

It's This Way

By Marge Petsch

There is something in us which compels us to give our views of the "social crisis" which has ensued over the new ruling against Sunday tea dancing, but it seems unnecessary to do so inasmuch as our views have been expressed already in the editorial columns of the Emerald.

Nevertheless, our sympathies are all with those women who must now needs rack their brains for something to say to the restless males, who, tea cups on knees, attempt to hide "that bored feeling." Dancing was such a handy escape.

Also, for the benefit of many freshman women, we would refer you to our article on this page today in answer to your question, "How may I get into activities." We can understand your feelings perfectly, and despite what we think a couple of years from now, we don't envy you much. It isn't easy to "crack the ice" these days, but you will find some secrets in the accompanying article.

We became involved in a most interesting conversation the other day in College Side, which brought out amazing conclusions. For one thing, it was the general consensus of opinion that those congregated, all senior women, had never done much thinking in our entire college careers—that is, real thinking. Most of those present were prominent figures on the campus, and have received good grades.

On first reading, this would sound like a very funny conversation, but it was actually sad. Fortunately, most of those present are now awakened to the value of thinking. The word itself is rather confusing, but we mean here a process of mental activity, carried on in an observing, intelligent, and unclouded manner.

Now do you think?

The conversation also led around to a discussion of women's place in the world—whether it is in the home or outside the home, whether we will ever arrive at the positions of the Amazons, where the women did the wooing, the fighting, and the breadwinning. Whether or not women have gained anything in their modern "freedom" is an interesting question, discussed pro and con constantly.

It is a question which faces all women today, which constitutes one of our major economic problems, and something that all should give thought. Do women want to be completely emancipated, from the old double standard, from their traditional place in society, or would they rather cling to their reputation as "The Weaker Sex?"

Recent Marriage Of Ex-Students Told Yesterday

Announcement of the marriage of Jane Lee, ex-'38, to Bradford Collins, ex-'32, was received by Alpha Delta Pi yesterday. Miss Lee is a member of that sorority.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of friends only at the Methodist parsonage in Vancouver, Washington, on Friday, October 4. Miss Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Lee, of Albany, and Mr. Collins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Collins, of Salem. Mr. Collins is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

The couple will make their home in Salem.

Alpha Chi Pledges Guests

The pledges of Alpha Chi Omega will be the guests of alumni of that house this evening for dessert at the home of Mrs. C. R. Manerud.

Subscription rates $2.50 a year.

SCOBERT'S STYLE SHOP

formerly ANGELINE SHOP

63 East Broadway

Smart and thrifty co-ed scores! You'll be his goal at the football game if you're wearing one of the gay plaid or fleece coats from Scobert's. Some are rainproofed just in case it rains, and all are genuinely tailored. Prices from $9.90 to $24.50.

Activity Opportunity Offered to Freshmen Under New AWS Plan

This year the associated women students are carrying on a project to get freshmen women interested in activities and to help them participate in those extra-curricular fields in which they are most interested.

Margaret Ann Smith, president of the organization said yesterday, "Our aim is not to sell activities wholesale. We urge freshmen women to consider all those fields open to them carefully before signing up for a lot of things which will take time and attention that they might not be interested in giving."

Activities are to be entered for the enjoyment of them, according to Miss Smith, for the friendships and contacts made and for service given wholeheartedly to organizations on the campus.

Every week, if present plans of the AWS are carried out, freshmen will learn of campus activities, traditions, and customs through letters which are being sent to pledge trainers, to the Orides group, and to the halls. This system of informing the freshmen has taken the place of orientation classes which failed to contact all freshmen women in previous years, it is said. Dorothy Dill is in charge of this part of the new project.

Activity files will be kept, says Miss Smith, in the AWS office. There will be a card for every girl on the campus, on which her activities will be listed. Besides this there will be a file kept for girls who desire to participate in certain activities. When a new office is to be filled or committees appointed, these files will be consulted so that girls interested can be obtained.

The theme of the Get Wise party, which is held every fall term for freshmen women, will be campus activities this year. Following the party, sheets on which all activities are listed will be distributed for checking. These will also be kept for reference.

The keeping of the files, and aiding girls to enter into activities which they really like, is in charge of Elaine Comish, activity chairman of the AWS. The project is to be carried on with the aid of activity chairmen in sororities, halls, and the Orides.

Honorary Makes Plans For Hobbies

Members of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary, met jointly Monday at the Theta house, with the presidents of the Phiomelete hobby groups to discuss plans for each of the groups for the coming year.

