RIGHTIST MAY RULE SPAIN MADRID—A combination of monarchist forces and extreme rightists is preparing an unexpected bid for power under a modified "corporative state" plan, it was reliably stated tonight in high monarchist quarters.

The purpose of the plan, which is to be announced shortly, was described as to give the Spanish republic "a type of modern corporative state based upon the old Spanish traditional system," ruled by a rightist united front.

ULM SAYS HELLO! OAKLAND, CALIF.—Flight lieutenant Charles T. P. Ulm broadcast a cheery "hello" at 6 p. m. (Pacific standard time) to the airport here and attempted to give his position as he flew toward Honolulu on the first leg of an Australian flight.

FRANCE, GERMANY AGREE ROME—Germany and France clasped hands across the no-man's land of the troublesome Saar today in an accord tending to assure this part of Europe at least a temporary breathing spell of peace. Count De Chamberlain, ambassador of France, and Ambassador Ulrich Von Hassell of Germany, signed an agreement in the name of their governments designed to eliminate the rich Saar basin as a danger spot in European politics in advance of the January 13 plebiscite.

PORTLAND GETS NEW DEPOT PORTLAND—Negotiations for a new bus terminal site have progressed to the point where it will be a matter of hours as to whether the property is bought, Paul P. Farrens, attorney for the Union stage terminals, said today. A movement has been afoot to move the terminals to a less busy section of the city to avoid traffic congestion.

MARRIAGE COURSE OFFERED SEATTLE—Dr. Norman S. Hayner, associate professor of sociology disclosed today that the University of Washington is considering adoption of a course in marriage, open only to senior men and comprising "frank discussion of marriage problems." He said it would be identical with one offered at the University of North Carolina, and its avowed purpose would be to help students avoid unhappy marriages. He said similar courses are offered at the Universities of Wisconsin and Michigan.

SOMETHING WRONG HERE WASHINGTON—Repeat's first birthday this week finds its first to the treasury far below some official estimates and bootlegging still the government's biggest liquor law enforcement problem.

Supreme Court Upholds ROTC Requirements

Compulsory Training Is Constitutional

All Judges Concur

Every Citizen Must Defend His Government Is Judgment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The rule that every citizen must defend his government "against all enemies" was laid down today by the Supreme Court in deciding that land grant colleges may compel their students to take military training.

The action of the high tribunal was unanimous in settling the old and troublesome controversy of military training in the land grant colleges. These schools are so called because the government gave them land formerly belonging to the public.

U. of C. Sustained The decision sustained the action of the University of California in suspending last year Albert W. Hamilton and W. Alonzo Reynolds, Jr., who claimed exemption from drill on religious and conscientious grounds.

"Government, federal and state," said the opinion delivered by Justice Butler, "each in its own sphere owes a duty to the people within its jurisdiction to preserve itself in adequate strength to maintain peace and order and to assure the just enforcement of law, and every citizen owes the reciprocal duty, according to his capacity, to support and defend the government against all enemies."

Courses not Compelled The court made it plain also that the land grant colleges are not compelled by federal law to offer compulsory military training courses. Although no major dissent was expressed, Justice Cardozo delivered the opinion.

Phi Beta Pledges Plan To Give Tea Thursday

Pledges of Phi Beta, national music and drama honorary, are giving a tea for the active and associate members and the patronesses of the honorary Thursday, at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

The program will consist of selections by the vocal trio, composed of Jessie Long, Lorna Baker and Floy Young; a violin solo by Nettie Lowell, a vocal solo by Bertha Shepard and a vocal solo by June Yates. Frances Mackin will play a piano solo. The accompanists are Frances Kerr, Edith Farr, and Rosemary O'Donnell. Virginia Wappenstein, Roberta Bennett, Gayle Buchanan, Beverly Burkitt, and Vivien Emery will give a short skit.

Dunn Finds Error In Ripley Column, 'Believe It or Not'

"Believe It or Not—by Ripley," a daily feature appearing in papers of the country, unjustly pictured King Pyrrhus, one of the greatest kings of ancient times, on November 14," said Frederic S. Dunn, professor of Latin in the University, yesterday.

