Oregon & Emerald

PUBLISHED BY THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF OREGON University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon

EDITORIAL OFFICES: Journalists building. Phone 3300— Editor, Local-354; News Room and Managing Editor, 355. BUSINESS OFFICE: McArthur Court. Phone 3300—Local 214.

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

MEMBER OF MAJOR COLLEGE PUBLICATIONS

Represented by A. J. Norris Hill Co., 155 E. 42nd St., New York City; 123 W. Madison St., Chicago; 1004 End Ave., Seattle; 1031 S. Broadway, Los Angeles; Call Building, San Francisco.

Eldon Haberman Business Manager Clair Johnson Managing Editor

Charles Paddock News Editor

Marge Petsch Women's Editor

The Oregon Daily Emerald will not be responsible for returning unsolicited manuscripts. Public letters should not be more than 300 words in length and should be accompanied by the writer's signature and address which will be withheld if requested. All communications are subject to the discretion of the editors. Anonymous letters will be disregarded.

The Oregon Daily Emerald official student publication of the University of Oregon, Eugene, published daily during the college year, except Sundays, Mondays, holidays, examination periods, all of December except the first seven days, all of March except the first eight days. Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice, Eugene, Oregon. Subscription rates, $2.50 a year.

The Faculty Should Vote on Military

A LETTER written by Professor Waldo Schumacher, member of the faculty committee on military education, printed elsewhere on this page, indicates that this committee itself is not clear on its delegated powers. For example, from a report of the committee, made last June-"it (the committee) should not attempt at this time to commit itself to a definition of conscientious objection, but should decide each case upon its merits looking primarily to the sincerity of the petitioner.'

The committee has reported that in view of the fact that the faculty has voted to retain compulsory drill it "should not adopt general policies which would make military education in fact optional. However, this is not interpreted as prohibiting any action in individual cases which the committee thinks is warranted by the particular circumstances."

The Emerald feels that with such indefinite power, and with issues so poorly defined it will be impossible in the future to avoid troublesome objections from those who desire exemption on grounds other than those specifically delegated as legitimate.

Also in view of yesterday's action taken by the Oregon senate's committee on education recommending optional drill, the faculty of the University should restate its position as to the desirability of the optional or compulsory drill in order to aid the legislative bodies of the state in determining just what is desired or considered prudent by educators at the University of Ore-

The Emerald asks that the faculty, in its meeting of tomorow, declare its stand again on military education and clearly define the powers of its committee on military education.

The Emerald also suggests that prior to the voting on military education, a careful check of the voting eligibility of the present faculty members be made so that a reccurence of last year's difficulties may be avoided.

Is Joe College Still With Us?

students contemplate?

In attempt to find out, a survey of University men and women was undertaken this term. "What do you value most highly in life?" was the question asked, and the results were not encouraging. While not scientifically conclusive, the answers given tended to prove that the majority of students had not considered the problem at all. They believed happiness to be their goal, but were quite vague as to the means they proposed using to attain that state.

After a few minutes of concentration the largest number of students decided health most important in their lives. Other votes went for security, an adequate philosophy, independence, family, travel, and writing skill.

It was found that the coeds questioned were inclined to react more definitely than the males, choosing work on particular newspapers or in fields of endeavour. There were more "career" enthusiasts among women than the men.

American higher education has made much progress since 1929 toward eliminating the deadwood Joe College members from our universities, but it is still true that our students are not as serious-minded as those in European countries. We no longer place a premium on sluggish mentality, but neither have we learned the art of reflective thinking.

"I am entirely convinced that what is more than anything else lacking in the life of the average well-intentioned man of today is the reflective mood," Arnold Bennet has said. It would seem the duty of the university student in particular to sponsor that reflection. He it is to whom the world will turn for guidance, and it is therefore essential to the welfare of his country and his own mind, that he know where he is going and why.

Radio Opens Up The Mike

To be introduced in the next congress are two bills dealing with the use of radio broadcasting stations for the expression of public opinion. The more important of these bills provides that each station set aside-free-suitable periods of the day and evening for uncensored discussion of social, political and economic problems and for educational purposes. Each station is also required to allow at least two sides of a controversial issue to express their opinions. Stations, but not speakers, would be cleared of liability for remarks made.

Radio comment has heretofore been censored quite successfully, not by any governmental agency, but by profit-producing buyers of advertising. Their argument is that if they sponsor a program and pay for it they should have the right to determine what is said. Consequently certain groups have been able to steer radio's Newspapers have long since opened their columns to contributions from readers with differing opinions on controversial subjects. On the whole, results have been beneficial. Radio, a younger medium of reaching the public, is apparently nearing this stage.

