Sport Quacks

By Tom McCall

This is my weekend to pick the winners. I feel physically lethargic to the proper degree to see the happenings of the near future with the clear, cultured eye of the eagle and the prophet.

Before going into the routine proper, however, it would be seemly to give my reason just why Bear steaks will be served at the Duck training table.

Reason one: California played so far over her head to beat the Gaels, last week, that the boys will inevitably be unable to "fire up" to the degree of brilliance that gave them the will and the way to conquer, then.

Reason two: Perhaps then you might say that California is such a good team that they can trim Oregon without evincing all of last Saturday's spirit. Well, let's compare the two teams man for man, position for position and see. Stan Rioridan and Budd Jones are just as fast and experienced as the Brittingham brothers, and they each outweigh their southern wingmen combatants by nearly 20 pounds. All are two year lettermen, save Rioridan.

Moving in a spot we find Oregon's Delbert Bjork, the best tackle on the coast, and Fighting John Engstrom who will be pitted against single striker Bob Carlton and Larry Lutz, 201-pound, two-year letterman. The weight here is about even. Bjork's tremendous power will compensate for the greater experience of the Californians.

Guards Tony Amato, 192, and Ross Carter, 193, will be paired against Bob Gilbert, 178, and Con Tenney, 191. Amato and Gilbert are just up from the freshmen. Carter is a one-year letterman and Tenney a two-stripe man. Judging from early season fiascos, I would say that neither pair will push the other round very much.

Ed Farrar at center will spot Herwig of California about eight pounds. Both are steady, heavy, and fast. Both good passers. Farrar has the edge in experience that a one year letterman has over a sophomore.

The previously mentioned group of Californians will tip the beam at 1315 pounds, an average of 187 pounds per man, whereas the Ducks will start a 191 pound line.

On the typewriter the strength of the lines seems about equal. The average weight of Oregon's backs is 175 pounds. California's averages around 183, and not one of the probable starters is a letterman. Perry Thomas, 193, John Meek, 196, and Ken Cotton, 191, left, quarter, and fullback, respectively, are sophomores. Don Fowler darts his 156 pounds of lightning around at the other backfield post. He saw little service last year.

Probable starters behind the line for the Ducks will be Frank Michek, 185, at fullback; Bud Goodin, 180, and Bob Braddock, 175 at halves; and John Reischman, 170, at quarter. . . Two lettermen, a transfer, and a sophomore outweighed by four non-lettermen. . . Draw your own conclusions. Reason three: On paper the

Pepper Is New Place-Kick Hope; Same Team to Open Tilt Saturday

When the ferocious Golden Bear of the southland descends on Multnomah stadium field in Portland tomorrow afternoon, Prink Callison and his Oregon Webfoots will be ready.

All week the men in Lemon and Green have worked feverishly for the battle with California. For long hours they've drilled against California plays, run by the Frosh. They've perfected forward and lateral passing attacks, they've drilled on the famous "cruncher" play. Last night, after hard scrimmages on the previous three evenings, Callison sent the lads through vigorous signal drill and dummy scrimmage.

With perhaps one or two exceptions, the same lineup that opened the Utah game will start against the Bears. No sure-fire place-kicker has as yet been discovered, but the Webfoots plan to score their touchdowns first and think about conversions afterward. Winifred Pepper, an unheralded transfer guard from Fullerton Junior college, edged into the limelight in the role of toe artist yesterday. Pepper, a six-foot 190-pounder, was booting the pigskin between the crossbars with monotonous regularity, and it is more than possible that he may get a chance tomorrow. Frank Michek and Dale Lasselle are others who may get a chance at field goal and point-after-touchdown duty.

The Ducks will embark for the scene of battle on the noon train today, in time to run through a workout in the stadium. Thirty-two players will accompany Callison to the metropolis.