Ripley portrayed King Pyrrhus with a contorted, disfigured face, while the bust of King Pyrrhus in the Museo-Nazionale in Naples, shows him a man with no facial disfigurement, but with marked character in his face.

King Pyrrhus had not a regular set of teeth, but in place of them one continuous bone.

In an explanation, Ripley says that Plutarch describes King Pyrrhus as rather terrible of face, as he had not a regular set of upper teeth but in place of them one continuous bone with small lines on it resembling the division in a normal row of teeth.

Plutarch also described Pyrrhus as the "Fire eating conqueror of the Romans," but history confirms the fact that at no one time was he completely victorious over the Romans, although he had several times defeated them.

Vail to Bark Out Values at Annual Lost, Found Sale

Rally Committee Will Aid Yell King; Various Articles Up

Ed Vail, yell king, will act as chief auctioneer at the auction sale to be held on the old library steps at 10 and 11 o'clock tomorrow, it was announced yesterday by Patricia McKeon, in charge of the sale. He will be assisted by members of the rally squad. The sale is being sponsored by the AWS.

Hats, coats, gloves, scarfs, purses, compacts, vanity cases, combs, rings, other jewelry, a manicure set, books, notebooks, pens, pencils, umbrellas, and a large collection of trivial odds and ends will be offered for sale.

The list represents a collection of unclaimed articles which has piled up at the University lost and found department during the past year. Many of the articles are badly in need of repair and will probably be sold at a sacrifice, says Miss McKeon, but the majority will be found in good condition and comparatively valuable.

Japanese YWCA Secretary Visits

Myra Sannomya, foreign student secretary of the Tokio Y. W. C. A., is to spend this afternoon and evening on the campus as the guest of the University Y. W. C. A. At 4 o'clock the world fellowship student group will sponsor an open meeting at the bungalow at which Miss Sannomya will talk and answer questions.

Miss Sannomya, an American born Japanese, is a graduate of the University of California. For the past two years she has worked with the Tokio Y. W. C. A., which is an active organization. The purpose of her trip to the United States is to study problems of the second generation of Japanese students, who are those students born of foreign parents in this country; and to investigate the system of exchanging credits between the universities in the United States and Japan.

Miss Sannomya is a friend of Mrs. Alice B. Macduff, assistant dean of women.

Bond Sees Problems In Pension Proposal

Prof. J. H. Bond, of the school of business administration, discussed the Townsend old age pension plan before the regular December meeting of the Eugene ministerial association yesterday morning.

Bond took no definite stand on the issue, either for or against, but gave arguments on both sides and noted some of the problems to be met if such a plan were established.

Six of the Smartest

Students Have Chance to Win Prizes in Two Story Contests

ARE your short stories above or below 3,000 words? It doesn't matter, since undergraduate students may enter either or both of the contests recently announced. The Golden Book magazine announces its first short story contest, open to college students who are subscribers of the magazine. The stories must not exceed 3,000 words. A portable Remington typewriter is the first prize; $25, second; $10, third; with ten honorable mentions.

The subject of the entries is to the most exciting thing that ever happened to you—anywhere, anytime—or the most exciting thing you can invent. They will be judged by a distinguished group of writers and critics whose names will be printed in the December issue of the magazine.

The stories must reach the office not later than April 15, 1935. Each story must be accompanied by a student's signed statement that the story is original and never published before, except in a college publication. Manuscript will not be returned. The first prize winning story will be printed in the Golden Book magazine for June, 1935. All prize-winning stories will be property of the magazine.

All communication should be addressed to the Golden Book College contest, 233 Fourth Avenue, New York City, New York. The American College Quill club announces the third offer of the Edwin M. Hopkins Quill prize of $50 to be awarded for the best short story submitted by an undergraduate in any college or university. No manuscript received after February 15, 1935, will be considered. It should be addressed to the High Chronicle of Quill, Mrs. Ethelyn M. Hartwich, 511 Broadway. (Please turn to page 2)

Planning Group, Health Committee to Convene

Dr. Philip A. Parsons, professor of sociology, chairman of the Oregon state planning council and its division of public welfare, will meet with the public health committee of the Oregon planning council in Portland tomorrow.

