Simp's Glimpse

Donut Scribe Takes Column in Absence Of Regular Editor

By Gordon M. Connelly
When the Frosh defeated the Oregon State Rooks here Saturday night in the Igloo by a score of 24-22, they culminated one of the most successful seasons in Duckling history.

Hampered by the slight dissension and jealousy which inevitably rises out of an oversized turnout, Jim Watts, who handled the coaching reigns at the first of the year, and later Gene Shields, the regular mentor, accomplished the feat of formulation a fast, smooth-working, high-scoring combination which has its one collective mind alone on winning.

Confident of earning a berth on the Yearling five, a horde of luminary hoopsters answered the first call for practice. There was Dave Silver, six-foot-four Jewish ace from Lincoln high in Portland; Jack Stafford, who had burned the local maples with his sizzling play; Leland Canessa, Astoria's all-state cager; Darrell Miller, the pride of Klamath Falls; Bill Dick, steady guard from The Dalles; Virgil Ragsdale, torchy-topped Moro, Oregon, speedball; Ford Danner, who won his laurels at Eugene high; Dale Lasselle, triple-threat Frosh griddle and once with Grant high; Willie Williamson, another footballer and formerly with Astoria's Fishermen; Bob Austin, center from Commerce high in Portland; Vernon Moore, husky center from the 1938 gridiron; Jack Crawford, who had attracted much attention while still in prep school; Chuck Spencer, able local flash who figured prominently in the intramural conquest by the especially strong Oregon Yeomen; and Bar Purcell, winner of "Believe It or Not" mention.

Picking the first string of Stafford, Silver, Danner, Moore, and Lasselle was a task offering blisters to the best of casaba manipulators. Shields took it and mastered it with a first class result. All congratulations should be sent to 485 East 13th Street, the Shields' residence.

Indicative of the high caliber of the Frosh, one of the good turnouts, Bar "Portsider" Purcell, who failed to make an impression upon the local strategy board, is now playing first string regular for the Linfield Wildcats varsity. In the recent College of Idaho defeat, Purcell was outstanding with six points and high score honors. After scrimmaging only five days with Linfield quint, he started the game against Columbia U, now University of Portland, which the Wildcats won.

The former freshman has added to his scrapbook invitations from the University of Washington, the University of California, Williamette university, Oregon State college, and Multnomah A. C.

Billy Reinhart ought to be well pleased with the past year's Frosh showing—especially when he looks into the 1936 Northern division sprint. Nearly any team could use men like Silver, Stafford, Danner, and Austin.

Boxing Bouts Start Today In Men's Gym

Lack of Enough Entrants Causes Cancellation Of Monday Slate

Four Finals Scheduled; Others Tentative

Because of the disappointing small entry in the all-campus boxing tournament, the preliminaries scheduled for yesterday afternoon were cancelled. Instead, today's bouts will be the first to be fought, being as well the championship mixes.

At present four title contests for this afternoon have been lined up, one for the featherweight crown, one for the lightweight sceptre, one for the 165-pound championship, and one for the light-heavyweight rulership.

In the bantamweight division, as in the welterweight, middleweight, and heavyweight classes, only one entrant has signified participation by weighing in yesterday.

Bruce Higby tipped the beam for bantamweight competition. No opponent has yet been named. The defense of the 145-pound jewels by Comet Gibson, named by many as the best fighter in school, and of the 155-pound throne by Dayton "Champ" Stoddard seem unquestioned. None of the men training for the welter division had weighed in yesterday afternoon, and Ed Goodnough, 154, who had anticipated his fistic duel with the "Champ" cannot meet at the time today because of a class conflict.

Gibson Feared
Whether Gibson's showing on the Yeomen smoker frightened away his challengers, it has not been decided.

Stan Smith seems to be the champion in the heavyweight division, unless an opponent is named today by Earl E. Boushey.

A featherweight final seems imminent following the beam tipping yesterday morning of Frank Cooper, 126 3-4 and Don Peglow, 126 3-4.

At the 135-pound limit Bill Paddock, 137 1-2, and Wesley Franklin, 135 1-2, will throw leather.

Schloth Faces Newlands
Bill Schloth, 168, will probably face Bob Newlands, Delta Upsilon sinner pure, for the senior middleweight crown, although Newlands had failed to balance the Fairbanks yesterday evening.

For the 175-pound distastorship Ed Diess, 175, may meet Louis Hillis, who had not yet weighed in yesterday.

Any other aspiring pugilists who wish to fill in the vacant spots on the program may see Earl Boushey early today. If Boushey thinks their condition is fit, they will be entered.

Professor McElroy also lived in that same neighborhood in the West end, the three became inseparable, "three of a kind." The walks were sufficiently wide for the three, if they were careful to step along the parallel rows of nails, otherwise the loosened boards were sometimes treacherous.