Del Bjork, Oregon's candidate for all-coast tackle honors, has been released from the infirmary and will be in shape to take his lick at the Bears tomorrow. He'll start in his regular post on the left side of the line. Kenyon Skinner and John Engstrom have been waging a terrific duel for the opposite tackle position and either may get the call. Skinner, heaviest man on the squad, has been coming faster and faster the past ten days.

Ross Carter will open at left guard spot. Ed Farrar, iron man on the Utah contest, will be at center. Stan Rioridan, whose punting average of 37 yards against Gonzaga and Utah was little short of phenomenal, is the left end regular, while at the other wing post is Budd Jones, captain for the Bear tussle.

Bears in Portland Today
 Coach "Stub" Allison and his powerful Bears, 38 strong, deserted their Berkeley lair yesterday and will reach Portland in time for a workout in the stadium today. California has three victories to date to the Webfoots' two. The Bears cleaned up on the California Aggies, 47 to 0, and Whittier, 7 to 0, in a double bill two weeks ago and last Saturday they downed the touted Gaels of St. Mary's, 10 to 0.

Allison has a sophomore lineup to throw at the Ducks, one which is developing into a Rose Bowl contender. Oregon also entertains Rose Bowl ambitions and tomorrow for one of the two teams the trail to Pasadena comes to an abrupt end.

Don Fowler, punting hero of the St. Mary's triumph, is scheduled to start for the Bears at the important left half position, with three sophomores completing the backfield. John Meek will probably open at quarter, with Perry Thomas at right half and Ken Cotton at full. Floyd Blower, veteran triple-threat, may start at one of the halfback posts. Al Thorell, Chuck Cotton and Bill Archer are other California backs apt to see action.

The Bears and Webfoots will be playing for the first time in seven years. Prior to that California held seven victories to four for Oregon in what was one of the West's most interesting gridiron rivalries. Scores for all former California-Oregon games follow:
 1899—Oregon 0, California 12.
 1900—Oregon 2, California 0.
 1904—Oregon 0, California 4.
 1905—Oregon 0, California 0.
 1916—Oregon 9, California 14.
 1917—Oregon 21, California 0.
 1918—Oregon 0, California 6.
 1921—Oregon 0, California 39.
 1925—Oregon 0, California 28.
 1926—Oregon 21, California 13.
 1927—Oregon 0, California 16.
 1928—Oregon 0, California 13.

Beaver Sharpen Teeth for Game With Gonzaga

Both Teams in Best of Shape for Friday Night

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 10.—(Special to Oregon Daily Emerald)—Oregon State's football team will meet its fourth opponent of the season here tonight at 7:30 o'clock when the strong Gonzaga Bulldogs invade the Orange campus.

Lon Stiner, Orange coach, was handicapped earlier in the week with three regulars on the sidelines nursing injuries but a couple of days rest found two of the players back for duty. Woody Joslin, left end, is the only one of the three not listed for duty against Gonzaga. Both Maynard Schultz, right end, and Tommy Swanson, right halfback, the two others injured last week, probably will see action.

Joe Gray, sophomore left halfback, continued his great work in practice this week and appears to have the ball-carrying post cinched. However, the other candidates, Bob Mountain and Bob Patrick, are slated for duty.

Reports drifting in from Spokane where the Gonzagans have been working hard for the Oregon State game indicate the Bulldogs will have something new for the Orangemen. Leading the Gonzaga attack will be big Ed Justice, right halfback, and Tom McNeese, fullback. The latter scored the touchdown which gave his mates a 7 to 6 victory over University of Idaho last Saturday.

Probable starting lineups:

Tank Races Open Year's Struggle

Intramural sports will open on Monday, October 14, with the first swimming meet of the term. All entry blanks must be turned in by sports managers before 5 p. m. today. All questions of eligibility should be taken up with Mr. Hoyman, the swimming coach.

Following the swimming meets, the water polo teams will swing into action, Paul Washke urges that all managers have their teams in good shape by the opening dates. Swimming and water polo will be held on a straight elimination basis.

