

Deadline Nears

Deadline for ASUO members to secure reserved seat tickets for the OSC game closes tomorrow. Get them at Igloo.

Mums and Donuts

Unless Webfoot males have strong resistance they'll all be wearing donuts in their lapels and munching mums before today is over.

Bedlam, Cars Featured at Noise Parade

Rally Dance No-Date Affair; Parade Over In Time for Dancing At Gerlinger Hall

The annual student noise parade will sound off at 7 p. m. Friday at 13th and Kincaid streets. With horns blaring, whistles tooting, sirens screaming the parade will wind its way downtown. This year the rally committee has announced the revival of the former traditional award to the loudest noise car.

Each house is asked to prepare a "noise car." Saws, bells, triangles, kettles, drums, any noise making contraption can be used and placed on a trailer, trucks or car. The rally committee does not want houses to go to any great expense but asks them to throw together anything they have on hand to make a racket with.

Bedlam Cars Planned

The houses will follow their respective "bedlam cars" in the parade. The first car for each house will carry the name of the house and will be the car judged in the contest for the "noisiest noise!"

Other cars in each house will fall in line behind their contest car.

The rally committee announces that the parade will be over in time for students to get to the dance at Gerlinger hall. This dance has been scheduled as a no-date affair. The charge will be 25 cents a person.

Emerald Staff Turn Firemen

Emerald staff members turned firemen about 9 o'clock last night, when a smoldering fire was discovered by Velma McIntyre, senior in journalism, in a single car garage directly west of the University press.

The fire had started down next to the ground, and was slowly burning the compo-board walls, and had caught on some of the timbers, when Miss McIntyre sounded the alarm. Quick action by staff members stopped what in another ten minutes would have been a blazing fire. Cause was undetermined.

Campus Calendar

Men's and women's rally committee will meet at 9:30 Wednesday night in the College Side.

Law students graduating this year who are not members of a living organization are asked to have their pictures taken immediately at the Kennel-Ellis studio for the 1936 Oregonian.

Girls scheduled to sell doughnuts at campus stands today listed on page three.

"The Queen's Husband" first rehearsal of the entire play will be held tonight at 7:15 in the Guild theatre. "Soldiers" come at 8 o'clock.

Master Dance and Junior Master Dance meet tonight at 7:30 in the dance room of Gerlinger. All members are asked to be on time.

All Oregon women students are invited to attend the style show at Gerlinger hall at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Mail has been received at the dean of women's office for the following people: Jean Peterson, Norma Jacobs, Dorothy Richards, Mary Culoan, and Mrs. William G. Wade.

Westminster Old Testament study group will meet tonight at 9 at Westminster house. Rev. Herbert Higginbotham is leader.

All freshman women selling doughnuts today please be prompt in keeping appointments at your booth.

Paul Grace Trial May Close Today

Dist. Attorney L. L. Ray Presents Evidence

Freedom or one to five years imprisonment will be meted out to Paul Grace, alleged campus bandit, whose trial for grand larceny will probably be completed today in the circuit court of Judge G. F. Skipworth. The argument on the defendant's motion for a directed verdict, made at the close of court yesterday afternoon, will begin the action at 9:30.

The prosecution rested its case with the adjournment yesterday. District Attorney L. L. Ray, presented the evidence against Grace and attempted to prove him guilty of entering the home of E. H. Hall on October 3 and stealing $300 in jewelry. Defense Attorney Fred E. Smith is endeavoring to free the defendant, Grace, through his directed verdict action.

William Shepherd, law, and Abram Merritt, business administration, were student witnesses yesterday. If the defense does not receive a directed verdict William Sanford, Walt Roberts, and Harold Hanson will testify for the defense today.

Doctor Laidler To Speak Nov. 19

Dr. Harry Laidler, prominent economist, will lecture here November 19 on the subject "Socializing Our Democracy." Laidler, together with Norman Thomas, socialist, is an executive director of the League for International Democracy, and was formerly chairman of the national bureau of economic research.

Dr. Laidler has been one of the chief economic advisors of the Socialist party, being head of the committee which drew up that party's platform in 1932. His many books have placed him in the first ranks of American economists and have made him a recognized authority in his field.

He has spoken before forums throughout the country and at almost every important university.

Art League Elects Officers for Ball

Marjorie Miller was elected secretary-treasurer, and Kermit Paulson was made chairman for the Beaux Arts ball at a meeting of the Allied Arts league yesterday afternoon.

