NUMBER 19

Soph 'Top Hat' Takes Social Spot Tonight

Swanky, Modern Ballroom Is Setting For Class Informal; Cheney on Program

The sophomore class tonight steps into the limelight with its annual informal, the "Top Hat." McArthur court will be changed into a swank and modern ballroom, with a huge canopy forming the ceiling. Fifteen chandeliers will be lowered from this throwing silhouettes of "Top Hats" upon the dancers.

The "Top Hat" motif is being adopted from the picture of the same name which opens tomorrow at the Heilig theater. Dance music by Art Holman and his orchestra will feature numbers from the picture. Holman's trio—Ned Gee, Bruce Higby, and Ed McKinney—are working on new arrangements of vocal numbers from the picture. Cheney Will Dance

Ed Cheney, whose dancing at the Oregon-California rally was so popular, has been brought down from Portland as a featured entertainer. Cheney is a former University of Oregon student and has until recently been touring as a member of Ed Wynn's company. Cheney has prepared several dance numbers from "Top Hat" to give at intermission time. He will also give several original routines which he has shown only at Princeton. He promises that they are something entirely new that have never before been seen in the West.

Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's service honorary, has chosen this dance as the time when several sophomores will be tapped to pledge the society. Enough sophomores will be pledged to bring the organization up to its full strength.

Star Sends Letter

Former Student Visits on Campus

Returning from a month's visit in the east and middle west, G. Richard Eckman, former University of Oregon journalism student, is visiting the campus this weekend. Eckman was active in newspaper correspondence work while attending the University and engaged in newspaper work on Seattle and Los Angeles dailies.

He is now Oregon general agent for the Yeomen Mutual Life Insurance company and is planning to open a branch office for his company in Eugene within the next thirty days. While in the middle west Eckman spent a week in Des Moines, Iowa, attending the national convention of the Life Underwriters' association. He is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Theta Sigma Phi Initiation Sunday

Honorary Adds 14 Women Journalists

Initiation for 14 members of Theta Sigma Phi has been set for Sunday morning at 9:30. The ceremonies will be held in the journalism building in the atmosphere of the newspaper. A breakfast at the Anchorage will follow initiation.

Journalism majors who have distinguished themselves in newspaper work and are being recognized by the national professional honorary in journalism are: Phyllis Adams, Margaret Petch, Eleanor Aldrich, Corinne LaBarre, Virginia Howard, Dorris Holmes, Mary Graham, Virginia Endicott, Mildred Blackburne, Jane Bishop, Hilda Gillam Buel, Laura Margaret Smith, Dorothy Dill, and Henryetta Mumme.

The first project for the new and former members of Theta Sigma Phi this year will be to aid the school of journalism faculty in sponsoring the high school press conference to be held on the campus November 1 and 2.

Forum Will Hear Walter Sunday

W. P. Walter, secretary of the Eugene YMCA, will speak to Westminster forum Sunday evening on "Was Jesus a Pacifist?" The forum meets at 6:30, preceded by a tea at 6.

Takako Nakajima, Japanese student on the University of Oregon campus, will address the morning group at Westminster house at 9:45.

Veteran Cast Chosen For Guild Theatre Play

After three weeks of competitive tryouts, Otilie Turnbull Seybold, director of the drama division, has announced the complete cast for the forthcoming University theatre production of Robert E. Sherwood's rollicking comedy, "The Queen's Husband."

All the members of the cast have done previous work in the University theatre, with the exception of George Smith, new Ashland normal "find," and campus theatre-goers will find many of their old favorites in the production, the first under the University theatre's new playing schedule. Under this plan the play will open for two nights, Friday and Saturday, November 15 and 16 and performances will be repeated on the same evenings the following weekend, November 22 and 23, in the

ROTC Officers Appointed By Col. Murphy

23 Advanced Cadets To Lead Military Unit; Hibbard Is Named Colonel

Twenty-three advanced military students were appointed cadet officers yesterday afternoon by Col. E. V. D. Murphy, head of the University of Oregon reserve officers training corps.

Selections are made from senior military students on the basis of past record, length of time in the military school, and general achievement. A few junior students are included among the appointments.

Hibbard Ranking Officer

George Hibbard, student in law, rated the title of colonel, the highest given to cadets. Hugh McCredie, junior in law, received the next highest position, that of lieutenant colonel. Three students, Tom Aughinbaugh, head of Scabbard and Blade, James Blais, president of ASUO, and Marvin Stroble, junior in business administration, were appointed majors.

Nine became captains. They are Wilfred Kenna, Forrest Kerby, Frank Michek, William Patrick, Howard Patterson, Norman Reynolds, William Summers, Robert Thomas, and Otto Vonderheit.