Class A volleyball competition will begin about Monday, Oct. 28, and will be followed by the class B tilts. The teams will be divided into leagues of about five teams each, and round robin tournaments will determine league champions. A championship series will be staged following the regular schedule.

All managers interested in cross country competition, should see Mr. Cutler as soon as possible. Workouts will be held on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 4 to 6 p. m. Each entrant must have at least nine workouts before he is allowed to enter competition.

Patch Hutchins Prize Winner

Pat Hutchins, a sophomore, is the lucky man who wins the thousand Philip Morris cigarettes this week. Pat was awarded the prize for guessing nearest to the correct scores of the Oregon-Utah, and the OSC-UCLA games last Saturday.

Winners of the 200 Philip Morris cigarettes are: Don Casciato, Jack Riley, Robert Colburn, Kelman Keogy, Ed Eisenstein, Arden Bardwell, C. L. Eaton, Walt Bach, and Charles Cunningham.

The games to be forecast this week on the wrappers of Philip Morris cigarettes are: Oregon-California, and OSC-Gonzaga. Anyone interested in the contest should see Stan Bromberg or "Zollie" Volchok.

The government might try the AAA principle on the younger generation: pay them for not sowing wild oats.

Washke Announces Elimination Plans In Tennis Play

Pairings for the first of the varsity tennis team elimination tournaments has been announced by Paul R. Washke, tennis coach. The first round matches are to be played by tonight and the second round is to be completed by Monday. Players will be eliminated after two defeats.

Pairings are: John Economo vs. Fred Mountain; Jack Stafford vs. Jack Crawford; Sam Bikman vs. Cosgrove LaBarre; Al Newton vs. Chuck Eaton; Jim Lewis vs. Bill Wilson; Bill Hutchins vs. Al Cheney; Norman Winslow vs. Bill Zimmerman; Frank Boudurant vs. Roy Crane.

Coach Washke predicts that this year's tennis team will be as good as last spring's when the Oregon netmen won nine and lost one matches. Bob Beckenridge is senior manager for tennis.

Lassalle to Oppose Prep Classmate

It will be classmate against classmate for two of the participants in Saturday's Oregon-California game in Multnomah stadium. Dale Lasselle, Webfoot reserve halfback, and Bob Gilbert, first string Bear guard, played together at Grant high school in Portland for three years, both being graduated in the class of '34. In high school Gilbert was a fullback, but at California he has been shifted to guard, at which position he has crowded out a veteran letterman, Anderson. Lasselle played a halfback post at Grant and continued his career as a ball-carrying star for the Oregon Frosh last fall.

Making the clash between the two former generalists doubly interesting is the fact that both earned all-city honors in their senior years at Grant.

Slicing the Sports Cake

By Bill Van Dusen

The University of California's 150 piece band will not be in Portland for the Oregon-California game Saturday. This information was received yesterday afternoon by Hugh Rosson, graduate manager, and was verified last night by Ralph Schomp, assistant graduate manager.

Although the Californians gave no reason for their inability to send the band, it is believed that they were financially incapable of sending 150 additional men on the trip.

Two former high school team mates will be opposing each other Saturday afternoon when the Bears and the Ducks have their big scrap. Dale Lasselle, Oregon reserve half, and Bob Gilbert, regular guard on the California varsity, both played for Grant high of Portland in 1933.

When the frosh open their season against the Southern Oregon Normal teachers Saturday, they will be without the services of two mainstays.

Bob Anet, the stellar quarterback from Astoria who has been giving Jim Nicholson such a battle for the starting position, has been laid up with minor injuries and will not make the trip to Medford.

Joy Smith, 213 pound tackle, is crippled with an infected toe so he, too, will remain in Eugene. The rest of the squad is in good condition and is ready to go.

In yesterday's Emerald there appeared a list of the freshmen players. However, the halfbacks and fullbacks were omitted so I will give them to you now:
