

By CLAIR JOHNSON
WITH the Yeomen on one side of the fence, the various living organizations on the other, and poor Messrs. Washke and Boushey riding the rail it looks like the everlasting Donut sports argument will get going sometime this afternoon.

During the past years the independent men have made it a practice to run off with the highest number of points in the yearly competition. The reason for this monopoly was that any campus athlete not a professional or member of a living organization was considered in the Yeomen ranks.

Last year after a bit of insistence by the living organizations, the intramural board held a meeting and decided that henceforth should be limited to 40 points at the start of fall term and subsequent hereafter the Yeomen men should be limited to 40, participation at the start of the fall term and substitutions made only through special permission.

Such arrangements proved satisfactory—to the living organizations. But the Yeomen found it quite inconvenient due to frequent shifting of their ranks and could not maintain their usual teams. So now, according to latest reports, they are petitioning or asking for the right to be allowed to use in competition any independent man who, as a member of the Yeomen, pays a yearly dues of $1.00.

This plan follows the one suggested in last spring's Emerald and seems to be the best way out for the boys on both sides of the fence and for the men who have to help make the decisions and maintain the law and order in the yearly round of contests.

So this afternoon when the representatives of the various living organizations meet, they might just as well make up their minds to have the continual howling settled for once and all. And the best way to put a stop to the beefing and return the intramural program to the sportsmanlike place it really deserves in the students' athletic activity is to make the situation as fair as possible to both sides. And the best way to make the situation fair to both sides is to allow the Yeomen their request for an unlimited membership, subject to the paying of the $1.00 dues.

Unlimited entrance by independent men didn't work—it was too

Ducks Rest After Trimming Bruins

With a bit of Heaven, in the form of a rest this weekend facing them, the University of Oregon gridiron representatives have been taking things easy with a view towards getting down to serious work next week for the Washington game October 13.

While all of the players came out of the U.C.L.A. fracas with nothing more than a few bruises and bumps, Coach Prink Callison is taking no chances of losing more members of the squad via the injury route.

The courageous band of 33 now has Gardner Frye in its midst. Frye is a two year veteran, at guard and tackle, and should prove a boon to the tackle-sny Webfoots, although Del Bjork proved very satisfactory and will probably start against the Huskies.

Line to Get Work
Despite the fact that two victories, over Gonzaga and U. C. L. A. look very good, all is not rejoicing around Stoddard field. The Bruins, although going down to an entirely unexpected smashing defeat last weekend, showed very well on off-tackle plays, and line-men are due for a going over at the hands of Callison and Shields.

The Bruin game still has spectators talking. The southerners came up with the idea that a good work-out would be held when they played the small Oregon squad. The 26-3 score indicates that a very good workout was held, and the sight was a treat to behold.

Sportswriters up and down the coast are saying that Oregon has an even greater team than last year, when the Ducks tied for the championship of the coast conference. While this may be a bit exaggerated, it is safe to say that the backfield is stronger on pass defense, and that Michek is a much better offensive fullback than Mikulak.

1934 Team Larger
The Oregon team does not possess the versatility and poise of last year's aggregation, but it is larger and more fiery. The Web-foot line shows great possibilities once it gets straightened out on defense. Time after time it tore the Bruin forward wall apart on cruncher and off-tackle plays, and the Bruins are no set-ups.

Co-captain Bobby Parke is decidedly in favor of the Yeomen. The "List of Forty" didn't work—it was too much in favor of the other groups. The $1.00 dues setup will work—it is a compromise between the two and as favorable to one as the other.

Therefore it begins to look like what seemed to be an everlasting argument may be stopped. With the peaceful settlement of this much beragled "List of Forty" everything noevry-VBGKQJFW will pass into oblivion and everything will be all set for another year of fair play and an even break for all teams entered.

Intramural Program Slated to Start Soon

Entry Lists Must Be in by Friday

All entries for this fall's intramural activities must be turned in at the men's gymnasium on or before 5 o'clock October 5, it has been announced by Paul R. Washke, director of donut sports.

The program gets under way on October 9, when the swimmers begin their rivalry. As soon as the dolphins end their struggle, the water polo contest begins.

On or about Monday, October 22, "A" basketball will start. Coach Bill Reinhart has offered his assistance in organizing the various squads. Those who did not participate in "A" basketball will be given their chance when the "B" hoop tilts open, following the completion of the "A" teams.

Sophomore Football Manager Aspirants Should See Golden

A call for sophomore football managers was issued yesterday by Fred Whittlesey, senior sports manager. All sophomores desiring positions on the football managerial staff should see Paul Golden, head football manager, before the end of the week.

Whittlesey pointed out that those sophomores who turn out early in the season are given additional consideration in the selecting of junior and senior managers.

Golden can be reached at McArthur court every afternoon.

Crane Replaces Sister
Miss Helen Crane is taking the place of her sister, Christina A. Crane, as instructor in Romance languages, who was on the campus last year. Miss Christina Crane is working for her Doctor's degree this year at the University of Chicago.

Donut Managers Will Meet Today

Managers and those representing any other interested group will meet today at 5:00 in the men's gym to discuss the plans for this year's Donut league under the supervision of Earl E. Boushey.

Each year the fraternities on the campus and other groups composed of independent men stage a tournament to decide the all-around sports championship of the school.

In the final tabulation of the competition last year Beta Theta Pi is found at the top of the list with 761 points, running a good jump ahead of the independent Yeomen who finished second.

Stiner Names Forward Wall for Saturday

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 3.—(AP)—Coach Lon Stiner of Oregon State College today announced the line that will start against Stanford in Saturday's coast conference game at Portland.

Schultz Has Large Freshman Turnout

Freshman football prospects are very bright this year due to the large turnout, and the quality of players, according to Irvin Schultz, frosh grid coach. About 85 men have turned out, many of them all star players from Portland high schools as well as from California, Washington, and as far east as New Jersey.

The frosh have four games on their schedule, opening the season at home October 20, against the tough Southern Oregon normal. Last year the yearlings put up a great battle against the Ashland eleven and were barely nosed out 7 to 0. Two contests will be played with the Oregon State rooks. Both of these games will be night affairs, the first in Eugene, Friday, October 26, and the second, Friday, November 2, at Corvallis. The last game of the season will be with the University of Washington babes at Seattle, Saturday, November 17.

Clark Helps Schultz
"Dutch" Clark, last year's guard on Oregon's championship varsity, is assisting Schultz with the frosh. The list of 84 candidates who are turning out is as follows: Ron Ashoe, Tony Amato, Robert Ashton, R. Brady, James Blana, George Bratton, Howard Burns, John Browning, W. Battleson, Charles Bracker, Don Caples, Vivion Callison, Fred Carlson, Ralph Clark, Leland Canessa, Al Carter, Don Carmichael, William DeLacey, Albert Demaris, John Davidson, John Denmors, Bill Dick, R. Drew, Melvin Engel, Daryl Evans, Ben Forbes, Earl Groninger, Bud Good-

both are on the injured list. (Please turn to page 5)
