

It's This Way

By Marge Petsch

What is so bitter as the life of a columnist?

When powers-that-be finally decided we were healthy enough to leave the protecting walls of the infirmary, we hid ourself away across the campus, suitcase in hand, coat tight about neck, hat over eyes, tongue in cheek. So intent were we upon defying nature and tramping in the snow that we had a head-on encounter with a so-called "friend." Friend so-and-so looked astonished when we told her where we'd been. She gasped, "You don't mean to say that you were telling the truth in your column yesterday, do you?" With downcast eyes, we admitted the sin. We had actually been in the infirmary; no gag, no joke, no nothing.

But such a wealth of presents we received while bed-ridden that we are highly tempted to have a relapse. We wish to thank publicly all the persons who so kindly sent us 2 cosmos; 1 Shasta daisy; 1 garden variety horseshoe, quite rusty, but hefty; a cross-word puzzle; one picture, and one package of gum. Nicest, of course, was a gardenia.

The day after we were released none other than Bert Moody, chairman of the women's rally committee, advanced upon us with an intent look in her eye and demanded if we had any suggestions for women's rally stunts. We thought deeply for a moment, and then suggested a private women's rally, to be attended only by women. That gives one such a splendid assurance of having every man on the campus present.

Our idea was well accepted, but we understand that it has been discarded now in favor of the general rally for "everybody." Therefore, good-sportish to the last, despite our trampled feelings, we urge all women to attend the event, and to rally, rally, rally. Main objective: To outyell Bert Moody.

Marjorie "Ginger Whiffy" Willis is grubbing about the campus these days mumbling such things to herself as "Mum's the word, Mum's the word." Marge is in charge of the mum sale which started yesterday morning, and she promises bigger and better and yellower mums, with shinier and greener ribbon. It seems that the thing to do is to break down.

Be a lady and use a mum!

Homecoming Dance Main Social Event Of Weekend; Plans Kept Strict Secret

"Just picture a penthouse—way up in the sky—"

And you will be at the Homecoming dance, annual alum-feting affair which will be held again this year in McArthur court, Saturday evening, November 9.

Although decorations are being kept strictly secret, the information did leak out that porch swings will be available for all those interested in resting from the activities of the dance. The color scheme is even being kept quiet so everyone will just have to wait and see how the dance committee has outdone itself this year.

Extra special features are planned for the intermission, but these will be revealed only at that time.

McGowan's Orchestra
Buck McGowan's orchestra will furnish the sophisticated music appropriate for the affair.

Committees for the dance are as follows:

Stanley King and Elinor Norblad, co-chairmen; Louis Rotenberg, construction and decorations; Mary Webster, music; William Hutchinson, programs and tickets; Anne Hounsell, patrons and patronesses; Blain Ballah, clean-up; Leroy Mattingly, publicity; and Elinor Higgins, secretary.

Tri-Delts Plan To Celebrate Anniversary

Theta Delta chapter of Delta Delta Delta will celebrate the 25th anniversary of its founding on the University of Oregon campus this weekend in conjunction with its Homecoming festivities.

The anniversary banquet will be held Saturday evening, and initiation and a breakfast-luncheon will be featured Sunday morning.

Miss Lillian Siegler, Spokane, presided at the installation of this chapter 25 years ago, and will be present to do the honors Saturday evening. Mrs. Donald Stevenson, Portland, first charter member of the chapter, will make the presentation from the Portland alumnae. Mrs. T. Dayton Davies, district adviser from Seattle, will speak on national founders' day.

Mozelle Hair To Talk

Miss Mozelle Hair, Eugene, will relate the founding of the local chapter. Miss Hair was the second charter member here. Mrs. James H. Gilbert, also a charter member, of Eugene, will tell of the achievements of this chapter. Mrs. Donald Stevenson will give the toast to the actives, and Miss Dorothy Anne Clark, chapter president, will give the toast to the alumnae.

The initiation will be held at the chapter house at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning, and the breakfast-luncheon to follow will be held at the Osburn hotel at 11:30 o'clock.

Miss Elinor Stevenson and Miss Maluta Read of Eugene are co-chairmen for the affair. They will be assisted by Mrs. Walter Socolofsky and Mrs. James H. Gilbert, chapter advisers; and Miss Dorothy Anne Clark, president. The banquet committee consists of: Mrs. J. W. Silva, Mrs. Roy Stien, Miss Elaine Comish and Miss Jean Ackerson.

Paper for Event

Registration will be handled by Miss Eleanor Schroeder and Miss Geneva Stafford. Mrs. E. W. Ellis and Miss Lorraine Beardsley are in charge of housing. Mrs. Charles Adams, Miss Rosalie Steinmetz, and Miss Jean Stevenson are the breakfast-luncheon committee. Miss Henrietta Mumme and Miss Doris Bailey are publishing the paper which the chapter is putting out for the two-day event.

Miss Roberta Buchanan, Miss Helen LaFollette, and Miss Dorothy Griffin are managing initiation.

Theta Alums Visit Chapter
Kappa Alpha Theta alums met with the active members of that sorority Tuesday evening at the chapter house for a 6:30 dessert.

Dachshunds Are Rivals for Flush

Because Flush, famous spaniel pet of Katherine Cornell, can't stand travel well, two rivals have won a place in his mistress's affections. America's premier actress is pictured on her arrival at New York with two dachshunds that filled stay-at-home Flush's place while she was vacationing in the Tyrol.

Alpha Chi Pledges Dine

Alpha Chi Omega pledges gave a dinner for the members Wednesday evening at the chapter house. The table featured the football season.

