

Webfoot Team Drops Opener To Monmouth

Oregon Swatters Lose by 4-3 Score

LAST INNING FATAL

Oregon Normal Player Socks Out Triple With Bases Full; Koch, Hunt Star

A ninth-inning triple with bases full spelled a 4-to-3 defeat for Coach Bill Reinhart's University of Oregon baseball nine in the opening game of the season yesterday afternoon against Oregon normal at Monmouth. The return game will be played here tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 on the local diamond.

The Webfoots met defeat despite four-hit hurling by Ron Gemmell while his teammates were collecting nine bingles from the offerings of Treadway Charles, star pitcher of the Wolverines.

All of the Duck runs were scored in a big fourth inning spree. Wes Clausen opened with a hit and scored immediately afterward on a hit by Ray Koch. Joe Gordon followed with another drive to bring in Koch and crossed the plate himself later in the inning on a single by Mike Hunt.

Ducks Take Lead Larry Wolfe's nine opened its scoring in the sixth, when Mato drove out a hit to score Kelsey. Then as the game went into the final inning with the Ducks on the long end of a 3 to 1 score, the trouble started.

A sudden streak of wildness by Gemmell let both McKenzie and Gorman get on base with free passes. Then on an error by DeLauney, at the hot corner for Oregon, Charles got on to load the bases. McConnell then stepped into a fast one and drove in all three men with a long triple to raise the Wolverine count to four and end the contest.

For the Webfoot ball tossers, the starting lineup went the entire route. Koch and Hunt led the hitting, with the former pouncing.

Do You Need Money? Advertising Solicitors Receive Commissions

Potential advertising solicitors will have their opportunity this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock, announced Grant Theummel, Emerald business manager, yesterday. At that time the business offices in McArthur court will be thrown open to those who would like to occupy this position on the college daily.

Harold Ayres

Harold Ayres, who is scheduled to give a piano recital in the Music auditorium next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Graduate Student Of Piano to Give Concert Tuesday

Harold Ayres, Student of Artau, Returns From Brief Recital Tour in California

Harold Ayres, graduate student of piano under Louis Artau, associate professor of music in the University's music department, will appear in recital at the Music auditorium Tuesday night, April 10, at 8 o'clock.

Ayres appeared in Marshfield, Fresno, and Selma, the latter two towns in California. His program included numbers by Bach, Mendelssohn, Liszt, and Schumann, and the ever-popular "Little White Donkey," by Ibert.

Lillian Hall, music critic for the Coos Bay Times, describes Ayres' playing as "with exceptional cleanness in phrasing, with rhythmic steadiness, and a clear tone of volume and firmness."

She continues: "... In no number was Mr. Ayres' excellent schooling more evident than in Chopin's 'Scherzo in b flat Minor,' Op. 31. This was played with brilliance and surety. The audience was especially pleased with the number, 'The Little White Donkey.'"

Mr. Ayres showed talent and excellent training, a credit to his teacher, Louis P. Artau, instructor in the University of Oregon school of music.

Field Trips to Start

The general geology class of Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the departments of geography and geology, will start its field trips the latter part of April or early in May, according to Dr. Smith. Operations this year are to be in the Three Sisters and John Day regions.

Senior Class Offers Loan Fund As Gift

Amount Is Estimated at Five Hundred Dollars

VOTE ON FOUR IDEAS

Seniors Asked to Purchase Caps, Gowns, Buy Announcements Before April 10

A student loan fund of approximately $500 for University seniors was voted as the gift of the class of 1934 at a meeting last night in Johnson hall. Details for administration and regulations concerning the fund will be worked out and presented at a later meeting of the class, Ed Martindale, president, said.

A definite amount cannot be set for the fund, Martindale declared, because the class had subsidized the Oregon and the expected amount of class fees had not been paid at registration time. When more definite data concerning these two items have been found, the amount of the student loan fund will be set.

