Beavers Deserve Praise for Great Showing This Year

By Ned Simpson

Well, now that we've shown the Huskies how to play basketball on their own court—as they've been doing for the past four or five years—all that remains to make the season fairly successful is to have the Ducks turn the tables on the Beavers Saturday night in the final game of the year here. And that's not far from possible either, when you consider the brand of ball that the team has been playing the last six or seven games.

Of course, there'll be those who will say, "Yah, he's been prophesying the same thing these past other three games with the Staters—what a dummy." But just the same—dummy or no dummy—it still remains a very possible possibility and for the fourth time we're putting our dough on the Ducks back in the belief that the Beaver shotgun has run out of shells that pack enough stuff to bring down the tough old Webfoot machine.

Just a word of commendation for the Northern division champs for 1935! For a ball club that started out as the dark horse of the league you certainly have to hand it to the Beavers for the way they've walked through the season with only three defeats against their average. And if we can't have the pennant hanging in our own trophy case there's nobody we'd rather see get it than the "boys from State." (Even though we are supposed to hate them with a big and fierce hate!)

Still on the subject of Beaver-Webfoot basketball rivalry, word comes from the man in charge of the newspaper files that this is the second time in the past three years that a sudden and unexpected Oregon uprising against the Washington rule has cinched the Northern division crown for the Beavers. If Washington had downed the Ducks Tuesday it would still have left the Beavers with the always big hurdle of beating the Webfoot to absolutely sew up the title. Maybe they kind of owe the boys who wear the Lemon and Green a little vote of thanks!

Picking up a copy of the San Francisco Chronicle the other afternoon, a small article down in one corner of the "Sporting Green" caught our eye. Here it is:

"St. Mary's three football ineligibles—Nebb Elduyan, Harry (the Horse) Mattos, and John Yezerski—were in town today studying the Junior College field with the idea of making up college credits so they can join the Gaels again next fall and play out their last year of eligibility.

The trio recently was dropped from St. Mary's for scholastic deficiencies. Since the subjects are not on the college's curriculum next semester, they cannot make up the courses there."

Remember in 1932 when Angel Brovelli was declared ineligible—only to turn up in the second half of the Oregon game with just enough fire and dash to drive his team 80-yards for the only touchdown of the afternoon? Seeing as how we're doing a lot of betting tonight we'll lay a couple right now that those three "ineligibles" are back making it tough for the Gaels' opponents next fall!

Beavers Slated for First Appearance as Champs Of '35 Season

Corvallis Crew Determined To Sweep Series

The 1935 intercollegiate basketball season is guaranteed a wild and woolly finish when the Oregon Webfoots meet the championship Oregon State college crew here at McArthur court this Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Although there will be no tittular significance to the game, it promises to be one of the most exciting of the season. The Beavers, assured of the title through Oregon's brilliant 35 to 30 victory over Washington Tuesday night, will be striving to make it four straight over the Webfoots. The Staters have won the first three games of the series, 47-18, 33-31, and 34-27.

Lieby Stars Against Huskies
Oregon, on the other hand, will be playing its hardest to avoid the ignominy of four straight losses at the hands of the Orangemen. Only once since 1929 when Bill Reinhart and Slats Gill opened coaching rivalry has an Oregon State team won four straight—that in 1932.

The Webfoots played their best game of the season in defeating the Huskies Tuesday night. Sam Liebowitz, the temperamental sophomore flash, and Captain Bill Berg, sparked the Webfoots to victory. Willard Jones, lanky center candidate for all-star honors, also aided with 12 points.

Three in Final Game
Three Oregon players will make their final appearance in a Webfoot uniform Saturday night, although none of them are slated to start. They are Captain Berg, forward; Bob Miller, reserve center, and Ron Gemmell, forward.

Coach Reinhart plans to start his usual combination of John Lewis and Roland Rourke, forwards; W. Jones, center, Glen Sanford and Liebowitz, guards. Oregon State's opening group will probably include Captain George Hibbard and Wally Palmberg, forwards; Earl Conkling, center, and Mose Loman and Bob Bergstrom, guards.

Jimmy Mitchell and Harry Leeding will officiate the game.

Basing his statement on a comparison with the last six months of 1934 made by Dr. Louis H. Bean, AAA economic adviser, the secretary forecast that prices would increase by an additional one per cent during the latter half of 1935. Bean said he had not taken new drought threats into consideration. Secretary Wallace's statement was made at a press conference shortly after the weather bureau had reported a continuation of dry weather through large portions of five states severely affected by last summer's drought.

