Law School Meet Will Be October 7

The first meeting of the year of the law school student body will be held in 105 Oregon, Monday, October 7 at 10:50 a. m., according to an announcement made by Robert Hunter, president of the law school organization.

The faculty will be formally introduced at the meeting and there will be a discussion on a new course on Oregon law which will be presented this year by Professor Charles G. Howard. Information concerning the smoker will be given by Professor Orlando J. Hollis.

Miss Smith Invites All Independents to Party

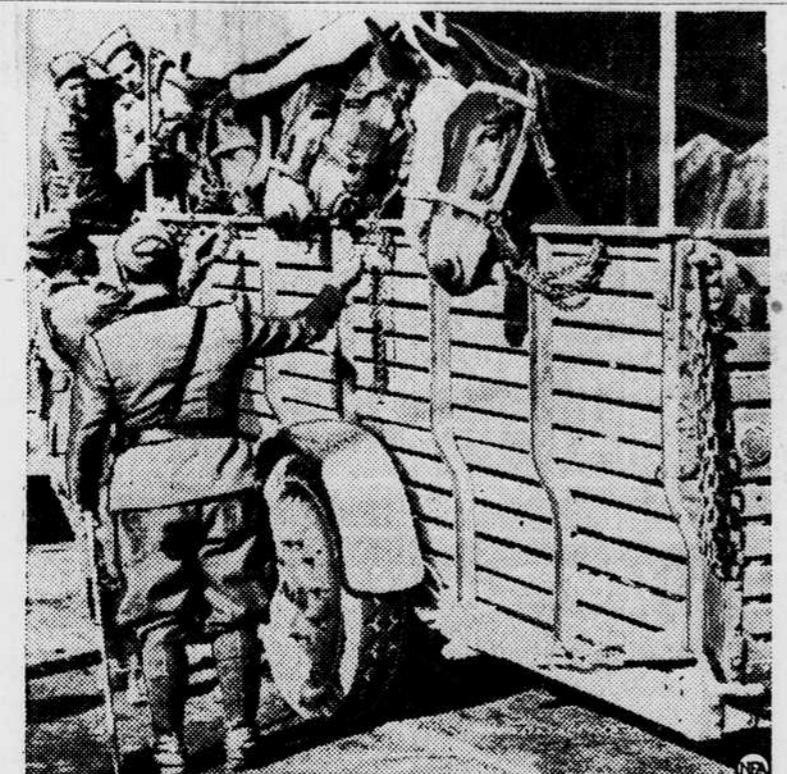

Independent women on the University campus are invited to attend a party which is being given Saturday evening at 7:30 at Miss Janet Smith's home at 1675 Fairmount boulevard. The Ordes, women's independent organization, is cooperating with Miss Smith for the informal affair. The address may be reached by taking the University loop bus to 17th avenue.

Schomp Asks for Program Sellers For Today's Game

Ralph Schomp, assistant graduate manager, issued a sharp appeal last night for students to sell game programs at the Oregon-Utah contest this afternoon on Hayward field, starting at 2 o'clock.

Any men interested in making a little extra money have been asked to report to the office of the graduate manager today noon, not later than 12:30.

Missouri Mules Join Italians

The U. S. is determined to be neutral, but Missouri mules will be in the thick of the fighting in Ethiopia. Italians will use thousands of them.

Mrs. Gerlinger Confers on Libe Browsing Room

Special Feature May Be Added to Plans

Mrs. George T. Gerlinger of Portland, former regent of the University, conferred with University and library officials and townspeople Friday regarding plans for raising funds for the browsing room, one of the proposed departments in the new library, now under construction.

A dinner was held in Mrs. Gerlinger's honor at the Osburn hotel that evening. Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter, President C. V. Boyer, Burt Brown Barker, University vice-president; M. H. Douglass, librarian, and members of the library committee were present.

Mrs. Gerlinger, for whom Gerlinger hall on the campus is named, has been very active in past years in securing funds for various University buildings, including the women's building and museum of fine arts. The browsing, or recreational reading room for the library, must be furnished by funds other than federal or state money.

Accompanying Mrs. Gerlinger was Mrs. Josephine Evans, Harpam, graduate of the class of '25.

Language Instructor Returns to University

Miss Christina Crane, instructor in Romance languages, has returned to assume her duties at the University after a year's leave of absence.

