Galer, it will go a long way in insuring an Oregon victory.

Bill Berg Gives the Intrepid Reporter Merry Runaround

By VELMA McINTYRE
 The life of Bill Berg, Handy Andy of Oregon's basketball squad, is surrounded with mystery—at least as far as the press is concerned, because he simply won't talk.

"I think interviews are a good thing, but don't put that into print," said Bill, "and newspapers are all right as long as they mind their own business, but I am afraid to talk because I know everything I say will be quoted."

Berg's birthplace is indefinite, for when asked where he was born and where he came from, he replied with a sloop of his arm, "Oh, I came from the Middle West, which includes about four states."

Plans for the future are undecided as far as Bill is concerned. But by a slip of the tongue he disclosed the secret that there is a possibility of his joining Gib Olinger on Olinger's fruit ranch. He fears to have his plans revealed and threateningly commanded the reporter to divulge none of these projects.

"Forget the summer time," said Berg when questioned as to his pastime during the summer months. After much persuasion he admitted that during the summer before last he was employed on the Boulder dam construction project, the largest construction job in the world. "Last summer I was engaged in the selling line," he said, and no amount of coaxing would bring him to name the concern for which he exerted his salesman's wiles.

"I suppose now you will break your neck to find out what I said," he remarked sarcastically.

Jack Robertson came to the rescue. Berg had been selling Real-Silk hosiery! That's what Robertson said, anyhow.

Berg played his first basketball in Minnesota on a grammar school team and performed later for the Billings, Montana, high school. He is a one-year letterman on Oregon's varsity. He refused to give his opinion of the Oregon team until the end of the season because, "they might think me very conceited."

Hitch-hiking great distances is Berg's favorite pastime. He admits that he hasn't gone far yet and declined to reveal further information on this subject, except that South America and Honolulu have a special attraction for him. How he hitch-hikes there is a mystery, but perhaps he has a solution for the problem.

"Granite Shoulders," "Lucy," "Mushmouth," and "Flatfoot," are among the nicknames bestowed upon Bill by his solicitous basketball colleagues.

Business administration is Berg's field of study, and marketing, selling and distribution his favorite subjects.

Yeomen Smoker Boasts Top Notch Battlers From Y

The best battlers from the Y. M. C. A. will be represented in a smoker at the Y hut Friday night. Joe Bradshaw, boxing director at the Y. M. C. A., will have his boys here and four fast bouts are assured.

The smoker is being staged by the Oregon Yeomen, unaffiliated men's organization. Between the bouts, cider, doughnuts and cigarettes will be served, making it a real old-fashioned affair.

Bradshaw, who is very scornful of the abilities of the University sluggers, has brought down the following boys to give a show with plenty of action: Fred Meyers, Lloyd Simms, Dick Laner, Jack Spears, Clarence Young, Kenny Bouser, "Pee Wee" Turner.

The bouts will be refereed by Bill Goodwin of the University. Admittance may be gained either by presentation of the Yeomen membership card or for 10 cents.

Swim Squads To Hold Meet At Gerlinger

Hoyman Names Captains To Act at Contest

Freshmen and Varsity Will Clash In Women's Pool Wednesday; New Man Aids Regulars

Webfoot sport fans will get their first glimpse of this year's edition of the Oregon varsity and frosh swimming squads when the two clash in a meet to be held next Wednesday in the women's pool at Gerlinger hall.

Coach H. S. Hoyman announced yesterday the selection of Bob Needham and Francis Oglesby as acting captains of the varsity swimming and water polo teams respectively. Leonard Scroggins was named as temporary leader of the yearling swimmers and Chuck Reed of the water poloists.

Will Pick Permanent Captains
 Permanent captains for the remainder of the year will be selected by ballot of the squad following this clash Wednesday night and previous to the match February 10 with Washington.

Veterans and newcomers are turning out nightly in the competition for berths on both squads, which are beginning to take on the appearance of organized outfits, according to Hoyman. The veterans so far are holding down most of the regular positions but are being forced to extend themselves.

Kerby Strengthens Team
 With the addition of Forrest Kerby, breast stroke artist, to the varsity, one of the former weak spots of the team has been strengthened considerably. Kerby only recently reported but is now working out regularly.