Command Underclassmen

Four, Lauren Buel, Charles Means, Willis Paddock, and Francis Wall, are now first lieutenants. Worth Chaney, William Moore, Alvan Parker, James Pigg, and William Schloth received the rank of second lieutenants.

These appointments are partially honorary and partially practical, according to Colonel Murphy. Cadet officers direct the drill of sophomore and freshman students.

ROTC Units Drill For Armistice Day

Drill will be the major occupation of ROTC students during the next two weeks. Work on marching will be speeded up to get the students in shape for the Armistice day parade, according to Col. E. V. D. Murphy, head of the department.

One of Sergeant Blythe's freshman courses in marksmanship will be given over to drill. Although the students have not had very much practice, Colonel Murphy expects them to make a creditable showing.

Members of the University military department, together with the band, will make an important part of the parade. A large number are expected to take part as the Oregon State game, November 9, will keep students in Eugene for the holiday.

DeBusk Recovers From Illness

Dr. E. W. DeBusk of the school of education, has been seriously ill and confined to his home with an attack of influenza.

Dr. DeBusk expects to return to school on Monday, October 28.

Oregon-UCLA Game Today to Be Charted On Board at YMCA

A broadcast of the Oregon-UCLA game will be given in the YMCA hut this afternoon. Accompanying the broadcast, a chart has been prepared upon which the position of the ball will be charted at all times. All University of Oregon students are invited to attend.

YMCA Council Is Reinstated

Old Frosh Traditions May Be Revived

Green lids and the freshman handbook, as well as other neglected frosh traditions, may be revived as a result of increased activity on the part of the recently organized Frosh council.

The council will make a report at the YMCA cabinet meeting Monday at 3 o'clock in the Y hut on its action in reviving these and other traditions. If they are to be revived it is probable that the green lids, missing for several years, will be worn this year. However, the freshman handbook would not be published until the fall term of 1936.

Frosh council, almost extinct and practically inactive for the past two years, was re-organized last Tuesday as a unit of the YMCA. Charles Devereaux is president of the group, and Cosgrove LaBarre and Avery Conds are upper-class advisers.

Reports from the international relations committee and plans for the organization of a radio committee and a library committee are among other matters which will be considered by the YMCA cabinet Monday. The radio committee, if it is organized, will have charge of the radio at the Y hut and will advertise valuable programs which students may wish to hear. The library committee will try to make arrangements with the library to have books loaned to the YMCA in the same manner as living organizations obtain them.

Phi Delta Kappa Schedules Gould

H. R. Gould, superintendent of public schools, will speak on the "Critique of the Progressive Education Movement," Monday, October 28, at 7:30 in Gerlinger hall.

His talk is being sponsored by Phi Delta Kappa, men's educational honorary, which is sponsoring a series of public meetings during the year of 1935-36 on the general theme of the "progressive education movement and its local implications."

Rumor NYA Will End Unfounded

The rumor that all federal relief will end in December, including student work, is absolutely unfounded, according to J. O. Lindstrom, University cashier. No such report has come out of a University office.

NYA checks will be paid as soon as word is received from federal headquarters at Washington.

Sorority Honors Province Director

Mrs. Homar A. Mathieson, province director of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, has been a guest at the local chapter house since Wednesday, October 23. On Friday evening a formal banquet was given in her honor, with members of the faculty and alumnae of the sorority as guests.

Pi Lambda Theta Sets Banquet Date

Pi Lambda Theta, women's educational honorary, held a regular business meeting the evening of October 23, and definitely set the date of their Founders' day banquet as November 23.

Names for new members were also submitted. Voting will take place at the next meeting, to be held November 7.

Oregon AAUW Holds Meet On Campus

Neophytes, Orate; Successor of Sex Is Debate Issue

At noon yesterday in what threatened to end in a riotous free-for-all, eight eminent experts, each proficient in his own line, debated long and violently on the subject: "Resolved that X should be abolished in collegiate circles." The contest took place on the steps of the old library and a goodly crowd was there to boo or applaud as each notable point was brought out.

The eminent, Sigma Delta Chi pledges in disguise, wore top hats, derbies and pajamas on this memorable occasion.

Judging by the applause of the crowd the negative won by six boos and a cat-call. This team consisted sometimes of four and sometimes of six members—the differing notables changing sides according to the immediate issue in question.

"What comes after sex?" was the main topic brought out. After a bitter debate the teams finally agreed that seven was all it could be.

