Students Desiring Debate Activities To Meet Monday

Men, Women Will Outline Program for Year

All students desiring of participating in the symposiums which will be held this year under the supervision of the speech division are asked to attend a general meeting in room 13, Friendly hall, next Monday at 8:15 p. m., W. A. Dahlberg, assistant professor of English, announced today.

The dual purpose of the meeting which is for both men and women is to outline a program for the coming school year and to acquaint freshmen with the symposium system used in Oregon in place of the old controversial debate plan which has been discarded, Mr. Dahlberg said.

The symposium plan gives an impartial analysis of the problem under consideration, the strength and weaknesses of both sides, and concludes with a summary of the differences of opinion for the audience's verdict. Questions and discussions from the floor may follow the summary.

Last year the girls' team held a joint symposium with the University of Washington at Seattle among other trips. Altogether the boys' team and the girls' team gave discussions on topics of current news interest such as the old-age Townsend plan in 365 communities. A special invitation is extended to freshmen.

Arrangements for the evening are in charge of a students' committee made up of Edith Clark, Dorothy Louise Johnson, Eugenia Hunt, Margery Zane, Robert Merrell, Lewis Cook, David Hunter, and Bob Swennes.

First Baptist church, Broadway and High, has laid elaborate plans for its annual student and young people's reception. It will be held in the social hall of the church from 8 to 11 p. m. A gypsy camp will be the setting for the affair. Rollin Calkin, Helen Judy and Frances Taylor will sing. Harold Ayres is presenting piano selections, and Doris Graham and Lois Koppe will be featured in violin numbers. All University young people are invited.

St. Mary's Catholic church, Eleventh and Charnelton, will entertain students in St. Mary's hall. The Knights of Columbus are in charge. Program chairmen are Dale Con-

United Brethren and Central Lutheran will hold a combined program at the University YMCA, Twelfth and Kincaid. The program begins at 7:30 with a musical program, followed by speeches, games and refreshments. Lutheran leaders say they guarantee a good time.

First Christian church, Eleventh and Oak, has completed plans for a carnival and party at the church, beginning at 7:30. Alice Woodson is general chairman, assisted by Ansel Hyland.

St. Mary's Episcopal church, Seventh and Olive, is inviting students to gather at 8 o'clock at the home of the rector, Rev. H. R. White. At 8:30 a short service will be held at the church. An informal reception is planned at the parish house from 9 to 10:30. Mabel Potts is general chairman.

First Congregational church, Thirteenth and Ferry, opens its evening earliest of all. It will have a covered dish supper at 6:15. An impromptu program will follow.

Grace Lutheran church (Missouri Synod), Eleventh and Ferry, will welcome young people and University students at the home of Pauline Ziniker. Transportation will be furnished at the church. Students should be there at 7:45. All are welcome.

First Methodist church, Twelfth and Willamette, will entertain students in the Wesley club rooms with a "political party." Invitations have been sent to several hundred Oregon students, although all are invited. The political theme will be carried out in games, stump speeches, and refreshments. Festivities open at 8 p. m.

Theda Spicer and Frank Chambers are in charge, assisted by Mary Field.

What with all these strikes and things in the air we don't blame the grammar school kids in Portland for pulling a little walk-out of their own. With the old man sitting at home holding out for higher wages and shorter hours. Why shouldn't the kids do the same thing and hold out for higher grades and no arithmetic? It takes no great stretch of the imagination to see little shavers picketing unpopular schools with sandwich signs in the future. "Public school number 381 unfair to geography students union. Foreign Dean Will Discuss War Situation

South African Professor Visits Campus Under Carnegie Auspices

First hand information on the Italian-Ethiopian controversy and what lies back of it will be available to University students November 18 to December 14 when Professor Cornelius C. S. DeVilliers, dean of the science faculty of Stellenbosch, South Africa, visits the campus under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Professor DeVilliers, who has just arrived in New York, will visit a number of American universities where he will lecture and make public addresses on international relations. The University here, due to interest shown in world affairs, was one of the few selected by the Carnegie organization for this honor.

"War between Italy and Ethiopia will start a conflagration among the white and black races in Africa," Professor De Villiers stated in an interview in New York. "It must be remembered that we have but an island of whites in a sea of blacks. Because of the vast European holdings in Africa, it will not be easy to localize such a conflict."

A compromise might be effected in this controversy if Ethiopia were to cede Italy a strip of territory for expansion, but this would be difficult, since feeling among the Ethiopians against Italy is very high. Italian people, while not desiring war, will stand solidly behind Mussolini, Professor De Villiers believes.

Professor De Villiers' visit will be one of the outstanding events of the year for the University and a special committee headed by Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel, has been named to make arrangements for his program.

Rhodes Award Applications Must Be Filed by October 21

Any student from the University planning to make an application to take the examination for the Rhodes scholarships award must file his name with Mrs. Clara L. Fitch, secretary of the graduate division, not later than October 21, it was announced today.

Since all applications must be in the hands of the secretary of the state committee not later than November 2, it is essential that the University make its selection of candidates by October 27. State committees are to meet December 12 to 14, and district committees on December 16.

The Rhodes scholarships, the winners of which are chosen on a competitive basis, will pay expenses at the University of Oxford, England, in October 1935. The stipend is fixed at 400 pounds, English, equivalent to about $2000, American money.

Rhodes scholars are elected for two years in the first instance, but a third year may be awarded to men who have made an outstanding record during their first two years, and whose program of studies makes a third year necessary.

Qualifications require that the applicant be between the ages of 19 and 25 years at the time of entry, October 1936. Only male citizens of the United States and unmarried persons should apply. The person must have completed at least his sophomore year at college.

Qualities considered in making the selection are: literary and scholastic ability and attainments; qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness, and fellowship; exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates; and physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways.

Dr. George Rebec is chairman of the University foreign scholarship committee which will make the selection of students here. Others
