

Words Fly As Hall AWS Reins Men Win Emerald Shift Slated Contest From Fijis For Tuesday

Dynamite exploded in the press shack and the rafters rang with reverberations last night following the announcement of the winner of this year's radio contest, Sigma hall which scored for the second year in a row with a comedy program featuring impersonations of nationally prominent people.

Phi Gamma Delta, runners-up with a musical feature, charged into the newsroom en masse and cornered Woodrow Truax, manager of the contest, and George Bikman, radio editor of the Emerald, claiming victory and protesting the judges' decision.

Waxing eloquent the Fijis led by little Jack Campbell, of Feen-amint Amateur night fame, declared that the judges were good judges except they didn't award the $25 prize to the right outfit.

Misunderstandings almost kept the Sigma hatters from presenting their winning program to the people of Eugene from the stage of the McDonald theater. Original plans had been to stage the two finalists in programs before the judges Friday night at the McDonald theater previous to announcing the decision which was reached Friday afternoon after the radio finals. A conflict in the show schedule necessitated placing only the winner on the theater program.

The Sigma hall radio-ists were informed of the change but the Phi Gamma Delta tong, convinced they were the rightful winners, gathered their members together and prepared to put their program on in spite of Sigma hall.

In a statement made to the press late last night Jim O'Connell, manager of the McDonald theater, said he had been led to believe, through a phone conversation with a Fiji that the fraternity had won the contest and he had been prepared to stage the Phi Gamma Delta program. Said O'Connell, "Up until the last minute I thought the Phi Gamma Delta's had won the contest and had made all preparations for them. I was certainly surprised to see the Sigma hatters walk onto the stage."

Members of the Sigma hall program said they were told by the master of ceremonies just before time to go the stage that they were not to go on until next Friday night, that the Fijis had won and were putting their program on then. Several husky looking Fijis were reported seen about the theater and the fear was expressed they would picket the show place.

The two finalists broadcast their respective programs over KORE yesterday afternoon, and it was on the basis of these performances that the judges made their 2 to 1 decision favoring Sigma hall. The program was decreed best "from the standpoint of good radio entertainment." Judges were Prof. J. A. Carrell of the speech department, Naomi Harper of station KORE and Mrs. J. B. Patterson, local piano instructor.

Reins of associated women student government will be presented to the officers-elect of that organization at an assembly next Tuesday afternoon in Gerlinger hall.

A tea is to be held on the sun porch immediately after the installation ceremonies. Virginia Howard is general chairman for the event and is assisted by Virginia Younie.

Margaret Ann Smith is to assume her executive duties as president; Virginia Younie, as vice-president; Starla Parvin, as secretary; Martha McCall as treasurer; Gladys Battleson, as sergeant-at-arms; and Betty Rosa, as reporter.

Retiring officers are Catherine Coleman, president; Virginia Younie, vice-president; Reva Hens, secretary; Ann-Reed Burns, treasurer; Elaine Comish, sergeant-at-arms; and Marjorie Kissling, reporter.

the Life underwriters association, insurance group which sponsors the annual affair.

The three contestants were limited to 12 minutes each in which to present their talks. Judges selected from the sponsor group based their decisions on approach, presentation, and close of the demonstrations. Mulder will have his name engraved on a plaque which is awarded each year to the winner of the contest.

Dean, Mounted On Nag, To Feature 'Feud' Today

A parade of parades led by Dean Wayne Morse of the University law school on his favorite horse will be the opening spark to set off the annual feud between the law school and the school of business administration this afternoon.

The parade, which is scheduled to start at 1:30, will be put on by the lawyers and will be complete in every respect. Besides being led by the distinguished dean and his nag, a band of no mean ability and composed entirely of law students is promised.

Deans to Open Games

The softball game proper that will decide which of the two schools has a right to the extensive boasts that have been floating back and forth for the last few days, will begin promptly at 2 o'clock in the field adjacent to Hayward field. Dean H. V. Hoyt of the business administration school and Dean Wayne Morse of the law school will officially open the game by pitching and attempting to bat the first ball. The law school plans to have an organized rooting section on hand to add to the morale of their team.