The bill represents an attempt to break down this censorship by allowing diversified expression of opinion. But here it lays itself open to abuse by the economic and political fallacies to which America is subject. Every demagogue with some sort of a plan would resort to the radio for a free opportunity to get himself before the public.

Sufficient regulation and enforcement used in the right direction, however, would tend to eliminate such instances by disproving fallacious ideas and arguments of such individuals, resulting in more sound and crystallized public opinion.

Please Hon, Board A Real Thanksgiving

PERHAPS we're all wrong about this thing, but for a good many years we've cherished the belief that Thanksgiving is the sort of a holiday that one spends at home. The very word "Thanksgiving" conjures up visions of mother and dad-mother shooing intruders out of the sacred precinct of her kitchen-dad beaming proudly as he waves the all mighty carving knife over the savory, golden-brown treasure of turkey.

But if the powers-that-be have their way, mother and dad will eat a lonely feast this year, for their sons and daughters at Eugene and Corvallis will be given cuts for not attending classes on the Friday following Thanksgiving. Educators mourn the drift of youth away from home and fireside. But those who direct higher education in the state of Oregon have seen fit to keep students away from their homes at one of the times when the students want to go home worst.

Many students will take two day's cuts and go home anyway. But many others have classes on Friday and Saturday that they can't afford to cut. Will the dismissal of classes on the two days following Thanksgiving seriously hinder the completion of any term's work? We don't think so.

The proper place for young men and women to spend Thanksgiving is at home. We hope the board will consider this carefully.

When ex-Mayor James J. Walker returned from abroad he was met on his arrival at New York by some who insisted that he could again be elected mayor. But Mr. Walker magnanimously exclaimed that he had "had his day-now it is someone else's turn." What insight! What con-

Europe Firsthand

By Howard Kessler

THE only thing honest about Marseilles is its dishonesty.

Chicago decries its tough reputation, Marseilles glories in hers.

Postcards picture a good housewife warning her husband, "But surely you aren't going down to the docks without a pistol?" The citizen of Marseilles replies, "Do you think I'm going to carry my new pistol down there, when I have just paid 100 francs for it?"

I'm still wondering why I decided to get a haircut in this chiselling metropolis. While the personable Gascon had me down I received a shampoo, eau de cologne, electric massage, and a complete course in practical salesmanship, and when I dazedly reached the street again it was less two dollars.

The only thing for which you may get value received in Marseilles would be stamps, and I'm not sure some enterprising business men don't take the mucilage off them before putting them

Having read "The Count of Monte Cristo" in Spain, I was ready for the Chateau d'If, the fortress and prison in the bay of Marseilles made so famous by Dumas' novel. Depending on the price you want to pay, you will be rowed or motored around the island in half an hour. Then, you guide will trye to sell you some postcards, but not of the Chateau d'If.

France is the robber state of Europe, spoiled by the booming post-war trade, and although The gold no longer pours in, you would never guess it by looking at the menus. Any meal you buy for less than a dollar isn't to be trusted. Hotels, too, charge outrageously, since you may be the only guest they have had in a week.

Attended a dull revue my evening in Marseilles and left at the end of the first act, to visit a huge fair that had spread its tents over several acres of ground close to the city center. It most astonishingly resembled a Barnum creation, and the only reminder I had that this was not America was the absence of hot dogs. Fritters took their place.

Thus far I had seen little of the toughness that draws tourists to this great port, but at midnight I left the caliopes, side show barkers and brazen hubbub of the fair, to wander down toward the infamous dock district.

After the broad, lighted streets, the maze of foul alleyways now entered came as a sudden plunge into a tunnel. All sound was blotted out. lights were infrequent, and one stumbled over great heaps of stinking garbage littered across the narrow cobble-stoned lanes, sending massive cats scurrying from their noctural feasts. The silent darkness became oppressive. Footsteps clomped along the uneven stones, a figure loomed ahead, came up, and passed, peering closely at

Then a broader street. More life, a few sailors brawling, the place reeking with harlots, lurid but ugly, who grab you roughly by the arm and try to pull you into their webs. The hardier hags put up a good fight, and there were some interesting tugs-of-war staged, but no spectators could be attracted. Everyone seemed to have his own troubles, only the sailors had lost their chivalry and led with straight lefts when apprehended. That saved time.

Paris is a nice town too.

The Marsh of Time

By Bill Marsh

weren't fooling after all!

Tailspin!

Lucas has given us a new colloosened filling or two.

Navigation Note

has installed a fog horn on the starboard side of the entrance channel. Mariners will have to feel him credit." their way in and out of the place just as they have been doing for vears.

The Literary Digest tells of a wanted to marry a rather impelad. He claims he can support my fourth stanza? nancing. It must be revolutionary fine fertilizer. to say the least."

