

U. O. Students Join Nationwide Protest Against War Today

University, High School Speakers to Outline Peace Program

Parade Is Planned

Peace Leaders Expect No Disorder in Display

Oregon students will participate today in a nationwide protest against the "method of war." Eugene is expected to add between 1000 and 2000 to the number who will meet this morning to declare their denunciation of the god Mars.

Probably a major part of the campus populace, in addition to the students bodies of Eugene high, University high, Northwest Christian college, and a throng of curious townspeople, will gather around the solemn, gray steps of the old lobe at 11 o'clock this morning to lay open to the public their demand for a warless world.

Speakers Scheduled

A half-dozen earnest speakers will be on the platform when the opening ceremonies get under way. Louise Clark, U. of O. student, is scheduled to start the protest with a short talk, "The Profiteers of War." Ed Luckey, Eugene high debater, will mount the rostrum second to attack America's unprecedented peace-time billion dollar military budget.

"Our College Doughboys," a protest against militarization on the campus, will be presented by John Luvaas, Eugene high student, and also a debater. Conley Silsby, president of the student body of Northwest Christian college, will discuss the naval maneuvers.

Bill Bruce, graduate student, is speaking fifth, on the ROTC situation at Oregon. Howard Ohmart, sociology senior, will conclude the speaking with a treatise on the "Economic Basis for War."

Debater to Orate

Paul Plank, varsity debater, will play the part of a modern Mark Anthony in a funeral oration at the end of the parade.

Charles Paddock is master of ceremonies, and, in addition to introducing the speakers, will direct the organization of the parade. Bill Gearhart, field general for the downtown march, said last night that the peace procession will get under way immediately after the last speech. Final organization was arranged at a mass rally in the Y hut last night.

Large Parade Planned

More than 50 card slogans, as well as many banners, await their positions in the parade, according to Betty Hughes, head paint-dauber. A dozen or more cars will break up the six logical divisions into which the parade falls.

ASUO Ticket Drive Falls Far Short Of Expected Goal

Oregon State Sales Above Local Totals

The current drive to sell student body tickets has fallen far short of the expected goal, netting only 1040 sales up to date.

There were no more living or permanent membership yesterday, although it was rumored that several more were nearing the maximum quota.

James Plais, co-chairman of the spring term campaign, issued the following statement last night: "With spring term class and student body elections nearing, we feel that many more students will purchase their membership cards so as to entitle them to the voting privilege. After the campaign closes, we are going to be very rigid in the attempt to keep non-student body members from securing privileges financially supported by those who have paid the $5 fee."

Oregon State's card sales have surpassed the local campaign and it appears that Oregon will have to be content to be outdone.

Prominent Pacific Coast Teachers Obtained As Speakers

The state-wide conference on educational guidance with over 500 educators present will be called into session this morning at 9 o'clock in Villard. Registration of teachers and school executives for the two day meeting has proved unusually strong, according to Dr. Nelson S. Student FERA Slate Returns To Full Time

Former 75 Per Cent Cut For April Repealed As Funds Come

Boyer Receives Message From Relief Group

By Clair Johnson

Restoration of full-time work during April for Oregon students on FERA relief was announced last night by Registrar Earl M. Pallett, chairman of the committee on federal relief for students.

A cut to 25 per cent of the regular allotment for the month had been declared Tuesday morning due to a failure of funds to come through from the state relief committee.

Signing of the $4,800,000,000 work relief bill by President Roosevelt early in the week made the restoration of full-time work almost certain, but notification of the return of funds did not arrive until yesterday.

Boyer Receives News

President C. V. Boyer received the communication from Elmer R. Goudy, administrator of the state emergency relief administration, stating that the committee had received notification of its usual grant of relief funds for student aid purposes for April, 1935.

Mr. Goudy said that the balance of the regular monthly allotment, totaling $2,643.75 was now available in addition to the previous allocation of $88.25, and this would allow the restoration of the 100 per cent program.

Yearlings Souse Fuzzy-faced Lads In Revenge Battle

The male members of the freshman class went to the millrace yesterday noon to seek revenge.

They got it!

The "class war" started Tuesday noon in front of the Gamma Phi house while the wearers of the moleskins were heaving their beardless members into the stream. It seems that they took offense at seeing so many freshmen speculators. By 1 o'clock, all the freshmen had been thoroughly soused, as well as the sophomores who had refused to raise whiskers for the "Days of '49" dance tonight.

Wednesday, a large group of men, clad in the traditional tin pants, hurried to the millrace, to await the rumored onslaught of sophomores.