The frosh with a daily turnout of over twenty men are still more or less of an unknown quantity, but with Chuck Reed and other stars as a nucleus Hoyman hopes to form a winning combination from the long list of aspirants.

Meet With O. S. C. Probable
 Hoyman has worked out a regular training schedule for the squads and has posted the notice of the program to be followed in the hall leading into the swimming room.

The possibility of a home-and-home series with Oregon State later in the season has also been announced from the graduate manager's office. The contests have not been confirmed, however, and the Washington encounter and the Northwest championship meet are the only approved matches as yet. The Beavers last year had a strong team led by Harold Eisenschmidt, now with the Multnomah Athletic club.

SPORT CHATS FROM HERE and THERE

 —Did You Know That—
 When your foot "goes to sleep" it is really waking up? The tingling sensation comes after a spell of poor circulation has stopped and good circulation begins. What has that got to do with sports, you say? Well, we might add that our friends from Corvallis seems to have had a slight spell of "sleepy feet" when they played Idaho at Moscow Tuesday night.

Eberhart Selected as Assistant Sports Head
 The name of Bill Eberhart, which is familiar to Emerald readers at the top of varsity basketball articles, now appears in the masthead identified by the new title of assistant sports editor.

Eberhart was selected for the new post yesterday by Bill Phipps, sports editor, who at the same time announced his complete organization for the term.

The staff writers who will bring sports news to the Emerald are Bill Aetzel, Dan Clark, Clair Johnson, George Jones, Don Olds and Charles Paddock.

Betty Shoemaker continues in the capacity of women's sports editor.

Donut Volleyball Game Scores Confused; Phi Deltas and Chi Psis Win

Due to an error in reading the score sheet of the intramural volleyball games, it was announced yesterday that Phi Delta Theta lost to Zeta hall in their "A" league donut volleyball contest. Instead the Phi Deltas won their match with the hall team.

It was also stated that Phi Sigma Kappa won by forfeit from the Chi Psis and again the statement should be reversed with the Chi Psis the victors.

Volleyball Tilts Show Improved 'B' Contestants

Zeta Hall, Phi Deltas, Chi Psis, ATO Turn in Wins; No Players Particularly Outstanding

TODAY'S VOLLEYBALL SCHEDULE
 4:00—Omega hall vs. Sherry Ross (B); Delta Tau Delta vs. Sigma Nu (B).
 4:40—Phi Gamma Delta vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon (B); Yeomen vs. Delta Upsilon (B).
 5:20—Theta Chi vs. Alpha hall (A); La Casa Filipina vs. Phi Gamma Delta (A).

Zeta hall, the Phi Deltas, the Chi Psis, and Alpha Tau Omega last night turned in victories as play in the "B" league of the donut volleyball schedule continued with an assortment of games that showed improvement over former "B" league play.

No men were particularly outstanding in any of the games played, but in the A. T. O. victory over the Phi Psis, Stroble and Avison were the leaders of the attack.

Sigma hall furnished a little opposition in their first game with the Phi Deltas but folded up in the final frame to lose 15-10, 15-5. Patton, Vaughan and Helfrich all contributed several kills for the victors.

In another match that the first game was a close one the Phi Psis lost to the Chi Psis in the last contest with little opposition.

Zeta hall and Sigma Chi furnished most of the excitement on the afternoon program with the hall boys ending up on the long end of a 15-7, 15-12 score.

The Betas and Theta Chi were awarded victories by the forfeit route when the Phi Sigs and S. A. M. defaulted.

Debaters to Meet On Wednesdays

The men's varsity debate squad will continue its regular Wednesday night discussion meetings through the rest of January and most of February. W. A. Dahlberg, coach, said yesterday. The squad is studying contemporary political and economic problems—especially those of immediate concern to people of Oregon—in preparation for its schedule of appearances before Oregon communities late in February.

The debaters will stage their first symposium February 20 before the Aurora community club, discussing Oregon's tax crisis.

Although the complete schedule has not as yet been arranged, the squad has accepted invitations to appear before a forum at the First Congregational church in Portland, Glendale high school, and Willamette community club.

