

Coeds' Capers Scheduled for Tonight in Gym

Party to Commence at 7 In Gerlinger

MALES ARE BARRED

Tickets for Costume Affair Sell For 15 Cents; Judges to Give Prizes for Dresses

Campus coeds will reign supreme tonight, when they congregate at the Coed Capers, an annual all-women party, to be given in the women's gym of Gerlinger hall. Doors will be opened at 7 p. m. and through them will pass only members of the feminine faction, dressed in costumes ranging from the dress of garden of Eden, to futuristic cephalopod garments.

Men will be refused admission, and this refusal, if necessary shall be verified by the action of the Senior Cops, who, rumor has it, are very well versed in the art of throwing intruding males out of the window and down flights of stairs.

Tickets for the frolic are selling for 15 cents and may be purchased in all women's living organizations or at the door. Faculty and townswomen are especially invited to attend the revels, in costume, if they desire, and join in the grand parade of costumes.

Prizes Offered
Prizes of $2.50 and $1 will be offered for the best and second best dresses. Skits will be presented by the four classes and a loving cup awarded to the class which in the eyes of the judges shall present the skit of the highest merit. The skits which are being presented range all the way from a burlesque on the physical examination given to all entering students at the University of Oregon, to grave-stones, ships, sailors, the old mill-stream, and the rising of the famous dead of the University of Oregon students who were prominent in activities during the last four years. Last year the cup was won by the freshman women, and competition for the coveted silver trophy promises to be close this year.

The judges for the awards, who also will make a debut into the world of drama, have been named. They include Mrs. C. L. Schwering, Mrs. Alta Schauf, Mrs. Burt Brown Barker, Mrs. William Jasper Kerr, Mrs. Murray Warner, Mrs. Nelson C. Macduff, Miss Maude Kerpis, Miss Bernice Rise, and Miss Margaret Attraction.

Elizabeth Bendstrup is general chairman for the annual party, and she has been assisted in the making of arrangements by Marie Saccomanno, Adelaide Sheehy, Virginia Younie, Marjorie Will, Ruth Vannice, Mary Jane Jenkins, Dagmar Haugen, Catherine Coleman, Roberta Moody, Dorothy Parks, Edith Clement, Ebba Wicks, Eleanor Norblad, and Henriette Horak.

Features, dancing, special music, and refreshments are some of the other attractions on the program, which according to the opinion of several campus judges of such affairs, promises to be one of the best parties ever put on by the coeds.

Optional ROTC Problem Will Be Aired by Faculty

Committee Will Bring in Report Of Findings at Meeting This Afternoon

The problem of optional R.O.T.C. work on the campus will be taken up at the regular meeting of the University faculty this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Guild hall.

The request for optional military drill was first presented to the faculty at its meeting on January 17, and a week later Boyer announced the faculty group. On January 30, three representatives of the student committee of 25 which had made the original request for optional R.O.T.C. work, submitted a brief to the faculty committee, assigning seven reasons for the abandonment of military work on a compulsory basis.

O. T. C. countered with a petition Monday, signifying opposition to the proposal for optional military courses.

Hal Hoss' Death Grieves Friends Among Faculty

Secretary of State Once Active Journalist

GROUPS PAY HONOR

Acquaintances Express Deepest Sorrow in Passing of Oregon Statesman

Loss of one of Oregon's most capable servants was mourned throughout the state yesterday with the death of Hal E. Hoss, Oregon secretary of state for the past six years, prominent newspaperman before 1928, and a man whose qualities had made him innumerable friends during his career.

His many close acquaintances among the University faculty paid public tribute yesterday to Hoss while the organizations on the campus of which he was actively a member mourned his passing.

Hoss was active in publishing and at one time was president and secretary of the Oregon State Editorial association. He attended the second Oregon press conference held at the University school of journalism in 1920 and many of the subsequent meetings.

Although not a college man himself, Hoss took a keen interest in activities at the University and was a personal friend of former President Arnold Bennett Hall. He encouraged a great many men and women to continue their college educations and was a friend alike of students and professors. Hoss was an ex officio member of the board of regents of both the University and Oregon State college. While working in close touch with the school of journalism, Hoss was instrumental in raising money for obtaining the Emerald copydesk.