The meeting of the health committee has been called to outline plans for a public health program to be submitted to Governor-elect Charles H. Martin's "Committee of Nine" at their meeting next Wednesday which will also be held in Portland.

Urschel to Come West to Testify Against Suspects

Kidnap Victim to Appear At Portland Hearings

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Charles F. Urschel, millionaire Oklahoma kidnap victim, will fly to Portland and appear at the hearing of four persons charged with complicity in his case, United States District Attorney Carl C. Donagh announced today.

The hearing will open tomorrow morning before Kenneth Frazer, United States commissioner.

E. E. Barnhart of the First National Bank and Trust company, Oklahoma City, who helped to prepare the $200,000 ransom money for payment, will reach Portland for the opening of the hearing.

E. E. Kirkpatrick of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Urschel's associate who acted as go-between with the kidnap gang, will arrive Wednesday, when Urschel himself was expected to arrive.

Second Science Lecture Tonight

Dr. Howard R. Taylor, head of the psychology department, will give the second of the lectures in the popular science series tonight at 7:30 in 107 Villard hall. His topic will be "Some Common Misunderstandings Regarding Intelligence Tests."

Dr. Taylor has been giving psychological examinations at the University for the last nine years and during that time has collected much information of value in helping to advise students regarding their abilities to carry on different lines of work.

Dr. Will V. Norris, professor of physics, gave the first lecture in this series, having to repeat the lecture because of the large attendance. Students, faculty members and townspeople are invited.

HENDRICK'S GIVES TEA

The freshman class of Hendrick's hall will give a tea in honor of freshman women on the campus from 3 to 5:30 today. House mothers and house presidents are cordially invited, announced Miss Doris Mabie, president of the class.

Dean Hazel P. Schwering and Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed will pour.

'A Word a Day The Easy Way', Suggests Smith

Have you always wanted to increase your vocabulary? Do you want to be sure of precise meanings and correct pronunciations—to be able to use confidently words you have skimmed over in your reading but cannot honestly say you really know? One of Prof. S. Stephenson Smith's answers to these questions is the "Word-a-Day" pamphlet, which his classes will use next term.

The "Word-a-Day," published by the John C. Winston company, is designed to make fun out of adding a new word every day to one's vocabulary. One word-ticket containing a difficult but common word is to be torn out of the pamphlet every day and slipped into the reader's pocket. The book instructs him to use the word in his conversation and at the end of the day place the ticket into the wallet on the last page.

The pamphlet also contains quizzes on spelling; geographic, historical, and scientific identification; hyphenization; pronunciation; correct use; and synonyms. Mr. Smith has a supply of the books, which are free of charge.

Moll to Present Sonnets Tonight

Dr. E. G. Moll, associate professor of English, will read a group of original sonnets to the prose and poetry group of Philometele at a meeting in the Kappa house at 7:30 tonight.

Dr. Moll's sonnets, which have been published recently, are based on campus observations, and range from the satirical and humorous to the sentimental.

The prose and poetry group, which is one of the hobby groups sponsored by Phi Theta Upsilon, upperclass women's honorary, is open to any interested women, particularly freshmen. Eleanor Higgins, sophomore in English, is president. Eleanor Wharton and Ann-Reed Burns are upperclass sponsors.

Famed Musicians Billed to Appear

Free admission to concerts by Joseph Hoffman, one of the world's leading pianists, and Jascha Heifitz, a world famous violinist, will be extended to all A.S.U.O. members next term. Both Hoffman and Heifitz are scheduled to appear in concerts on the University campus and are musicians of great ability and rank with the world's foremost.

Free admissions to all conference basketball games played in the igloo will also be given to all student body members next term. A subscription to the Emerald will be given as usual to students holding A.S.U.O. cards.

All students who plan to enroll in the University next term are urged by Tom Stoddard, assistant graduate manager, to purchase student body cards when they register at McArthur court at the beginning of the term.