That the Arts league sponsor a social meeting about once a month was suggested by Dave Arnold, president of the group, and met with favor by the members.

The date of the ball will be announced later.

Graduate Journalist Makes Campus Visit

Chi Sung Pil, former Korean baseball star of the University, and graduate from the school of journalism in 1925, stopped yesterday in Eugene to visit his alma mater and to renew acquaintances with old friends. He plans to stay over the homecoming week-end, "To see Oregon slap the Beavers," he says.

Pil is a wholesale dealer in oriental novelties, having his office in San Francisco. However, he spends most of his time on the road, covering a territory of nearly forty states.

Saturday Game Starts at 2:00

Contrary to other reports, the Oregon-Oregon State game will start at 2 o'clock Saturday, Hugh Rosson, graduate manager, announced yesterday.

Students must reserve seats before the deadline 4 o'clock Thursday as all remaining tickets will be put on sale Friday morning.

RAE LEAVES ON TRIP

Professor Arne Rae, of the school of journalism, left yesterday morning on a business trip to Salem and Portland in the interest of the Oregon State Editorial association of which he is field manager for this district. He was accompanied by his wife.

Fighter

John Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers threw the recent AFL convention at Atlantic City, N. J., into an uproar when he and William Hutcheson, president of the carpenter's union, became embroiled in a fist fight on the convention floor.

Faculty to Postpone Military Question

Legislature's Action

The faculty probably will not consider the question of military training today when it convenes in regular monthly session, it was learned last night. The Emerald's editorial plea yesterday for a vote to clarify the issue in the interests of impending state legislation, brought response from several professors.

Interested faculty members cited that body's ruling which compels a month of consideration before new business can be voted on. Most professors also expressed hesitancy, and were inclined to wait until after the state legislature's action before taking a stand.

May Reach Floor

There is still a possibility that a resolution favoring optional drill may reach the floor today, but it will be tabled and cannot be voted on until the December meeting.

Meanwhile the state senate's bill prohibiting compulsory military training still lay on the table. Reported out favorably by the education committee Monday it was immediately tabled in the senate chamber and will probably not be considered until late this week.

Salvation Army Drive Starts

Funds for the Salvation Army began rolling in yesterday as the speakers' committee swung into action for a heavy student drive.

Al Davis, chairman of the speakers' committee is taking charge of the drive and has organized a house-to-house canvass. Dean Karl Onthank is the faculty committee-man. All funds will be turned in to him.

Tugman to Speak Before Editing Class

William G. Tugman, managing editor of the Eugene Register-Guard, will address the members of the class in editing today at 9 o'clock. His subject will be "Understanding Events."

Tugman, in a recent speech, condemned a number of policies in the American educational system for being incompatible with an understanding of history in the making. His speech today will explain his theory.

Baritone Solo to Be Luncheon Feature

Wayne Gilfry will play a solo on the baritone horn at the meeting of the Luncheon club at the Y hut today. His selection will be "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," an American fantasia by Edwin Franco Goldman.

The group, which meets each Wednesday for lunch, plans to have dancing as recreation after lunch in the near future.

Caswell Gives Science Lecture

Slide Illustrations Used for Explanation

"The Universe Around Us" was the topic Dr. A. E. Caswell, professor of physics, delivered to about 75 people last night at Villard hall concluding the second of the series of popular science lectures.

Dr. Caswell incorporated the use of 108 slides illustrating astronomical phenomena, explaining each. The lecture began with the heavenly bodies immediately around the earth and later explained the nearer stars.

He pointed out the relationship between the earth, moon, sun, and planets and explained the source in which they are believed to have originated.

Dr. Caswell also gave an interesting description of "sun spots," telling how they ran in cycles of 23 years and how this phenomena seems to affect weather conditions on the earth.

The history of the telescope and its importance was included in the lecture.

Sigma Delta Chi To Hear Duniway

Willis Duniway, '31, head of the Salem office of the United Press will appear as speaker at a dinner meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism honorary, Friday evening, November 15, at the College Side Inn.

Duniway is a graduate of the school of journalism, a member of Sigma Delta Chi, and a former editor of the Emerald. Since his graduation he has served on the editorial staffs of the Oregonian and the News-Telegram in Portland, and a year ago replaced Virgil Pinkley in Salem, when Pinkley was transferred to Rome to serve as United Press correspondent there.

Laborers Must Be Union Men

A request was received yesterday by the United States employment office from Ross Hammond, contractors in charge of construction of the new library on the University of Oregon campus, that all laborers as well as carpenters must be union men.