Back at the Beta house

Chuck Reed seemed to be amusing himself but not Phyllis Cory, while Harold Sexton with Betty Graham was amused at practically everything. (Oregon coeds, he holds, are not a far cry from the sleek-eyed native girls of Hawaii.)

Portia Booth Takes Pin

At the Kappa Sig affair was Portia Booth, recently decorated with the Kappa Sig medal for valor in battle. The ceremony had been performed some time before by George Brice, captain in general. All of which reminds one that the errant pin of Bob Marks has at last alighted upon the corsage of a certain Florence Smith.

Grizzled loggers, brandishing axes and declaring their Bunyan ancestry to the skies, gave the ATO dance a somewhat sinister aspect Saturday night. Art Dixon, recently arrived from the Orient, was demonstrating that when at the ATO house do as the Chinese do. People seemed to be taking his advice.

Mishler-Holman Wedding Is Held In San Francisco

Miss Catherine Mishler, of Eugene, became the bride of Arthur Holman, San Francisco, Saturday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock at the home of Rev. and Mrs. H. R. White.

Mrs. Holman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mishler. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Shore Mishler. Lester Skipton acted as best man.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Holman attended the University of Oregon. They will reside on Fairmount boulevard in Eugene.

Saturday Night Dances Offered Fun for Kiddies

A little overwhelmed by the general back-to-nature movement was the spectator at large Saturday night. Amid the rustic settings of the manger and the great outdoors, many were the individuals who felt and acted on primitive impulse. Ned Simpson and Elaine Goodell, the latter charming pigtailed and field-flowers, provided excellent entertainment in the line of dancing for guests at the Beta barn dance. Quite different in the line of dancing for guests at the Beta barn dance. Quite different was the spring dance performed by Cy Cook and Tony Lucas over at the Chi Psi lodge where a vestige of dignity yet remained, and Ben Chandler, serene and kindly, served orangeade from a bar embellished with empty beverage bottles of questionable character.

Mum Sales Contribute Money to Student Loan Fund; Men Borrow Most

By E. JUDITH WODOEGE

Mum sales made their appearance on the Oregon campus 12 years ago. At first mums were worn only by the active students, later the alumnae donned them for the football games, and now they are worn by all women rooters of Oregon not only at the games but also at the annual Homecoming dances.

The Associated Women Students, sponsors of the mum sales, deposited their proceeds with the foreign student loan fund until 1931, at which time the AWS loan fund was instituted. Today the mum sales, next to the annual AWS carnival, contributes more money to the fund than any other single campus feature.

First Emergency Fund

It is interesting to note the growth and circulation of this loan fund which originated four years ago as an emergency fund to which any University girl could apply for 30-day loans for any amount up to $30.00 or an equivalent sum to pay tuition and fees. The steady increase in deposits soon outgrew the demands of the girls, so men are also allowed its privileges now. Although the women students are served by it first, it was found that men draw the majority of the loans.

Men Borrow Most

From July 1, 1934, to June 30, 1935, 593 loans were made, 355 of which were to men and 238 to women. The most attractive feature of the fund is its ready accessibility. The borrower may obtain his or her money immediately after applying for it in the office of the dean of women. A service charge of 25 cents a month is made.

The grand total of $2007.03 was the deposited amount from November 1, 1934, to October 31, 1935. Actual amount not in use on October 31 was $108.32. This fund is widely and generously used, and the actual total on hand varies from day to day.

Jane Autzen Wed In Portland Rites At Parents' Home

Miss Elizabeth Jane Autzen, who attended the University of Oregon last year, became the bride of Ralph P. Woodbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney F. Woodbury Sr., at a small wedding Saturday, October 26, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Autzen of Portland. The service was read by Rev. Oswald Taylor.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely dress of imported white duchess satin, featuring a long court train, long sleeves and square neck. From a coronet of rose point lace her long tulle veil fell gracefully. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Annabelle, was her only assistant.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury left immediately following the reception for a wedding trip in the north. Upon returning they expect to reside in Eugene, Oregon.

Phi Mu Officer Visits

Mrs. Vobina Keller, Phi Mu national executive secretary, was a guest of the local chapter for Tuesday luncheon and dinner.

Fashion Show Gets Approval Of U.O. Coeds

By HELEN FERGUSON

Creations of Miss Hollywood Junior, noted fashion designer, were modeled by a Universal Pictures actress, Miss Marion Shilling, at the fashion show presented by the Philomatele charm school yesterday afternoon in Gerlinger hall.

The actress-model, first wore a delightful turquoise crepe dress with gold, bar buttons and a gold buckle. This was one of Miss Hollywood Junior's latest creations and had not been given a special name. The girl suggesting the most appropriate name to fit the individuality of the dress will be awarded this lovely creation in whatever size and color she wishes. The drawing will take place December 21, in the "Rendevous Shop" of Olds, Wortman, and King in Portland.

Miss Hollywood Junior, whose real name is Jule Baum, was introduced to the large assembly of University girls by Margie King of Olds, Wortman, and King publicity department. Miss Baum gave a short talk on dress designing. Miss Hollywood Junior styles are inspired by the gowns of the cinema actresses and starlets. The screen stars' clothes, however, are too extreme and exotic for practicability and wearability. Miss Baum's creations eliminate the exotism without losing the essential feature of all smart clothes—chic.

The most exciting dress was "Song of India" modeled by Marion Shilling. It was an evening dress of the very, very new paisley pattern print on a silk background. The only trimming was a flame colored velvet sash, which blended into the flared panel in the back of the skirt.

Several of the evening dresses were of slipper satin, the same material that your best slippers are made of. Alpaca is very smart this season. Also, magic mountain crepe and metallic jersey.

A number of Oregon coeds also modeled ensembles.
