By ED HANSON

Oregon & Emerald

An Independent University Daily

PUBLISHED BY THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF OREGON University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon

EDITORIAL OFFICES: Journalism building. Phone 3300-Editor, Local 354; News Room and Managing Editor 355. BUSINESS OFFICE: McArthur Court, Phone 3300-Local 214.

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is entitled to the use for publication of all news disprehes credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein. All rights of publication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

A member of the Major College Publications, represented by A. J. Norris Hill Co., 155 E. 42nd St., New York City; 123 W. Madison St., Chicago; 1004 End Ave., Seattle; 1031 S. Broadway, Los Angeles; Call Building, San Francisco.

Grant Thuemmel William E. Phipps

Robert Lucas Managing Editor

The Oregon Daily Emerald, official student publication of the University of Oregon, Eugene, published daily during the college year, except Sundays, Mondays, holidays, examination periods, all of December except the first seven days, all of March except the first eight days. Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice, Eugene, Oregon. Subscription rates, $2.50 a year.

...Mildred Blackburne Scot George

On the Way Up

THE queries, "When are they going to grant the appropriation for the new library?" and "Are we ever going to have a new library?" which used invariably to pop into conversational lulls finally have been laid their good six feet deep and and patted down.

So long has Oregon dreamed and planned for its construction and so disappointing have been the setbacks to its realization, that the heartening news of PWA's approval of the $350,000 allocation was almost past

We realize, by the start that the tidings gave the run of us, into what sloughs of indifference we had drifted. We realize, too, the gratitude we owe to the quiet service of men like Vice-President Barker, Dean Gilbert and Dean Morse, who have worked so tirelessly for a greater Oregon.

They call it "Oregon's New Deal." It is, and the expansion of spirit that it has wrought is pantomimed by the smiles, the new swagger, and the run of jubilation over the campus last night. Time it was that Oregon should have a new deal after the destructive attempts of the Zorn-MacPherson bill and the tax limitation bill, and after the discouragement of the depression-necessitated retrenchment that bit into our running expenses and left us pathetically understaffed.

Things are looking up; Oregon is building again; and the mercurial gleam of our good news may mark that the days of dejecting skimping are near an end.

Cast Your Ballot

STUDENTS of the University have received ballots from the Literary Digest which is cooperating with the Association of College Editors in conducting a peace poll in major universities and colleges throughout the nation.

The national standing of the University in such a movement will rank largely on the percentage of answers which are turned in, in comparison with those from other institutions.

The Emerald believes that this is a move of great importance, and that each and every student should take the time to mark the ballot after adequate consideration is given the questions

The questions are necessarily broad in their application-much more so than would appear after a superficial reading. They are of a type which calls for independent opinion. That opinion, when passed, should be based on as great a number and variety of aspects applying to the subject as possible in the light of the individual's experience.

Men and women in college are reputedly unfavorable to war. Many are actively so. Hence the poll's importance lies in two aspects: in the revelation to the country how young people think on these matters, and in the opportunity to make a widely publicized move against war as an instrument of international relations.

You Would Know the Truth

YOU say you're tired of platform speakers who appear before an audience with an axe of their own to grind?

You say you're bored by speakers who select a subject, then orate brilliantly but avoid impartial criticism while they present in glowing terms only one side or phase of a given topic?

A tip, then we offer you. Eat a hearty lunch today, relax for a few minutes, walk to Gerlinger hall and listen to William Henry Chamberlin.

Here is a man who offers you a rare opportunity. On the maze of contradicting reports spread over the nation by vacationing sightseers who drift through the Soviet Union, from propaganda expertly distributed and from mangled news from a censored press Mr. Chamberlin does not have to depend for his interpretation of the situation in the U.S.S.R.

Since taking over the Moseow correspondency of the Christian Science Monitor in 1922, Mr. Chamberlin has been in the Soviet. reporting, inquiring, interviewing officials and laborers-engineers and kulaks-persons in different activities in the classless proletariat of the Bolshevist state. He has written books-his last an absorbing critical analysis, "Russia's Iron Age," off the press last October.

He knows, from long personal experience on the Russian front, the inside workings of the Soviet regime. Graduated from Haverford college in Pennsylvania, Phi Beta Kappa, Mr. Chamberlin has become the ace of the Moscow correspondents. Just returning from Moscow, he is qualified to paint a word-picture of the Soviet Union as it is today.