Fraternity Sends Flowers
Theta Chi fraternity, of which he was a member, will send flowers to the funeral and are wearing mourning under their pins.

Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, of which Hoss was an associate member, plans to include memorial services in the initiation to be held Sunday afternoon in Gerlinger hall.

Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, of which the deceased was also a member, will pass a resolution of condolence at a meeting this afternoon.

Flag Lowered
The flag on the administration building was at half-mast yesterday in remembrance of Hoss.

Members of the University faculty expressed their grief at the death of Hoss and the loss of a personal friend.

Chancellor W. J. Kerr said, "I had known Hoss intimately for many years and considered him one of my best friends. By his untimely death the state loses one of its most useful citizens. As secretary he was honest, courageous and capable, conscientiously devoted to the welfare of the state."

Allen Comments
Dean Eric W. Allen of the school of journalism: "The loss of Hal Hoss brings deep grief to many members of the firm of journalism. He was a school friend."

Geology Students Plan Field Trips

A field trip for geology students will be held in two sections, one Saturday afternoon and the other Sunday, in the near vicinity of Eugene.

The trip will be for the purpose of studying some of the geological structures in the light of recent work done by Dr. Chester Washburne when he was here two years ago. At that time Dr. Washburne worked out some new interpretations of geological forms of this region, taking advanced students with him on his trips. Dr. Warren D. Smith and W. E. McKittrick are taking elementary students to view these same features.

The proper interpretation of these structures has a great deal of bearing upon the possibility of there being petroleum or other valuable deposits in the district.

Friends Grieve

Faculty members and students of the University are mourning the death of Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state in Oregon. He died yesterday after a lingering illness had kept him away from his work in the state house for several months.

Dr. George Rebec To Speak on NRA At Portland Meet

Dr. George Rebec, head of the philosophy department, will speak on "The Concern of the Public in the NRA" at the Portland labor temple, Wednesday evening, February 14, it was announced yesterday by the Labor Institute on NRA, which is conducting a series of speeches on the features of the National Recovery Administration.

The institute is sponsored by the Portland Central Labor council, Reed college, the extension division of the Oregon state system of higher education, and the Workers' Education Bureau of America. Lectures will be given February 14, 15 and 16 in the labor temple.

The aims of the organization, according to a circular issued by them are "to provide an opportunity for a free, frank and impartial discussion and analysis of the NRA program, what it is, how it works, and what it promises to become."

The leaflet continues, "The NRA is a direct challenge to our whole economic and political philosophy of employer and employee relations. It is a proposal that means a new set-up which basically repudiates our tacit acceptance of laissez-faire, go-as-you-please-get-what-you-can practices. At the same time it assumed a state and federal responsibility which is disconcerting to American democratic conditions. These tremendously significant issues are to be threshed out at these conference meetings."

There are six speeches slated for the conference which is open free to the public.

Onthank, dean of personnel administration, yesterday.

"Mr. Rowell is not unknown on the campus," said Onthank. "He delivered what was probably the best commencement address ever given at the University, in 1932. He has a very effective and a rather informal style of speaking, and is one of the outstanding authorities of the day on world affairs."

C. W. A. Rakers Busily Removing Growths of Moss

Moss to get rid of! Piles of it! Twelve men, CWA employees, have been raking out moss from the lawns ago, a solution of ammonium sulphate was sprayed which deadened the moss, making it easier to rake.

However, one ton of ammonium sulphate which was purchased did not cover half of the campus. According to Sam Mikkelsen, University gardener, the moss is more abundant this year, due to the excess moisture and decrease in the fertility of the soil. The ammonium sulphate which was applied will also stimulate the growth of the grass.

The moss, probably the "Hypnum" species, will soon smother out the grass if let alone, as it grows more rapidly than grass in winter.

