Oregon, O.S.C. Relay Squads Will Vie Today

Evenly Matched Teams Promise Competition

ENTRIES ANNOUNCED

Hayward Field to Be Scene of First Meet of Northwestern Track Season

At 2 o'clock sharp this afternoon the crack of the starter's pistol will open the northwest track season and will start the 440-yard event in the Oregon-Oregon State dual relay meet on Hayward field.

Colonel Bill Hayward has picked his men for every event and figures that every race will be decided by the final man in each race because of the well-balanced teams that both Oregon and Oregon State will send onto the cinder track this afternoon.

There is much speculation as to how Hayward's well-trained but green men will perform under conference competition in this first meet.

Meet Schedule Given
The entries for both teams in the different events have been given out and the meet will be run on the following schedule:

2 o'clock: 440 relay—Oregon, Walter Hopson, Bud Shoemaker, Mason McCoy, Howard Patterson; Oregon State, Fyock, O'Connell, Bronson, Bob Patrick; record, :42.2, set by Oregon in 1932.

2:10 o'clock, two-mile relay—Oregon, Huber, Phillips, Bob Ludington, George Scharp, Rus Humphries or Bob Baxter; Oregon State, White, Conner, Crossley, Ausland, Olsen; record, 8:01.2, set by O.S.C. in 1932.

2:20 o'clock, 880-yard relay—Oregon, Walter Hopson, Bud Shoemaker, Howard Patterson, Arne Lingren; Oregon State, Fyock, Bronson, Prah, Bill Patrick or Bob Patrick; record, 1:28.6, set by Oregon in 1932.

Relays, Distance Listed
2:30 o'clock, shuttle relay—Oregon, Mason McCoy, Fred Nowland, Art Dudley, Stew Milligan; Oregon State, Prah, Kidder, Rice, Eckman; record, 1:10.6, set by O.S.C. in 1931.

2:40 o'clock, sprint medley—Oregon, Walter Hopson, Howard Patterson, Bud Shoemaker, Bill Bowerman; Oregon State, not announced; record, 1:34.2, set by Oregon in 1932.

2:50 o'clock, 4-mile relay—Oregon, Bill Paddock, Clayton Wentz, Bob Ludington, Bob Wagner; Oregon State, Guggisberg, Turner, Farrow, Nicholas or Samel; record, 18.28, set by O.S.C. in 1930.

3:10 o'clock, distance medley—Oregon, Walter Hopson, Marshal Wright, George Scharp, Tom McCall; Oregon State, not announced; record, 7:41.8, set by Oregon in 1931.

3:20 o'clock, mile relay—Oregon, Fred Nowland, Bob Thomas, Sherwood Burr, Bill Bowerman; Oregon State, Bronson, Bill Patrick, Bob Patrick, Reed, Stoop or Crossley; record, 3:24, set by Oregon in 1928.

Human Mule' Teams of Arkansas

The practice of using convicts in place of mules in pulling farm implements at the Tucker state prison farm at Tucker, Arkansas, was stopped by an aroused public. Prison officials declared that the work was no harder than other farm work to which the men were accustomed. A group of convicts is shown above pulling farm implements, a practice which Governor J. M. Futrell stopped after an investigation.

Frosh Counsellor Directorate Lists 150 Eligible Girls

First of Meetings for Instruction Takes Place Monday; Aspirants Will Receive Outlines

One hundred fifty girls were chosen yesterday by the frosh counsellor directorate, assisted by Mrs. Macduff, assistant dean of women, as eligible to be frosh counsellors for freshman women entering the University next fall. This work aids the students in becoming adjusted to social and academic activities during the first few weeks of school.

Beginning this Monday, meetings will be held for three consecutive weeks for all frosh counsellors, who will be divided into eight groups and be placed under the instruction of various members of the directorate. At this time an outlined program will be presented to the counsellors which will prepare them to answer all questions that the freshmen might ask concerning college work.

