Leaders Study NRA

WASHINGTON — Price wars, strike threats and a series of decisionless administration conferences were today's aftermath to supreme court scrapping of NRA.

The uncertainty spread swiftly from the focal point of NRA to other administration efforts.

White House lieutenants on Capitol Hill snatched the pending AAA amendment bill back from the floor into the senate committee for drastic revision, convinced it could not be fitted in existing form to the constitutional pattern defined by the court for the other phase of the administration's recovery program.

President Roosevelt called to the White House congressional leaders including the chairmen of the two committees handling NRA legislation, Senator Harrison and Representative Doughton. They reached no conclusion on what course should be taken.

There was talk — but no formal action — of reviving NRA on a voluntary basis, with compulsory clauses eliminated but hour and wage and child labor provisions retained. There also came in for discussion in labor quarters the feasibility of submitting a constitutional amendment to referendum which would broaden and define the government's power over industry.

Indication of effort to preserve some of the NRA came from business. The National Association of Manufacturers said 200 firms had posted notice there would be no change in wages or hours even though NRA was gone by the board.

French Govt. in Crisis

PARIS — Devaluation became an open issue in France tonight as Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin's government, its political life in the balance, asked parliament to grant it sweeping emergency powers to defend the franc.

A grim, almost silent chamber of deputies listened coolly while Finance Minister Louis Germain-Martin revealed the full frightening extent of the flight from the franc, scathingly assailed "speculators," declared "devaluation would cause general impoverishment in France" and pleaded for near-dictatorship in economic matters.

With the cabinet's overthrow on the issue freely predicted in the chamber lobbies, the deputies adjourned until Thursday despite the government's request that it begin discussion immediately. Strong hostility to the government's demand quickly developed in the powerful radical socialist party, which counts 100 deputies in the chamber.

Strike Seems Broken

PORTLAND — Indications that the back of the Pacific Northwest lumber strike might be broken soon were perceived in reports tonight from strike fronts.

A. W. Muir, west coast executive of the carpenters' and joiners' union and spokesman for striking sawmill and timber workers' union members, went to Longview

Special Note

ALL SENIORS, through arrangement with administrative officials and the State Board of Higher Education, are granted active membership in the Alumni Association (which includes a subscription to OLD OREGON) for one year. After the expiration of this first year's membership, dues will be two dollars a year. However, the Alumni Association offers a special paid-in-advance rate of one dollar per year. In other words, by payment of one dollar at the time the diploma fee is paid, you will be enrolled in the Alumni Association for two years. Or a payment of two dollars will enroll you for three years. If you do not take advantage of this paid-in-advance offer before graduation, it will be necessary to pay two dollars per year after your first year's membership has expired.

Phi Bete Award Of Books Goes To Robert Vosper

Robert G. Vosper, sophomore in the college of arts and letters, who was announced last week as the winner of the annual Phi Beta Kappa book award will receive the following books: Homer's "Odyssey," T. Shaw translation; Dante, "Divine Comedy"; Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales," the Neilson edition illustrated by Rockwell Kent; Pater, "Marius, the Epicurean"; Kallvala, "Finnish Epic"; Burton, "Anatomy of Melancholy"; Melville, "Moby Dick," illustrated by Rockwell Kent; William Norris, "Life and Death of Jason"; Thomas Mann, "Magic Mountain"; collected poems of Archibald McLeish; Craven, "Modern Art." A possible twelfth book is the translation of "Lucretius" by William Ellery Leonard.

The award is given each year to the sophomore judged as the most outstanding in both scholarship and activities. Dorothy Dill received honorable mention.

The committee making the award for this year was Alice Henson Ernst, M. H. Douglass, F. S. Dunn, A. J. Mathew, and Ella Carricks.

Emerald Advertisers --- We Thank You

The Emerald is taking this opportunity to thank its many advertisers for the way in which they have accepted the Emerald as a medium through which to place their advertising during the past school year.

We hope that the advertising which you have placed in the Emerald has brought you many new friends from the campus and that by advertising you have greatly increased your sales during this school year.

There will be no more issues of the Emerald until October, at which time we hope you will again consider our paper as a good medium through which to place your advertising.
