Oregon State
Students Back
Fee Payment

Vote Shows 9 to 1 Favor
Compulsory Paying
Of Amount

One Objector Present at ASOSC Meeting

CORVALLIS, Ore., March 6.—(AP)—The Oregon State college student body today gave an overwhelming vote of confidence to the compulsory student fee payment law enacted by the Oregon legislature.

The vote taken by secret ballot showed between nine and ten to one in favor of the uniform fee plan.

The only opposition expressed in the student body meeting preceding the vote was by Don Saunders, graduate student who transferred here from the University of Oregon. Dick Bars, editor of the Oregon State Barometer, made the chief supporting argument.

Resolution Adopted
The resolution adopted declared the sense of the student body that the uniform fee "is the most democratic, efficient and economical system of insuring to all students regardless of financial condition, full advantages that come from college attendance."

The resolution further stated that instead of being an unfair burden upon the student of limited means, the fee payment "provides a method whereby through the payment of a moderate lump sum he is assured of equal advantages and opportunities in the enjoyment of participation in" the many student activities, concerts and the like.

Pageant by YWCA Set for March 12

A pageant, "Grandma's Tintype," recalling episodes in the life of a woman, will be presented Tuesday evening, March 12, at the Baptist church by the advisory board of the University YWCA.

Scenes in the pageant will include tintype poses and skits of infancy, childhood, school days, youth, the debut, the wedding and family days. University men and women will take part in two scenes, those of the debut and the wedding.

The special request of many Eugene people and students who attended "Wedding Belles," the bridal parade, a feature in the presentation last year, will be repeated. John Stark Evans' women's choral group will sing, basing their numbers around "Songs My Mother Taught Me."

University women working on the project are Constance Kietzer, Peggy Chessman, Claire Bryson, Alice Ann Thomas, Winifred Henry, and Pearl Johanson.

Tickets will be on sale in each living organization this weekend for 25 cents.

Band Rehearses
For Next Concert

The University of Oregon band, under the baton of John H. Stehn, is plunging into its last week of intensive rehearsal preparatory to the concert to be given in McArthur court Sunday, March 10 at 8 o'clock.

Maurice Ravel's "Bolero," a number which has swept the music world with its rhythmic pattern and musical qualities is one of the numbers to be presented in the concert.

Alvin Templer, trombonist, is to be presented in a solo, accompanied by a selected number of band players. The number is "Atlantic Zephyrs."

Co-op Has Oregona
Activity Cards Now
For Independents

Oregona activity cards have been placed in the Co-op for graduating seniors among the independents living out. They must be filled out in printing and returned in the ballot box placed in the Co-op for that purpose by Friday 5.

These questionnaires have been distributed to all the living organization and will be collected Friday. Information given on the cards will accompany the graduating senior's pictures in the year book.

Class of '35 Will Receive Formal Reception

Governor Charles H. Martin, will personally be present at the formal Senior Ball held Saturday night in Gerlinger hall. Many other well-known individuals will be present for the occasion, including Chancellor W. J. Kerr, and C. V. Boyer, president of the University.

A formal reception will be held before the ball and will be for the purpose of receiving the class of '35.

According to Ed Meserve, all freshmen are to be barred from the ball as an initial move in the enforcement of campus traditions. The two living organization representatives among the fraternity men who sell the highest number of tickets will receive prizes donated by the College Flower shop in the form of corsages.

Bart Woodyard's orchestra is to provide music for the dance. Woodyard and his group play in the Arabian room of the Multnomah hotel in Portland.

Admission to the ball will be $1.25 per couple.

April 1 Last Day
To Buy Oregonas

The last chance to purchase an Oregona will be during registration for the spring term on April 1, Newton Stearns, business manager, announced Tuesday. At the same time payment of the last installment will be due, and for those who have kept up their payments this will amount to $1.

There are not more than 25 copies available for those who wish to subscribe this term, as sales are higher than anticipated and only 1100 copies were ordered. New subscribers will be assessed $2.50 at registration, the remaining $2 to be taken from the deposits.

