Washington Huskies Virtually Clinch Title By Wins Over Ducks

California Bears Climb to First Place In Southern Position by Taking Two From U.C.L.A. Bruins

By BILL AETZEL
 The Washington Huskies virtually clinched the 1934 northern division basketball crown last weekend by decisively defeating the second-place Oregon quintet in both of the games at Seattle, while the Oregon State champions, the only other mathematical contender for the 1934 title, were splitting a twin bill with the lowly Cougar five at Pullman.

The apparently invincible Washington machine has passed the half-way point in the hoop race with an impressive record of eight consecutive victories and no defeats to so completely dominate the position at the top of the heap that fans are beginning to discuss possibilities of the purple-and-gold casaba artists driving through to the title with an unblemished record.

Huskies Have Eight More
 Coach Hec Edmundson's boys have eight more gruelling tests before the season's over, inaugurating the second half of the race with games at Corvallis and Eugene within the next week, and in all probability will be toppled over by one or more of the four other teams that are anxiously awaiting the chance for this honor.

Nevertheless, the Huskies have performed a remarkable feat to date, and barring the most drastic upset should win the right to represent the north in the Pacific coast playoff against the southern division titleholder, in the post season series to be played in California this year.

Bears in Second Spot
 Oregon State now rests in second place with four wins and as many losses, while the Webfoots appear in third spot with 2 wins and 4 defeats. The two Oregon quintets are on the ragged edge of title contention, with one more reversal to either or both teams sure to snuff out any chance at the crown.

The Washington State five has suffered six defeats and is definitely out of the race, while Idaho with five losses has a slim mathematical but hardly a practical chance at the title, no team ever having won the conference title with more than four setbacks.

Galer Runs Wild
 After Bob Galer, the stellar high scoring forward of the Huskies, had been effectively checked by Gib Olinger in Friday night's game, which the Washington team won 33-28, the flashy Husky basketball player ran wild in the following night's melee to score 14 points and carry his teammates to a 34 to 25 win. Although the game was tied up at half time, 16 all, the Webfoot invaders were leading most of the time and it was largely the five field goals in that first period that kept Washington in the fight.

The Orangemen from Corvallis gave indications that they might be on their way to another conference title, or at least to seriously contest the claims of the Seattle boys when they turned back the Cougars at Pullman Friday night, 26 to 23, but blasted that threat when the avenging Cougars smothered the Orange under a barrage of baskets to win the struggle Saturday night by a score of 24 to 15. The Gillmen, incidentally, were held to three lone field goals during the duration of the game.

Bears Lead in South
 Down south the deadlock was broken when California went into the lead as a result of two wins over U. C. L. A., while Southern California, defending champions, were dividing a twin bill with an inspired Stanford horde which upset the Trojans completely in the Saturday court struggle to lead throughout the game and win, 35 to 31.

The Cardinal hoopmen were little match for the strong U. S. C. team in the Friday game and Lee Gutters, flashy Trojan center, scored 13 points to carry his team

Shields Plans Changes After Rook Victory

Frosh Disaster to Bring Possible Shake-up

Yearlings Start Intensive Practice For Three Weekend Games; Center Post Uncertain

The Duckling hoopers, home from a disastrous trip to Corvallis, have a three-day period of intensive training awaiting them. The frosh showed occasional flashes of potential power, but were far too spasmodic to take two games in a row from the baby Beavers, losing the second game at Corvallis 22-19.

After piling up a nice lead in the last half, the frosh proceeded to blow it, and before they knew it, found themselves behind, and a last-minute spurt proved of no avail. Sam Liebowitz, guard, who scored eight points, was the only player to come close to the frosh performance of Friday night.

Shields Plans Changes
 Several players on the first team are holding their positions by a thread, and Coach Shields will probably effect a few changes in the lineup. The center post is the most uncertain. Harry Helms and Joe Murray divided the job, but neither showed up any too well against the towering Wellington, who in spite of his "Riegels" boner, played well in both games. Williamson, forward, who scored nine points Friday night, slumped, as did Faust.

This week the Ducklings play three games over the weekend. Thursday night they journey to Wendling. Friday and Saturday they trek up to northern Oregon, taking on Astoria and Salem. Salem, it will be recalled, handed the rooks their first defeat.

Stiff Competition Expected
 This pair of games should furnish the frosh their hardest prep competition thus far, and now that they are freed from the responsibility of keeping up the string of victories, should rapidly round into shape for the third and fourth rook tilts.

Summary of Saturday's game with the rooks:

Frosh	Fg.	Ft.	Pf.
Williamson, f	1	0	1
Lewis, f	3	1	1
Murray, c	0	0	1
Faust, g	0	0	0
Liebowitz, g	4	0	1

A.T.O., Kappa Sig Volleyball Teams Win Hot Contests

Yeomen, Sigma Chi, Omega Hall Also Winners; Betas Retain Undefeated Record

The Alpha Tau Omega "A" volleyball six rose up and defeated a previously undefeated Sherry Ross team in the closest battle on yesterday's donut volleyball program. Although they lost their first game by a 14-16 score, the A.T.O.'s, led by Stranix, came back strong to take the last two matches and the series from the hall outfit. Flick and Michew were the men on the losing team who provided most of the opposition.

Turning in the second shutout victory of this year's schedule, the Yeomen maintained their place at the top of Division II with a 15-0, 15-2 victory over a weak Phi Psi six. Husky Howard Ohmart was again the leader of the Independent men's attack, while Murphy turned in the best game for the vanquished team.