One Man's Opinion

By STIVERS VERNON

As a general thing we have a great deal of respect for Harry Carr, who writes the "Lancer" column for the Los Angeles Times and is a member of the board of directors of the same paper.

Carr occupies a unique place in California journalism. He has, in his column, done much to mold public sentiment into an awareness of certain of the little things which make life enjoyable in California. He is a gifted and incurable romanticist-perhaps that's why so many of us read his column. The mere fact that we don't always agree with him is neither here nor there-unless, of course, he says something which gets under even our leathery skin.

For instance, his remarks of January 13 about the forests of Oregon. In the paragraph we are quoting he is speaking of Gilbert Gable of Philadelphia.

"He is now building a wharf and a railroad through a forest in Oregon and has been counting the trees. Far from mourning the death of them, he says that if the whole United States army started cutting timber and worked night and day, they never could destroy the forests. New trees 250 years old would have grown up in the path of the cut timber before they got through the first time."

We appreciate the fact that Carr devotes his space to even so brief a compliment to Oregon's most splendid asset. However, by printing such a statement from Gable, Carr is indicating that there is no occasion for concern over Oregon's forests and that an intelligent program of conservation of them would be a waste of time. At least that's the way we would interpret it.

With this idea we must disagree. Any authority on forest life will tell us that the growths of timber which are suited to the exacting needs of the modern wood-working and building arts are not so numerous as might seem at first glance. True, there are millions of board feet as yet untouched but these under the system of despoilage which prevailed a few years ago, would soon disappear. It is here that the forest service has intervened and enforced a conservation program of logging operation which will assure us of adequate forests in years to come.

What we are more concerned about are those areas of timber which have little or no commercial value and to which Carr's column no doubt referred.

Here too, is a point upon which it would be unwise to proceed hastily. Carr would agree with us that such natural features of the landscape as the forests, have more value than that which they will bring when sawed into lengths. He knows because he has spent so much time and space combatting the ravages of the plant diggers who insist on tearing up and lugging off the cactus of the California deserts. Even the lowly jackpine is of infinite value to Oregon. The traveler from out of the state does not as a rule make the distinction between merchantable timber and that which has no market value. He is impressed only with the verdancy of the vista in every direction in which he may look. He is not favorably impressed with slashed areas in which dead snags protrude from a mass of undergrowth. It looks like waste to the thrifty farmer or merchant from the mid-west.

California has sold the world on her deserts and sunshine. Oregon with her plentiful rains has the witchery of her evergreen forests, her madcap streams and her sentinel peaks. Oregon, too, has something the world wants. But she will never supply the demand by assuming that her forest resources are inexhaustable.

The Passing Show LIBERALISM IN COLLEGES

A new class of radicals-"parlor pink radicals"—is being built up in the colleges today.

That is the opinion of Drs. C. L. Morgan and H. H. Remmers of Purdue University, who talked at length on the question before the session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science a few days ago in Pittsburgh.

The professors said that college students are in favor of the government's going further into socialized control than the New Deal has so far. They advocate government ownership of railroads, public regulation of business, and heavy taxation of large fortunes and incomes.

The report of the science meeting asserts that "women students are even more radical"; that students' "mothers are more radical than their

The reports at this convention are not alarming. This liberal trend is to be expected on the part of students that face such an insecure world to make a living in. In the early and middle twenties no college graduate had anything to fear, because the educated were in demand. But American industry, paralyzed by a system that necessarily made the rich richer and the poor poorer, cannot now assimilate new talent unless needed revision is made.

When Mr. Smith today talks of control and regulation in industry by the government he is called a "radical." That name has been applied to every liberal thinker that ever lived. When Teddy Roosevelt fought for the Pure Food and Drugs Acts and tried to regulate the trusts; when Napoleon said, "I'll someday change the map of Europe"; when Senator Nye told the DuPonts in the munitions investigation that "it was impossible for the government to tax profits out of war, but it is all right for it to conscript the lives of individuals to go to the battlefront"; all of them were called "radicals."

So being a "radical" is not a disgrace.

Read the "Challenge to Liberty" today and you will find allusions to "radicals" running the government now, because they are placing the welfare of one hundred and twenty millions before the welfare of a few thousand who cry repeatedly "that their property rights are being taken away from them.

Radicalism when taken too far is nearly as bad as conservatism when taken too far.