This gift was voted upon favorably over three other suggestions made by a committee which had been appointed for that purpose, under the chairmanship of Virginia Hartje, aided by Helen Binford and Charles Kennedy, who was replaced by Charles Thomas.

Members of the graduating class were exhorted to purchase graduation announcements and to order caps and gowns on or before April 10 at the Co-op. Announcements cost 10 cents each, while graduation apparel requires a $4 outlay, of which $2 must be paid for ordering and $2 as a deposit which will be refunded when the cap and gown are returned.

46 More Students To Get Relief Jobs

Approximately 150 University students received work assignments for the month of April yesterday under the reinstated federal student relief program. Today 46 more will be assigned to jobs on the campus, filling the University's quota for this month.

The campus employment secretary, Miss Janet Smith, has on file the applications of more than 300 student job-seekers, all of whom are eligible for the work. "An effort will be made by the University's student aid committee to distribute the 196 jobs equally among the 300 eligible applicants during the two and a half months," Miss Smith said. In distributing the jobs, the committee takes into consideration first the needs of the individual student, the employment secretary explained.

Committee to Contact Men for Y Conference

The campus Y. M. C. A. started planning for this year's Seabeck conference yesterday, when Cosgrove La Barre, president, appointed a committee of five to begin contacting University men to encourage attendance at the educational gathering to be held at Seabeck, Washington, June 11 to 16.

The committee includes Vernon Nelson, Henry Roberts, Verne Adams, Eugene Stromberg, and Cosgrove La Barre. Last year eight Oregon students attended the meet, where students from colleges and universities of the Northwest gathered to exchange ideas on economic and social problems, and to hear the opinion of authoritative speakers.

OSC, Oregon Will Give Joint Choral Program Sunday

Cosmopolitan Program Planned; 25 Cents Admission Required Of Non-A.S.U.O. Members

The Polyphonic choir of the University and the College choruses from Oregon State will present a concert, sponsored by the student body, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the music school auditorium. The group will be conducted by Paul Petri, head of the voice department, and Roy Bryson, associate conductor. Maxine Hill is to be the accompanist.

The program is to be made up of miscellaneous choral compositions and is cosmopolitan, appealing greatly to previous audiences. Classical compositions by Beethoven and Brahms will be included, also several interesting Russian numbers. An exceedingly different arrangement of Stephen Foster's "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground," and an arrangement of the popular Irish melody, "Would God I Were a Tender Apple Blossom," will be presented. Another outstanding number is Rachmaninoff's "Prelude." Several compositions by modern composers complete the program.

Among the solos will be a composition, "Lullaby by Johannes Brahms," sung by Jessie Long, soprano.

Edith Grimm, pupil of Prof. George Hopkins of the University of Oregon, will play "Craconviene Fantastique" by Paderewski.

Students having A. S. U. O. tickets will be admitted to the concert free of charge, others will be compelled to pay a 25 cent admission fee.

OSC Man Makes Map of Campus Building System

Data Will Include Size, Number of Rooms, Windows, Location, Network of Pipe Lines

A survey of the University property is being made by G. V. Skeleton, superintendent of roads and walks at Oregon State college, to obtain data for a comprehensive map locating buildings, sewer pipes, and water lines.

Mr. Skeleton has been working on this project for over a year at times when the weather permits. He is also mapping the property of all the institutions under the state board of higher education.

This record, when complete, will show the size, number of rooms, windows, as well as the location of the buildings. It will also show the underground network of water and sewer pipes. Its purpose is to benefit new men coming on the campus who are not acquainted with its make-up, and to enable them to refer to the map instead of going to the building to measure it. If any outside construction is necessary, constructors will know what to expect to find when they start digging. This, says D. L. Lewis, superintendent of the University grounds, will save hitting and breaking many underground pipes.

Mr. Skeleton is being aided by one instrument man whom he brings with him, and Paul Howell, former University student.