The employment office is in charge of furnishing the PWA labor to be needed in building the library. Common laborers receive 50 cents per hour and carpenters receive $1.20.

Youth Democrats To Have Discussion

S. Eugene Allen, University of Oregon student, will discuss the current session of the state legislature at a meeting of the Young Democrats tonight at 7:30 in the Osburn hotel.

A special election will also be held by the organization at tonight's meeting to select a vice-president to replace Merlyn Blais, former journalism major at the University, now working on the Grants Pass Courier-Journal.

Stylist Arrives Today; Will Display Fashions

Enchanting as any movie queen herself, Miss Hollywood Junior, creator of cinema fashions, will arrive on the campus today, where she will be presented by the Philomathean charm school in a fashion promenade, in the Gerlinger alumni hall at 4 o'clock.

This noted designer, whose real name is Jule Baum, takes pointers from the gowns of the most famous screen stars, then discards details which are too exotic for normal good taste. Each one of her creations is given a special name to fit its individuality. Miss Baum will display everything from an amusing military costume for campus wear to a black velvet cocktail suit.

Ten girls on the campus have been selected to model for the fashion show. Each will wear two different outfits. The models are:

Annual Mum Sale Campaign Begins Today

Marjorie Will Heads Last Sale Committee; Representatives For Houses Listed

The annual Oregon-Oregon State game mum sale, headed by Marjorie Will, begins today. Marjorie will be assisted by Elizabeth Turner, in charge of the sales among the fraternities, and Genevieve McNiece in charge of the sororities. The money collected from the four-day sale, the last day of which is for the alumni, will be turned over to the AWS loan fund.

The girls in charge of the various house sales are as follows:

Council Delays Action on Frosh Lids Question

No definite action was taken on adopting green lids for freshmen at the special meeting of the Frosh Council yesterday afternoon in the Y hut. Reports received from members present, however, indicated that the frosh hats will be revived. Final decision will be made at the next regular meeting of the group at 3:30 Tuesday, November 11.

According to Dudley Miller, vice-president of the council, other traditions such as keeping off the grass and not walking on the Oregon seal near Villard, will be revived if favorable action is taken by freshmen on green lids.

"There will be no element of compulsion in this," he declared. "We are trying to make the frosh hats as much a badge of honor as cords are to upper classmen."

Phi Delta Phi Will Entertain Alumni

Phi Delta Phi, national law honorary, will entertain two of its alumni, Professor Orlando J. Hollis, and Professor Carlton E. Spencer, at their weekly luncheon which will be held at 12 o'clock today at the College Side.

Guest speaker, L. G. Lewelling, circuit judge of Linn and Marion counties, is unable to attend but has accepted an invitation to a later meeting.

All members who find it impossible to attend have been asked to communicate with Otto Vonderheit.

Roosevelt Reviews Canal Defenders

After reviewing the United States troops at Fort Clayton in the Panama Canal Zone, President Franklin D. Roosevelt expressed his "recognition and appreciation of the fine soldiery" of the canal's defenders. Flanked by President Tarmodio Arias (left) of Panama and Colonel Edwin Watson, his military aide, he is shown standing at attention during the reviewing ceremonies.

Eddy to Speak At Gerlinger

Forum Will Follow Thursday's Talk

Europe's rapidly changing governmental and economic patterns will furnish the threads from which Sherwood Eddy will weave a tale of civilization Thursday, when he addresses a student assembly on "The Meaning of the Present World Situation." This famed world rover will appear in Alumni hall of Gerlinger at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

As Mr. Eddy led his annual peace seminar across the high spots of Europe this summer, he held intimate conferences and personal interviews with many of the statesmen of that continent. Economists, government officials, all gave Mr. Eddy their impression of the world scene. He became acquainted with the prime minister of Great Britain, the viceroys of India, Mahatma Gandhi, Kakawa of Japan, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of China, and others.

He has visited Russia 12 times, summing up the experience in his books, "Russia Today: What Can We Learn From It," and "The Challenge of Russia." Mr. Eddy is also the author of a half dozen other popular volumes. He spent 15 years in Y work in Asia, and has traveled extensively in the Far East.

Mr. Eddy travels with his fellow-worker, Samuel Franklin, who handles discussion and forum groups. He will conduct a forum in Alumni hall tomorrow following the lecture.

