

French Police Hold Suspects At Annemasse

Peter II Dashes to Lead Yugoslav Nation

Balkan Tension Relieved; French Minister's Funeral Today

PARIS, Oct. 12.—Secret police trailing an international terrorist ring they assert seeks to wipe out all Europe's rules, today formally charged one of two men held at Annemasse with complicity in the Marseille murders, and seized still another suspect.

The Annemasse police announced Yaroslav Novak admitted he belonged to the band of Petrus Kalemien, the mysterious Marseille assassin, and said he confessed after two days of grueling questioning. His real name was Zvonemer Pospечи, born in Yugoslavia in 1904.

Young King Speeds to People
Eleven-year-old Peter Karageorgevich, with his widowed mother, sped across Europe by train to become Yugoslavia's king in the place of his slain father while his nation, decked in deep mourning, awaited arrival of the body of Alexander "the Unifier" to bury it.

Meanwhile, international tension growing out of yesterday's and Tuesday's anti-Italian riots in Yugoslavia eased with the lack of new such demonstrations, and dispatches told how Benito Mussolini's countrymen paid tribute to dead Alexander passing Messina aboard the destroyer Dubrovnik.

Barthou's Death Mourned
Here in Paris ten nuns watched over the candle-lighted bier of Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, whose death at Marseille diplomats held no less important to the continent than Alexander's. His state funeral was scheduled for tomorrow.

Secret police at Annemasse drew admissions from two suspects held there that a Balkan revolutionary band sent them to France, but they insisted, despite 36 hours of questioning in which they had no sleep, that they did not know what their mission was.

"We never betray our organization," they were reported to have told the police.

Police Make Third Arrest
The authorities nevertheless believed their task and that of Kalemien was to slay Alexander and charged the terror ring sought the elimination of all Europe's rulers.

The third arrest of an alleged member of the terrorist group came at Chambéry, and the prisoner, who police said was seeking to flee France into Italy through an Alpine pass, gave his name as Quigueran Debauzen, 40, resident of Austria. He said he was born at Zagreb, Yugoslavia.

4,000,000 Homes Dependent Upon CWA Relief Fund

Number of Families on Rolls Gain 200,000 In Two Months

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The relief administration figured today that 4,000,000 families—within 700,000 of the all-time peak recorded at the end of the CWA last April—were dependent on relief payments during August.

Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, told newsmen that the number of relief-supported families had jumped 200,000 from July to August. He intimated the load was still going up slowly.

The totals for September were not yet available.

Columbia still was trying to get their defense organized. Swanson, Orange right-half, took the kickoff and dashed 77-yards for a second touchdown. The quarter ended shortly after Jimmy Daneri, left-half substitute for the disabled Norman Franklin, broke through the center of the Columbia line and rambled down the field 66 yards for the third touchdown of the period. The Beavers made good only one of their three tries for conversion.

Both of Columbia's touchdowns came as the direct result of passes in the third quarter.

Oregon State made 246 yards net from scrimmage and 5 first downs to four for Columbia.

personal animosity for Douglas Polivka, however, I could not find without concern the initial editorials written by Polivka, that were against the interests of all phases of the University—faculty, administration, and students alike.

Editorials Attacked

"The editorials in question struck me as being of destructive nature, with no good to be gained from their publication. There was a needless antagonizing of the state board of higher education, a candidate for governor of the state of Oregon, and prominent newspapers of the state. I would like it understood that I do not condemn any reference to these people, but I cannot condone statements that needlessly antagonize them."

Hollis, still speaking in the words of Dr. Boyer, made clear his realization of the awkward position of an editor of a college newspaper when he said, "The editor cannot be expected to be in possession of all the facts regarding state officers and state affairs. But although I have no respect for needless censorship of the actions of the editor, I think it prudent that the editor confer with me at which time I would attempt to give him facts for his convenience and information."

Hollis closed his remarks with the wish that the student body "not act in haste in the action to follow," and "expressed the wish that a careful and deliberate consideration be given to the subject."

