Final Run

"The Queen's Husband" plays its final showing tonight at the University Theatre.

STAGE of the WORLD

By Tex Thomason

Poll It

The returns on the Literary Digest poll are beginning to come in. It would be nice for the Republicans if a return were conclusive, but for the while at least there will be no call to strike up the band.

Georgia, Oklahoma, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri are the states which have voted thus far. The first two went pro-Roosevelt policy by slim margins, the last three anti-Roosevelt policy by equally slender margins. Result: 53.28 per cent of the votes cast so far answer negatively the Digest question, "Do you NOW Approve the Acts and Policies of the Roosevelt 'New Deal' to Date?"

What It Means—

Just what does this poll mean? Nothing so far as the re-election of the man with the smile is concerned. It is fairly accurate, yes. It has a fine record of successful auguries. To be sure. But this poll is worded in such a way as to elicit negative votes. "Do You NOW Approve the Acts and Policies of the Roosevelt 'New Deal' to Date?" All inclusive is that question, and it is limited to "acts and policies." Many people will vote for Mr. Roosevelt who don't approve of his policies. Many will vote for him who don't approve of the New Deal in any respect. They will vote for Roosevelt the man. That is the fault of this latest poll—it is not a vote on candidates.

Above All

Much more serious in the eyes of the President and his political seers than magazine polls is the buffeting of Administration laws at the hands of the courts. The AAA, the Utility Act, and the Guffey Coal Act will all ultimately pass in review before those nine stern-visaged old men. The Agriculture Adjustment Act is already in the court. The others are on their way up after being beat to their knees by a barrage of lower court reversals. Whether the fanning of the New Deal seconds will be good enough to carry them through the final round is a question puzzling the seconds more than anyone else.

Backbone

These acts are the very backbone of the present Administration. The real question then haunting the recently renovated house of the Chief Executive is just what condition that backbone will be in when the chiropractors of the Supreme Court finishe kneading it—not how his policies are going to stack up in a straw vote.

Dahlberg Goes To Cottage Grove

In an effort to further advance the campaign for the sale of Christmas seals, Dr. W. A. Dahlberg, of the speech department and also Lane county chairman of the Oregon Tuberculosis association, will speak before a general audience at Cottage Grove, Monday, November 25, on the subject of "Public Health."

According to Dr. Dahlberg, an active seals sale campaign will be started immediately following the Thanksgiving holiday, with the contact of living organizations as active part of the program.

Onthank to Continue Discussions Sunday

Dean Karl Onthank will lead a discussion of the "Fine Art of Living" at the morning group at 9:45 Sunday at Westminster house. This is the third in a series of discussions on religion and the development of personality.

Everett Cole will lead a discussion for the forum at 6:30, with a solo by Keith McMillan. A tea at 6 will precede the forum.

Six thousand miles from home is Douglas Davis, Ohio Wesleyan frosh. He lives near Peking.

Indication of returning stable business conditions is seen in the increasing amount of gifts to colleges and universities.

R.F. Maguire Talks to Law School Today

President of Bar Association to Be Honored Guest at Faculty Luncheon

Robert F. Maguire, president of the Oregon state bar association and a prominent Portland attorney, will be honored guest today at a luncheon given him by the law school faculty at the faculty club.

Mr. Maguire is scheduled to speak at 10 o'clock under the joint sponsorship of Phi Delta Phi, law honorary, and the student body of the law school. Phi Delta Phi members will be guests at the luncheon.

Talk Subject Given

In his lecture the speaker will present the organization and purposes of the newly organized Oregon state bar association which replaced the old organization at the last meeting of the association. It will be the first of a series of talks sponsored at the law school throughout the year.

Mr. Maguire is a graduate of Georgetown university law school. He is a former assistant United States attorney and has held numerous notable positions throughout the state as well as on the Oregon state bar association. At present he is head of the law firm, Maguire, Fields, and Morrison, of Portland.

Anyone who is interested is invited to attend his lecture this morning according to Bob Marks, president of Phi Delta Phi.

Church Supports Optional Military

The Eugene Congregational church publicly declared itself in favor of optional military training yesterday with the release of local returns on the national peace plebiscite. The vote was: for abolition of compulsory drill, 87; against abolition, 46.

Ninety-seven of the 147 voting declared they would not support their government except after every other method had failed or when the country was actually invaded. The vote on a larger army, navy, and air force was 21 yes, 101 no.

Persons between the ages of 15 and 20 constituted the largest age group in the local poll, casting 44 votes. Nation wide figures on the plebiscite will probably be released soon.

