

STAGE of the WORLD

By Tex Thomason

It's Time

Time says "Names Make News." The names that are in the news most after Congress convenes belong in large part to Southerners. Most of its key men are from the South—the heart of it.

It's Said

Speaker Longworth and Rep. Garner are reported to have had a room very close to the legislative chamber itself. It is possible they could have used it for poker playing.

Amblition is a wonderful thing, but it is the reason for our Texas' other sorrow. It caused him to run for Vice-President. It caused him to be Vice-President. And what a dreary, dreary place that Senate is—worse than ever with Huey gone.

It's Joe

Few other Southerners are as colorful as Garner. As Speaker of the House there is Joseph Burns of Tennessee. He is a tall, gangling individual with eyes so deep set as to lend the appearance of not having any.

You'd never guess from this column that finals were mighty close, would you?

Plans Formed For Yuletide Revel Dance

Committees Finish Outline for Party To Be Held for All In Gerlinger Hall

A completion of plans for the biggest and best Christmas Revels party the University has ever known was made late yesterday by an enthusiastic group of students when they met on Gerlinger hall's sun porch for over two hours to make final arrangements for the gay yuletide event to be held Friday, December 13, in the women's gym, where it is expected the whole campus will turn out.

Led by Brittain Ash and Yvonne Kelker the committees consulted for two hours to draw out the best possible schemes for the event. And features galore emerged from the inventory of stock. Beginning promptly at 7:30 on the night of Friday, December 13, the Revelers will dance until Glenn Griffith and his carolers arrive to open the program with Christmas hymns.

Between dances, many features are planned, including a faculty skit led by Florence Alden of the physical education department, which is to be a surprise; the two clever pianists, Bee, and Jo Evans; six scanty Santas who will pull in a mystery Santa Claus, and then do a tap dance; Dan Chapman and his clever mummies intermixed with the jumping jack boys who will gamble with flip-flops; Ted Pursley and his guitar; and many others.

Santa is to be a grand secret which will not be disclosed until after the distribution of gifts at the Christmas tree.

Barney Clark and Bill Marsh have written the clever dialogue which will accompany each gift package personally. John Casteel will be master of ceremonies. Refreshments will be served all evening. The price of admittance is only 15 cents per person. A place has been arranged for townspeople and those who do not wish to participate actively to sit and watch. Everyone must pay the price of admittance.

Those in charge of the party are: co-chairmen, Brittain Ash and Yvonne Kelker; personnel, Richard McBee; financial, Don Farr; art, George Blais; entertainment, Harold Strawn and Margaret Reid; master of ceremonies, John Casteel; publicity, Lillian Warn; cleanup, Irma Huston and John Miller; music, Fred Giesecke; refreshments, Zelpha Huston and Ernest Savage; floor, Everett Blais; decorations, Tom Wildish and Muriel Horner.

It is planned to have a five minute act of some of the Revels numbers put on at the downtown theaters before the Friday night party to interest townspeople.

Court Asks Morse For Crime Report

Dean Wayne L. Morse of the law school has been asked to prepare a report for the interstate commission on crime on "Out of State Parole Supervision" by the chairman of the commission, Richard Hartshone, judge of the court of common pleas, Newark, New Jersey.

Dean Morse was invited to present a report at the meeting of the commission to be held in New York City December 9, but due to his law school duties was unable to do so.

Beta Pi Chapter Follows Tradition

The members of Beta Pi chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha will wear blue and grey ribbons under their pins Thursday, December 12, in accordance with an old tradition followed when a new chapter is installed.

Beta Omega chapter at Union university, Jackson Tennessee is the 72nd active chapter to be installed by Zeta Tau Alpha since its founding on October 15, 1898 at the Virginia Teachers' college, Farmville, Virginia.

Olga Jackson To Give Recital Tuesday Evening

A woman pianist whose playing possesses strength and color as well as technical accuracy will appear on the campus Tuesday evening when Olga Jackson, pupil of George Hopkins, plays in recital at the music auditorium.

Miss Jackson, graduate of the University school of music, later studied for a year at the American Conservatoire at Fontainebleau, France. She now has her own studio in Albany.

Her program Tuesday evening will include Moszowski's "Spanish Caprice," "Minstrels" and "Sunken Cathedral" by the modernist Debussy, and numbers by Chopin, Schubert, and Glinka. Miss Jackson's interpretations reflect the influence of her own striking personality, say those familiar with her playing.

Dorothy Gore, violinist, will appear on the same program, playing a Nardini Sonata, accompanied by Alice Holmback.

NYA Workers Will Be Re-Appointed

Students Not Needing Relief Must Withdraw

Undergraduate students now employed on the NYA program who find it possible to attend the University during winter term without NYA aid are expected by the NYA committee to withdraw from the relief plan. Those undergraduate students who absolutely must have work for winter term may plan to be re-appointed for approximately the same number of hours that they were assigned fall term, Earl Pallett, executive secretary, announced today.