The Nazarene carpenter who said "love you! enemies" was called a radical and a fool. Yet He made a record that will stand for a while.-Daily

Dav's Parade

By PAIKS HITCHCOCK

Will War Withdraw? Dr. Townsend in Congress

In their own conservative way on us, but the truth will out . the Literary Digest people have hit upon something of a bonanza. It is anteed to attain. The Same Old Riddle It was almost inevitable, of what it takes!!!" one momentous "aye" to the infer- months behind. ential question: "Do you want war? and then (heaving, no doubt, a theoretical sigh of relief) will renext tete-a-tete between the mysterious figure, Death, and the equally inaccessible if slightly less ary brass?

and Zaharoff. Caesar Speaks

mysterious Messrs. Dupont, Krupp,

The prerequisite for any such sanguine poll as the Digest has now undertaken is, of a necessity, a popular reputation for infallibility, for in this instance it is liable to be some little time before anyone rises up and with an accusatory finger cries "I told you you'd be wrong," at Digest officials, a contingent that was far from impossible when the Digest conducted polls on such harmless, yet inevitable things as Mr. Roosevelt's victory, or "Why does a chicken cross the road."

Vote It Out?

to be realized) of ten million busy eyes glued on him alone. brokers and shopkeepers casting an early morning eye over their Digests and smiling happily when dead and buried as far as politics Bob, how are you?" are concerned, several of his fellow Californians still insist on bringing up plans to make the United States approach that unattainable state of Utopian idealism.

Representative McGroerty of the E. Townsend which calls for the ness. payment of $200 per month to Entertains at every person over sixty by the gov- Dinner ernment.

A Sad State

people receiving this mere pittance must spend it ere they receive their next two pictures of Jefferson III

The exponents of this measure age citizen's income, and enable the department. these citizens to pay additional Returns After taxes to pay the people over sixty Iliness their $200 so they could put it into circulation, etc., etc.

Taxing the Brain paper with the engraved head of today. Mr. Davis. If such were the case, Back in the tax would be 100 per centum on the increase, and there would be one more time when a demogogue classes Wednesday. had passed the fleece of a sheep Visits in over the signs organs of the lay- Corvallis

Makes Money (Continued from Page One)

will be necessary in the original Illness

Board Must Approve Plans tracts will be prepared, the ap- this week. proval of the state board of higher Visits on education will be obtained, and Campus contracts forwarded to Washingfor bids. The routine should be gene, she was a guest at the home completed, the chancellor said, and of Dr. and Mrs. George Rebec. he contracts awarded in time for Attends Congress work to begin this spring. He in Salem particularly emphasized that there Dr. Warren D. Smith, professor

Board is concerned. was presented to the PWA in Oc- session in Salem. tober of 1933, according to Dean On Business Gilbert, at which time it was ar- in California gued on the basis of the need at | Hugh E. Rosson, graduate manathe University for such a building. ger, is in Berkeley. California, on The petition submitted for the con- a business trip. sideration of the administration Attends Committee was compiled largely from a num- Meeting was found that statistics show that tended a committee meeting. Oregon students make from three Motors to to four times as much use of li- Portland

It took a long time to get on the not to be presumed that this inside on this one . . . "In case you avowedly mild journal of contem- didn't listen to the Oregon-S.C. porary affairs ever thought for one game over the radio, you might not beautiful transcendent moment know that Maury Van Vliet, Kapthat the precedent that they were establishing when they asked the public whether they thought Al- er, was believed to be urged on to fred E. Smith could defeat Mr. bigger and better plays by the Hoover at the polls, would ever roll presence of our lady of affairs. up to such astounding if slightly Eleanor Day, in the grandstand boring figures as the present poll . . . later, the story goes, he almost on the asininity of war is guar- missed his train saying goodbye . . we can't kid ourselves any longer . . . the little gal must have course, that the Digest should morsel appeared in the U.C.L.A. eventually turn its hand to answer- Claw, gossip blue book of the ing the modern Sphinx, and it is southern campus . . . Good decepequally certain that the people of tion on the part of the nimble this occasionally soverign state backfield ace . . . but it's nice to will raise their collective hands in be in the know, even if a few turn to their preparations for the sporting a Theta Chi pin from the hill boys is minus his custom-

> And then have you ever wondered if Barbara Weston, Pi Phi fiash is making or breaking training rules for basketball's Bob Miller? . . . or if even a super woman could separate the Fiji's blonde Mike Pinkstaff and Bill Hutchinson? . . why Jim Ringrose is obvious by his absence from campus functions and the usual bright spots? . . . Is there no free lancing bit of pulchritude who will remedy this situation?