FREDERICK M. DUNN

they may have "sung for their chart." Our seal might justly have read "Ruritania Oregonensis."

globes, 2 large maps, 1 anatomical unseen."

supper," yet had not the where- them his memoranda, and took withal. The Class of '78 was grad- what they offered, almost as we uated upon a diet provided by "2 boys used to swap knives, "sight quent appeals for necessary appar- sextant, the transit instrument, atus, and the Regents' Minutes are the astronomical clock, the odo-replete with very much itemized lite, and all "to be put under glass

And finally, since it is said that the second floor." To be sure, ref-the fervent, effectual prayer of erence is made to some broken in-the righteous availeth much," with struments and the need of their heroic resolve, the Board in its being repaired, but what was this session in June of '78 appropriated curious contraption? An air pump the sum of $4,000 and despatched with bell globe to fit down over the Secretary, Judge Joshua J. the disk, in which to produce a Walton, Jr., on special embassage vacuum. But this alarm clock?

to the Atlantic seaboard to select Joshua looked at his notes: "That,"

$4,000! — from which $119.75 out,—to demonstrate that sound were subtracted at once by Ladd can not travel through a vacuum."

and Tilton, Bankers of Portland. Dr. Mark Bailey coughed, almost as the price of discount and ex- strangled, abruptly left the room.

change on New York. And that The alarm clock was never dis-left only ---, but the Judge did played, not even when we began

If this latter day Joshua ever THORNE'S TANGLED TALES.

not smoke and this was two years to think of a museum.

"How can he eat without any

A JOKE ON JOSH:

knife?

wife?"

the purchases.

after the Centennial.

Again I See In Fancy

red sunsets like that in Oregon.

The Credit Side

Mussolini has already paid $3.20 umn. If this first issue turns out for each Italian soldier he has bad, don't be alarmed. We stepped shipped through the Suez canal. on a sheet of ice about five min- And the return fare is just the utes ago, and executed the finest same. You'd think Il Duce would self-administered body slam of the petition for a discount on roundyear. The crash would have addled trips. But then, maybe he's satisour brains, had we any brains to fied with the discount he'll get on be addled. Fortunately, however, the soldiers who won't be coming the brunt of the blow was taken back. No sense in buying roundon the back of the head, resulting trips for those poor beggars whose in nothing more serious than a bodies will stay in Ethiopia and rot under an African sun.

There is absolutely no truth to is too honest to steal. He's too It is my opinion that this is clearthe rumor that the College Side proud to beg. He's too lazy to ly a substitution of courses. If work. And he's too broke to pay this can be done for those who cash. That's why we have to give play in the band why not for those

Verse Control

From the Ohio State Journal: There is a movement under way to wealthy father whose daughter get a grant of federal funds for State Senate the relief of needy poets. Why cunious young man. Said the fa- don't they put them under control ther, "I'm rather interested in the of the A.A.A. and plow down every daughter on $18 a week. I've never | Seriously, though, we feel that been able to do it, so I think I'll the "Journal" has something there. let the young devil marry her. I Some of the poetry we've been want to study his method of fi- reading lately would make mighty wrote his version of this more modern hexateuchal jaunt, it has that the good Judge "came, saw,

The apparatus arrived, was un-

(Next in the series HAW-packed with breathless eagerness

No, Elmer, that isn't the Dean Can this be Jack Mulhall coming, of Women's lookout. That's the or is it just the sun setting? It's scaffolding for the new library.

Professor's Letter

Dear Sir:

In reporting the decision on the Connelly case, your news column Gosh, maybe the Sigma Nus | Mulhall, you goof. They don't have carried the statement that "the faculty committee on military education refused to exempt, etc. . . To grant Mr. Connelly's request

. . . is not within this committee's authority. This statement should have read, "The committe, with a dissenting vote, refused, etc. . . .

It is my belief-and I so argued and so voted—that the committee on military education is at the present time doing the very thing which they claim they have not the power to do, that is, substitute a course in lieu of military training which was the basis of the ap-

At the present time, the fresh-Says a merchant in a college men and sophomores who play in town: "The average college student the band are given military credit. who play in the orchestra-or for other courses.

Waldo Schumacher.

