The Day's Parade

By PARKS HITCHCOCK

A Dictator Dead
Jugoslav agents have commenced, no doubt, to intimate that Italian interests were back of Petrus Kalemenski's shooting party at Marseilles the day before yesterday. There exists a running fire of press comment between the two nations and it is unthinkable that the Yugoslavians would overlook the possibility of stirring up a muddle in Mussolini's teapot. Kalemenski, of course, as everyone from here to the Bronx must know by now, was a Croat, but beagle-eyed French police have discovered the presence of fellow-conspirators, and whatever implications that can be drawn from further knowledge of the nature of the death-plot will probably bode no good for the sustenance of the pseudo-amiable relations between Italy and the land of the Serbs, the Croats, and the Slovenes.

Meanwhile, cloaked in the hollow formalities of state, lies all that is left of Jugo-Slavia, Alexander, King of Bulgaria, while not only France but every state or principality in Europe is mentally rejoining the results of the second major political assassination within two months. The problem that will give France's Premier Edouard Daladier a healthy headache will be to find someone to step into the boots of crafty Louis (The Fox) Barthou, one of the ace fixers in the public and the man upon whom the Europe spotlight has focused during the last few months. Germany's be-moustached Adolf Hitler will be giving ear to the current rumors that Jugo-slavia under the regency might not show such profound anti-Nazi leanings as the administration of the slain dictator. In Angora Turkey's Kemal Pasha fears a Jugo-slavian-Rumanian pact with Turkey as the common enemy. So far shrewd Mussolini has maintained a rigid silence, but the one-man cabinet has a scheme afoot to divorce France from the Little Entente and be in a position to clamp down on the middle-Balkan states in case of a disturbance. England, as usual, holds the balance of power, and will in all probability sit tight for the present. It can hardly be regarded as pessimism to say that universal suspicion is the order of the day.

Can Uncle Sam Pay
Most frequent question asked of the NRA and the Washington spelling bee may well be: "Who's going to pay?" And in its way it is an excellent question. It begins to look to many political laymen as if expenditures which were stenciled "Relief Measures" have been added to the permanent budget. Of course Washington picked up a forty per cent increase in assets via the "baloney dollar" route and it must be upon this reassuring bulwark that the administration rests for the moment. Doubt upon doubt has been cast upon the administration's prediction of a termination of the present slump in the very near future, and if the enormous expenditures of the president's program are to continue over the next few years there will be no inconsiderable bump on the nation's budget for some decades to come. There has been a pronounced feeling in business circles for the past six months that most of the seeming current of trade is artificially inflated and will collapse into a worse debacle than the present when the government removes the oxygen tank.

A County Shake-up?
The plan for regional revision of Oregon's political wards seems to have a good deal of basic value. It must be apparent that the county system of governmental administration is archaic and outworn, and that with the present facilities for transportation and communication a vast saving could be effected by greatly reducing the number of counties, each of which, under the present set-up is the seat of an expensive bureaucracy. Credit should be given to Dr. Smith and Mr. Lomax for their development of the plan. They would redivide Oregon's 36 counties into eight naturally and economically bounded sections and would provide for a unified and integrated administration of these new counties. It is quite in keeping with the movement of the day to discard the antiquated and out-moded method of district government for one which has the excellent features of the present plan.

YOUNG DEMOCRAT SPEAKS
"Citizens Duty to Vote," is the title of the radio speech to be given over KORE by S. Eugene Allen, Thursday at 7:00. Mr. Allen is a first year law student. The program is sponsored by the Young Democratic League, which is composed mostly of Oregon students.

Second Rally Rehearsal Will Be Held Tonight

All Men Urged to Attend Rooter's Meeting

Igloo to Be Scene

Team to Be Feted Today Noon at Downtown Railroad Depot

The second big rally practice will be held in McArthur court this evening at 7:15 o'clock. All men students are urged to be present for this rehearsal.

In speaking of the rally to be held Friday noon at the depot, Eddie Vail, yell king, said: "I hope that everyone understands that the rally is not for the selected rooters alone, but for the student body en masse."

Vail also requested that the new songs and yells published in yesterday's issue of the Emerald be practiced at living organizations at luncheon and dinner. He said, "The new yell will be one of the features of the half in the game with Washington at Multnomah stadium in Portland."

Members of the rally committee will make the rounds of the women's houses tomorrow noon to sell tickets for the rally to be held at the Broadway theater at 11:00 on Friday night.

Team Leaves Tomorrow

The team leaves Friday at 12:20. All houses have been requested to have late luncheon so that everyone can leave directly after their 11:00 classes and go to the depot to give them a big send-off. Students have been requested not to ride on the running boards of cars, to drive with excessive speed or take any unnecessary chances in traffic.