Old students must make a grade point average of 2.75 to keep their work, and new students must make an average of 2.25. Undergraduate students who must have work for winter term should file their applications immediately in the executive secretary's office. Those who already have applications on file do not need to prepare another application. However they should see Janet Smith or Dean Earl for assignment of work.

Graduate students are not automatically reappointed to NYA work, and must get in touch with the executive secretary immediately if they want work winter term, if they do not have an application on file now. Those who have applications on file should see Miss Smith or Dean Earl to arrange for work during the term.

Call Made for Winter Projects

Deans and administrative officers supervising NYA students will receive a request early next week from the local NYA committee for a list of projects proposed for winter term.

The committee requests that these projects be outlined on the forms attached to the letter sent by them, and that it be filed in the executive secretary's office in Johnson hall not later than December 14. Early filing of the projects will make it possible for the committee to approve the projects and prepare a tentative list of students who might be used on the various projects.

Peace Bonds Will Be Sold on Campus

Peace bonds to help finance peace organizations will be sold on the Oregon campus by the Student Christian council, the council meeting Wednesday at Westminster house decided.

These bonds, in denominations of $1, $5, $10 and up, are being sold for the National Council for the Prevention of War are non-interest-bearing and never mature. Professor John L. Casteel of the speech division, is local chairman for the National council.

Financing of delegates to the quadrennial convention in Indianapolis the latter part of this month was discussed by the council in its meeting Wednesday. No definite plans were made.

Little Colonel Balloting Set For Today

Six Campus Women Chosen by Students Will Be Voted for During Winter Term

Preliminary voting for the "Little Colonel" of the Scabbard and Blade military ball, January 11, will take place today. The ballots will be found elsewhere on this page and should be deposited in the College Side before 5 o'clock.

The "Little Colonel" will be selected from the six receiving the highest number of votes today. Scabbard and Blade, sponsors of the ball, announced last night that the final choice would be made next term through campus vote.

The military honorary had previously reserved for themselves the right of making the final selection. After consideration they decided it would be fairer to let the campus make the entire selection.

Write one of the following names on the ballot below and deposit it in the College Side before 5 o'clock:

Morse to Attend Law Group Meet

Wayne L. Morse, dean of the law school, said yesterday he hoped to attend the annual convention of the association of American law schools which will be held in New Orleans during the Christmas holidays, December 26, 27, and 28. The association, he said, controls the standards of all grade "A" law schools throughout the United States.

Former conventions of the association have been held in Chicago. Dean Morse, who is a member of the committee on criminal law, attended the meetings of previous years.

Classical Club Meet Set for Next Friday

The classical club is being entertained Friday night, December 13, at the home of Mrs. Edna Landros, assistant professor of Latin and Greek. They will sing Christmas carols in Latin and put on a short medieval Latin play, "St. Nicholas." Christmas refreshments will be served.

Jazz Receives Slap by Dean Of Oregon's Music School

By GEORGE KNIGHT

"Modern jazz was made absolutely no contribution to music," stated John J. Landsbury, dean of music at the University, when asked about the subject. "Jazz puts sugar in eggs and salt in coffee and imagines something worth-while has been created," he said.

Dean Landsbury describes his attitude toward jazz as utter and humorous contempt. People who like jazz, he said, are really cat's-paws for the greasy, unscrupulous tune kings, pulling fat profits out of the carefully kindled fire of popular demand.

"The frog who has never seen the sea thinks the old well a fine bit of water. Likewise," explained the dean, "people who do not know anything about scientific and historic aspects of music, are absolutely certain that modern jazz has developed new resources and is a distinct step forward in music."

Ducks Head South for Gael Battle

Experts Pick Oregon To Topple St. Mary's; Coddling, Amato Fight For Guard Position

The football squad of mighty Oregon, favored for the first time in history to defeat St. Mary's in the annual "governors' cup" game, will leave for San Francisco at noon today.

Thirty-one players, accompanied by coaches, trainers, and managers, comprise the traveling crew. The Webfoots are to face the Gaels in Kezar stadium Sunday in the first Sabbath engagement in Oregon gridiron history.

Experts Favor Oregon

The gentlemen who guess on Saturday and gloat or groan on Monday are cannily making the Webfoots favorites on the basis of comparative scores against California. The Bears had an easy time with St. Mary's, winning 10 to 0, while they were extremely fortunate to nose out the Ducks, 6 to 0.

Another angle the "pickers" are considering is the fact that Oregon defeated Washington, 7 to 6; Washington trounced Washington State, 21 to 0, and Washington State tied St. Mary's, 7 to 7. By that method of reckoning the Webfoots should shade the Gaels by a mere matter of 22 points.