Miss Crane spent her leave at the University of Chicago where she worked for her doctor's degree. During her absence her position was filled by her sister, Miss Helen Crane, who is now teaching French in Boise, Idaho.

Moore to Take up Job in Sociology Division

Dr. E. H. Moore, formerly of Oregon State college, will come to the campus today to take his position in the sociology department. Dr. Moore was appointed head of the school of social work which was to have been established this year in Portland, but was postponed until next year.

Tschirley to Be Here

Rev. Richard Tschirley of Corvallis will occupy the pulpit at the Grace Lutheran church of Eugene this Sunday at the 11 o'clock services.

Oregon State Student On KORE Sunday

Miss Margaret West, coed from the Oregon State College campus, will speak over KORE Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Miss West won first place recently in an oratorical contest sponsored by the Lutheran Walther league societies of Oregon and will repeat her oration for the Grace Lutheran broadcast.

Fewer Students Apply for ROTC Drill Exemptions

55 Less Petitions Granted Than Last Year

Increased enrollment in the classes of the University ROTC has not brought a corresponding increase in the number of students applying for exemptions, Colonel E. V. D. Murphy announced today. The petition list this year was smaller than last year by 55 names.

One hundred and twenty petitions were received this year and all have been granted without consideration by the board.

Reasons given in requesting exemption were varied, the majority being because of outside employment conflicts and schedule conflicts.

Several students were granted exemption because they are studying for the ministry and military training is in direct contrast to their religious doctrines.

About 15 or 20 exemptions were granted to students who objected to the course conscientiously.

Noon Is Deadline For Purchasing Cards for Game

ASUO Membership Worth $15, Is Estimate

Noon today will be the absolute deadline for buying ASUO cards in time to take advantage of the big saving on admission price in this afternoon's game with Utah. The total value of an ASUO card is estimated to be more than $15.

Nineteen hundred and fifty students have already purchased ASUO cards, the latest figures indicate. A noted flume, probably due to the big game today, was apparent in sales yesterday.

No more houses went over the top yesterday, although Cecil Barker, chairman, expressed the opinion that more groups, especially sororities, would go 100 percent soon. More tickets have been sold this term than at any other term since the advent of the optional fee program.

Dean Schwering Will Talk at Westminster

Dean Hazel P. Schwering will speak to the morning group at Westminster house tomorrow, opening a discussion on "The Place of Religion on the Campus." This group meets at 9:45. Frank Evensen will be the forum discussion at 6:30 on the subject of "Prayer." A tea at six o'clock will precede the forum.

Campus Calendar

All men on rally committee are to be on field by 1:30. There will be a special business meeting of Pi Sigma Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in room 107, Oregon. All members must be present.

Greek Letter Groups Take 524 Pledges

Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Sigma Take Big Classes

Eleven Organizations Get Over 20 Freshmen

The hurry and rush of Freshman week resulted in the pledging of 220 University women and 304 men to Greek letter organizations on this campus, according to the latest pledge lists to be released from the University personnel offices late last night.

With the pledging of 27 girls, Kappa Alpha Theta led Pi Beta Phi, which reported 22 girls pledged. Delta Gamma with 21 was the only other sorority to report over 20 pledges.

Kappa Sigma, men's organization, pledged a total of 32 men and was followed closely by Sigma Chi and Phi Gamma Delta, with 28 pledges each. Alpha Tau Omega pledged 24. Other men's houses with more than 20 were Delta Tau Delta, 22, Sigma Nu, Delta Upsilon and Phi Sigma Kappa.

A complete list of pledges for both men's and women's organizations follows:

Bag Rush Contest Promises Excitement at Today's Game

The battle lines are drawn and growls and threats are rumbling in both camps as the sophomores and freshmen prepare for their "bag-rush" contest on Hayward field today between halves of the game.

The novel idea was forwarded at the rally committee meeting Thursday night by Kenneth Belieu, president of the junior class, as part of that class's program of "new traditions at Oregon." It was immediately taken up by the freshmen who issued a rousing challenge to the sophomores.

Wants to Fight

Romano Mussolini, son of Italy's dictator is only 8 but he, like his father, is a fighter and wants to go to Ethiopia like his other brothers and fight for more country.

Police Also Have Difficulty Finding Daylight Robber

Cold Trail Hampers Law Enforcers' Work

Taking up a cold trail, Eugene police had little more success in catching the daylight robber who eluded amateur pursuit on the campus Thursday afternoon, for he was still at large last night.