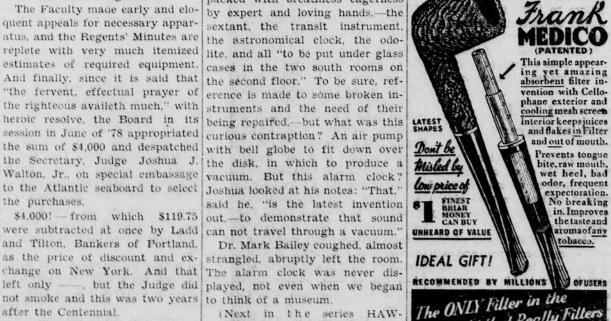

(Continued from Page One) the ROTC course for his second year, following the faculty exemptions committee's second denial of his petition, which presented an

Two years ago the faculty was called upon to consider recommending voluntary drill to the state board, but defeated the motion by a comfortable margin. Last year 500 students petitioned the faculty for another vote, and the count was thrown into a deadlock and lost by the negative vote of President C. Valentine Boyer. Motion Tabled

In spite of agreed irregularities in the original vote, the faculty suffered some furious deletions. It tabled the motion to revote.

is not spread upon the Minutes editorial page the third annual vote How can he marry without any and was conquered." No connoisof the faculty to clear up the isseur in scientific apparatus, but sues of definition of "conscien-The dignified five that composed with a list in his pocket, it would tious," discrimination between reour First Faculty, melodiously as seem that, with unswerving faith ligious and intellectual objections, in his fellow man, he approached and substitution of other courses. two firms in Philadelphia, gave

CONVERTS BEGINNERS CONVINCES VETERANS!

Editor, the Emerald:

plicant's petition.

Very truly yours.

intellectual instead of a conscientious objection to drill.

Today the Emerald urges on the

FILTER-COOLED

World that Really Filters

Listenin

By James Morrison

Emerald of the Air

today and will introduce Rose- barber shop to be shaved. Mary O'Donnell, who will play some classical piano selections. Radio Deals that these instrumentalists have Brazil" also will be offered. mastered his own rather intricate arrangements. Then he works in turn with the woodwinds, brasses, and percussion groups. Finally he assembles the entire band and starts all over again.

YOUR ...

Fannie Brice, popular comedienne, will be heard tonight at 10:15. Miss Brice and the Old 'Maestro are expected to discuss the personal assets and liabilities of a certain New York columnist.

Tommy Harris, Little King of Song, has radio's largest collec-Yesterday afternoon Miss Patsy tion of razors; he owns 25 or so Neal conducted the Emerald pre- of all types; electric ones, importsentation over KORE, in lieu of ed ones, old-fashioned, straight-Radio Editor Woodrow Truax, who edge, razors that slide, roll, sharpis unfortunately in the infirmary. en themselves, and do everything Miss Neal will again have charge except sing . . . yet he goes to the

Radio Deals

"Life of Star in the Night," a Rubinoff's orchestra is the most number which Sigmund Romberg thoroughly rehearsed concert band composed for radio last year, will in radio, according to Rubinoff. He be revived on the Swift Studio begins rehearsals early Friday party program tonight at 7. Two morning, but not with the entire other Romberg compositions, orchestra. He works first with the "Grenadier March" and "Bachelor string group until he is satisfied Girl and Boy" from "The Girl from

(Continued from Page Three)

Campus Guide

FOR HOMECOMING For the Women-

For the Men-

- An excellent haircut.
- A clean cut shave. • A good appearance.

Oregon Barber

Shop Next to College Side

• Individual hair cuts. Clever hair arrangements. · A place you're proud to be seen. Kramer Beauty

Salon 1258 Kincaid

COMPLETE Our First

We carry a complete line of all grocery needs for all the students. We cater to the student trade and appreciate their business

> EAST 11th GROCERY 11th and Patterson Phone 389-M

HOMECOMING On the Oregon Campus

Excellent plate lunch for 10c. Delicious hamburgers 5c.

> FILLING STATION 825 East 13th

It's Our Eleventh Homecoming Anniversary.

We've been serving Oregon students for eleven years now, so bring the grads down to see us.

CHARLIE ELLIOTT'S UNIVERSITY BARBER SHOP

Sid 'n Walt Say:

"HOMECOMING is here. Bring the grads down to see us. "Whatever the occasion, the you should ALWAYS BE COM-ING to see us for your

CLAYPOOL, VAN ATTA DRUGS 886 E. 13th Phone 1086

Clean Up

HOMECOMING is hereso clean up, press up and pep up for the grads. "Cleanliness is next to godliness," says Jimmie Blais, so for the love of Jimmie keep clean.

University Cleaners On Thirteenth Phone 3141

IT'S HOMECOMING FOR YOUR SHOES

 Men's half-soles 60e-$1.25 • Ladies' half-soles 49e-$1.00 We Cater to the College Students

Howard Shoe Shop

CLOTHES OUT

A regular $4.95 zipper jacket for only $1.00 with the purchase of a CKB suit.

This is your homecoming, students, take advantage of UNIVERSITY TAILORS Phone 2641

On the Campus

For your convenience our gas station is located on the campus—ready to serve you and the grads that are coming.

VARSITY SERVICE STATION 2 block west of College Side.

HAIRCUTS

that fit big and small; fit like the paper on the wall.

VARSITY BARBER SHOP