Freshmen of Last Fifty Years Honor Their 'Own' Dean

John Straub, 'Father of Oregon,' Lives on in Memory of Associates

Eighty-one years ago today there was born in the city of Brotherly Love a man who, for 50 years, was brother and guiding spirit to every incoming class of freshmen to the University of Oregon. John Straub, from the time he joined the faculty of the newly-created University in 1878, to the day of his death, less than two years ago, sheltered and advised the first year students.

Just as true as when it was spoken last April at the dedication of the John Straub Memorial building, is the eulogy of the kindly dean by Frederic S. Dunn, professor of Latin. "Many an alumnus can avow that he feels yet that fatherly arm about him, that pat of the hand upon his shoulder... can still hear those bantering, half-warming, rallying charges that stiffened his resolves and rescued him from disgrace or failure."

After serving Oregon as dean of the college of literature, science and arts, and as dean of men, Straub was made dean emeritus in 1925, although he continued to offer the welcoming hand of fellowship to timid new-comers for some years.

"Generations of freshmen have come and gone, carrying with them the same memories of a hand grasp that warmed the heart, a smile that chased away trouble, a word that was decisive for good and the soul's welfare." So said Dunn, a friend of Straub for many years.

Today, a simple ceremony of laying flowers on the grave of the late dean is planned to commemorate the man whose name is revered as no other's in the history of the institution.

Hermian Group Gives Tea for AWS Speaker

Hermian club, women's upper-class physical education honorary, give a tea yesterday afternoon at Gerlinger hall in honor of Mrs. Dorothy McKee Fudge, head of parks and playgrounds recreation in Portland.

Mrs. Fudge addressed University women on "Women in Physical Education and Recreation," as one of the lectures in the conference on vocations for college women, sponsored by the A.W.S.

All physical education majors and minors were invited to the affair.

Bernice Wainscott was in charge of the tea, assisted by Ruth Irvin.

Dr. Morris to Speak At Bankers' Meeting

An invitation has been extended to Dr. Victor P. Morris, professor of economics at the school of business administration, to speak before a meeting of the Oregon State Bankers association on June 19.

The meeting is scheduled to take place at Gearhart, Oregon. Dr. Morris, who has made numerous speeches on the present monetary situation both at home and abroad before student groups and various business clubs in Oregon, will talk on "Monetary Stabilization."

Fund Available To Give Aid to Needy Students

All Requiring Help Will Be Accommodated

CWA LESSONS NEED

Loan Committee Considers Effort Applicant Has Made and Scholastic Record

Sufficient money for all students who need financial help and who can qualify for loans is now available, it was announced from Dean of Men Virgil D. Earl's office in Johnson hall yesterday. Recent repayments to the loan funds have been greater than anticipated, according to the student loan committee, and all students requiring aid may be accommodated.

The loan committee takes into consideration a student's scholastic record, general reputation, need for aid, present indebtedness, ability to repay, and the effort which the student has made to assist himself. The University does not have the machinery to accept various forms of collateral, therefore it requires the signature of two responsible citizens in addition to that of the student borrower.

Application blanks are procurable at the office of the dean of men, through whom applications must be made to the student loan committee. Women applicants should first consult with Dean of Women Hazel P. Schwering in Johnson hall, and receive her approval of the loan before making formal application at the dean of men's office.

"We expect fully as many loans as last year," stated Earl yesterday. "There was a total of 1142 loans to students last year, 200 of which were for long terms. Thus far this year there have been about 150 long term loans, with prospects of from 50 to 60 this term."

"Undoubtedly, the CWA employment of 196 students of the University has decreased the number requiring loans to continue in school," said Dean Earl.

Athletes Replacement Approved by Yeomen

A motion to petition the committee on intramural sports for the right to make replacements in the list of 40 athletes submitted at the beginning of the year to enter in intramural competition was passed at a meeting of the Oregon Yeomen, unaffiliated men's organization, Wednesday night in the Y hut.