All counsellors are expected to be at every meeting, there being one a week. They will be called individually, and there will be notices in the campus calendar for all scheduled meetings. The girls have been chosen because of their interest, capability, and willingness to take responsibility. In order to make a complete success of their positions, they must attend all meetings and be willing to cooperate with the leader.

Members of the directorate are as follows: Roberta Moody, chairman; Virginia Younie, Reva Hearn, Ann-Reed Burns, Gail McCredie, Elizabeth Bendstrup, Henriette Horak, Peggy Chessman.

Dean Allen to Entertain
Dean and Mrs. Eric W. Allen will entertain the senior editing class at their home on 2239 Birch Lane Thursday evening, May 3, at 7:00.

Students Work on Project
William Hall and Loyd Green, psychology students, are engaged in a project of adapting the recent Oregon experiments on speed of muscular coordination so they can be adopted as standard laboratory equipment to be used in this and other schools. With such apparatus the experiments could be demonstrated to other elementary laboratory students.

Arrival of CWA Checks Expected on May 10; Word to Be Released

Checks for the CWA student workers on the campus for the month of April are expected about May 10, it was announced from the business offices in Johnson hall yesterday.

Workers are requested not to apply before that time for their pay checks. Receipt of the checks will be announced in the Emerald.

Novel Idea to Be Used for Setting of Coming Show

Shadows to Be Painted on Walls of University Stage for 'The Chief Thing'

Painted shadows on the walls will be seen for the first time on the stage in Eugene when the University players present "The Chief Thing" on May 2, 4, and 5, under the direction of Horace W. Robinson, instructor in dramatics. Painted shadows were used in the recent motion picture, "Nana."

In the first scene, which takes place in a fortune teller's attic, a setting in a black and white motif is used.

As the play goes on, a rehearsal of the burlesque show "Quo Vadis" is shown. This is presumably being given in a local Russian theater and the usual backstage mistakes are made by the characters who are draped in appropriate Roman costume.

Robinson's theater workshop class has been busy the last few weeks making "flats" for the second and third acts, as entirely new scenery is to be used. In addition to the new scenery, new lighting equipment has just been received which will be used for the first time in "The Chief Thing."

Assisting with the presentation of the play are the following: stage technician, Horace W. Robinson; stage crew, William Schloth, Boyd Jackson, and Bill Paddock; electrician, Richard Koken; property crew, Betty Day, Barbara Betts; costumes, Mrs. H. W. Robinson; business manager, Robert Dodge; assistant business managers, Ellen Burns; publicity, Althea Peterson, Dorothy Dykeman.

Sally Potter Reed To Present Piano Program Monday

Numbers Show Variety; Ravel Composition to Be Given By Hopkins Pupil

Another piano recital will feature Monday night's program, when Sally Potter Reed, a student of George Hopkins, will play at 8 o'clock in the music auditorium.

The program will be evenly balanced, with Beethoven's "Sonata," Op. 27, Number 1, heading the list. Rachmaninoff and Debussy will each contribute two numbers to her recital. Maurice Ravel, composer of the now famous "Bolero," will be represented by "Pavane," while Godowsky's "Watteau Paysage" is the remaining number. Her complete program will be:

I
Beethoven...Sonata, Op. 27, No. 1
Andante
Allegro molto e vivace
Adagio con espressione
Allegro vivace

II
Godowsky...Watteau Paysage
Rachmaninoff...Prelude in G-major
Rachmaninoff...Humoresque

III
Ravel...Pavane
Debussy...Minstrels
Debussy...L'Isle Joyeuse

Juke's Manager Gets Compliment

A compliment for Don Caswell, senior in journalism and campaign manager for J. Jorgensen Jukes, Con-Fusionist candidate for A.S.U.O. president, was received at the Emerald office yesterday from Paul Kelly, editor of the Portland Morning Oregonian.

"This is cleverly done. Who does it?" is the note written by Kelly on the Jukes' blurb for the Thursday Emerald, and sent to Sterling Green by Willis Duniway, Emerald editor for 1931-32, now a reporter on the Oregonian.