Cold Spell Breaks; Crops Damaged

A decided "break" in the cold spell which has gripped the state since the snowfall of last Thursday morning was apparent yesterday when warmer winds swooped down upon the county, although a sharp tang was still to be noted in the air last night.

Considerable damage to root crops and trees in this region has been wrought by the frigid weather which saw the thermometer twice sink to the 15 degree level.

Phi Beta Group Holds Social Meeting

Phi Beta, the national music and drama honorary for women, held a social meeting Tuesday evening at Gerlinger hall.

Members of the group contributed numbers to the short program. Those entertaining were: Evelyn Erickson, who gave a piano solo; Marie Leonard, Julianne Fortmiller, and Kay Washburn who presented a skit; and Marian Brookings, who gave a reading. The program was concluded with a piano solo by Lucille Beall.

Optional Fees Law Pigeon-Holed

Public May Vote on Question in November

Optional fees lay in the recesses of a dark Salem cubby hole today, following action by the house of representatives steering committee Tuesday, when it summarily surrounded with silence Senator Burke's proposed law to make optional the payment of student body fees in the state's institutions of higher learning.

The bill, which passed the senate Monday by a 16-10 vote, found its temporary resting place when the house steering committee refused to report it out. It is problematical whether or not it will reach the floor of the lower house this session.

Should it be lost in committee, the optional fee proposal will go before the electorate of the state in November of 1936 as the result of a referendum campaign carried on last spring when nearly 16,000 names were gleaned in a drive to get the issue on the ballot.

Peace Clubs Refused Slogans

Peace organizations of the University of Oregon and Eugene will not be allowed to carry slogans if they march in the Armistice day parade. The refusal was made by Con Dillon, general chairman of the Armistice day celebration, after the Student Christian council had applied for the privilege of taking part in the parade.

As a result of the refusal, the American League Against War and Fascism, has applied to the chief of police for permission to parade immediately after the main procession.

Discussion Group Meets at 8 Tonight

Anette Surdam's discussion group will meet this evening at the YWCA at 8 p. m. The time of the meeting has been advanced an hour, previously being held at 9 p. m.

Members of the discussion group will go to the Carnegie music library where selections will be played during the evening hour. All campus women who are interested are invited to attend the informal meeting tonight.

Westminster Club Supper Sponsors

A potluck supper tonight at 6 will replace the regular Wednesday meeting of the Westminster '38-39 club. All underclassmen are invited. Students should bring either a covered dish or 10 cents.

Signs to Greet Grads During Homecoming

Two Loving Cups To Be Awarded; McMorran's, Heilig Offer Other Prizes

A lavish display of mechanical signs will greet the returning alumni this Homecoming weekend, if indications evident in various living organizations in the preparation of their projects carry through as already started.

Dorothy Ann Clark and Reed Swenson, co-chairmen of the signs committee, have announced that two Homecoming silver loving cups are to be awarded to the men's and women's living organization having the best sign in action by Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Prizes Listed

For second prize, McMorran and Washburne has offered a $5 merchandise ticket and the Heilig will admit all members of the living organization which places third to their theater.

Judges have been announced by the committee as: Mrs. R. U. Moore, Mrs. Virgil D. Earl, Karl W. Onthank, Wayne Morse, and N. B. Zane.

Expense Limit $15

Expense accounts which are not to exceed $15 are to be turned in to the committee before the deadline Friday.

Qualities to be taken into consideration by the judges are: originality, mechanical structure, including time spent, and effort, relation to Homecoming, and general effectiveness.

Dean Will Miss Annual Game

For the first time in many years, Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the school of social science, will miss the annual homecoming game on the University campus.

Dr. Gilbert, long a favorite speaker with grange groups, will address the Deschutes county Pomona grange at Bend next Saturday—the date of the annual little civil war between Oregon and Oregon State. The speaking engagement, made during the summer months, was arranged before it was realized that Oregon's homecoming was the same day.

He will be introduced by S. Eugene Allen, secretary of the local grange and an Oregon student.

Infirmary Filled To Near Capacity

With the exception of Barbara Ketchum, most of the students at the infirmary are suffering from trivial colds and sore throats. Mrs. C. C. Ketchum of Vale, Oregon, is here to be with her daughter until she improves. Doctors said last night that Miss Ketchum was better and as much improvement as could be expected had been shown.

Those on the sick list last night were: Dorris McConnell, Dorothy Wall, Muriel Homer, Lorraine Space, Dorothy Carlton, Rupe Park, and Jack Bryan. Three students left the infirmary yesterday.