Why eternal triangles were very much in vogue last term? . .

Why conversations such as this Although Sinclair is practically hero, right back at him, "Hello, state of trembling land and with a nesday for her home in Portland pect of the characters attributed boys. I might as well go home and tempestious and unstable popula- where she will remain the rest of to them by their lone representa- pack up. tion has introduced the much the term. Miss Greenwood was tive. With George are shown his talked about plan of Dr. Frances forced to leave school due to ill-

Leaves School

Strange to say, the only red were dinner guests of Mary Snider and anywhere, an indispensible tape which would ensue, were this Saturday evening. Following dinbill to pass, would be that the poor ner the party motored to Corval- fresh from the crater of old Velis to attend the basketball game. suve. Instructor say that it would put more money Mr. Angell, his classes have been lurid past was forgotten when he into circulation, increase the aver-taken over by other instructors in was nominated by the Regents as no benefit to citizens engaged in who underwent an appendictome with "golden texts" flaming before business. Rather, it would be but January 3, was able to attend their eyes they walked the north vallis over the weekend. While in visited their parents and returned Corvallis she attended the Alpha Tau Omega winter dance. Back After after the money is available, con- to the campus the early part of ton for approval of the officials sor of English in the Portland exthere. Following their return here, tension center in Portland, visited it will be necessary to advertise the campus Monday. While in Eu-will be no delay insofar as the of geography and geology, left the campus Monday to attend the Ore-The immediate library project gon Mining congress which is in ber of surveys made in respect to Dean James R. Jewell of the the use which Oregon students school of education spent the day made of their library facilities. It in Salem yesterday where he at-

School

What's more, one Dottie Juneman from down S-e-o-u-t-h is some Oregon lad . . . Just which of

Campus Brevities Due to Illness

Catherine Coleman, Elizabeth three, it would seem could be ex-lish, is in the infirmary with sinus scholarship, was forgiven most evtrouble. During the absence of erything; while all of Woodcock's

City, who attended school here in the choir from marrying that last term, was stricken with ap- girl. But, then, the increase in taxes pendicitis shortly after arriving at In the days of which Volstead could not possibly make up for the many, many additional pieces of expected to return to the campus famous brewery on the south side on NBC: Rich

Eleanor Higgins visited in Cor- to Portland last Friday. The girls

eral days last week at her home spending the week-end with her Chancellor Kerr also stated that in Portland due to illness, returned parents at her home in Salem.

Mabel Holmes Parsons, profesbrary books as the average stu- Ida May Cameron had as her dent in American colleges and uni- guests Venita Brous and Edwina Anderson who motored with her

Our First Scapegoats

Students of eocene days were of imps for instance, had no scruneither more cherubic nor more ples against descending into the especially the one featuring Tom diabolic than these of contempor- vortex and there, in lowest Tar-Aughinbaugh, Jack Woodward and ary classes, if I can believe what tarus, would guzzle-guzzle. Dot Ann Clark, sparkling little Tri George A. Dorris, ex-'80, has been "It was a starry night in June" snatched him from the abyss,-the were having in the jolly good felboys just naturally gravitated (or lowship of such kindred spirits as, Why conversations such as this one heard in the Side never crack the printed pages. Bob Parks Bats.

Statistications for three different perhaps, Henry McGinn, ex-'80 and Jim Raley, ex-'81, not yet the Colfew weeks, four members of his they lear that "We Will Not Have the printed pages. Bob Parke, Beta tom layers were fairly well de-onel of La Grande, when, to their crchestra ensemble have broken > proper gestures. that time reveals a triumvirate of out again. young men, whose lolling, nonchalant, easy-come-easy-go, attitudes Kathryn Greenwood left Wed- are precisely what you would ex- cously flashed "Well, goodbye, George Noland, '82, whom his associates dubbed "Spartacus," and Absalom C. Woodcock, '83. These Archbold pected to do anything at any time