With the note is a letter written by Duniway, who says: "Mr. Kelly put this on my desk yesterday. I'm passing it on to you for an answer to his question. I've been reading the Jukes stuff every day but don't know who to hang it on unless Barney Clark."
"PK's note should be worthy of Emerald bulletin board notice. His signature means a lot. And compliments are often hard to get."

Mortar Board Ball Crowning Event of Week

Women's Service Group Sponsors Dance

COEDS ESCORT MEN

Pledging to Kwama to Be Feature of Annual Occasion at Osburn Hotel

The crowning event of Senior Leap week will be the Mortar Board ball, sponsored by Mortar Board, senior women's service honorary, to be given tonight at 9, at the Osburn hotel.

This most formal of all formal balls of the year is one of the few occasions when the campus coeds take the prerogative and not only make the date, but pay the bill, do the escorting honors usually performed by the male, and even send flowers—a gardenia for the shiny lapel of the tux.

Coeds who have not yet purchased tickets may do so at the Co-op or at the door Saturday night. The price of the tickets is $1, which admits one and one escort.

The main feature of the ball will be the pledging to Kwama, sophomore service honorary, of the 19 outstanding freshman women. The coeds who were selected were chosen on the basis of service to the University, demonstrated ability as leaders, character and personality and scholastic rating. The pledging will take place during the intermission after the girls have been "tapped" during a certain dance and invited to membership by one of this year's Kwama members. Dean of Women Hazel Prutsman Scherwing will pin the pledge ribbons on the coeds. Skull and Dagger will assist with the pledging.

The directorate in charge of arrangements for the dance which comes as a brilliant climax to Senior Leap week, includes Ida Mae Nickels, chairman; Virginia Hartje, Caroline Card, Elleen Hickson, Helen Binford, Dorothy Marsters, and Nancy Suomela. Sherwood Burr's orchestra will play for the ball.

Former Emerald Editor Guest at Thacher Home

Vinton Hall, journalism graduate of '31 and editor of the Emerald for 1930-31, is spending a week's vacation from his work as reporter on the Portland Morning Oregonian, with Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, members of the University faculty.

As editor, managing editor and in other positions, Hall was on the Emerald staff for several years, and was a member of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honorary, and Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity on the campus.

Morse to Speak
Wayne L. Morse, dean of the University law school, is to speak on "Trends in the Law" before the Marion county bar association at noon today. The meeting of the bar association will be held in the Masonic building in Salem.

Henderson Gives Speech
Dr. Louis F. Henderson, curator of the herbarium, spoke before the Audubon society at Portland last night. Dr. Henderson gave readings on his various experiences in the mountains of Idaho.

Seniors Must Order Commencement Needs By Noon, Is Warning

A last warning that noon today will be the deadline for ordering caps and gowns and commencement announcements, was voiced jointly last night by Harry Hanson, chairman of the senior commencement committee, and M. F. McClain, manager of the Co-op. A check made yesterday showed that there were still a large number of seniors who have not yet placed their orders.

Because the order for the caps and gowns and announcements must be sent back east for filling, it will be impossible to extend the ordering date beyond today's deadline, McClain said.

Theta Chi announces the pledging of Robert Ludington of Creswell, Oregon.

Cosmopolitan club meeting slated for Monday is postponed indefinitely.

From Junk to Telescope

Having searched the junk piles about Oroville, California, and found what they wanted, two young men are now ready to search the heavens with a $12,000 telescope made from junk and discarded articles. The instrument magnifies 486 times. Earl Gendron is looking through the eyepiece, while Sam Norris Jr. is standing by the heavy mounting that weighs a ton.

Renner Outlines Next Year's Work For the Emerald

Revision of A.S.U.O. Constitution; Student Body Elections on Program

A statement of his proposed policies for next year was issued to the Emerald last night by Joe Renner, first-year law student, who was returned president of the student body in the A.S.U.O. elections last Thursday.