Bossing Will Not Return on Nov. 1

Contrary to previous reports, Dr. Nelson L. Bossing of the school of education, who is recuperating from a major operation, will be unable to return to school November 1, but hopes to be back sometime around the middle of November.

In the meantime Dr. R. U. Moore, principal of University high school, has been placed in charge of Dr. Bossing's classes.

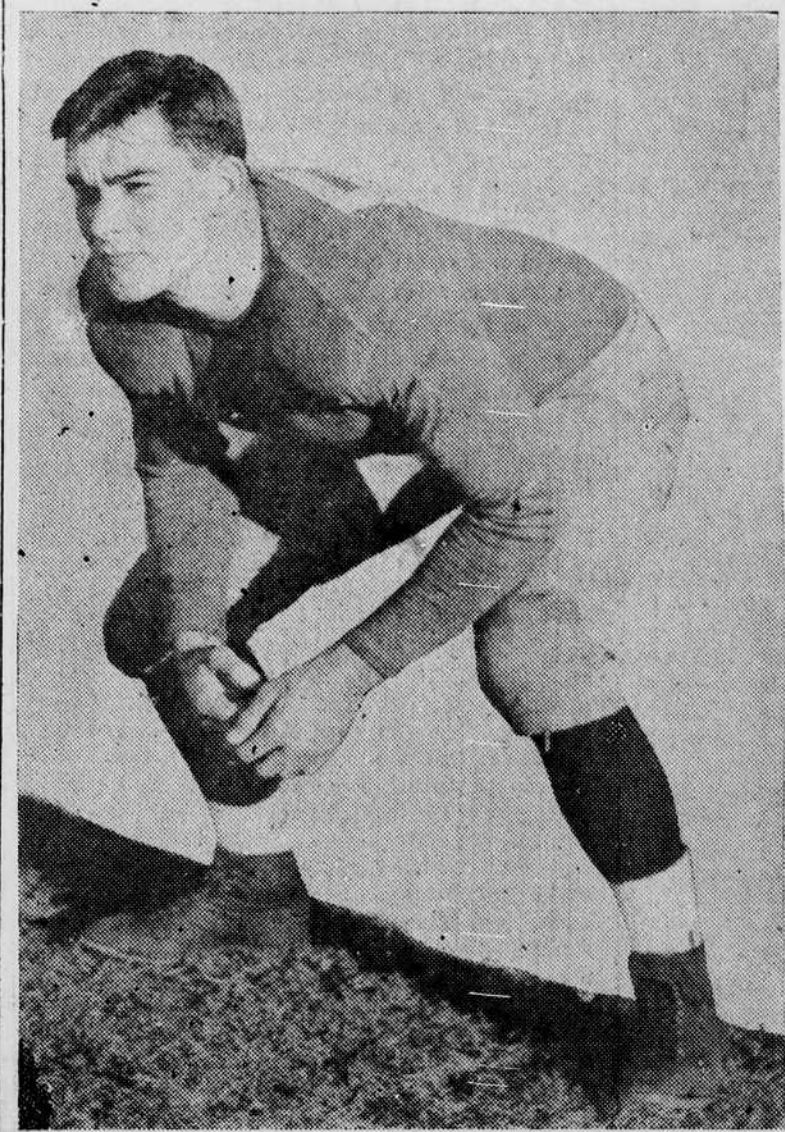

Dr. Bossing has kept in touch with his affairs from his home through both Mrs. Lucia Leighton, secretary at the school of education, and Dr. Moore.

Renner's Mother Burned to Death

Word was received in Eugene this afternoon of the death of the mother of Joe Renner ASUO president last year. Mrs. Renner, a telegram stated, was burned to death while visiting in North Dakota with a daughter.

Renner flew from Philadelphia, where he is in army training, to be present for the funeral.

Frosh Captain

Meryle Peters, ex-Jefferson high grid star, who led the yearlings against the rooks last night. He holds down the right tackle post in the frosh forward wall.

Fourteen Men Enter Contest

Rhodes Scholarship Orals Begin Sunday

Fourteen Oregon candidates have entered the annual contest for the Rhodes scholarship, according to Mrs. Clara Fitch, secretary of the graduate division of the University. The examinations will begin Sunday afternoon at two o'clock with each candidate being given approximately half an hour of actual questioning.

Besides these, two other candidates not in Eugene have been recommended by the committee: James W. Burke, a student at the Portland medical school, is being allowed to omit this preliminary exam, having won his way into the district contest last year.

The committee has recommended that Lloyd Humphries, '35, be admitted to the Indiana state contest because of recognition won by him in the district examination last year. Humphries is at present taking advantage of a fellowship awarded him by the University of Indiana after his graduation here.