The Phi Sigs and Sigma Chi, carrying their water fighting feud of the past few weeks onto the volleyball court, had a merry time battling the ball back and forth with the tall Wheelock and the taller Palmer proving the margin of victory for the Sigma Chi team. Moore and Massey were the main threats of the losers.

Although Omega Hall finally lost their match with Kappa Sigma

University Graduate Receives Promotion

Daniel N. Longaker, who completed his University course at the summer session and received his B. S. degree this month, was recently promoted to the vice-presidency of the I. Newton Kinsey company, insurance brokers, in Philadelphia. Longaker is also attending Temple university law school night classes.

He was affiliated with the Chi Psi lodge on the campus.

Today's volleyball games:
 4:00 Phi Delta Theta vs. Pi Kappa Alpha (A)
 Delta Tau Delta vs. Zeta hall (A)
 4:40 Kappa Sigma vs. Phi Kappa Psi (B)
 Alpha Tau Omega vs. Sigma Alpha Mu (B)
 5:20 Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Phi Sigma Kappa (B)
 Beta Theta Pi vs. Sigma Chi (B)

The Eugene Gleemen will hold their annual dinner meeting tonight at 6:30 at the Osburn hotel. Reports from committees and election of directors will be the business features of the session. A program of stunts and other entertainment features will follow. Wayne Akers and Dr. R. T. Burnett are in charge of the dinner arrangements; Dale Cooley is handling the entertainment arrangements.

Following their tonight's meeting, the musical group will resume their regular Tuesday night rehearsals. The Gleemen will give their next good-will concert in the Portland municipal auditorium February 9.

Miss Starr Gives Talk
 Miss Mary E. Starr, instructor in home economics, talked to members of Pi Lambda Theta, women's education honorary, Monday night at the home of Mrs. George York. Miss Starr talked about her textile collection, made in Europe this summer. The meeting was social.

Their Status Is Moot Question

Here are the two University of Iowa athletes who caused such a furor in California athletic circles during the past week: Duane Wilson (left) and Bud Froning, left the mid-west university to enter the University of Southern California—intention, among other things, basketball. Cries of "proselyting" went up from mid-west athletic officials despite denial of the youths they had been asked to come to U. S. C.

They made a close battle of it all through the game, with the final score 15-9, 16-14. White and Giesecke were the most offensive players for the victors, while Kidder turned in a good game for the hall team.

In the other event on the afternoon's schedule Omega hall won an easy match from the Chi Psi with Blantz and Winston furnishing most of the kills. For the losers Wells was the most effective.

Beta Theta Pi remained undefeated at the top of their league when they were awarded a forfeit victory over Sigma Nu.

Webfoots Fall As Husky Five Bids for Title

Spook Robertson Heads Webfoot Scoring

Oregon Reposes in Third Spot While Oregon State Moves To Second Place

The University of Washington hoop five retained its undefeated, undisputed lead in the northern division of the Pacific coast conference against a challenging Webfoot team last weekend. The second game of the series was won by the Huskies Saturday night, 34 to 25, after a victory by the same outfit the night before.

As a result of their unsuccessful invasion into the dangerous Seattle territory, the Ducks were uncompromisingly set back into third place in the conference standings, with Washington and Oregon State ahead.

Galer Dominates Situation
 The tilt last Saturday night in Seattle was dominated by the accurate sharpshooting of the league's leading scorer, Washington's Bob Galer, who personally accounted for 14 points, over half of the entire Oregon score.

Coach Bill Reinhart's husky, young team stole the show from the opening curtain until near the close of the first act. The Ducks had plenty of fire and built up a lead at the start of the game, only to see Washington climb up the scoring ladder to tie the Webfoots 16 to 16 at the rest period.

Robertson Gets 11 Points
 Willie Jones put Oregon in the lead for the last time with a free throw at the beginning of the second half. Then Galer opened up his private fireworks and kept the Huskies ahead from there on out. "Spook" Robertson added materially to the Oregon total during the tilt with 11 markers, but Galer won the scoring duel with a healthy three-point margin. The Huskies put the game on ice at a point in the second period, when Wagner, Washington center, hit the hoop for three successive goals.

Summary:
 OREGON (25) FG FT PF TP
 Robertson 5 1 4 11
 Berg 1 2 1 4
 W. Jones 0 3 0 3

Tom Mountain Urges Wrestling Aspirants To Attend Meet Today

All men interested in the organization of a wrestling team to represent the University of Oregon during the coming season are asked to meet this afternoon at 4:30 in the classroom next to the office in the men's gym.

Correspondence from the University of California stating the Bears would like to schedule matches with the Webfoots' bone benders early in March when the Berkeley men make a trip to the Northwest as added impetus to the movement to have a team here, said Tom Mountain yesterday.

Women's Athletics
 By BETTY SHOEMAKER

WOMEN'S interhouse swimming schedule for this week has been corrected and will be run off as follows:

Tuesday: Phi Beta Phi vs. Chi Omega.
 Theta vs. Tri Delt.
 Wednesday: Hendricks hall vs. Alpha Phi.
 Thursday: Theta vs. Susan Campbell.
 Friday: Sigma Kappa vs. Kappa Kappa Gamma.
 Phi Beta Phi vs. Alpha Phi.
 All swimming meets begin at 4 p. m. Spectators help a lot too. Better come out and back up that swimming team!

Basketball schedule will be released in a few days. Plans are being made to combine all women whose houses are not entering a team and have them play as a definite team on the schedule. Helen Payne is in charge of these arrangements and anyone wishing further information about it get in touch with her at the Tri Delt house.