"I am pleased at this opportunity to express my appreciation to the associated students for their support at the polls and wish to assure them that I will make every effort to carry out the policies that I have previously proposed as my platform," stated Renner, who will work with a group of officers evenly divided between his ticket and that of Malcolm Bauer, opposition leader.

"Briefly, I hope to carry on the revision of the A.S.U.O. constitution by incorporating the six recently accepted amendments into a new document," said the president-elect.

"I also intend to revise the present plan of class and student body elections falling on the same day. I believe the evils of the present system are sufficiently evident to need no explanation.

"I feel that with the full cooperation of the newly elected officers and the entire student body we will enjoy a most successful year."

During 1934-35, Renner will help to guide the destinies of the student body with Bill Berg, vice-president; Nancy Archbold, secretary; Bob Miller, executive man; Elizabeth Bendstrup, senior woman; and Cosgrove LaBarre, junior man.

Seventy-Five Unlisted ASUO Members Vote

There were 75 students who voted Thursday in the student body and class elections, who had student body cards, but whose names were not on the official poll list, Tom Tongue, president of the student body, announced yesterday afternoon.

These names were checked on at the cashier's office, and all but 3 were found to have paid their fees. The reason for this situation was that the students had received their student body cards after the lists had been made.

U of O Band Welcomes Visiting Shrine Head

About 30 University of Oregon bandsmen, under the direction of John Stehn, "went Shriner," temporarily at least, Thursday night when, at the request of the local Shrine chapter, they rode down to the station and greeted Imperial Potentate John N. Sebrill of Norfolk, Virginia, who is journeying to Portland.

Sebrill, who heads the United States Shriners, thanked the band members for the music, and complimented them on the excellent brand of playing.

Webfoots Beat Beavers, 5 to 1, In Opening Tilt

Return Fray in Covallis, At 3:30 Today

KOCH LEADS DUCKS

Mitola Scores Only Run for OSC In Second; Both Nines Have One Error

By CLAIR JOHNSON
The Oregon Webfoots continued their sweep of this season's sports contests with Oregon State college, when the varsity baseball nine opened the conference race by defeating the Beavers 5 to 1, in a clash played on Reinhart field yesterday afternoon under threatening rain clouds.

Coch Bill Reinhart and his charges will give the Orange squad a chance for revenge when the two nines meet in the return match of the series today at 3:30 on the Corvallis diamond.

McFadden Hurls
With Harry McCall amusing the crowd with his expert fielding and Don McFadden limiting the Staters to five hits, Ray Koch led the Ducks' batting attack as he drove out a homer, double and single in four trips to the plate. The four-base clout came in the eighth, with two men on the paths and definitely clinched the game for the Webfoots.

The only Beaver run came in the second inning, when Dan Mitola, husky right fielder, leaned on the second ball pitched for a circuit drive over the left field fence. They did not threaten at any other time during the game except in the ninth when Bergstrom beat out a hit to short and Mitola walked. But, with two men on, Creider filed out to Hunt and McFadden forced Valberg, a pinchhitter, to hit an easy grounder to him for the final out.

Koch Doubles
The Ducks confined their scoring to two innings. In the third, with two men out, Maury Van Vliet beat out an infield hit and scored from first when Mitola juggled Wes Clausen's single to right.

Music Honorary To Present Recital

A series of organ numbers, played by Margaret Ellen Hill, junior in music, will be a feature of the recital sponsored by Mu Phi Epsilon, women's music honorary, to be presented in the school of music auditorium Tuesday evening, May 8, at 8:15 o'clock, for which an admission of 15 cents will be charged.

Seven groups of selections will be given by women music students, among which will be songs, string, piano and violin numbers.

Committee members for the event are Mrs. Aurora P. Underwood, Edna Whitmer, Kathryn Orme, program; Grace Potter, decorations; Corinne Combs, tickets; Josephine Rice, Lucy Norton, publicity.

Japanese Artist Uses Two Brushes for Painting Work

By HENRIETTA MUMMEY
Deep silence broken only by "oh's" and "ah's" held sway yesterday afternoon in the little art gallery, where art students and others interested in art watch a small, quiet man give a demonstration of his unique method of painting. This man upon whom so many eyes were focused was that distinguished Japanese artist, Yoshida Sekido.