The sophomores didn't show up. Yesterday noon about 12:30 a huge body of freshmen appeared on the bridge, vainly waiting for the moleskin clad youths with the fuzzy faces. Finally they arrived.

When the smoke had cleared the results were that every sophomore who appeared was thoroughly drenched in the murky waters. Freshmen? Yes, many of them hit the washes also.

Dean of Women to Talk Before Orides Monday

Mrs. C. L. Schwering, dean of women will speak before Orides, organization of independent women on the campus, Monday at 7:30, in the AWS room of Gerlinger hall.

Mrs. Schwering will discuss plans which have been launched by her office, for a better coordination of affiliated and non-affiliated coeds, and an open forum will give all girls an opportunity to ask questions and present their problems before the group.

Education Honorary To Initiate Six Today

Initiation of Phi Delta Kappa, national education honorary, will be held today from 4 to 6 p. m. at University high school to be followed by a banquet at which Dr. Francis F. Powers, professor of education at the University of Oregon will be main speaker.

Initiates of the fraternity include Fred Arpte, William J. Bruce, Virgil Esteb, Willis Hughes, Spencer Reives, and Oscar White.

Margaret Ann Smith Wins AWS Presidency By Margin of 51 Votes

Whiskerino Dance Committee

Every male sophomore with a beard for the "Good Old Days of '49." The above group of Oregon students will direct the "Whiskerino" dance to be held tonight in Gerlinger hall. The committee follows: First row—Jack McGirr, Portland, ticket chairman; Muriel Gabriel, Portland, co-chairman; Margilee Morse, Eugene, music; Robert Prentice, Medford, assistant chairman; David Lowry, Medford, co-chairman. Back row—Dave McGuire, Portland, decorations; Henry Minger, Prineville, programs; Jay Bailey, Portland, publicity.

Soph Beards Display to Be Held Tonight

Class Vot Taboos Fancy Dress With Millrace Penalty Threat

Clomaxing the elaborate whisker-growing campaign, the whisker class, including the males with fuzzy countenances, will play host to the entire campus in the gala "Days of '49" Sophomore Whiskerino to be held tonight in Gerlinger hall.

The decorations will transform the entire hall into the likeness of a huge barroom of the good old days, with plenty of non-alcoholic beverages to be served over genuine bars by the saloon-keepers.

"Dunking" Threatened

At a recent meeting of the sophomore class, it was decisively voted to throw any sophomore man or woman to the dance in a suit or good clothes into the mill-race. All who desire, have been asked to wear clothes suggesting the "Days of '49" idea.

The Ten Commandments, to be garbed in pioneer red shirts, have been obtained to play for the dance.

The following committee under David Lowry and Muriel Gabriel has been active making plans for the event: Robert Plentice, assistant chairman; Henry Minger, programs; Frank Nash, publicity; Elaine McGuire, decorations; Blaine (Please turn to page four)

Japanese Hold Key Position For East And West Harmony

The Japanese are the only people gifted to achieve harmony between the occidental and oriental worlds—such was the idea advanced yesterday by Mr. Ken Tsurumi, new consul of Japan in Portland. The sleekly groomed little consul had much to say yesterday as he paused in an inspection tour of the Murray Warner art museum. He was accompanied by Mrs. Murray Warner and Toyochi Nakamura, ex-Japanese consul to Portland.

The consul explained that for a long time Japan practiced the closed door policy, but that finally other nations were admitted and Japan learned the imperialistic policy. "We had to learn the western ways in science, navies, railway building and engineering," he said, "after the door was opened." Japan clings to her traditional art, though it is gradually changing under occidental influence Mr. Tsurumi said.

Villard Hall Classes For Friday Morning To Change Schedule

To clear Villard assembly for guidance conferences, classes ordinarily meeting there on Friday morning will today meet as follows: survey of creative arts, at 8; meet in 203 Villard then transfer to 103 Johnson. Appreciation of literature at 9; meet in 105 Commerce.

Dr. Boyer to End Lecture Series

Dr. C. V. Boyer, president of the University, will address the first freshman assembly for this term on Tuesday, April 16, in the music auditorium at 7:30. He will talk on "The Meaning of a Liberal Education."

This will be the last of the series of lectures which are offered to freshmen in order to familiarize them with the ideals of the University in respect to culture, scholarship, and personal development. Due to the rush and excitement of Freshman week, these lectures were omitted this year from that week and have been offered throughout the school year.

The assemblies previously have been given on Monday nights, but due to conflicts, this last one is to be given on Tuesday.

FERA Checks

Students who have not called for FERA checks for March, are asked to do so immediately at window 20 on second floor of Johnson hall.