U. of W. Law Dean to Install 'Order of the Coif' Chapter

HAROLD S. Shepard, dean of the law school of the University of Washington, and member of the executive committee of the national chapter of the Order of the Coif, will install the local chapter for membership Thursday evening at 6:15 at the Anchorage. Dean Wayne Morse will respond for the newly chartered chapter.

Charles G. Howard, member of the Illinois chapter, will preside at the meeting.

The following guests will give greetings: John L. Rand, chief justice of the supreme court of Oregon; James T. Brand, president of the Oregon bar association and judge of the second judicial district; Honorable George F. Skipworth, judge of second judicial district, for the Lane county bar association; E. O. Potter, attorney of Eugene, and one of the first graduates of the Oregon school of law, for the law school alumni; Honorable Willard L. Marks, president of the state board of higher education; Chancellor William J. Kerr, in behalf of the institutions of higher learning in Oregon; C. V. Boyer, president of the University in behalf of the University and faculty; Arthur Clark, president of the law school student body, from the students; and Luis Skinner, Chase-Inn, Phi Delta Phi, legal professional fraternity.

Oregana Down Payment of 50 Cents Abolished

Charge Added to Winter Term Installment

$4.50 Is Total Cost

Clark, Stearns to Contact Living Organizations In Campaign

The down payment of 50 cents will no longer be required of students subscribing for the 1935 Oregana, Newton Stearns, business manager of the publication announced last night.

During the past few weeks, 50 cents have been collected when the subscription was made. In the future, all that will be necessary will be the signature of the student signifying his intent to meet the initial subscription payment of $1.50 at the time if registering for the winter term.

Officials to Talk Barney Clark, editor, and Newton Stearns will begin today to contact all living organizations in the near future to explain fully this year's book and to show samples of art work and layouts.

Those who have already paid 50 cents as a first installment will be asked for a second installment of $1 at the time if registration for winter term. Another $1 will be collected when enrolling for the spring term. Two dollars will be taken from the $5 breakage deposit made by all students at the beginning of the year to finish paying for the book. The total cost is $4.50. Any amount towards this total can be paid at any time.

Staff Busy Subscription blanks may be filled out at the Oregana office or the graduate manager's office in McArthur court. The Oregana office will be open from 1 to 5 today and tomorrow afternoons. The office is always open from 4 to 5.

Clark announced last night that the staff is busy working to make the Oregana a successful publication and that some of the art work will be completed by the first of January. Students will then be given an opportunity to see the type of work being done on the 1935 Oregana.

Master Dance Tryouts To Be Held Tomorrow

Tryouts for Master Dance will be held tomorrow at 7:30 in Gerlinger hall, Maxine Goetch, president of the group, announced yesterday.

All girls interested in trying out must present an original composition, and have had two terms of interpretive dancing or the equivalent. They will be graded on technique, and improvisation.

Students, Faculty Will Lose Dignity at Christmas Revels

SANTA CLAUS KARAFOTIAS; king of the elves, Barney Clark; master of ceremonies, Dr. Philip Parsons, carols, tumblers, members, kegs of cider—dancing to a snappy jazz orchestra—need more be said to induce students and townspeople to attend, and more than that, to take part in the annual "Christmas Revels"? The party, the last social event before fall term exams, will take place December 15, on Saturday at 8 o'clock in Gerlinger hall which will be transformed into a fit place for the celebration of the holidays, with decorated trees, bright lights, mistletoe, and all else that goes to make a merry Christmas celebration.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the presentation of "fitting and proper" gifts, otherwise known as "lemons" to various people on the campus—both students and professors. The names of the fortunate ones will be a secret and a surprise to the recipients until the evening of the party—but then, perhaps the gifts will be a surprise too! Especially since Barney Clark, the Innocent Bystander is making the gift selections.

Since Christmas is a time of surprises, the rest of the program is being kept a surprise, but without letting the cat out of the bag, professorial dignity is to be discarded for the evening, and several popular professors will put professional dance troupers to shame.

The party is to be a no-date affair, campus clothes in order, and price of admission—15 cents. Townspeople are invited, and there will be a gallery for those who wish to watch the revelers make merry.

Anyone who wishes to participate in the program of planned entertainment is urged to get in touch with Henriette Horak, general chairman of the event.