Polivka Upheld
Renner then introduced Lester Goldschmidt, who spoke in favor of Polivka. Goldschmidt accused "three bed-fuddled would-be journalists" with stirring up the insurrection against Polivka. He made reference to the "procrastination of the board of education" and closed his speech with a plea that the student body not "offer up Polivka to the great god of the state board of education, merely because he has tried to lead the student body toward conscientious objectives."

Ben Chandler then took the floor and asked Goldschmidt "if that were the kind of stuff that could be expected to be printed in the Emerald, should Polivka be reinstated."

Orators now bobbed up like mushrooms, as Renner's gavel called for a motion to adjourn.

Japan's Affairs Reported Good

The successful business and social recovery of Japan from the depression and disastrous floods, earthquakes and invasions experienced in the past decade was outlined by Dean H. V. Hoyt of the school of business at the weekly meeting of the Active club in the Eugene hotel Thursday.

The closing of the foreign markets after the war, the disastrous floods and earthquakes in 1920, the Manchurian incident, the world wide depression, and unsuccessful governmental attempt to restore prosperity in 1930 by reinstating the gold standard which had been discarded since the war, all aided in Japan's down hill business trend.

The first successful move for recovery was the public works plan in Manchuria have been developed and with the ready market for her low priced exports, Japan is now well on her feet again.

Stoll Pays Ransom Demand to Agent Of Kidnap Crew

$50,000 in Cash Handed Over to Snatchers of Oil Man's Wife

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 12.—(AP)—"Requirements for her ransom met, pretty Alice Speed Stoll's fate hung on a kidnaper's word tonight a few hours after her husband made a wild ride over cleared roads in central Kentucky.

Presumably Berry V. Stoll, vice-president of the Stoll Oil Refining company, made his dash to meet the man who has held his 26-year-old wife since Wednesday for a $50,000 ransom or someone agreed upon by the man. A few hours afterward he issued this statement:

"We have carefully followed instructions, met all ransom requirements, and are awaiting fulfillment of promises.

"The parties may act freely without fear of hindrance.

"Berry V. Stoll." The wealthy and influential Speed and Stoll families repeatedly affirmed by radio and newspapers that they were eager to make terms and would do everything necessary to the victim's return.

There was no intimation in the short announcement as to whether the ransom had been handed over to the actual kidnaper or to persons agreed upon by him. If it meant the money had been paid to those having Mrs. Stoll in their power, it was clear that others besides the man who snatched her from her home were involved in the case.

Hauptmann Must Prove Innocence

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 12.—(AP)—New Jersey officials were confident today that Bruno Richard Hauptmann, tight-lipped German carpenter, would be forced to show his hand Monday, when he resists a move to extradite him to this state to stand trial for the murder of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz said the "burden of proof" at the habeas corpus hearing in New York supreme court would be upon Hauptmann, who, he said, must show "by almost conclusive evidence" he was not in New Jersey the night of the crime, March 1, 1932.

James M. Fawcett, counsel for Hauptmann, has announced he will call 15 witnesses, among them Hauptmann's wife, to testify that the alien machine gunner could not have committed the crime.

Wilentz, his legal aides, prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., of Hunterdon and Col. H. Norman Schwarzkoff, state police superintendent mapped New Jersey's case today, but declined to disclose it before Hauptmann's alibi is officially in the record.

French Officials Hold Accomplice In Assassination

Difficulties of Border Are Recalled in Hungary Yugoslavia

French police Friday charged one of the two men held at Annemasse with complicity in the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou. They jailed another suspect and trailed other members of an international terror ring which they asserted sought to eliminate all Europe's government heads.

Annemasse—Police formally accused Zvonemer Pospечil, alias Yaroslav Novak, with complicity in the murder. They said he admitted belonging to the same band as the assassin, Petrus Kalemien.

Belgrade—Yugoslavia, quiet and sad after the previous day's anti-Italian riots, waited to bury Alexander. It was decided young King Peter must stay home in Yugoslavia instead of going back to school as his father willed.