The Yeomen will be hampered greatly during the remainder of the season by the loss of several of their best tennis stars, who will play for the varsity team. Under the present ruling they can replace none of the losses.

Merlin Blais was placed in charge of securing talent for a coming radio contest.

Five Students to Give Recital Monday Night

Five music students will be presented on next Monday night's student recital at 8 o'clock in the music auditorium. They are Edna Whitmer, Catherine Mishler, and Helene Robinson, pianists; Kenneth Asbury, clarinetist; and Marian Lindley, accompanist.

Miss Whitmer and Miss Robinson are students of Aurora Potter Underwood; Miss Mishler and Miss Lindley of George Hopkins; and Kenneth Asbury of John Stehn.

Committee of Fifty to Hold Meet in Johnson To Plan Further Action

An important meeting of the Committee of Fifty will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock. A revised list of the student leaders who composed this group is published in today's Emerald. All of those named should be present, as important steps in the campaign for A. S. U. O. membership will be discussed and further action planned.

The meeting will be held in room 110 in Johnson hall.

Eugene Country Club Golf Course Offered Free for Varsity Use

The Eugene Country club, in an effort to do its part in helping the A. S. U. O. out of the doubtful financial difficulty in which it has been plunged, yesterday offered the use of its course to the University of Oregon golf team for all matches without charge.

A. S. U. O. officers accepted the offer gratefully, for they will thereby save in the neighborhood of $100. The Country club has likewise offered to waive the greens fees for representatives of all visiting golf teams competing with the University of Oregon in Eugene. Greens fees for visiting players have heretofore been paid by the A. S. U. O.

Two Honoraries To Sponsor Open House on Campus

Kwama, Skull and Dagger to Offer Varied Entertainment Tonight At Craftsmen's Club

Members of Kwama and Skull and Dagger, sophomore service honoraries, are jointly sponsoring an "open house" at 9 o'clock tonight at the Craftsmen's club. Admission is 10 cents a person, date or stag, and may be paid at the door. The informality of the affair has been emphasized, campus clothes being in order.

Various forms of entertainment have been arranged, including dancing, ping pong, and cards. A special invitation has been issued to all independent men and women, and members of various living organizations are urged to attend.

Roberta Moody and Jerry Denslow are joint chairmen of the event, and members of the committee in charge include Ed Labbe, music; Virginia Younie, patrons and patronesses; Henriette Horak, publicity; John McConnell, finance; Lewis Fox, equipment.

Patrons and patronesses attending are Lieutenant and Mrs. Edward H. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bryson, and Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Kutler.

Senior Honorary To Give Awards

The University of Oregon chapter of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, plans to grant three awards of $5 each to outstanding women who are working their way through the University, it was announced yesterday by Eileen Hickson, chairman of the award committee. Other members on the committee are Nancy Sumola and Caroline Card.

The awards, which are to be made within the next few days, are to be given to girls who are at least 75 per cent self-supporting, preferably upperclass women, and who have a B, or better, average.

This action is to be a part of the service program of Mortar Board to the University, and will be given in recognition chiefly of scholarship.

They Had to Be Good in Gay Nineties; Faculty Ruled Them

By HOWARD KESSLER

It is doubtful if any day could be more suitable than this to reintroduce the set of somewhat stringent and antiquated rules by which the student was governed in the early days of this University, as they were entered into the minute books of John Straub, then secretary of the faculty. For today is the late dean's birthday.

Recently undertaken, the work of systematically arranging and indexing the minute books and other valuable documents of the University is far from culmination, but daily it brings to light quaint and sometimes amusing dictates to the students of the nineteenth century.

Enumerated on the minutes of the faculty meeting of September 11, 1882, are a number of strict demands made of the students, such as:

"A student must not enter the brewery or a saloon.

"Or drink any intoxicating liquor while in attendance at the University, or on his or her way to and from the same, except on the prescription of a physician.