Junior Cadets Are Uniformed

Forty-two junior ROTC cadet officers received their uniforms during the week. They consist of service cap, coat, and trousers. The juniors have been without them since the beginning of the term and were unable to march in the Armistice day parade, because of this fact.

State Exam Group To Meet Monday

The state reviewing committee for public school examinations through the first eight grades, of which Dr. Nelson L. Bossing, of the school of education, is a member, will hold its final meeting in Eugene, Monday, November 25.

It will criticize and revise the examinations already formulated and tried out on children by the examination committees, utilizing the results of these tests to guide it in its decisions, before sending them to the publishers to be printed.

Dorm Mothers Form Group in Portland

Mothers of students living in the men's dormitory recently organized a Mothers' Group in Portland. The first meeting was held at the home of Mrs. I. Lubersky and the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. E. Truby; vice-president, Mrs. I. Lubersky; secretary, Mrs. W. O. Hall.

Direct Townsend Plan Campaign

As 6000 delegates to the first Townsend Plan national convention returned from Chicago to their homes, Dr. F. E. Townsend's chief aides, Robert Earl Clements and his wife, Thelma, shown here in a new picture, turned to intensive work for the coming campaign to elect congressmen favoring the movement for $200 monthly pensions for all citizens over 60. Clements, national secretary, is in charge of national headquarters in Washington.

Students Will Hear de Villiers

Guest Professor Will Address Assembly

Cornelius de Villiers, visiting professor from South Africa, will address a general student assembly Tuesday in Gerlinger hall at 10 o'clock on "Student Life in South Africa." Classes will be dismissed for the assembly.

Dr. de Villiers, who is dean of sciences at Stellenbosch university in South Africa, is on the University campus for a month under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Several classes have heard Dr. de Villiers talk on matters of science and international problems. This weekend he is conducting a science conference on the campus.

Gilbert's Finance Article Is Printed

Dr. James H. Gilbert, professor of economics, had a three page article entitled "Probable Trends in Municipal Finance" published in the November issue of the monthly magazine "Western Cities."

In the article Dr. Gilbert makes the startling statement that municipal expenditures have out-run the state and national expenditures in the past 25 years.

He ascribed this to increased growth of cities, but predicts a stabilizing of growth in the future, in all but the western cities. He states that these will continue to develop in the future when the others have ceased, because of the many undeveloped resources of the West.

Episcopals Give Radio Program

Wilhemina Gerot, member of the University of Oregon women's debating team, will be featured on Saint Mary's Episcopal Fellowship radio program next Sunday evening from 7:15 to 7:30 over KORE. Miss Gerot has chosen "Thanksgiving Observances" as the subject of her talk.

Carol McFall will read vocal selections, and Eugene Allen, president of the group, will act as announcer.

Kelley Is Father Of Eight-Pound Son

Captain Edward Kelley, instructor in military science at the University Reserve Officer Training Corps, was presented with an 8-pound son Thursday evening at 12 o'clock.

The mother and the new Kelley are residing at the Pacific hospital.

Campus Groups Hear Miss Strack

Student Union Leader Addresses Classes

Yesterday was a busy day for Miss Celeste Strack, UCLA student leader and proponent of an American Student Union. At 9 a. m. Miss Strack answered questions before the editing class, outlining the history and purpose of the American student movement. At 10 o'clock she spoke before Prof. R. R. Martin's sociology class.

About 50 students heard her speak at noon before a joint session of the YMCA and YWCA luncheon clubs. After a busy afternoon she was entertained at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house during the evening, where she spoke and answered questions.

Thursday she addressed a joint session of the local chapters of the National Student League and the League for Industrial Democracy. She spoke in the evening in Villard hall. She was a guest of the students' cooperative house for dinner Thursday.

Miss Strack expects to leave for California early today, where, after visiting several campuses, she will go east to attend the National student league convention, and, following it, the Unity convention of both the NSL and SLID.

Morris Selected Oregon Delegate

Dr. Victor P. Morris has been appointed the official delegate of the University of Oregon to the thirteenth session of the Institute of World Affairs to be held at the Mission Inn, Riverside, California, December 15 to 20, under the auspices of the Los Angeles University of International Relations of the University of Southern California.

Nineteen universities already have named delegates to the 1935 institute which will present outstanding authorities on national and international problems.

Collins' Article Is Published in London

An article, "Our Overlooked Tercentenary," written by Nelson Collins, former professor in English at the University, appeared in the November edition of the Cornhill Magazine, London publication edited by Lord Gorell.