Rome—Italian ships fired final salute to Alexander, en route home aboard the destroyer Dubrovnik, after escorting it through the Ionian sea. The Italian government, still watching events in Yugoslavia, planned to be represented at his funeral.

Geneva—The League of Nations closely followed developments growing out of the assassinations. Officials recalled protests by Hungary and Yugoslavia after border difficulties. Yugoslavia charged Hungary tolerated terrorists.

NRA STRENGTHENED
Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—In a move to strengthen the enforcement of blue eagle industrial codes, President Roosevelt today called upon three federal agencies to cooperate in the police work.

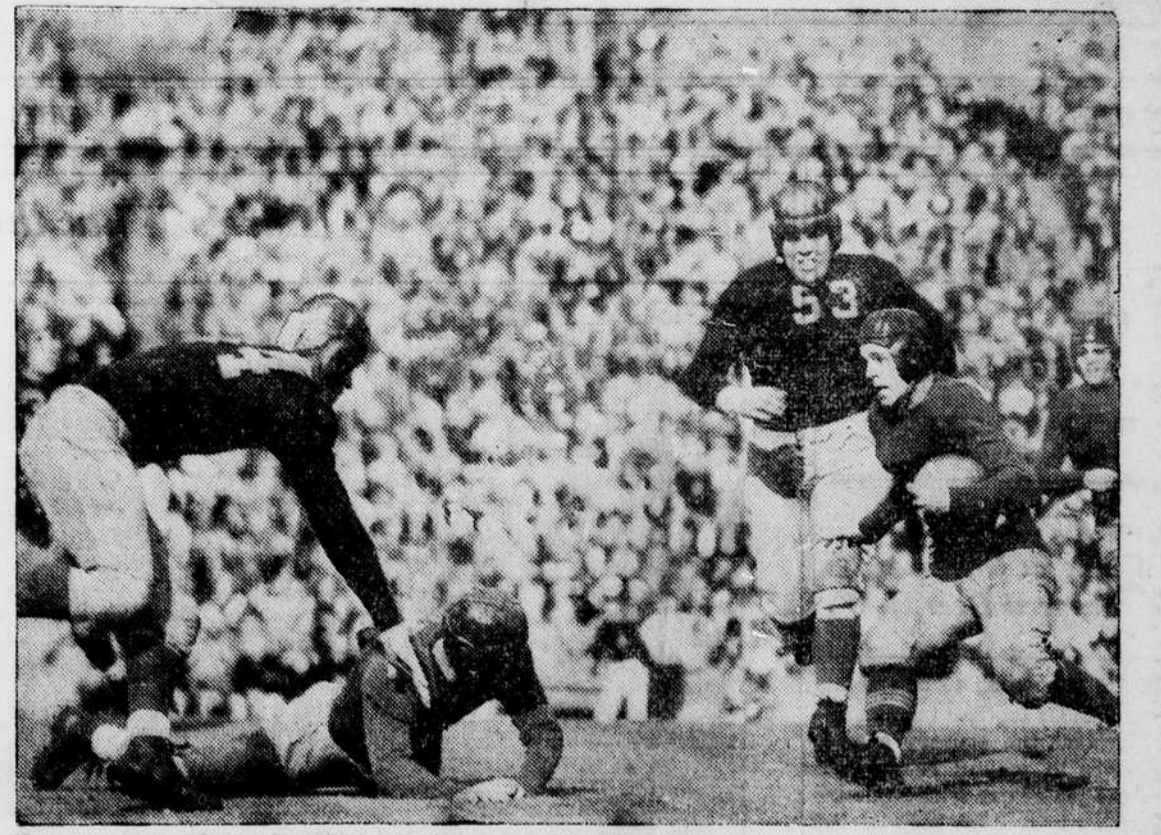

He formally abandoned previous plans for creating a separate judicial branch in the new NRA. The job will be taken over by the NRA, the justice department and the federal trade commission. Mr. Roosevelt explained that a study had disclosed that about 95 out of 100 trade practice complaints could be settled by the NRA compliance division without the reference to the justice department for prosecution.