Stearns also announced that living and honorary organizations which have taken space in the Oregona are asked to mail or bring the money which is now due to the graduate manager's office.

Nefarious Newsreel Locates
On Campus; Capers Exposed

The Dance of Time, film corporation subsidiary of Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity, has arrived in Eugene and will go on location today for a five-day period. Special University of Oregon version of news events and school highlights are to be filmed under the direction of Winston Allard, ace director and supervisor for the organization whose first picture will have its world premier on the night of April 6th at the spring dance classic when University students gather for the first dance of the spring term.

Not only will special motion pictures be made of the colorful life of eds and co-eds on the campus in their daily affairs and evening night-life, but by special arrangements the feature of this up-to-the-minute film presentation will be an expose of the Co-ed Capers, sensational affair, presented through the film experience of Director Allard and Ace Cameraman Stivers Vernon, who is filming the Dance of Time.

The first campus location of the company will be the Senior Ball on Saturday night when prominent dance-comers will face the camera and a first-night microphone broadcast. Placards warning, "The Dance of Time—On Location!" will warn onlookers when special scenes are being filmed and students are asked to stay out of camera range unless called on.

Spearhead of Optional Faction

Richard L. Neuberger, young insurgent of the University of Oregon campus who, with Howard Ohmart will uphold the optional faction in the student body fee debate to be held in Gerlinger hall tonight at 8:00 o'clock. He will be opposed by Joseph Renner and Marshall Harrison.

The optional ASUO fees movement gained new momentum last night as the Oregon Yeomen, independent men's organization, voted unanimously to uphold the referendum of senate bill No. 204. The only opposition to the optional fees move at the meeting, which was attended by about 15 Yeomen, was presented by President Virgil Esteb who refused to recognize the step because only one-fourth of the organization was present.

Esteb Makes Statement
"The Yeomen should support compulsory fees and traditions because it is better for the organization and better for all Oregon students," Esteb then said that if the men couldn't see the validity of (Please turn to page three)

Art Library Receives
Books From Japanese

The Museum of Art library in Gerlinger hall has just received some copies of books by Dr. Jiro Harada of the Imperial Household Museum of Japan, who will be a visiting professor at the University next year. The books were presented to the library by the Japanese government.

The titles of these volumes are: "The Gardens of Japan," "Examples of Japanese Art in the Imperial Household Museum," and "English Catalogue of Treasures in the Imperial Repository, Shosoin."

Orchestra Gives Final Program of Season March 14

Students Foster Concert
Free of Charge

The University of Oregon orchestra, under the baton of Rex Underwood, faculty director, will present the final concert of the music season at the Music building Thursday evening, March 14, at 8:15 p. m.

The orchestra has been drilling hard to make this one of the best programs ever offered by that group. Underwood has expressed his pleasure at the caliber of his musicians and feels confident that the concert will be well worth hearing.

The complete program, one which has a universal appeal, and the selections which are nearly all well-known and popular, follows:
Overture to the "Flying Dutchman".....Wagner
Prelude to Lohengrin.....Wagner
Overture to "The Bat".....Strauss
Air for the G String.....Bach
String Orchestra

Valse Triste.....Sibelius
Pell Street.....Whithorne
Scherzo from the 6th Symphony.....Tschakowsky
One of the numbers in this group is "Pell Street" by Whithorne, which is a musical picture of the Chinese section of New York City.

The program is under the sponsorship of the associated students, but no admission will be charged for the concert.

Casteel Announces Date
For Reading Contest
For April 18

With stimulation of interest in poetry and quickened appreciation in hearing it read or recited aloud as the incentive, a poetry reading contest, through the Jewett fund, will be held here this year for the first time in the Northwest. The date has been set tentatively for April 18, John L. Casteel, director of speech, said yesterday.

Mrs. Ottilie Seybolt, director of drama, who, in collaboration with Mr. Casteel, has fostered this contest, said that only when a poem is heard can it be fully appreciated. Both the rhythm and the thought are then combined into an exquisite whole.