Collins is at present advisor of the Chinese embassy in London. He is well known here among the faculty.

A survey of the 34 men who have captained University of Vermont football teams reveals most of them are outstanding successes.

Leaflets advertising a Nazi book were found inserted into a standard German text at CCNY recently. They were removed and ordered destroyed.

Northwest Gridiron Supremacy At Stake In Duck-Husky Tilt

Raising Cain Again

Jimmy (Sugar) Cain, stellar University of Washington halfback, caught in mid-air in a shot taken during the Montana game. Latest reports from Seattle indicate that although injured in practice during the past week, Cain will see plenty of action against the Ducks today.

Company A Leads In Rifle Practice

Donald Edge Makes Best Score of Day

Company A of the freshman ROTC students took the lead yesterday in the rifle shooting by turning in four excellent targets. Although the group as a whole was the best, Donald Edge, of Company B, made the best individual record.

After three days of shooting, 241 freshmen have made targets. About 30 have displayed better than average skill. Most of these, according to Sergeant Blythe, who instructs the freshmen in marksmanship, have had previous experience.

The leaders yesterday were: Company A—Stanley Warren, James Taylor, Jim Seater, Kenneth Walker; Company B—Donald Edge, Edward Volkstorff; Company C—Irving Johnson, Letelle McCoole; Company D—Kenneth Leatherman, Kenneth Marple; Company E—Alan Long, Melvin Olson, Byron Minnis.

The ones showing the most promise will be asked to turn out for the rifle squad, Sergeant Blythe said. Blythe, who coached the team winning national honors last year, is looking for new material.

Naomi Tobey Will Lead Wesley Club

"Practical Prayer" will be the subject for discussion led by Naomi Tobey at the regular meeting of the Wesley club Sunday at 6:30 p. m., in the club rooms in the basement of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Immediately preceding will be the fellowship hour at 5:45.

All students of college age are cordially invited to attend Mr. W. P. Walter's class, which is studying the "Personality of Jesus." The class meets at 9:45 Sunday morning.

Ethiopian women are being armed for war. So as not to aggravate the horror of the next war, it is hoped Haile Selassie does not fit them out with umbrellas.

Oregon on Short End of Odds for Battle Today With Northern Eleven

By PAT FRIZZELL

Oregon's Webfoots and Washington's Huskies will clash on the turf of the University of Washington stadium at Seattle this afternoon in a 30th renewal of the Pacific Northwest's greatest gridiron classic.

When the opening whistle sounds at 2 p. m. the football championship of the northwest will be on the block. As if the victory alone were not enough, to the winner of today's titanic struggle also goes undisputed title to pigskin supremacy in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana.

Both Teams on Edge

As always in this biggest tilt of all, both Webfoots and Huskies are on edge, stamping at the bit, ready to knock each other off the football horizon. Everything in the book has happened in previous Oregon-Washington games and anything may today.

Washington is a definite favorite. As to that there is no question, for the Huskies have on paper a more potent aggregation than the Ducks and everywhere they are being quoted on the long end of 2-to-1 odds.

Ducks Planning Upset

Odds are nothing at all to Prink Callison's crunching crew, however, and the Ducks have definite plans of knocking the vaunted Husky from his pedestal and packing his pelt back to Eugene.

Loss of Lief Jacobsen, expected to start at right end, who underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday, will merely spur the Webfoots to greater heights. Budd Jones, regular all season at the right wing spot, may be able to work most of the game. If he can't, elongated Leonard Holland is on hand.

Power vs. Deception

All indications point to a struggle between tremendous power and tricky, deceptive speed. Oregon, led by Frank Michek and Bob Braddock, will furnish the power element, while Washington, with rubber-armed Byron Haines and Jimmy Cain in leading roles, will supply the deception.

A punting duel between Oregon's Stan Riordan and Washington's Elmer Logg, two of the most proficient artists of the boot in the nation, is certain to be one of the main attractions of the contest. Their marvelous toes may turn the tide of victory either way.

Last Conference Game

For both elevens, it will be the season's final conference engagement. At least 30,000 fans are expected to turn out to witness the grand finale of northwest gridiron activity for 1935.

Probable starting lineup:

Oregon	Washington
Riordan	LE..... Lazarevich
Bjork	LT..... Bond
Carter	LG..... Spher
Moore	C..... Wiatrack
Amato	RG..... Starcevic
Skinner	RT..... MacKenzie
Jones	RE..... Markov
Reischman	Q..... Logg
Lasselle	LH..... Haines
Braddock	RH..... Cain
Michek	F..... Nowogroski