"Or use tobacco in any form or

Student Roster In ASUO Rises Over Half Mark

Speakers Will Explain Situation Today

TALKS DURING NOON

Dangers Facing Organization Will Be Pointed Out; Corvallis Figure Climbs

The drive for student membership in the A. S. U. O. reaches the climax of its first week today with a program planned to explain to as many students as possible the advantages of student body privileges. The student speakers' committee, headed by Bill Davis, will outline the situation in all campus living organizations at the noon hours, while the Committee of 50 will meet at 5 p. m. to discuss plans for further means of reaching non-members.

Non-members staged a rush on the cashier's window at Johnson hall yesterday, and figures last night showed that a majority of undergraduates registering had paid the student body membership fee. An official tabulation disclosed that 881 have chosen to join the student organization, while 824 failed to pay the required fee, placing the percentage of A. S. U. O. members at 52 per cent.

Speakers to Appeal In the meanwhile the Oregon State Barometer announced that the organized student body at that institution was in a majority with approximately 65 per cent of those registered having paid the optional fee.

In talking before the members of living organizations this noon, speakers will point out the danger which now faces the A. S. U. O. and will explain the method by which student body cards and

Army Day Celebration On Today! Oregonians Show Your Patriotism

Army day will be celebrated at the University of Oregon in fitting fashion.

So much seemed evident last night when a tall blond young man approached the Emerald copy desk and left the following item for the Campus Calendar column:

"An Army Day parade will be held on the campus today at 9:50 a. m. Watch for the marchers on Thirteenth street."

The young man refused to give his name, and as a consequence his notice cannot be used in the Campus Calendar column. But he was evidently sincere, so Emerald executives decided to offer his announcement for what it may be worth. No review is believed to be scheduled by the military department in that place.

'Trips to Europe, Students?' Offer Made by Eyer Brown

A rambling trip to out-of-way spots and familiar places of Sweden, Belgium, Germany, France, and Italy is available to students of the University and others interested, through the medium of a series of sketches, etchings, aqua-tints and water colors which Eyer Brown, assistant professor of architecture, has placed on exhibition at the school of fine arts.

Brown has just returned from a stay of 20 months in Europe, where he not only traveled extensively, but studied under leading artists of the continent. Wherever he went he hunted out the unusual and picturesque scenery, yet typical of the region. The result is a travelogue of rare charm and beauty, especially if Eyer happens to be near to add a word or two as background for the scenes.

Most of Brown's studying was done in Belgium, under Jules De Bruycker, foremost etcher of that country, and in London under Malcolm Osborne, of the Royal College of Art. Brown went to Belgium in July, 1932, under a C.R.B. scholarship grant, an honor accorded to young artists of promise in this country. After studying there for some months he went to London and entered the Royal college upon a recommendation given him by Bruycker.

The exhibition covers a wide range of subjects as well as countries. As the exhibit room is entered the first work noted is a series of sketches of Swedish landscapes, done in delicate blue. Just enough detail is included to give the viewer an idea of the many beauty spots found by the artists. The scene quickly shifts to Bruges, Belgium, where in a detailed etching Brown not only brings out the charm but a definite feeling of antiquity of the Hospital of St. John, an institution that has been continuously operating since the 12th century. The etching depicts the entrance, with a group of monks bearing a patient on a stretcher.

In his etching of the Porta Maggiore, in Orvieto, Italy, Brown brings out the massiveness of the entrance to this refuge of ancient popes. Another view, made in this picturesque spot shows a castle high up on a sheer cliff, while a third depicts a section of the public square. All three are unusually expressive of that historic place.

How the Houses Rank

FOLLOWING is a list of the percentage of members in each living organization on the campus who have paid their A. S. U. O. fees. Only one house, Alpha Phi, has reached the 100 per cent mark. Several more are nearing a perfect record with but one or two non-members.
