Reinhart Excited But
'Sad-Face Stays Quiet;
Iguesso Heads South

IN a last quack before heading south for the rest of the year (thank goodness) Iguesso, sports staff guesser, pickem, and miss-em, expert selects the Ducks to rough and tumble another victory from the Sons tonight.

Quite a contrast last night watching the two coaches. Bill Reinhart waxed eloquently on his bench as he smiled, chattered, and shouted to his proteges. Just the opposite took place on the rival plank with old "Sad-face" Hobby Hobson never cracking a smile or uttering scarcely a word all evening.

The Oregon lads must have been nice looking though because in the dressing room after the game Hobson flashed a very nice smile as he said the Ducks looked very good for a preseason game and handled the ball and shot much better for this time of the year than almost any team usually does.

The kneepads were quite all right he thought and perhaps gave the players more confidence in the many scrambles around the floor. Reinhart has helped improve Willie and Budd quite a little since they left the Normal, the Son mentor says.

Closing the discussion by turning the small smile into a real big one, Hobby said he really thought the Webfoots would go places in the conference play this year.

Butch Morse added another all-star honor to his already long string yesterday when it was announced he had accepted an invitation to play for the West in the annual tag-team New Year's Day with an all-star eastern team. No other Oregon man has been selected as yet to play with the stars.

The Emerald will not have Bill Hayward's all-Oregon team for the past 30 years because the Colonel is waiting until later to give it out.

Basketball in the air... Tonight again at the igloo, donut games this afternoon... then next week the intramural play-offs, which will really be games worth watching... Swimming gets in a few licks today. It's only intersquad but some fast times will be turned in by Hoyman's stars.

Webfoots Take Second Hoop Contest

Oregon Wins 36-24 Victory From S.O.N.S.

Two Teams Will Clash Again Tonight

Willie Jones and B. Berg Lead Duck Attack; Five Clicks

By BILL MCINTURFF
Bill Reinhart's 1935 basketball five pounded out its second pre-season victory at McArthur court last night by downing the colorful Southern Oregon normal quintet, 36 to 24. Tonight the Webfoots will again oppose Howard Hobson's veteran squad in an attempt to sweep the two-game series.

The Duck hoopsters appeared to have benefited from the initial game with the Union Oil for the Webfoot offense moved with much more ease and certainty. The local lads pocketed a better percentage of their shots and scored 100 per cent on free throws, 6 out of 6. However, the game was at no time safe from the offensive dashes of the Teachers.

Ducks Open Scoring
Four fouls, two against the green-panted Webfoots and two against the Teachers, and a follow-in by Willie Jones sent the home team ahead 5 to 2 at the outbreak of the skirmish. But Chief McLean, stocky Indian star, sounded the S.O.N. counter-attack with a perfect arc shot from mid-floor.

Bob Miller was sent into the game to check the normal team's lead and almost immediately he pocketed a long one. A top speed dribble down the length of the floor by Captain Bill Berg and dazzling assists by Sam Liebowitz sent the Duck score soaring to a 16-10 lead at the half.

At the start of the second half McLean swished another 45-foot distance shot and "Sleight-of-hand Sam" retaliated by spinning two counters through the hoop. Chuck Patterson then scored a brace of lay-ins to bring his team within 4 points of the Webfoots.

Jones Gets Hot
Willie Jones hit his stride and scored three field goals in succession for a 32-22 lead over his former team mates. Glen Sanford and Rollie Rourke were substituted and the latter scored, making Oregon's final total, 36 points. Hobson's "dark horse" connected as the game ended.

Inter-squad Meet Will Be First Showing of 1935 Varsity

Swim mentor Mike Hoyman will bring out his 1935 swimming team for their first public appearance this afternoon at 4 o'clock when inter-squad teams led by Wally Hug and Jim Hurd clash in a nine event meet. All races will be held in the men's gym pool. Diving will be run off in the women's tank at 5 o'clock.

The fact that this is a means of sophomores caring their spurs in Varsity swimming ranks will make the races as closely contested as those later in the season.

The backstroke will find three sophomores, Gibson and Van Lydegger of Hug's Blues, and Leugler of the Reds, battling it out for a first position, which may give them the inside lane for number two backstroke on the Varsity.

While captains Wally Hug and respect for dash records, are dueling for a first place in the short dashes, more of a battle will be staged for third position.

Hoffman, Blues, and Hayashi, Reds, although both quite a bit slower than their respective teammates, are more evenly matched and will be staging a real race for the third spot.