Huskies' Team Whips Oregon Four Straight

Invaders Win in Igloo by Score of 36-30

DUCK SUBS FLASHY

Reinhart Reverses Usual Tactics By Using Flock of Reserves Against Washington

By BILL EBERHART
The University of Washington basketball team won another wild game from the Webfoots last night, 36 to 30. Breaking away from his own precedent, Coach Bill Reinhart sent in a flock of substitutes in the second half, who accounted for 10 points among them and led that spirited rally towards the end that fell just six points short of victory.

The Huskies thus make it a clean sweep over Oregon in the four-game series, now completed. The Seattle team possesses a long lead in the conference race with 10 wins and a pair of defeats.

Huskies Play Better
The Washington boys played much better ball last night than was displayed Monday night, and their performance was full of clever dribbling, smooth passing and ball-handling, and accurate shooting. Hal Lee, Husky leader, came into his own and scored 14 points to lead both teams.

On baskets by Lee and Weber at the start of the game, Washington took an early lead and held it until the end of the contest. Gib Olinger scored first for Oregon on Weber's personal, and Berg followed a minute later with a two-handed shot from the foul line. A free throw by Lee and good shots from the corner by Galer and Lee ran the Huskies' score up to nine, and Olinger called time-out.

Ducks Get Three
The Jones boys added three points to the Duck score after the one-minute rest. Then Lee made one of the best plays of the game. Breaking out ahead of the Oregon defense, Lee jumped high in the air to take a floor-length pass from Weber at full speed and dropped his cripplingly without slackening speed.

Berg holed out a short shot on a fast cut to the basket and was fouled in the act by Wagner, Washington center, but he missed the gift shot. Willie Jones put Oregon within one point of the pace-setting Huskies with a nice southpaw shot when he pivoted away from his guard. A minute later he left the game in favor of Bob Miller.

Lee Tallies Again
The next time Lee got hold of the ball, he dribbled around the offensive end of the court, in and out among the Oregon defense, and suddenly let fly with a one-handed toss that nestled into the hem. Miller dropped in a long shot, and after Gemmill had replaced Berg, Washington's Wagner batted in a rebound from Galer's long try. Miller apparently thought Galer's shot was going in and he started to trot back to the center circle, leaving Wagner free as the wind.

Reinhart injected Ed Kunkle into the game in place of Robertson, who had failed to score. Galer ended the scoring in the first half with a conversion on Kunkle's foul. Kunkle fell on Galer when both were diving for the ball.

Appendicitis Hits Football Yearling

Morgan Burckard, big guard on the freshman football squad, was operated on Monday night for appendicitis at the Pacific Christian hospital.

Burckard was bothered by pain in the abdomen Sunday evening, and when they did not stop by noon Monday he went to the infirmary where Dr. Sante D. Caniparoli, assistant University physician, diagnosed the trouble as acute appendicitis.

The patient remained in the infirmary until 7:45, when he was moved to the hospital. The operation took place after 9 o'clock last night.

Burckard's condition was reported as good.

T. P. Cramer to Speak Before Banking Class

Federal deposit insurance will be the subject of an address to be given by T. P. Cramer of the Oregon Bankers' association, at 10 o'clock in room 8 of Commerce hall today.

Cramer's talk will be primarily for the bank management class, but all others interested will be allowed to attend.

The Oregon Bankers' association has made it a part of its work to furnish speakers on bank problems for any organization that desired the information.

Selections for the University rifle team were announced today by Sergeant Harvey Blythe of the ROTC barracks and coach of the rifle team.

The fifteen Oregon representatives were selected last week through a series of competitive shoots. They are H. P. Neely (who made the highest score 375), E. W. Swanson, H. E. Atterbury, J. C. Beard, J. P. Mulder, H. L. Friebe, B. J. Cross, W. R. Rice, K. BeLieu, W. Swanson, F. W. Bradshaw, F. J. Leu, E. C. Cross, D. L. Bjork, and R. L. Osborn.

These men will partake in a five-way meet to be held this week. All the men will shoot but only the ten highest scores will be counted.

The later cup matches, the Corps Area matches, and the intercollegiate matches.