FORMER STUDENTS MEET

Peter N. Root, '24, Bakersfield, California, recently attended a short post-graduate course given at the Stanford university medical school in San Francisco. In a letter to the alumni office he says, "... found there, besides Ken Cook ('23 graduate who is practicing near him) Sol Weil and Glen S. Morgan, all of the class of '23. Looked almost like an Oregon reunion."

Sherwood Eddy Here Thursday

Noted Traveler Back From European Tour

Sherwood Eddy, world traveler, author, and lecturer, will speak before a general assembly on the campus at some time Thursday. Eddy will be in Eugene but one day, and may be available for some other engagements.

Eddy has just returned from making a study of the political and economic situation in Europe in a walking tour through Russia, Poland, Germany, Austria, France, and Great Britain. He has also studied the recent development of the League of Nations. He and his fellow traveler, Samuel Franklin, held intimate conferences and personal interviews with many statesmen, economists, officials of Europe.

Dr. Eddy graduated from Yale in 1891, and in 1896 he went to India where he studied fifteen years, experiencing many interesting adventures, and witnessing many important political developments. Dr. Eddy is the author of some twenty volumes.

Johnson Hall Janitor Reported Improved

Charles Dennison, janitor of Johnson hall, who was burned early this week when a steam pipe broke in the basement of the building, is reported to be much improved, and will return to work sometime next week. He has been at the University infirmary since his accident.

Norway and Russia Draw Praise of Dr. Ray Bowen

The magnificent scenery of Norway and the remarkable preservation of the Russian palaces and museums were selected by Dr. Ray P. Bowen, professor of romance language, as the most outstanding memories of his recent five weeks cruise in Europe.

"The scenery in Norway is as beautiful as that of Switzerland. The fjords run inland and are often surrounded by mountains seven or eight thousand feet high. The fjords are like finger lakes; being very deep they offer an ocean liner passage for 150 to 200 miles inland.

"At Oslo there is a museum where three of the original Viking ships are preserved. The curve of the prow is extremely artistic and delicate, so much so that modern artists would be proud to equal it," Bowen said.

Copenhagen and Stockholm have the most modern buildings in Europe, the architecture being the best seen by Dr. Bowen on his entire tour. Helsingfor, noted for its very tall gilded church spires, was another of the Scandinavian cities advanced in building development.

When Dr. Bowen approached Leningrad through the Baltic sea the ship had to pass 24 Russian warships before it could enter the harbor. The Hermitage in Leningrad is the best art gallery in Europe, and according to Bowen, the gallery's grand stair case is worth the trip alone. In the Hermitage is the best collection of Rembrandt and includes some of the best Italian and Spanish work.

Rooks Hand Duck Frosh 9-0 Beating

Alexander Leader As OSC Yearlings Win; Nicholson and Peters Look Good

Led by a tow-headed little man by the name of John Alexander, and a tough smashing fullback sporting a glamorous high school reputation—Ben Ell, the Oregon State rooks last night flashed everything from a single wing back formation to the famous USC squirrel cage shift to beat the erratic Oregon frosh 9 to 0.

Playing with their backs to the goal line clear through the first half, the frosh resorted to the kicking of Dave Gammon in a desperate effort to stem the bustling, heckling rooks. But early in the first quarter, Don Coons, left end for the rooks broke through and blocked Dave Gammon's kick, sending the ball far over the end zone securing a safety for the rooks.

Ell Fumbles at Crucial Moment

With two points starting them in the face the frosh still couldn't get out of the hole of their own territory and were saved from further humiliation when Ben Ell fumbled the ball on the frosh two yard line at the opening of the second quarter. Tony Veranda grabbed the free ball and fought his way out of the Oregon end zone, giving the ball again to Oregon.

In the second half, a frosh team displaying excellent physical shape, jumped into an offensive game and ran up six first downs while the

O'Connell Makes Radio Survey

Kenneth J. O'Connell, professor of law, returned from Portland yesterday where he has been gathering testimony from radio engineers to contest the operating of a Utah station on the same frequency as KOAC, Oregon state college station.

As it is believed that the proposed Utah station will infringe on KOAC territory, which extends into eastern Oregon, Prof. O'Connell will prepare a brief next week which will be sent to Washington along with other testimony for hearing before the federal communications bureau.

Bible Discussion Group Has Meet

The Bible discussion group led by Glen Griffith, YMCA secretary, got under way Thursday night with about ten students present. The group, using "The Bible and the Quest for Life" by Bruce Currie as its text, discussed the first chapter, "When the World Goes Wrong," at its initial meeting.

Next meeting is scheduled for a week from Thursday night. All students welcome.