Oregon supporters will be given their first opportunity this year to look over Bob Chilton, diver. He competed here two years ago and has returned this year for his first Varsity competition.

Cathey Leads All Rifle Marksmen

Rifle practice and marksmanship records at the ROTC, preparatory to selection of a rifle team, are topped by Ralph Cathey, freshman class president, as the most accurate marksman of all those who have made scores. Jack Stafford runs a close second.

The six-hour course on marksmanship which has been given freshman military students is now being finished with rifle range practice. Students making good scores are being asked to try out for the rifle team. However, any student wishing to try out for the team will be given a chance regardless of his score on the range.

Rifle team practice will start the first of the winter term. Five of last year's team will continue on the new team. There will probably be about 75 new tryouts. Of these, about 50 will be eliminated, leaving 25 by the time the matches start, in the week ending February 9. The matches will last approximately four weeks, ending March 2.

DAHLBERG TO SPEAK

W. A. Dahlberg, assistant professor of English, will discuss "Social Control" at a Lions' club luncheon in Springfield tomorrow noon.

I've discovered a book that's just chock full of beauty secrets for the woman who wears glasses. You know there is an art in the way one wears her glasses; they can be worn becomingly and with distinction, so they are a part of one's personality. The "how" is told in this new find of mine, "Beauty Puts Her Glasses On," an entertaining booklet written by a cleverly-sophisticated New York woman. We know you will enjoy it for it contains make-up, hair style, and hat news for mi-lady with glasses. You can get a copy from Dr. Sam Tyler, optometrist at 921 Willamette Street, Eugene. By GORDON M. CONNELLY

NOT to be outdone by official all-American boards or any other officials who annually pick mythical all-star teams, your intramural correspondent, after hours of conference with donut score sheets, and days watching the various hoop quintets comes forth with a selection of the 10 best performers in both "A" and "B" divisions.

To draw these posts a player must possess the fine elements of a perfect hoop athlete, namely the ability to shoot, good teamwork, fine floor skill in both passing and checking, and all-around sportsmanship. Ineligible men are also not qualified.

In the forward posts Wes Clausen, Phi Delt midget and Darrell Miller, dark-complexioned A.T.O. frosh, rate the first team. Clausen chalked up 26 points in two games before he quit school about two weeks ago, while Miller was one of the main cogs in the tournament march of the A.T.O.'s.

The pivot position goes to tall Bob Austin, Yeomen scoring ace, who barely held out John Mullen, steady Alpha Tau Omega center, and Bill Phipps, Phi Sig pivot man, who makes the second team. Phipps led all the centers in tallying.

Arne Lindgren, the S.P.E. remnant of last year's star crew earned a guard station, beside Ingram Kjosness, Yeomen casabaman who is chosen because of his science in handling the ball and his realization of the value of well-functioning team play.

A flip of a coin could have given the second forwards placement on the first squad as Bobby Anderson and Don McMillan both were greatly responsible for their teams' success. McMillan's total of 24 points in the Sigma Nu-La Cass tilt set the season's individual scoring record.

"B" Selection Difficult
Selections in the "B" division were just as difficult to make as in the "A" league.

Charley Grimes of the Yeomen and Bill Crosbie of the Phi Delt receive the nod over Eddie Vail, Sigma Chi dwarf, and Chuck Erwin, ex-celling A.T.O. tally master. Chuck Eaton, Vail's teammate, and Dick Prouty, Phi Kap southpaw, just missed mention because only four men can take the spots.

No superior was found to Earl Bucknum, Yeomen pivoter, for the lanky independent netted 18 tallies in three contests while the men he checked only made two marks.

Art Dickson, former Grant star, continued to cling to his high school form in the A.T.O. lineup and was the only cinch for a guard berth.

Donut Championship Play Starts Monday Afternoon

After eight weeks of league competition 10 league winning intramural basketball quintets will open the annual elimination tournament Monday to decide the "A" and "B" division champions and the total donut points for each organization entered.

Slated for play in the first bracket at 4 o'clock Monday are the Sigma Nus and the A.T.O.'s. The Sigma Nu five scored 88 points in four games over 22 by their foes, while the Alpha Tau Omega casabamen rolled up 61 marks against 23 by their opponents in three games.

Stars Matched
This battle will pitch together the high-scoring Don McMillan and speedy Willy Williamson, Sigma Nu hoopers, and Darrell Miller and Marvin Stroble, A.T.O.'s tally expert and field general.

At 4 Tuesday afternoon the S.P.E.'s will attempt to topple last (Please turn to page 6)