Webfoot Boxing, Wrestling Artists On Beaver Card

Orange O to Stage Program In Corvallis Gymnasium

A wrestling-boxing smoker featuring athletes from letterman's organizations in each state college will augment the proverbial "civil war" weekend this Friday night when the Oregon State Varsity O club plays host to the Order of the O bone-benders and pugilists at the men's gymnasium in Corvallis starting at 8 o'clock.

The program, staged annually through the joint cooperation of the two "O" groups, was presented in Eugene last year and drew an estimated crowd of 2700 persons. The Beaversmen are expecting to equal, if not surpass, the gate mark set by the Webfoots and have made special seating arrangements in order to accommodate an anticipated large crowd.

Ducks to End Training
With the completion of the annual all-campus tournaments, the Webfoot team has been selected and the Duck ringmen will complete training today to take advantage of a day of rest before clashing with the Orange grapplers and leather-pushing artists.

Seven intramural mat champions were crowned last week in the muscle-twisting tourney and will participate in tomorrow night's bouts. Two of them, repeaters, who successfully defended titles won in 1934 will be seen in action Friday night. They are Tom Mountain, 155 pounds, and Joe Renner, student body prexy, in the 165-pound class.

Gibson, Lyons in Rematch
The 175-pound division will see Johnny Reichman tangle with "Pretty-boy" Kopezak, Oregon State ace.

The two heavies to do battle are Earl Groniger, hefty frosh footballer, and Stan McLurg of the Beavers, who played on the varsity grid team for the Corvallis men last season.

Another outstanding bout will bring together Comet Gibson, Oregon, and Jackie Lyons who fought a torrid three-round draw on last year's card.

WAA Nominates New 1935 Officers

Nominations for new officers of the Women's Athletic association were held yesterday afternoon at 4 p. m. in the AWS room, Gerlinger hall. Dorothy Bergstrom was re-nominated for the office of president by the nominating committee.

Frances Watzek and Maxine Goetsch were placed on the ballot for vice-president. Martha McCall and Helen Payne are running for secretary.

Three candidates were selected for the office of treasurer, Jennie Misely, Gene Chabot and Gertrude Branthover. Eileen Moore and Sue Moshberger are running for the office of custodian.

There were no nominations from the floor. Election of the officers will be held March 5.

Shoe Shining Art

(Continued from Page One) "Heels" will get the same attention as anyone else. There will positively be no attempt to reach the student emotionally through the "sole," he added emphatically.

If the advance sales do not come up to expectation, junior co-eds will don skates and straggle to even the remotest corners of the campus in an attempt to retail the dime ducats. The motive behind this, Blais declared, is to assemble sufficient coins before hand so that only the "acme of daub" may be purchased for the massaging of local oxford's."

Rally Planned to Welcome Beavers

CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 27.—(AP)—President George Peavy today authorized a special half hour rally at 11:30 tomorrow morning for the student body to welcome the Oregon State college basketball team returning from northern invasion with the Northern division championship.

The team will arrive from Portland by bus tomorrow morning and in its honor.

Plans already were being made for accommodating large crowds here next weekend when the Oregon State team plays for the coast conference championship against University of Southern California, winner of the Southern division of the conference.

Boushey Requests McCredie, Gearhart To Schedule Match

The all-campus handball singles championship which will be contested between Hugh McCredie and Bill Gearhart is slated for today, it was announced Wednesday by Earl E. Boushey, supervisor to the all-campus tournaments.

Boushey is anxious to have the last event on the school calendar played off.

Other all-campus affairs were won by the following students: boxing — Stan Riordan, heavyweight; Lincoln "Loaded" Diess, light-heavyweight; Bob Newlands, senior middleweight; Dayton Stoddard, middleweight; Comet Gibson, welterweight; Wesley Franklin, lightweight; and Eddie Vail, featherweight; handball doubles — Les Hollenbeck and Bill Fowler; ping pong doubles — Bob Avison and Marvin Henriksen; ping pong singles — George Telfott.

Bob has just been elected to Phi Mu Alpha, men's music honorary. His favorite sports are ping-pong and tennis. As for hobbies, he has but one, that of playing at dances. "Obtainable at any hour," he laughingly added.

The University? "I wouldn't venture an opinion." Bob is quiet, likeable, and brunette with hazel eyes. "I roll my own," he said, closing the inter-

Babe Ruth Goes to Boston; Odds Drop

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Odds on the 1935 chances of both the New York Yankees and the Boston Braves were shifted drastically today by Tom Kearney, St. Louis betting commissioner, as a result of Babe Ruth's transfer from the Yankees to Boston.