At the meeting today rally lids were issued. Those receiving lids from rally representatives of the respective houses also received tickets which must be presented at the gate. These are the only ones who will gain admission to the main body of the rooting section.

Rally Train Scheduled

The rally train will leave Eugene Friday at 4:15. A special rate of $2.50 will be charged for the round trip. In order to avoid confusion, the rally committee wishes it made clear that the bags of the chosen rooters only may be checked through to Portland, as a special accommodation.

The rally will train at Union depot just after the train arrives in Portland. It will then proceed through downtown Portland streets the rooters making as much noise as possible. It will finally disband at the Old Heathman hotel.

It is hoped by the rally committee that this will be one of the biggest and best rallies Oregon has ever had and that everyone will turn out and help.

CAMPUS COOKS ORGANIZE

The organization formed by cooks at various living organizations on the campus will continue this year as it has in former years. There are only two of the officers elected last spring who will be active this year. At the second meeting elections will be made of a new president and vice-president.

More new things have been turned in at the lost and found office at the University depot.

One eversharp pencil, three books, a girl's raincoat, another pair of gloves, and a ruler.

There will be a meeting of Phi Delta Phi this evening at 7:30 p. m. in room 105 Oregon.

Meeting of Pan Xenia, foreign trades fraternity, in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall at 7:30 tonight.

Meeting of Phi Mu Alpha at 7:30 tonight at the music building. Very important.

Douglas Polivka, president of the Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, announced that an important meeting of that organization will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in 104 Journalism building.

General Martin Spends Day Here, Lauds Increased Enrollment, Is Staunch Supporter of New Deal

By HENRIETTE HORAK

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot, and never brought to mind"—General Charles H. Martin, democratic candidate for governor of Oregon decided it should not, and devoted part of yesterday to renewing friendship, visiting professors, and making additional friends on the Oregon campus.

The statesman, distinguished general and politician, in official, every inch the retired army officer, expressed great delight at the increased enrollment on this campus, and in the other higher education institutions of the state, and termed it gratifying after the "hard knocks" the schools suffered during the last few years.

General Martin was more eager to talk of education than state politics and campaign trials and joys, and declared, "I am a strong believer in education; the hopes of preserving our democracy lie in education, and educated leaders are essential to take the helm of our government."

Prises Higher Education

The famed general and Oregon congressman lauded President Roosevelt for the measures that he has taken in assisting students, through federal aid, as well as supporting adult education—a new field of education which is beginning to arouse national interest, and while millions of people are unemployed, such education serves as the means of keeping them interested in life, and instills ambition and hopes for self-betterment. General Martin pointed out that the federal government has allotted $2,400,000 per month for this work.

41 Emerald Staff Members Protest Editor's Removal

Workers Under Polivka Score Committee's Sudden Act

Forty-one members of the Emerald staff who worked under Douglas W. Polivka yesterday signed a resolution condemning the action of the publications committee in removing him as editor.

These 41 persons, while not including every member of the staff, because of the fact that all members of the staff do not work on a given day and could not be reached, according to Newton Stearns, managing editor. Forty-five persons were asked to sign, one refusing, and three stating that they were not sufficiently in touch with the situation to take a definite stand.

The complete text of the resolution is as follows:

"Whereas, in his brief incumbency as editor of the Oregon Daily Emerald Douglas W. Polivka has steadfastly proven his editorial independence and shown the courage to face resolutely the serious issues of the day,

"Whereas, these are highly desirable traits in any editor and represent privileges guaranteed even by the constitution of the United States,

"Whereas, regardless of any charges against Mr. Polivka, we think it both ridiculous and unfair to pass judgment against him after his being editor for only four (4) issues of the Oregon Daily Emerald,

"Whereas, we approve the editorial courage he has shown in particular and disapprove in general of any attempts to restrict freedom of expression,

"Whereas, we believe that if Mr. Polivka is to be discharged for expressing his honest convictions, the Oregon Daily Emerald will become in the future merely a stereotyped product of administration and associated student censorship, rather than the fearless publication which should be the ideal of every newspaper,

"Whereas, we believe the charges against Mr. Polivka are mere subterfuge and do not represent any valid reasons for removing him from office,

"Whereas, one of the charges claims that Mr. Polivka has shown an inability to maintain that cooperation of his staff necessary to a successful publication,

"Now, therefore be it resolved, that we, members of the Oregon Daily Emerald editorial staff, deplore the removal of Douglas W. Polivka as editor and urge his immediate reinstatement, and

"Be it further resolved, that we repudiate the charge of his inability to maintain a successful staff by declaring our undivided allegiance to him and reiterate our demand that he be reinstated at once as editor."

Three Houses Go to the Top In ASUO Drive

Interest in Big Campaign Mounts as Games Near

M. Harrison Pleads

Kappa Kappa Gamma, Chi Psi and Alpha Phi 100 Per Cent

Three living organizations, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Phi, and Chi Psi, now hold the honor of being 100 per cent in the drive of the ASUO for supremacy over Oregon State in the race for a higher student body membership.

