

Lucia Wiley Has Murals Exhibited By Artist Society

Critic Offers Praise for Exceptional Work

In a review in the art section of the New York Times, Miss Lucia Wiley, who received her master of fine arts degree from the University in 1932, was praised for her mural painting on display in an exhibition of murals at the Grand Central galleries, sponsored by the Mural Painters society.

The following words are taken from the article, which was written by Edward Alden Jewell: "Much that deserves to be commented upon will at this time have to be passed over in silence. However, room must be found for mention of Lucia Wiley's altogether charming panel, 'The March of Youth.'"

Miss Wiley also received the purchase prizes for two color blocks, "Holy Rollers" and "Saturday night," in the seventh annual exhibition of the Northwest Printmakers, now being held in the Seattle art museum until April 28.

Campus Relay

Bob Wagner, Sam McGaughey, and Al Johnson will join in an attempt to cut down young George Scharpf, Phi Delta finisher. Although Wagner, McGaughey, and Johnson are not representing organizations entered, they are out to run Scharpf, undefeated this year, to the ground.

Other events on the program will be the 440 and mile relays. These races will bring together practically the same entrants that compete in the medley relays.

A list of the organizations entered, the runners, and their respective events follows:

Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Quarter mile relay: Ken Miller, Bob Voegtly, Gib Schultz, and Reg Brady.

Beta Theta Pi
Sprint medley: Bob Parke, Don Reed, Milo Lacey, and Short Freeman.

Kappa Sigma
Sprint medley: Jim Rummell, Leif Jacobson, Darryl Evans, John Quillen.

Phi Delta Theta
Distance medley: Vernon Sprag, Fred Nowland, Garry Frye, George Scharpf, and Bill Patrick, alternate.

Sigma Chi
Sprint medley: Bob Holloway, Bob Pritchard, Ted Nicholson, and Bill Nelson.

Theta Chi
Distance medley: John Holloway, Ted Nicholson, Bill Nelson, and Zan Sims.

Yemen
Distance medley: M. Gunderson, G. Jameson, Karl Thomasson, and Bell.

Bob Voegtly, handler of the meet, requests that all entrants be in uniform at the track at 1:30, so that they may be checked in by the clerk of the course.

parative ease with which international complications might arise from such a display.

William Bruce, who has been a leading figure in campus campaigns for optional drill, outlined the progress of that movement, and said that as one who has been "through the mill" he wanted to add his protest against compulsory ROTC.

Howard Ohmart concluded the speeches with an attack on the profit system as a war-engendering force.

The campus demonstration concluded with a paraphrasing of Mark Anthony's funeral oration, to show the futility of war. Paul

50 Lost Articles Remain at Depot

And the Englishman is still without his monocle . . . as are about fifty students minus everything from books, pens, etc., to evening shoes and kid gloves which may be recovered by calling at the University depot where the lost and found department is located. The collection there now includes four raincoats, seven hats (one with numerous flowers on), shoes, three scarfs, five umbrellas, about twenty pairs of wool, cotton and leather gloves, compacts, fountain pens, ten notebooks, six English composition, five accounting, three literature, and two history books.

All articles not claimed will be sold at auction later in the term.

Plank played the part of the Roman. During the oration student "senators" shouted out their sentiments from the crowd, just as in Shakespeare's play.

Many Movies Taken
As the affair moved along dozens of camera shutters clicked during the downtown march.

During the downtown march movie cameras ground out many feet of film. Universal News service had cameramen covering both the campus demonstration and the parade. Individuals stood on street corners getting snapshots as the students filed by.

About 500 fell into the line of march when the parade began to move downtown. Dozens of huge banners and signs dotted the procession, which was four or five blocks long. A sound car led the procession and blared forth the voice of a speaker repeating the local protest call and appropriate peace slogans. An American flag and a Christian flag moved side by side near the head of the parade.

Many humorous and satirical signs graced the marching column. One read: "Hearst in war, Hearst in peace, Hearst in every news release; spreads his hate and desolation to improve his circulation." Another said: "The militarist would risk your life for his country." Still another carried the words: "War—world suicide; arbitration—world peace."

Several large pieces of art held prominent places in the parade. Under one large sketch showing burly exploiters stripping the clothes from a scrawny "taxpayer" until he had nothing left but his undershirt, were the words, "Little man what now?"

Contestants Give Impressions on Solo Competition

Charlotte Plummer, Eugene high, is 17, a senior. When asked how she felt when going onto the platform: "Oh gosh! I really don't know—not scared, exactly."

William Curry, 17, a senior at the Eugene high who took the first French horn solo position. "I felt all right because I was the first one to play and I had an excellent accompanist, Cy Botts."

John Simpson, first soloist in the senior saxophone division, 18 years of age, a senior in Grant high, Portland. "Felt O.K. I don't want to say anything about it—didn't expect to win."

Denny Bates, 13 years of age, eighth grader in the Corvallis junior high, blonde, blue-eyed, slender look first place in the trumpet division. "Sall right—never am nervous, usually."

Richard Webb, 18, Oregon City high, who took the first clarinet position. Regarding to going on the platform: "Let me think—a long time ago I decided to do my best—that was all I thought about."

Melvin Gilson, first junior saxophone: "I didn't expect to win—and I wasn't particularly scared."

Gilbert Swanson, Gresham, who won the first place in the tuba contest, which by the way, was a musical not a rhythmic endeavor and real music can be wheeled from the big babies. "I think it's a good contest so far. Don't know whether I was scared or not—I guess so."

and was a member of the Twenty club, similar to the YWCA. This year she has been a member of the Emerald business staff and is a pledge of Phi Theta Upsilon. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Miss Comish, a Eugene girl, is a sophomore in business administration. She is a Kwama and sergeant-at-arms of the AWS and served this year on the YWCA cabinet as a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Margitee Morse from Eugene
Margitee Morse, also of Eugene, is a sophomore in sociology. She has been a Kwama and a Thespian and was chairman of the YWCA Waffle Wiggle this year. She was assistant night editor on the Emerald last year and a member of

85 More Permits Given to Drivers

Eighty-five new automobile registrations have been granted by the University automobile service since the beginning of the spring term.

Since registrations made during the winter term were carried over automatically, this makes a total of approximately 500 cars registered for driving on the campus, 10 short of the number registered during the fall term.

Because some students register to drive any car, there are about 85 more registered drivers than cars, making a total of 585.

a YW frosh discussion group. She helped with arrangements for the Co-ed Capers this year and last and the AWS Carnival last year. She is in charge of publicity for the YW upperclass commission and is WAA representative. She recently served on the Whiskerino directorate and is a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Installation of officers will take place next Thursday night, Miss Grey announces. The installation service will be followed by a banquet for new and retiring officers and cabinet members.

YWCA Banquet Thursday

All girls on the campus belonging to the YWCA are invited to attend the annual membership banquet, which will be held Thursday evening, April 18.

Installation of the newly-elected officers of the organization will comprise the chief feature of the entertainment. Jean Lewis is in charge of the affair. Further details will be announced later.

There's something about a Chesterfield

There's one thing I especially like about Chesterfields—entirely aside from the fact that it's a milder cigarette—and I've heard a number of people say the same thing . . . While I'm smoking Chesterfield I never get little crumbs of tobacco in my mouth—the tobacco doesn't spill out and that adds a lot to my pleasure of smoking them . . . I notice more and more of my friends smoke Chesterfields.