Kearney dropped the odds against Boston to win the National league pennant from 40 to 1 to 10 to 1. Odds on the Yankees to win the American league flag rose from 2 to 3 1/2 to 1.

ASUO Argument

(Continued from Page One) ing's paper. Generally accepted rules of debate will govern the affair. Each speaker will be allowed ten minutes to present his opening argument. The initial arguments will be followed by six minute rebuttals, one each from the same four men who presented the prepared orations.

There was no final agreement reached as to a chairman to conduct the debate, but the names of two local professors were declared to be satisfactory to both sides. A definite decision upon a mutually satisfactory arbitrator will be made today.

Sponsors Want Crowd
The sponsors of each cause last night expressed the hope that a large number of students and townspeople would be attracted to hear the discussion. Now that the state board of higher education has been empowered to levy a compulsory fee if it sees fit, there is a possibility that an expression of opinion will be demanded from the students to determine the relative popularity of the two systems of student body finance.

It is the purpose of Tuesday's debate, according to its sponsors, to present both sides of the controversial subject to the students and others concerned so that there might be an opportunity for the formulation of unbiased opinions concerning the matter before the University.

Bill Hayward Calls Meeting of Groups In Campus Relays

All would-be entrants in the all-campus relay carnival to be held at Hayward field on Saturday have failed to make their entries are urged to do so immediately. Hayward is especially anxious to receive all entries as soon as possible so that he can make orders for individual and team trophies to be awarded the winning runners.

Hayward also requests the presence at an important meeting in his office at McArthur court at 3:30 o'clock today of at least one representative from each organization entered in the carnival. Every group must be represented as eligibility of contestants and contest rules will be discussed.

U. of O. Swimmers Point for Match With Washington

Ten Tankers Form Squad For Meet at Seattle

The Webfoot swimming team which has been pointing all season for its meet with University of Washington, will match strokes with the Husky mermen Saturday at Seattle.

With a number of dual meets cancelled, Oregon's interest in swimming has been kept alive by inter-squad and inter-class meets.

Coach Mike Hoymann named 10 swimmers to make the Seattle trip. They are Forrest Kerby and Chuck Reed, breaststroke; Jim Reed and Randall Gibson, backstroke; Bob Chilton, diving, and Leonard Scroggins, Wally Hug, Vernon Hoffman, Bill Angel and Kenneth Mayer, free-style events.

"Philadelphia sold me on the United States first," he added in demonstrating how experiences led him to form a favorable opinion of the American government. Haluk closed his address with an emphatic appeal to his listeners to remember that some one paid the blood price to gain the republican traditions and freedom which the citizen enjoys today. He asked his listeners to turn a deaf ear to the speeches of radicals advocating that the American citizen desert a tried and proven form of government with its many advantages for the embryonic form which may never prove feasible.

Duck Golfers To Begin Play In Two Weeks

Divot Diggers to Contest In Qualifying Round Starting March 11

Four Intercollegiate Tilts On 1935 Schedule

University of Oregon golfing stars started touring Eugene's courses this week as Norman Thomas Stoddard, the Webfoot's assistant graduate manager-coach, announced the official opening of the 1935 intercollegiate season for Monday, March 11, only two weeks away.

A 36-hole qualifying round for the 30 or more candidates for the Oregon varsity squad will start on March 11 and last until the end of winter term on March 22.

Four Matches Slated

Actual intercollegiate competition will open Saturday, April 13, when the Webfoots meet the University of Washington here in the first of four northern division conference matches. A return match with the Huskies is set for April 27 at Seattle. Oregon State college will be met at Corvallis on April 20 and here at Eugene on May 4.

Two non-conference matches with Willamette university have been scheduled for Eugene on April 19 and at Salem on April 29. The season will close with the annual northern division conference meet, to be resumed, after several years' absence, here at the Eugene country club, Oregon's official home playing course.

Three Vets Return

Three lettermen, Jack Mulder, Ed Labbe, and Bob Miller will form the nucleus of Oregon's team. Coach Stoddard also is counting heavily on a trio of sophomores from last year's freshman squad, Sid Milligan, Ford Young and Leonard Anderson, all Eugene products.

The team will be weakened by the loss of three veterans of the 1934 group, John Boyd, Don Olson, and Phil Mulder. Last spring the Webfoots broke even with Oregon State and lost two to Washington in conference engagements and defeated Columbia university of Portland in two non-conference tilts.