The three maintained an even pace, the taller men on the outside, J. W. in the center, with a gait that always suggested pulling one's boots out of the mud, his hands in his trouser pockets, his overcoat unbuttoned and swinging free on either side.

The Kappas carried away three first places in the swimming events when Elane Goodell won the 20-yard single overarm and Jean Favier streaked through the water in 15.05 seconds in the 20-yard backstroke. The Kappa team also won the relay event by a fair margin.

Students Want Return
That the majority of the students desire to reinstate good old Oregon spirit is evident and to do this the backing of the students is necessary. That the majority wishes this is clear and the interfraternity council is more than ready to help and further a revival of Oregon customs and traditions of which we individually and as a student body have always been proud," the head of the organization concluded.

Timer Splits Hairs

Any possible doubt about the finish of a race at Santa Anita track, Arcadia, California, has been removed by use of an electrical timer which photographs the finish of a race and the time in split seconds. Above are two reproductions of a photo showing a horse just about a nose off the wire, top, and crossing the finish line, below. The time is shown on the dials at right.

City Council
Wells addressed the council as a representative of the College Side, Oregon a confectionery, and Gossler's restaurant, the three firms effected by the ordinance. Wells stated that a dry ordinance is unconstitutional and that Eugene people have been in favor of prohibition in the past three years. These firms were established many years and it would be unfair to them because of the loss of patronage, he said.

The next speaker was Charles Devereaux, high school student, who spoke in favor of the beer zone. As a prospective student of the University, he regretted that this measure might throw him into contact with such a degrading environment when he entered school.

Council Hears Allen.
S. Eugene Allen, Oregon student, the next speaker said that the firms selling beer at the present on the campus were respectable, and referred to Devereaux's statement that the places downtown were bad enough, pointed out that the ordinance would drive the students down town to these less respectable places.

Barney Clark, also an Oregon student, asked the council the question as to why they should protect the students within the campus zone by such an ordinance and disregard young people of the same age not in the zone.

Hayward Men Show Speed In Squad Tilt

Darkhorse Track, Field Candidates Steal Spotlight

Frank Lloyd Wins Varsity 150-Yard Run

Frank Lloyd, sophomore, gained a surprise victory Saturday in the intersquad track and field meet when he led Coach Bill Hayward's star sprinter, Bud Shoemake, to the tape in the 150 yard dash in 15.2. Shoemake negotiated the distance last week in 14.8. Brady annexed third place.

Lloyd added to his laurels when he snared first place in the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet nine inches, 15 inches better than Arne Lindgren, his closest competitor, could reach.

Another upset came when Clyde Walker, former Washington high state shot put champion, tossed the metal ball 44 feet and eight inches. Still another recruit new to the varsity ranks, Milo Lacy, took the 80-yard hurdles in 10.8, defeating Fred Nowland and Bob Newlands, varsity aces.

The novices strutted their stuff when Carroll Hood took the first heat of the novice hundred in 11:2 and Morris won the second heat in 11:3. Joe Hill took the novice three quarters in 3:39.

George Scharpf won the varsity three-quarters in the fast time of 3:15, beating out Wagner and Ludington.

Results in the other events:
350-yard dash—Freeman, first; Schultz, second; Patterson, third; time 39.7.

350-yard dash for novices—Nelson, first; Shillock, second; Gunderson, third; time, 41.3.

880-yard dash for novices—Ireland, first; Ganger, second; Monty, third; time, 2:12.2.

Washington Husky Shoots Down Ducks In Northern Flight

Remains Half Game Below Oregon State As Beavers Conquer Vandals; U. of W. Hopes for O. S. C. Loss

SEATTLE, Feb. 25.—(Special to the Emerald)—The University of Washington Huskies easily defeated the Oregon Webfoots here tonight, 39 to 27, to remain a half game behind the Oregon State Beavers who lead the northern division of the coast conference. Washington led at the half time, 18 to 14.

Unless the Orangemen lose to Idaho tomorrow night or to Oregon on March 2, the Huskies, who wind up their season tomorrow, will lose all chances of tying or winning the northern title.

Bob "The Goose" Galer led the Huskies to their easily won victory. He scored 12 points and continued as the northern division's leading shotmaker. His teammate Bishop had 10 and Liebowitz, guard, led the Webfoots with 9.

Oregon never could get a consistent attack under way. The Ducks made wild passes, dropped the ball, shot erratically. They started off well enough, taking a 4 to 1 lead which they held for five minutes. The Huskies went out ahead then and held the lead thereafter.

Just before the rest period Liebowitz, Faust and Lewis sank field goals to pull the Oregonians out of a slump. In the second period, however, the Huskies ran up their winning margin.

Five minutes before the end of the game, Coach Hec Edmundson sent in an entire new Washington team which scored only one field goal.