The primary aim of Phiomelete is to promote a wider acquaintance among college women, and to gain friendly contacts among girls with similar interests. There are five groups which meet informally every other week for a social hour based on a particular hobby interest.

Dorothy Hagge, president of Phi Theta Upsilon, introduced members of the organization who will act as sponsors to the various groups throughout the year.

Presidents of the groups are Hanna Crossley, Charm group, sponsors: Pearl Johansen, Phyllis Adams, Patsy Neal, Helen Nickachou; Music, Lucia Davis; sponsors: Virginia Endicott, Corrine LaBarre; Outdoor, Molly White; sponsors: Gladys Burns, Betty Lou Lunstrom; Prose and Poetry, Jean Ackerson, sponsors: Eleanor Higgins, Margery Kissling, Marjorie Will; Travel, Gretchen Smith, sponsors: Frances Watzek, Martha McCall, Shirley Bennett. Helen Bartrum has been placed in charge of the presidents and will assist them with the work.

Announcements of meetings of each group will be made in the campus calendar.

Tubbs-Watzek Engagement Is Told at Dinner

Betty Tubbs, Pi Beta Phi, and Peter Watzek, Alpha hall, announced their engagement at dinner last night at the Pi Phi house.

Miss Tubbs is a junior majoring in journalism at the University. Her home is at Adams, Oregon. Watzek, a sophomore from Wauna, Oregon, is a business administration major.

Comfort Is Now Popular Feature Of Smart Robes

By DORRIS HOLMES

The cozy glow of an evening fire and the spell of the cold October and November nights are with us. Spooks, goblins, apple pie and pure pumpkin squashes . . . all convey the feeling of rejoicing and gladness for the time to get out the old bathrobe for a quiet evening at home.

Now at last the feeling of solid comfort can be enjoyed! But who could possibly enjoy such a feeling in a flimsy negligee or even a cotton robe of nondescript character? The feeling comes only when one is properly and quietly attired in the latest of woollen lounging robes or pajamas. The college miss will no doubt choose the altogether daring military creations now being sold in the better shops.

Blaring bugle and the rolling drums can only mean conquests for the new robes. Smart frogs in white and matching braids on plain colored fabrics fasten the chic robes at a high neck line. Not a few are featuring snappy belts on the Sam Brown style. No, colors are not confined to the drab wartime costumes, but are rather of brilliant hues, most generally in plain flannels, with no design or pattern.

Full comfortable sleeves are featured in the Chinese Mandarin coats, which also have high neck lines. But in these we find a variety and riot of colors and patterns. Embroidered in heavy threads of white, gold and colors, they are suited even to the daintiest of misses.

But glad indeed, we are that fall can at last entitle us to wear these enticing and above all comfortable new lounging robes.

Send the Emerald to your friends. Subscription rates $2.50 a year.

SPECIALISTS IN HAIR STYLING
Kramer's Beauty Salon
Phone 1880

Graham's Exclusive Styles

"Where college folk buy footwear."

828 Willamette Street 828

"Don't Ever Do That's" of College Told to Co-eds

Because most college women should be able to take care of themselves and should not need to be reminded of insignificant details, it must be mentioned particularly that the following list of "Don'ts" is provided solely for the purpose of those whose "best friends won't tell 'em."

DON'T be careless of your campus appearance. People, constituted as they are, will notice that first and probably judge you by it.

DON'T wear high heels on the campus, or dressy clothes. Stick to sports attire, and you'll be using better taste.

DON'T wear earrings. Earrings become a habit, but try to break it. They are inappropriate, as are all kinds of fancy jewelry.

DON'T chew gum. It gives one that bovine, stupid appearance.

DON'T be too apparent in your pursuit of man. Granted it is necessary, but be subtle, be subtle.

DON'T neck in public. It looks awful, and so often it's your fault more than the man's.

DON'T use too many cosmetics. Eye shadowing is strictly out, and go easy on other pigments.

DON'T try to be someone you're not. If you are large, don't try to be coy. Artificiality is despised by most young people and easily detected.

DON'T be loud, particularly in public places. It makes you conspicuous and brands one as "common." Football games are exceptions, of course.

DON'T step out of your class. If you're a freshman, don't try to copy a senior or think yourself her equal. Fundamentally you are, of course, this being a free country, but there are still remnants of the good old days of senior pride, and you must not step on it.

DON'T sponger upon your friends or sisters. This is not a kin to the other don't, but equally important if you want to be liked.