Authorities revealed no information as to efforts being made to capture the man who took $20 in cash and about $250 in jewelry from the E. H. Hall home in Fairmount.

Citing yesterday's pursuit as but one of many such chases in which the pursued man manages to escape, police yesterday expressed the opinion that the burglar would have been behind the bars within an hour had they been called immediately.

The Register-Guard stated this evening that policemen patrolled the city Wednesday night and Thursday in search of a man answering the description supplied by the owner of the house from which the jewelry and money was stolen.

Hello Dance May Be on October 19

Gossip for the past few days says that there is to be a Hello dance after all, in spite of an article to the contrary printed during rush week in the special edition of the Emerald.

Indications are now that there probably will be a Hello dance, although the date has not been definitely determined. In all probability, it has been made known, the event may be given as a part of the Dad's day festivities October 19.

As soon as definite arrangements are completed, the Emerald will carry a story of the annual get-together.

MOORE IS JAMESON AIDE

Wilbert E. Moore of Linfield college has taken over his duties as graduate assistant under Dr. S. H. Jameson, professor of sociology. He is replacing William J. Bruce.

Oregon Eleven to Face Utah Redskins Today at 2; Huge Rally Parade Held Last Night

Demonstration Scores Good Impression On Spectators

Rival Coaches Talk

New Committees Lead in Gigantic Trek

Yelling their determination to give Utah's football warriors a bitter fight this afternoon, hundreds of Oregon students, perched on more than a hundred cars, caravanned their way in a gigantic rally on downtown Eugene streets last night.

Conspicuous in their white and green rally sweaters were the members of the newly organized men's and women's rally committees, under the direction of Jack Campbell and Roberta Moody.

Starting at the intersection of Kincaid and Thirteenth streets, the students made their way down Thirteenth street, turned north on Alder, west on Eleventh to Willamette. Hundreds of spectators lined the streets on the route of the parade which finally ended at the intersection of Broadway and Willamette where a rousing ovation echoed among downtown buildings, marking the advent of the football season in Eugene.

"Ike" Armstrong and "Prink" Callison, rival heads of today's sparring factions, each addressed the howling students, as did Roland Rourke, vice president of the ASUO, and Howard Ragan, head of the Eugene Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Puzzle of Boxed Trees Explained By NYA Workers

Once upon a time trees came in seeds, in an embryotic state, but now they come in boxes.

Or at least a tall evergreen came to the grassy plot lying between the journalism building and the art building today in a box.

As a part of the work being done by student NYA labors to beautify the campus, the evergreen was moved, boxed, and bodily taken from a position near Condon hall to its new locality.

Quoting yesterday's Innocent (?) Bystander:
Only God can make a tree
Only God and the CCC,
but the broad stump of a once mighty divine (or civilian conservation corps) creation which formerly stood in front of Villard hall shows that the NYA has something to say about a tree's existence at least.

This squirrely story on trees should reassure the bush-tailed tree dwellers—it indicates that at least one of the fall nuts is still at large.

Dr. Williams Remains in U of O Department

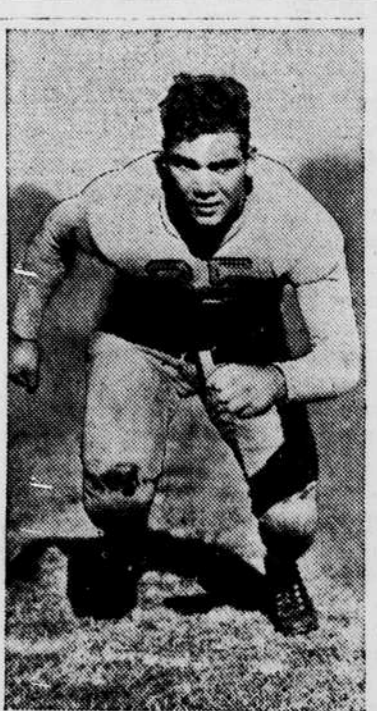

With becoming womanly modesty Dr. A. M. Williams, assistant professor in the German department, protested emphatically while Professor F. G. G. Schmidt, head of the German language and literature department, told the Emerald reporter how she had turned down the offer of a better position at the State Teachers' college of Lacrosse, Wisconsin.

"We couldn't let her go," Professor Schmidt explained. Mrs. Williams admitted she was fond of her work at Oregon.

1:30 Is Closing Hour For Reserve Libe Because of Game

The reserve library will close at 1:30 p. m. Saturday afternoon because of the Utah-Oregon football game. Books may be taken out at 12:30 to be returned on Sunday by 2:30. This announcement was released from the office of M. H. Douglass, head librarian.

Ready to Go!

Andy Hurney, above, is all set to go and hopes to see action against the Redskins.

Grid Supporters Hope Igloo Affair Is Victory Dance

Informality Will Prevail at Tonight's Event

Although the dance which is to be held in the Igloo tonight is termed a "rally" dance, many student supporters of Oregon's grid team are hoping that the first affair of its kind to be held this fall will turn into a victory dance.

A very informal atmosphere will prevail at the event, being given under the auspices of the Eugene Junior Chamber of Commerce and wholeheartedly backed by Oregon's rally committee as an official all-campus dance.

For student body members, the admission price has been slashed to 50 cents a couple, while non-members will be taxed 25 cents more.

All members of the rally committees are to be on hand tonight to add the football spirit, dressed in their "ducky" green and white sweaters.

Van Vliet's Football Team Loses to Albany

Albany high spoiled the debut of Maury Van Vliet, ex-Webfoot flash, as coach of University high school by defeating the local prepsters 9 to 0, at Hayward field last night.

The scores came in the third quarter, when the visitors scored a safety and in the final period when they made a touchdown. The try for point was not made.

Both teams displayed ragged early season form.

Del Milne's Orchestra Plays at Park Sunday

With Cole McElroy bringing his Spanish Palm Garden orchestra, directed by Del Milne, to the Willamette park, tomorrow evening, the musical treat of the season, awaits campus "piggers." Sunday night his own big bus will be available for free transportation, from the campus out to the park.

INFIRMARY NEARLY FULL

Three dismissals and four admittances left the infirmary near capacity again Friday. Mary Bealey, Juanita Potter, and John Brunton are the latest arrivals. Those able to leave were Venita Brass, Jean Foskett, Thorne Hubbard and Jessie Heider. Tom McCall, Emerald sports editor, remains with Chester Inskip, Howard Eggleston, and Doris Hartshorne.

Ohio education survey committee accuses colleges of making the educational process a painless one. So being spiked in a scrimmage is painless!

Second Game of Season To Test Lemon and Green Machine

Utes Downed Twice

Starting Webfoot Team Outweighs Opponent

Coach Prink Callison's green-jerseyed University of Oregon eleven faces its second test of the 1935 season this afternoon at Hayward field when it encounters the strong and determined University of Utah team. The kick-off will be promptly at 2 o'clock.

Twice before Utah has met the Webfoot and both times the boys from the Rockies have gone down to defeat. Should Coach Ike Armstrong and his players subdue Oregon in today's game it will be the first time that Utah ever defeated a coast conference eleven.

Oregon Has Two Wins

The first time the two teams met, Oregon's championship team was "hot" and easily won by a 26 to 7 score. Last year the score was 8 to 7 with Utah again on the short end of the count.

The starting Webfoot team will outweigh its opponents but Utah boasts a speedy backfield that should more than make up for any weight deficiency.

A more complete story will be found on page three.

Beardsworth Accepts Architectural Position

Ralph Beardsworth, senior student in arts and architecture, has accepted an appointment to the staff of the Wicks architectural firm of Astoria, Oregon.

Since the position is but a temporary one, Beardsworth, who last summer passed his architect's examinations in Portland, will return to the University for the winter term.

AUTO REGISTRATION HIGH

Automobile registration figures reached 416 yesterday afternoon, according to figures kept in the office of O. L. Rhinesmith, automobile enforcement officer. All automobiles should be registered this week.

MATRIMONY MAGIC WORD

Matrimony is still a magic word. R. R. Martin, assistant professor in the sociology department, reports a large attendance at his extension classes on matrimonial institutions.

U of C Game Tickets Are One Dollar for Members of ASUO

Tickets for the University of California game in Portland a week from today may be secured by student body members beginning Monday in the office of the graduate manager, in McArthur court, Ralph Schomp announced yesterday.

Upon presentation of ASUO cards, students will be given a ticket to the game for one dollar, including a tax. Those who have no ASUO card will have to pay regular general admission prices.