The contest, which will offer three prizes of $20, $15, and $5, is open to all undergraduate students, both men and women. Students desiring to enter are asked to sign up as soon as possible at the drama division, 106 Johnson hall, or the speech division, 10 Friendly hall.

The rules of the contest are:
1. Each contestant will present, from memory, selection from three classes of poetry—sonnets, lyrics, and blank verse.

2. Selections which are to be used have been compiled by members of the English department. They will be on file at the drama division office, speech division office, and at the reference desk of the library.

If there are more than eight participants entering, a preliminary contest will be held at an earlier date which will be announced in the Emerald.

WAA Gives Annual Banquet on Friday

Announcement of new officers for 1935-36 will be made at the annual woman's athletic association banquet which will be held at the Del Rey cafe Friday, March 8 at 6 o'clock.

A program has been planned by Mary Morse. Louisa Parry will give a vocal solo. Presentation of inter-house awards will be made by Margaret Daggett and Martha McCall. Margaret Duncan will present the participation plaque, which last year was won by the Alpha Omicron Pi house.

Individual awards will be given by Margaret Duncan. Sweaters, one stripe and Oregon "O's" are on the list to be awarded for participation in athletics and cooperation on committees. The introduction of new officers will complete the program.

Reservations for the banquet may be made through house representatives in the living organizations.

Faculty Takes Up
Military Training
Question in April

The annual campus war on the question of compulsory military training for freshmen and sophomores was quietly opened at the faculty meeting yesterday, when a petition bearing names of 474 students was read, requesting the faculty to recommend to the state board of higher education that the compulsory feature be abolished.

Since no action can be taken by the faculty on matters concerning courses without a notice of one month, the petition cannot be acted upon until the April session. A motion to take it up at that time was made by Charles G. Howard, professor of law. Both "pros" and "cons" are expected to have facts, figures and arguments ready at that time.

Faculty Authorized
The faculty at the session voted to authorize the law school faculty to settle cases appealed to it under the honor system now in operation in the school.

The faculty also voted to make a number of recommendations to the administration on summer sessions. These included recommendations that the "four quarter" plan be an objective in the summer school program, that the director of summer sessions be responsible to the presidents on each campus where work is offered, that the post session be arranged so that it is a continuation of the first session, and that a survey be made to correct the narrow range of present offerings.

Trade Club Plans
Meeting Tonight
A meeting of the Foreign Trade club, formerly known as Pan Xena, will be held at 7:30 tonight in Gerlinger hall. Miss Janet Smith, employment secretary for the University YMCA, will give a talk on the Orient, where she has spent considerable time.
The club is composed of junior and senior men who are interested in foreign trade.
L. J. Wentworth, connected with the Portland office of the Douglas Fir Exploitation and Export company will address the club and Prof. A. L. Lomax's class in marketing on March 14 on the subject, "Export Lumber Markets." In the evening he will be the guest of the club at a dinner at which he will be the speaker.

Ohmart, Harrison, Renner, Neuberger to Argue

Four campus gladiators will square off in the Gerlinger arena tonight polishing adjectives rather than cauliflowering ears as they debate the relative merits of optional and compulsory ASUO fees. The question is "Resolved: That membership in the ASUO be continued on an optional basis."

The last obstacle was hurdled late last night when President C. V. Boyer rescinded a ruling that the contestants would have to pay $20 for the use of Gerlinger. It will be opened to them gratis. Dr. Boyer had asked each group to pay $10.

Speakers Get 10 Minutes
The debate will open at 8 o'clock in the main room of Gerlinger hall. Each speaker will be allowed 10 minutes for a constructive speech, and six minutes in rebuttal. Orlando Hollis, professor of law, will preside.

Howard Ohmart will be the first affirmative speaker, with Marshall Harrison following for the compulsory group. Richard L. Neuberger speaks second on the affirmative and Joseph N. Renner will close the argument for the negative.

Both Renner and Neuberger issued pleas last night for a large attendance of interested students.