DON'T gossip. It's a mighty great temptation to tell your friends over a coke about what you heard about someone. But you'll be respected if you can manage to keep it to yourself.

DON'T neglect your shoes. There is nothing which so spoils a girl's appearance as to be "rind-down-at-the-heel."

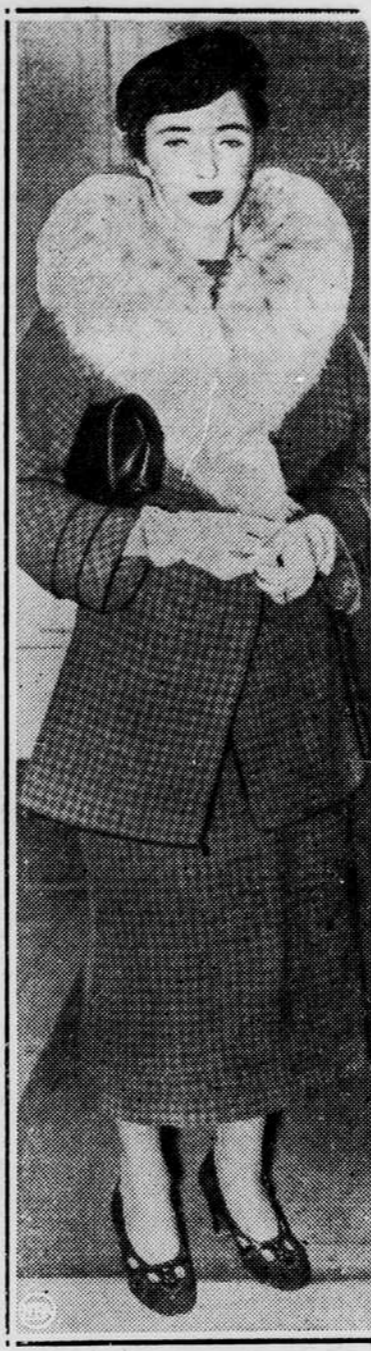

DON'T forget campus traditions.

New Volumes Swell Periodical Section

The set of The London Spectator, found in the bound periodical section of the University library, is now more nearly complete, volumes 84 to 91 and 93 having been recently received. The Spectator is a weekly review of politics, literature, theology and art. The recently acquired volumes date from 1900 to 1904.

Send the Emerald to your friends.

Dressy—Sport

For football games, informal teas, and week end trips the costume shown above is smart with the co-ed.

Irwin-Stoddard Rites Performed Here on Sunday

Miss Catherine Irwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hanzlik of Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, became the bride of N. Thomas Stoddard, assistant graduate manager of the University, and son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Y. Stoddard of Modoc Point, Sunday morning at 10:30. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Milton S. Weber of the Central Presbyterian church at the Osburn hotel.

Mrs. William Spangler, of Modoc Point, and a sister of Mr. Stoddard, attended the bride, and Guy Stoddard served as best man for his brother.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Osburn for the bridal party and guests.

Mrs. Winsor Calkins played the harp for the wedding music.

Send the Emerald to your friends.

New Styles Call Forth Unusual; Hats Military

In spite of the fact that a college girl must consider appropriateness first, we all yearn for individuality and we delight in the unusual. We realize how uninteresting and unexciting our clothes can be if we have no up-to-the-minute accessories with which to give them life and sparkle.

For instance consider the dashingly effect you would have upon your sorority sisters if you appeared some evening in a pair of coral suede mules. These mules have the new squarish heels, and two wide straps across the toes. Daniel Green makes them.

There is nothing that guarantees success to that certain long-waited-for dance more than a glamorous new formal. You might try one of the new shirred ones. There is one of green and gold crepe that is ingenious enough to have gold draw strings down the front and back. The trick seems to be that you can make the dress almost any size. Simply let out the strings if you are rather large; and if you are small, draw them up.

Right now most of us never want to see another halo hat; therefore we welcome the new military styles. In spite of the fact that you might turn out looking like an Abyssinian chief, they are really very smart. The smallish Spanish hats, and the Scottish boat hats are also very good. The Scottish ones are exceptionally attractive when made of velvet or lame for the evening.

Several sororities featured luncheons at the various popular meeting places in Portland last weekend before the big Oregon-California game. Kappa Kappa Gamma lunched at the Camel Court hotel, and Kappa Alpha Theta at the Meier and Frank luncheon. Alpha Chi Omega had lunch at the tea room of Lipman-Wolfe's. The Chi Omega luncheon was held at the Sign of the Rose, and Pi Beta Phi lunched at Meier and Frank's. The Delta Delta Deltas lunched at Lipman-Wolfe's tea room. Sigma Kappa had lunch at the Sovereign hotel.