> It is most significant, however, that "Spartacus," by reason of his Joseph Angell, instructor in Eng- braininess and high average in Tutor on the Faculty. Dorris did rot say how he himself escaped, program, heads the new girls glee other than he left the University Wanda Russell of Oklahoma in time,-in time to keep a rival of Broadway, between Willamette and Olive streets. Some good peo- riety hour at 5:00; Paul White-Corwin Calavan, law student, Weinhard's abutted upon hell and, Symphony hour at 8:15; Waltz ple of Eugene were convinced that side of the street. But others were not so convinced. That triumvirate clude "The Continental," for the

to the campus Sunday evening. Visits Home in Salem

Claudine Gueffroy returned to Doris Springer, who spent sev- the campus Sunday evening after

If, in these disillusioned days, Delt white job . . . Looks promistelling me. He avers that he is (maybe), "the air was soft and one has one real drop of the red ing, from all appearances, for Tom the only survivor of a limbo of still" (except for the guzzling), blood of idealism in his weary this term . . . Why it is that peo- the "unredeemed" of that earliest the triumvirate had been swelled veins, he cannot but attain a cer- ple act so stiff at campus dances? student body, and that the boys,— to an octette, if not in numbers, every man carries himself as he said nothing about the girls ex- at least in capacity and brotherly thusiasm over the picture (so soon though some other man had his cept one, and she it was who love. A perfect tartaric time they another and there was simultan-

But not a word was ever said to Next in the series, ONE WAY TO TEAR OUT PARTITIONS.

Music in the Air By George Bikman and Dick Watkins kept in suspense.

fame on the "California Melodies" club to be heard on Fred Waring's hour program tonight on CBS at 6:30. She is a protegee of Raymond Paige, CBS conductor in Los Angeles. At 5:30 the chain presents Everett Marshall, heading

On NBC: Richard Himber (KEX) at 4:00; Rudy Vallee's Va-Time at 10:15.

ICE CREAM SODAS THE OREGANA

Follow the Crowd after Each Class to the

COLLEGE SIDE

There's a Reason!

Better Food at Better Prices lu Cheerful Surroundings MEAL TICKETS-$5.00 FOR $4.50.

"Winter Wondeland," Tomlin's trusty "The O. of My A." and a new tune by Noel Coward - The Opera Guild this Sunday presents Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," while on Saturday, Vertii's "La Forza del Sestino," will broadcast from the N.Y. Metropolitan with a cast including Martinelli, Rethberg, and Gladys Swarthout. -The first organ, exclusively designed for radio has recently been installed in the NBC's San Francisco studios. Jimmy Grier is fast becoming known as the 'starfined, but the intermediate lam- horior, in stalked John W. John- into the films, namely, "Pinky" men!" and Ed Farrar, Phi Delt ination was rather "wobbly, you son, Praeses Universitatis Oregon-Tomlin, Betty Roth, Mildred Stone, understand," and George used the ensis,—stalked, looked, paused, and Harry Foster. — Kay Thompnoted each one, grinned not, spake son, late of Tom Coakley's band An old photographic group of not, stalked back up the stairs and is now being featured on Fred Waring's radio programs. - inci-The imps in silence looked at one dentally, Coakley and Mickey Gillette, NBC conductor are both fullfiedged lawyers. - The first person to recognize Mme. Schumann-Heink's talent as a singer was a nun in a Prague convent who was teaching her the Mass. - Phil Harris, former band now booked under Nick Stuart, is now playing at the Palomar Cafe in L.A. -Guy Lombardo is expected to come out nere to the coast again after gets through his present 20-week contract to play a series of free dances sponsored by an oil firm. The Emerald of the Air today Both Kay Kyser's and Hal Kemp's brings you Stan Bromberg with orchestras originated at the Unihis magic violin. Milt Sugarman versity of North Carolina and both accompanies on the great studio have very distinctive playing styles grand . . . And tomorrow some- and orchestrations, Kemp being thing new. Consider yourself being mostly known for his use of the muted staccato trumpet effect and Kay Thompson ,who rose to Kyser for his glee club arrangements.

14th time, "June in January,"

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Froze up! Gol Ding it! But Classified thaws anything_ t gets RESULTS!

Small investment too-10e per line.

DRESSMAKING PETITE SHOP 573 13th St. E. Phone 3208

"Style Right-Price Right" NEW SHOP Aladdin Shop at White Elec-

TUTORING Tutoring in German, French Spanish. A. Van Moeck, B.A.

715 13th Ave E. Phone 1825-W OREGON STUDENTS

Have you car serviced corectly at Ernie Danner's Associated Service Station. "Smile As You Drive in '35." Phone 1765. Corner 10th and Olive.

PHONE 3300 EMERALD CLASSIFIED DEPARTMENT