While painting, Sekido sat upon the floor with his legs crossed. Around him were grouped several small clay dishes used for mixing his paints, various kinds of brushes and other painting instruments, and boxes which held his painting materials. In front of him, lying flat upon the floor, was the silk, mounted on cardboard, upon which the picture was painted.

The artist first sized the silk and then began painting in the darker background for the picture. When this was finished, he sat back studying his work and waiting for the paint to dry before the next stroke was added. As he added to the picture with sure, deft strokes one could see it begin to develop, until finally it was finished. It turned out to be a study of two small birds perched upon a blossoming branch which projected from a bank. When questioned as to what sort of blossoms they were, the artist replied that they might be either peach or plum. While painting the blossoms, he held two brushes in one hand and used each alternately to paint in the yellow and green of the inside of the blossom.

After the demonstration Sekido was asked if he could paint with more than two brushes at a time; he replied with a smile that just two were better.

A few minutes after his demonstration was over, the artist again sat upon the floor and began painting upon a small piece of Japanese paper. This resulted in an exquisite little flower which he called a blue flower and then to the reporter's great surprise and happiness he presented it to her with a smile.

In viewing his pictures which are hung in the gallery one is impressed by their utter simplicity.

Student Jury Forgets Role In Introductory Moot Trial

It was really quite business-like at the moot court trial, held Thursday night by law students in Prof. Orlando J. Hollis' trial practice class.

The temporarily ordained law firms of Coad & Noel, attorneys for the plaintiff, and Dashney & Huston, attorneys for the defendant, orated and examined and cross-examined quite as formally as would the real attorneys which (from all appearances) they expect to become some day. The witnesses behaved as witnesses do. And the audience listened and acted as audiences do.

In fact, there was only one flaw in the seriousness of the whole trial. The jury did not understand its part! For, when the jury, which was composed mostly of pre-legal students, was sent out to consider the evidence for the two sides, it returned with a verdict of "not guilty." Now it seems, that in a civil case, the verdict isn't guilty or not guilty—it is for the plaintiff or for the defendant. So out the jury was sent again—and (for some unknown reason) remained out 15 minutes before returning with the correctly stated verdict of "for the defendant."

The winners of the case, James Landye and Charles Stockien, must have done some pretty fast thinking. They were being sued by Charles C. Barkley for fraud. It seems they had told him that he could fish in the Willamette river before the season and without a license, since it was a tide-water stream; and when he went fishing south of Eugene, he was arrested and fined. Things looked pretty black for the two, since they had been heard to make quite damaging statements such as, "We put the red-haired Californian on a hot trail," and "Hell will be popping in some J.P. court before long." And it all looked, at least outwardly, like a good case for Barkley.

And then came the trial. The lawyers were examining the defense witnesses. It was up to Landye and Stockien to explain their statements.

Put the red-haired Californian on a hot trail? Why, yes, explained the witness, of course—the trail of the fish. And the other

Library Receives 115 Volumes of Magazines

Two shipments of back files of magazines have been received by the old libe this week. One shipment consists of 92 volumes of Fraser's Magazine for Town and Country, a British journal printed in London. This shipment, including volumes published from 1830-1882, nearly completes the set.

The other order of books is made up of 22 volumes of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle, and completes the library's set of these books. They are used in research work by the business administration school.

Stafford Speaks to Class
Dr. O. F. Stafford of the chemistry department, spoke to Dean Eric W. Allen's elementary journalism class Thursday morning at 10 concerning "heavy water." The class will write a report of the address for an assignment.

Dr. Miller on Trip
Dr. Fred Miller, director of the University health service, left Friday for Medford where he will combine business with a fishing trip. He will return to the campus Monday.

Theta Chi announces the pledging of Robert Ludington of Creswell, Oregon.

Cosmopolitan club meeting slated for Monday is postponed indefinitely.