At a late hour last night it was reported that all but one member of Sigma Kappa had secured a membership card. She was to have purchased her ticket yesterday evening but the office was closed before she was able to do so.

Interest Mounting

Interest in the big drive for members is now mounting daily as the two big games of the season approach with Washington and Oregon State. Students will be given free transportation to and from the Oregon State game in Portland if they possess the all-important A. S. U. O. membership cards. Many other privileges, including the right of students to participate in voicing their opinions in student elections of all kinds are given with the cards. Freshmen who do not have cards will not be privileged to cast ballots in the coming freshman election for class officers.

Harrison Speaks

Marshall Harrison, in the committee meeting yesterday afternoon stated that: "The tendency of the initial student ticket sale of Oregon was larger than that of Oregon State, comparatively speaking, but in the last few days they are on nearly an equal basis with us and will surpass our sale at the end of the campaign, as was the case last year, if the students do not immediately take an interest in the A. S. U. O. and its affairs. I am making an urgent request," he said, "to those 651 students who have not yet purchased their tickets to do so now, so that the campaign may be brought to a close with a great year for Oregon."

Miss Katherine Karperstein is another new arrival on this campus and is in charge of the circulation desk in the main building.

Miss Guinevere Lamson, Calhoun graduate and who for the past two years was in the University of Idaho library, is in charge of Condon reserve. Miss Enelise Janzen, O.S.C. '34, is in charge of room 30 and is taking a post graduate course here now.

200 ASUO Members Petition for Meeting To Consider Polivka

Student Body Assembly to Be Called for Tomorrow Morning; Discussion Held at 'Committee of 50' Meeting

By ROBERT LUCAS

A general student body meeting will be held in Gerlinger hall tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock to consider action in regard to the removal yesterday of Douglas W. Polivka as editor of the Emerald by the executive council of the associated students. The meeting is being held upon petition of a group of 200 students headed by a committee consisting of Mervin Rodda, fifth year student in architecture; Newton Stearns, managing editor of the Emerald; and Donald Olds. Olds announced his resignation yesterday morning as associate editor of the Emerald.

This announcement was made last night at an informal meeting of the committee of "50" which is made up of representatives of the living groups on the Oregon campus. The meeting was held at the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house.

Although the meeting started quietly and sedately, it soon resolved itself into a sharp debate between the delegation defending the action the dismissed editor, and Joe Renner, student body president, who presented the point of view of those who dismissed him.

Casteel, Hall Will Leave for Salem To Attend Meeting

Association Will Sponsor Oratorical Contest During Year

John L. Casteel, director of speech, and William Hall, debate manager, are leaving Saturday to attend a meeting at 2 p. m. of the State of Oregon Intercollegiate Forensic association at the Wilamette university, Salem. At the meeting plans will be made for the intercollegiate forensic program of this year.

This state association sponsors four contests every year, each contest having a prize of $20 and $10 for the two winners.

The four contests are: the after-dinner speech contest, the peace oratorical contest, the extempore speech contest, and the old-line oratorical contest. The oration in the "old-line" oratorical contest may be on any subject the participant desires.

The representatives to take part in these contests from the University are selected each year from the local W. F. Jewett contest which is made possible by a fund donated for prizes by Mrs. Mary Jewett in honor of the late Wilson F. Jewett. The prizes range from $15 to $25 in the Jewett contests.

Included in the membership of the State of Oregon Intercollegiate Forensic Association are: University of Oregon, Oregon State college, Willamette university, Albany college, Pacific university and Linfield college.

Annual Campus Event To Be Held October 20

Open house, an annual campus event, will take place on Saturday, October 20, from 7:30 to 12 o'clock in the evening. Fraternities and sororities at this time are given at least a small opportunity of becoming acquainted with one another. Each fraternity visits every sorority on the campus.

Visits at each house are limited to ten minutes. When that time has elapsed, the fraternity leader blows his whistle and the entire group departs on its way to the next house. Dancing is the customary form of entertainment.

Freshman Orientation Courses Are Resumed

Freshman orientation courses are being held again this year for two freshman representatives from each woman's living organization on the campus. The purpose of the class is to better acquaint the freshmen with the possibilities on the Oregon campus outside of those which they are studying for at present.

At each meeting, one of which is held every Thursday at 4 o'clock, a lecture will be given by some member of the faculty or by a student on various problems which may confront freshman women.

Thomas H. Tongue, president of the A. S. U. O. last year, will address the students at the first meeting.

The Murray Warner Art museum will be open three days a week this year. The schedule will be Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 1 to 3 o'clock, and on Sundays from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Gertrude Bess Warner, head of the museum, has spent the summer in Boston, and is expected home later this fall.