AVIATION UNITS BOMBED
Madrid, Oct. 12.—(AP)—General Eduardo Lopez Ochoa, at the head of the regulars and foreign legionnaires, pressed hard against the last rebel outpost in the Oviedo region, the government announced today.

Aviation units bombed an arms manufacturing plant at Trubia, used as a fort by the rebels, and a surrounding army was expected to take the town shortly. The Oviedo cathedral, tomb of the former kings of Asturias and Leon, was damaged in a bombardment.

City Government Talk Given to Journalists

R. S. Bryson, city recorder, addressed George Turnbull's classes in reporting Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning on the city government of Eugene. Mr. Bryson has talked to the reporting classes annually for about five years. Under his budgetary advice Eugene has the lowest levy for city government operation of any city in Oregon.

Mr. Bryson is a graduate of the University of Oregon, class of 1899, and played on the varsity football team as an undergraduate. County Clerk W. B. Dillard will address these classes next Wednesday and Thursday on the topic of county government.

MINIMUM OF WAGES

Washington, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Perhaps it is a White House oversight, but so far as NRA's new governors know officially, they are working for nothing.

"Clay Williams, board chairman, was asked today what salaries its members were receiving.

"I've been around here some time but so far I've never heard of salaries," Williams said.

LADY FURNESS IN U. S.

New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The former Lady Furness, twin sister of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, arrived in New York today to take her place in the court fight of Mrs. Vanderbilt for custody of her 10-year-old daughter-heiress.

"Of course the charges are ridiculous," Lady Furness, the former Thelma Morgan Converse, exclaimed with a French accent. "It's all lies; it's a gross injustice."

She referred to charges made by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, sis-in-law of Mrs. Vanderbilt, that the latter in an unfit mother for 10-year-old Gloria Vanderbilt, $8,000,000 heiress. Testimony of Mrs. Whitney's witnesses—former servants of Mrs. Vanderbilt—brought Lady Furness hurrying over from Paris on the first ship.

Barthou for France. It was characteristic of Bearnaise (the province of French Basques from which the "Old Fox" traced his ancestry) Barthou that in public he said nothing that the opposition could hang onto and thereby attack him. Result: he had in his unusually long diplomatic career obtained an immense popular reputation for craft and astuteness.

Genevan Society

In a banquet given a week or two ago for Commissar Litvinov, Bearnaise Barthou, coughed, hehmed, and proceeded to give Geneva's social lights a taste of equivocation as it is practiced in the grand manner. His remarks concerning Russia were neither cordial as M. Litvinov may have expected nor were they tinted with coldness, but when Barthou sat down the banquet guests felt that he had accomplished his usual feat—saying little or nothing as ceremoniously as possible.

New head man of NRA is Samuel Clay Williams of Reynolds' Camel cigarette interests. He steps into a much smaller part of General Hugh's shoes than might be expected, however. He is chairman and president of a board of seven selected by President Roosevelt to direct NRA in what he terms its "second stage." No more will the million dollar staff hear the vague rumblings and explosive outbursts of fiery General Johnson; if the administration of NRA now wishes to express its dissatisfaction in expletive, seven lusty voices will swear, rumble, explode.

Permanent NRA?

As to just what this "second stage" will be the layman was left pretty much in the dark last week. Many questions, however, were asked to the permanence of the codes governing production, minimum wage scale, and working hours. Whether President Roosevelt intends to incorporate them permanently into the government or not, was a question that kept many business men supplied with headaches last week.

KILLERS SIGHTED

Kansas City, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The southwest's two most notorious outlaws—Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd and his companion, Adam Richetti—were hunted by posses in central and eastern Missouri tonight, after the elusive killers, reported sighted in at least three communities, had dodged police traps throughout the day.

A national guard airplane, equipped with a two-day radio communication, and carrying a machine gun, was ordered from St. Louis to aid state, county and city peace officers in the Missouri manhunt.
