FOUR ASUO WOMEN CANDIDATES INTERVIEWED ON QUALIFICATIONS

Aspirants Listed Alphabetically; Nancy Archbold, Gail McCredie Out for Secretaryship; Elizabeth Bendstrup, Althea Peterson Seek Position of Senior Woman at Coming Election

By CYNTHIA LILJEVIST

PRESENTING Nancy Archbold, candidate for student-body secretary on Joe Renner's coalition ticket.

At a late hour last night, Miss Archbold stated: "If my qualifications are judged to be sufficient for election to secretary of the ASUO, I shall try most conscientiously to fulfill the position satisfactorily."

Nancy is a member of Kappa Gamma and a junior in the school of English. Only last year the sophomore class called upon her to fill the vacancy of class secretary when the incumbent didn't return to school. That was the year the Sophomore Whiskerino was postponed because of the lack of long enough beards. Miss Archbold had nothing to say on that situation.

During her freshman year she served on frosh picnic and frosh glee committees; was a member of Kwama before they gave joint dances with Skull and Dagger. She served on the sophomore informal and Y. W. C. A. waffle luncheon committee.

This year Nancy will act as co-chairman of the Junior-Senior dance with Corwin Calavan. Bill Davis, chairman of Junior Weekend, yesterday appointed her chairman of the Mother's day entertainment. As a member of the ASUO speakers' committee, Miss Nancy has spoken long and loftily while many bowls of tomato soup have cooled.

ANNOUNCING Elizabeth Bendstrup, candidate for senior woman on Renner's coalition ticket.

Although Elizabeth Bendstrup is a history major, she has been active in current campus events from the day Astoria, her historic hie-ing place, bade her a fond farewell.

Sitting under the willow tree in the cool Alpha Chi Omega back lawn, Elizabeth slowly fashioned the following:

"With the ASUO in the precarious position in which the optional fee situation places it, student government in the next year has a very real problem before it."

"Efforts of student officers must be directed for the best interests of our organization and the University of Oregon. To maintain the present status of our student body in University affairs, each student must recognize his individual obligation to take an active interest in student activities."

Elizabeth was pledged to Kwama, sophomore service honorary, has acted on the A. W. S. council and the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. She is a member of Phi Theta Upsilon. Last fall she served on the Homecoming directorate and was chairman of Coed Capers this winter. Bill Davis appointed her head of the campus luncheon and a member of the Junior Weekend directorate.

In Miss Bendstrup we found another advocate for women's independent status. In her own inimitable way, she enthusiastically declared: "A woman should choose what she wants, should fit herself for a position, for she may need it some day."

"As the great cities need their Junior Leagues?" we reluctantly inquired.

"Yes!" with the determination of a Grant, when he said: "I will fight it out on this line if it takes me all summer!"

INTRODUCING Gail McCredie, candidate for secretary of the Associated Students on Malcolm Bauer's ticket.

Gail McCredie, a member of Gamma Phi Beta, has been very much concerned with student affairs ever since the day she enrolled in the University as a graduate from Grant high in Portland. Starting off in her freshman year as secretary of the frosh commission, she has successfully held the chairmanship of the publicity department for the waffle luncheon, was on the speakers' committee, and was elected to Kwama, sophomore woman's service honorary. All that occurred during her second year at Oregon. During the last year she has held the office of secretary of the junior class, was secretary of the Homecoming dance committee, chairman for the Dad's day banquet, and is chairman of the booths for the coming A. W. S. Carnival.

About the coming elections, all Gail had to say for herself was, "It is my intent, if elected to the office of secretary of the student body, to assist the president in regaining student interest in the activities of their government."

She is a sister to roaring Bud McCredie, by the way, and believes that women should prepare themselves for some position. "With a complete education, a woman would be doubly successful in her home and more valuable in developing her children," Gail confidently added.

Hybrid Reference Book Combination Declared Useful

A strange "hybrid" in reference books, combining the most important functions of a dictionary, thesaurus, book of synonyms, and grammar text appeared on display at the Co-op library this week.

This new type of reference book is destined to make life much easier for the college student, according to Mrs. Elsie Belknap, Co-op librarian. It is especially recommended to students taking courses in English composition, journalism, or courses requiring term papers.

Bound in an attractive dollar edition, the book, entitled "The Modern Word Finder," in alphabetical arrangement provides a guide in finding synonyms, spelling, pronunciation, abbreviations, word origins, authorships, and grammatical usage.

While the book is not as complete in any of the functions which it combines from the more specialized references, it makes a convenient combination quite adequate for the use of the undergraduate student, says the librarian.

4 Women Leave For Association Of Deans' Meet

Dean Schwering, Jean Failing, Mrs. Turnipseed, Catherine Coleman Start South

Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, head of the dormitories of the Oregon schools of higher education, Jean Failing, president of A. W. S., and Catherine Coleman, president-elect of A. W. S., will leave at 5 o'clock Saturday morning for Tucson, Arizona, where they will attend the Western Section of the Association of Deans of Women. This convention is held every two years, and there are representatives from the 11 western states. The A. W. S. presidents of each school attend, as well as the deans of women.

The University of Oregon delegates are driving down the coast highway with Mrs. Turnipseed, stopping at San Francisco and Los Angeles on the trip down, and plan to reach Tucson by Wednesday. On the return trip they will spend a day in Los Angeles, and will return to Eugene either April 25 or 26.

The four days of the convention, from the 21st until the 24th of April, are to be filled with social activities as well as meetings and sessions for discussion. There will be registration Wednesday, followed by a tour of the campus. The sophomore honorary is giving a tea in the afternoon, with a barbecue dinner at the W. A. A. field later, and a swimming party in the evening.

There will be several meetings Thursday. The speakers at the morning session will be Dr. Homer LeRoy Shantz, Dean Jones, dean of women at Tucson, and Peggy Taylor, Arizona student body president. The discussion groups will deal with orientation and freshman week, senior sponsors, customs and traditions, social functions, enforcement of rules, unaffiliated girls, drinking, and interrelation. Thursday morning Mortar Board will entertain the delegates at breakfast on Dr. Shantz' lawn. At noon they will attend a Mexican lunch at El Chorro cafe, and from 5 until 6 o'clock the junior women's honorary is entertaining with a tea dance. The