One Line-up Told

Exactly who will play this game of games is not quite known. Wayne Tyrell, promoter of the business school team, gave out only the name of Stanley Goldsmith, pitcher. Others on this team are all dark horses. Otto Vonderheit on the other hand, gave out a complete lineup for the lawyers, including himself as catcher, Wendel Wilson, pitcher, Malcolm Bauer, first base; John Wellnitz, second base; Gordon Campbell, shortstop, Robert Anderson, third base; Arthur Clark, left field; William Martin, center; and Dean Wayne L. Morse, right field.

The lawyers, according to Vonderheit, do not expect to win the game as it would be contrary to established precedent.

Municipal Debts Studied by Kehrli

The second in a series of studies on municipal bonded indebtedness has been completed by the League of Oregon cities and survey circulars containing the league's findings are being mailed out to mayors, treasurers, and recorders of the cities studied, Herman Kehrli, director of the bureau of municipal research, announced yesterday.

The circulars contain information concerning the purposes for which cities have issued municipal bonds and a comparison of the relative amounts of indebtedness incurred for each.

"The purpose of this research work is to inform city officials of what other cities are doing. As taxes are now beginning to come in, now is a favorable time for cities to call in their old bonds and issue new ones at a conservative rate of interest," Kehrli said.

Send the Emerald to your friends.

Squaw Tribe To Rein Over Splash Show

Feminine forms galore—shoddy shapes that repulse and repel, and fine figures that tickle imagination's taste will splash and gurgle galore again when the Amphibians, girls' swimming honorary, stages its annual show Wednesday, May 22.

The exhibition will have an Indian motif, which may or may not mean something. Jean Stevenson will cast aside her wreath of roses and become this time a stately Indian princess, heroine of the lucrative legend.

Seventeen bronze tinted young girls will be supplemented in the show by Jim Reed, Jim Hurd and Chuck Reed. Rumor has it that Order of O men will be on hand to keep an attentive eye, seeing that nothing underwater is attempted.

Names of the squaws: Jane Chapler, Mary McCracken, Olive Lewis, Elane Goodell, Jean Savier, Helen Payne, Maluta Read, Kathryn Buck, Mary Margaret Hunt, Barbara Beam, Sue Moshberger, Marian Smith, Joyce Busenbark, Margaret Reynolds, Helen Wright, Thelma Spooner and Eileen Moore.

Tickets, 15 cents, go on sale Monday at all living organizations.

Read your Emerald ads daily and buy accordingly—you won't go wrong because Emerald advertisers realize the value of student patronage and will advertise only those products which they know will bring complete satisfaction to the college student.

12 Tilts on Co-ed Slates Next Week

Twelve games are slated for co-ed baseballers during next week with tilts set to start at 4:00 and 6:30. All teams who do not plan to play their games according to schedule must notify Gretchen Smith, phone number 1309, the day before the listed match.

The schedule is as follows:

MONDAY

Susan Campbell vs. Alpha Omicron Pi, 4:00.
Hendricks vs. Delta Gamma, 4:00.

TUESDAY

Delta Gamma vs. Alpha Delta Pi, 4:00.
Hendricks vs. Kappa Kappa Gamma, 4:00.
Susan Campbell vs. Kappa Alpha Theta, 6:30.

Pi Beta Phi vs. Sigma Alpha and Zeta Tau Alpha, 6:30.

WEDNESDAY

Orides vs. Pi Beta Phi, 4:00.
Alpha Phi vs. Alpha Omicron Pi, 4:00.

Gamma Phi Beta vs. Sigma Kappa and Zeta Tau Alpha, 6:30.
Delta Gamma vs. Kappa Kappa Gamma, 6:30.

THURSDAY

Pi Beta Phi vs. Gamma Phi Beta, 6:30.
Orides vs. Sigma Kappa and Zeta Tau Alpha, 6:30.

Jack Mulder Wins Insurance Contest

Twelve minutes—fifteen dollars. That is the record of Jack R. Mulder, sophomore, who took first prize in a sales demonstration contest held in the Cafe Victor, Portland, last Thursday. Second and third prizes of $10 and $5 were taken by Mary Margaret Hunt, and Ed Labbe, juniors. The contest was attended by about 150 members of

FOR THAT 7th INNING STRETCH

I'm your best friend
I am your Lucky Strike

Try me
I'll never let you down

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company.

It's the tobacco that counts, and there are no finer tobaccos than those used in Luckies