Independents Cop Handball Championship

Three Victories Chalked Up Over Sigma Hall

Schneider and Coad Take Doubles Easily While Chatterton and Caldwell Win Singles

The Yeomen are the new intramural handball champions following their defeat of Sigma hall last night in the finals of the donut handball elimination tournament. The independent men chalked up victories easily in all three of their matches.

Schneider and Coad, the same doubles combination that headed last year's champions, disposed of the hall team of Dunton and Winslow in short order with a 21-9, 21-9 victory.

Five Tourneys Completed
 Caldwell and Chatterton turned in the other two Yeomen victories although Chatterton was forced to the limit to defeat his opponent, Chancy, 21-18, 21-15. Shephard, the other Sigma hall representative in the singles matches, fell before Caldwell and only collected three counters in the two games. The score of this match was 21-2, 21-1.

The completion of this event brings the total of donut sports tourneys already through to five. During the fall term swimming water polo, and "A" and "B" basketball were all run through.

Beta Monopoly Broken
 The copping of the event by the independent men also marks the first title this year not taken by the Betas and so leaves the winner of the all year point total still open to argument.

With volleyball now in session the next intramural sport to get under way will be wrestling and all house managers are asked to see Earl Boushey at the men's gym and get their entrance list in. Condition and weight of the men must be checked soon, according to Boushey.

Women's Athletics

By BETTY SHOEMAKER

PI BETA PHI mermaids began the long trek for the Seller swimming cup by defeating Hendricks Hall 31-13 in the first intramural swimming contest.

Pi Phi placed first in four of the five events. Martha McCall, swimming in the 40-yard crawl, placed first for the Pi Phis in 28.2 seconds.

Maxine Goetsch placed first for Hendricks in the 20-yard racing back and Margaret Daggett came in for a close first in the 40-yard breast stroke event.

Freshman women's basketball team defeated the sophomores in a practice game yesterday 18-11.

Regular intramural basketball practice this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Come on out and join the crowd.

Alpha Phi vs. Chi Omega swimming team this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Seen yesterday: Alpha Phi coeds viewing the swimming events. It is a good idea to keep an eye on your competition. In fact it is a good idea to back up your own team. The Seller cup would not look bad on the mantel.

Wagner Will Run Distance

Half mile: Scharf and Ryan, who placed second and third in the rook meet last year; distance: Bob Wagner, who won all 2-mile events in the conference; Ludington and Paddock, milers, who placed two and three against the rooks.

In the hurdles are Mason McCoy, senior, Fred Nowland, junior, and Carter, a normal school transfer.

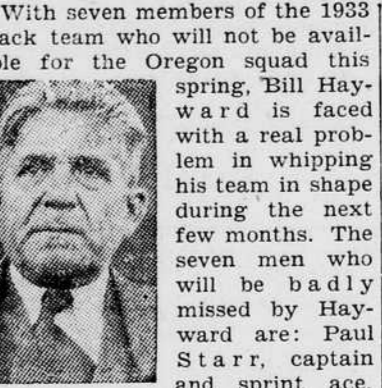

Field Competition Keen
 In the high jump is Nowland. Ken Wood, a transfer from Oregon State, is eligible for the pole vault. Gardner Frye, who won first from O.S.C., is the outstanding shot put man. Stanford Smith, a sophomore, is also out for that department. Frye is also a discus man. In the javelin are Gee and Bob Parke. Parke is also out for the broad jump. Lindgren is one of the promising jumpers.

The complete roster of candidates includes 17 varsity men and 35 frosh tracksters. At the present time most of the work is with distance men and no speed work at all is attempted. The list of candidates will probably increase some, but will be greatly reduced with the start of spring football.

Complete Roster Listed
 The roster includes: Arey, 440 and relay; Bowerman, 440 and relay; Carter, discus and hurdles; Dudley, hurdles; Eagles, discus and shot; Gagnon, shot; Humphreys, 440 and low hurdles; Hamilton, sprints; Merrill, sprints and broad jump; Mears, sprints; Nowland, hurdles and high jump; Paddock,
