Campus Leaders Launch Hot Campaign to Match ASOSC Total of 1236 Memberships

By Robert Lucas

In the intense competition between Oregon's two larger schools of higher education for student body members, Oregon State yesterday flashed past the University of Oregon. Swimming about in the wake of the sister institution, University campus leaders have collected their startled wits and barged into an exhaustive drive of their own, in an attempt to surpass Oregon State.

On registration day of this term, 700 A.S.U.O. student body cards were sold. The number of cards sold by today, four days later, was 925. The offices of the Associated Students report a sluggish movement of student body cards.

Barometer Speaks

On Monday, April 1, a banner line screamed across the front page of the Oregon State Barometer, daily publication of that institution. It read, "ACTIVITIES DROPPED." A story on the front page deplored the fact that the board of control of that school had found it necessary to suspend the Oregon State student body program for the first time since 1910. By April 1 only 473 student body cards had been purchased by a student body of 2300. The board gave the student body officials just two days to secure a majority membership in the associated students, or at least 1150 card holders.

In the meantime the fate of such activities as the Barometer, madrigal and glee clubs, band, forensics, orchestra, all athletics including baseball, track, tennis, golf, spring football, and the general athletic program of upkeep and repair of fields, hung in the air.

O.S.C. Drive Succeeds

Two days later another banner stretched its way across the campus publication, declaring in black type, "1236 CARDS SUPPORT ASOSC." The OSC drive had netted 763 signers in two days!

Men's Groups Lag in Race For ASUO Activity Tickets

By Peggy Chessman

Women students lead today in the race for ownership of A.S.U.O. cards with two houses reported 100 per cent and six others lacking but two or three cards in order to fulfill their quota. Alpha Xi Delta and Delta Delta Delta reports indicate complete sales within their houses, while Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Phi, Zeta Tau Alpha and Chi Omega expect 100 per cent purchase within the week.

Beta Theta Pi, with an 87 per cent membership, heads the list of men's organizations, with Phi Delta Theta and Chi Psi close behind. Tickets may still be secured at the cashier's office in Johnson hall. The deadline for payments has been extended until April 15.

Virgil Esteb and Jim Blais, co-chairmen for the spring term drive, said last night, "While students have responded to the absolute need for greater support of the Oregon student body organization to a considerable extent, there has been an unwarranted negligence on the part of many, particularly the men. We appeal to them to rise to the support of the University. The women are coming through loyally but the men are late in accepting their challenge. Buy your card now. Don't forget that your support is essential."

HOUSE COOPERATION ASKED

All fraternities, sororities, and independent living groups were requested last night by Joe Renner to consider the question of student fees and inform the members of the respective houses as to facts about their value.

'CAMPUS MOVIE' UNCENSORED!!

By Henryetta Mummy

Campus events and affairs will be portrayed in the "Dance of Time" newsreel, a special feature of the spring dance of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national professional journalism fraternity, to be given in McArthur court Saturday night, April 6.

The all-campus movie will include such special scenes as the Mikulak - Wappenstein elopement, the "Liljeqvist - Colvig - Simpson Triangle," "Pi Phi, the Friendliest House on the Campus," "Delta Gamma Automobile Mystery," "Who's Who at the Senior Ball," "Actual Shots of Joe Renner's Attempt to Abscond With A.S.U.O.

Funds," "Brawny Lettermen Silently Enforce A.S.U.O. Traditions," and the "Coed Caperers in Action."

Jimmy Dierickx's orchestra from Corvallis, which played at the Sophomore Informal winter term, will play for the dance. It is the first all-campus informal dance of spring term. As an added feature Lillian Warn, will do a tap dance.

George Root is the general chairman, assisted by Leslie Stanley, president of the fraternity. The committee consists of Winston Al-lard, Stivers Vernon, features; Charles Aetzel, music; Eugene Lincoln, patrons; Leslie Stanley, programs; Edward H. Simpson, finance; Barney Clark, decorations; Bob Moore, Stanley Robe, publicity; Lawrence Quille, clean-up.

Patrons and patronesses for the event are: President and Mrs. C. V. Boyer, Dean and Mrs. Eric W. Allen, Dean and Mrs. Virgil D. Earl, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Schwering, Mrs. Alice B. Macduff, Mr. and Mrs. George Turnbull, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, Mr. and Mrs. Arne G. Rae, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. William Tugman, Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, Charles M. Hulten, Mr. and Mrs. George Godfrey, Dean and Mrs. Karl W. Onthank, and Mr. and Mrs. S. Stephenson Smith.

Bulletin

The latest official count last night showed Oregon State college Greeks leading local fraternities and sororities by a count of 9 to 2, in the race for 100 per cent backing in the respective student body membership drives.

The local Greek organizations which have reached the top are: Delta Delta Delta and Alpha Xi Delta.

Those at Corvallis are:

Sororities: Alpha Gamma Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Pi Beta Phi. Fraternities: Alpha Chi Rho, Kappa Delta Rho, Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Sigma Phi Sigma.

Race for Editor, Manager Posts Gets Under Way

By Bob Moore

Candidates filing petitions for Emerald editor, Emerald business manager, Oregon editor, and Oregon business manager, must present the applications to the publications committee in the graduate manager's office not later than April 10, in accordance with the A.S.U.O. constitution.

The publications committee asked that petitioners embody the following points in their applications.

1. Previous experience.

Renner Traces Plans

By Wayne Harbert

Continuing the "big push" to secure sufficient numbers of student body members to insure the completion of the spring term activity program, Joe Renner, president, announced last night that the A. S. U. O. would "crackdown" next Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, and after that time all privileges offered to members will be strictly denied all "slackers."

At the same time, Renner again stressed the value of A.S.U.O. membership, re-listing the following privileges:

1. Free admission to the 10 varsity baseball games.
  2. Subscription to the Emerald.
  3. Reduced prices on Junior Weekend events.
  4. Free admission to two major track meets.
  5. Voting privileges in class and student body elections.
  6. The right to serve on committees or run for class or student body offices.
  7. Right to work on two publications, the Emerald and the Oregonian.
  8. The privilege of competing in athletics.
  9. Attendance at a tentative all-campus picnic to be held somewhere outside the city, providing sufficient funds are forthcoming to provide expenses.
  10. Participation in the all-campus luncheon to be held Junior Weekend.
  11. The privilege of appearing in band concerts sponsored by the A.S.U.O.
  12. Admission to a spring football game to be held between those out for this fall's squad and the alums, as well as to two or three inter-squad contests.
  13. Free admission to both the