Today is the last day for the

Boyers Plan Formal Affair For Hunters

Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Boyer will honor Chancellor and Mrs. Frederick M. Hunter and Dr. Jiro Harada, professor of Japanese art and culture, at a formal reception Friday evening between the hours of 5 and 11 at Gerlinger hall.

The faculty of the University has been invited. Prominent campus coeds will serve.

ERNIE FIELD'S ORCHESTRA

Coming to Willamette Park Tavern Saturday and Sunday.

Note: This famous colored Swing band direct from the Savoy Ballroom in Harlem, New York, where they played a solid year, is bringing us a rare musical treat. They are playing in all the big spots on this western tour and were secured for the Park. Don't delay your reservations if you want tables—phone 1929. Free transportation—phone 272.

Exchange Dinners Fill Campus Social Calendar; Greeks Hold Luncheon

Once more the social swing starts with exchange dinners being the main student feature of the week.

Wednesday evening Alpha Delta Pi was hostess to Phi Gamma Delta, and Alpha Omicron Pi entertained Kappa Sigma. The Chi Psi journeyed to the Alpha Xi Delta house, and Delta Delta Delta entertained Sigma Chi. Kappa Alpha Theta was hostess to Delta Upsilon, and Kappa Kappa Gamma went to the Alpha Tau Omega house. Delta Tau Delta was host to Sigma Kappa. Delta Gamma was the guest of Phi Sigma Kappa.

This evening Alpha Chi Omega will be entertained by Kappa Sigma, and Pi Beta Phi will be hostess to Sigma Chi.

Several sororities featured luncheons at the various popular meeting places in Portland last weekend before the big Oregon-California game.

Kappa Kappa Gamma lunched at the Camel Court hotel, and Kappa Alpha Theta at the Meier and Frank luncheon. Alpha Chi Omega had lunch at the tea room of Lipman-Wolfe's. The Chi Omega luncheon was held at the Sign of the Rose, and Pi Beta Phi lunched at Meier and Frank's. The Delta Delta Deltas lunched at Lipman-Wolfe's tea room. Sigma Kappa had lunch at the Sovereign hotel.

Today is the last day for the

HANG IT ALL

on a little shelf and watch that bare space become a joy forever.

Hanging Shelves

and

What-Nots

in walnut, maple or old ivory—flat or corner shelves, 1, 2, 3 or 4 shelves, in pairs or separate—all sizes.

Gadgets

to put in them too.

Mexican pottery. Small animals. Quaint curios.

ORIENTAL ART SHOP

122 East Broadway Annex of Miner Building.

entering of social events on the social calendar in the dean of women's office. The social calendar will appear in full in tomorrow's Emerald.

Alumni Honor Pi Phi Pledges.

Pi Beta Phi pledges will be entertained at dinner this evening at the home of Mrs. Basil Williams. They will be the guests of alumni.

Harold J. Noble, associate professor of history, was a guest of Kappa Kappa Gamma for dinner Tuesday evening. Dr. Noble spoke after dinner on the Italo-Ethiopian war.

Send the Emerald to your friends.

Fred Beanoff's Famous Furs

On Sale at

WRIGHT'S

Campus Coat Special $69.00 to $119.00.

Lapin — Pony — Leopard — Carakul —

Wright's

42 West 8th Street Next to State Theatre.

"It ain't gonna rain no more." That's what you think!

Be prepared with Rain Capes Rain Coats and Umbrellas Smart styles . . . real quality . . . low prices prevail.

Rain Capes are in bright hues to wear over your outer garments. $1.19 to $1.95

Rain Coats are in checks, plaids, gabardines and stripes. $3.95 to $7.50

Transparent Oil Skin Rain Coats are one of the big hits of the rainy season. $5.95

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE A MATH MAJOR TO KNOW THAT

SILK BLOUSES to $2.95 values. Special at $1.98

Catalina SWEATERS

$3.95 New arrivals in silky brushed wool, pottery rust, Grecian blue, rich brown.

Campus Chic and Football Fashions

Tweeds — Checks Plain Colors All wanted shades and sizes.

Your Whole Wardrobe

BEARD'S

Phone 1996

957 Willamette

THE BROADWAY INC. 30 East Broadway