The California tilt is the only one dropped by the Gaels this season. In addition to their tie with the Cougars, they fought Fordham to a tie in an intersectional fray. Wagner Jorgensen, St. Mary's center, is an all-American, and the Moraga eleven has several other stars almost as outstanding. Captain Mal Fiese and Herb Schreiber are kingpins of a hard-driving Gael backfield, while in the line, in addition to Jorgensen, are such all-coast prospects as Eddie Erdelatz at end, Hermm Meister at tackle, and Marty Kordick at guard.

The Webfoots went through their 1935 practice finale yesterday afternoon on the turf adjacent to Hayward field, and were pronounced fit to fight. Most interesting feature of the week's drills has been the battle between Tony Amato and Clarence Coddling for the starting job at right guard. Either of the pair may receive Callison's nomination.

Discussion Held On Foreign Courts

Kenneth J. O'Connell, professor of law, led a discussion on the Japanese and Korean court system last Wednesday evening at a meeting of Phi Alpha Delta, resurrected law honorary recently reinstated on the campus.

In his talk he told of an arson case he witnessed in Korea last summer while in the orient. The Korean courts have been taken over by the Japanese. Japan proper, Professor O'Connell said, did not have jury trials until 1928.

Tales of Yuletide Dunn's Topic On December 13

The class studying the Augustan age of Latin literature taught by Professor Frederic S. Dunn, will have an open meeting at its last session, December 13, 10 o'clock, in room 107 Oregon building, he said yesterday. The hour will be devoted to a discussion of the origin of Christmas and to Christmas legends and customs.

Professor Dunn explained that Christmas is not the known birthday of Christ and is not wholly a Christmas holiday. The date, he said, was fixed by general agreement to coincide with the universal festival of the winter solstice. Solstice means "standing still" and it is on the 25th day of December that the sun begins to travel north again after reaching its farthest southern point.

Green to Address Sigma Delta Chi

Past Emerald Editor Will Speak at Luncheon

Sterling Green, '34, former editor of the Emerald and former president of Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary journalism fraternity, will be the guest of honor and main speaker at a banquet to be held by members of the Sigma Delta Chi this evening at the College Side Inn. He is now a reporter on the Oregon Journal.

Green will discuss the value of the various courses in journalism in their relation to practical newspaper work as he has found it.

Another feature of the evening will be the report made by Bob Moore, president of the organization, of his recent trip to the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, held at Urbana, Illinois.

Local DAR Group Selects Projects

The Lucinda Cox Brown chapter of DAR met Thursday evening in the women's lounge of Gerlinger hall. Mrs. John Y. Richardson of Portland addressed the group concerning the history, purpose, and functions of the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The University of Oregon chapter is one of the three junior DAR groups organized in the United States on college or university campuses. The local campus projects include placing the American flag on the platform at student meetings, a scholarship, text book loan shelf, and an official campus room in the women students' headquarters in Gerlinger hall. Members were urged to complete their lineage papers and bring books and clothes for the student exchange which will be open during winter term.

Loan Fund to Be Available Soon

The Crawford student loan fund, set aside by the will of Edward Crawford to assist young men needing financial aid in securing an education, will be available to men after a meeting of applicants December 26 and 27 in Portland with the fund committee, according to Virgil Earl, dean of men.

The total amount loanable to one applicant is $1000, and will be given in sums not exceeding $250 in any one school year. Five per cent interest will be charged to cover costs of administering the fund.

The committee has asked that applications be on file in the Portland office not later than December 14 so that references may be checked. Further details on the loan fund may be obtained at the dean of men's office.

Thornber Undergoes Appendix Operation

Fordyce Thornber, sophomore in science, who was operated on last for appendicitis at Pacific hospital is reported to be progressing rapidly.

Miss Thornber lives at Susan Campbell hall and her home is in Eugene.

Smith to Address Student Body Today On Life in Russia

Guest Lecturer

Dr. C. S. Smith speaks on Russian conditions as he has observed them in today's assembly in Gerlinger at 11.

Year's Last Rally Sends Team Into Southland Today

Rally, rally, will echo on the campus today for the last time this term.

Eddie Vail, Oregon's diminutive, personality yell king dashed into the "shack" after dinner last night with an urgent plea for all football-minded students to hurry to the depot downtown at 12:20 today to prove to the University's grid team that they stand solidly behind the team in their invasion of San Francisco.

"It'll just take a few minutes," Vail said, "to give the team an idea of the kind of support they will have in Eugene while they are attempting to dump the St. Mary's Gaels out of Kezar stadium.

"Let's see if there is as much spirit as there is said to be on the Oregon campus," he concluded, as he left to plan further for the send-off of the Pacific Northwest's championship team into the southland.

All rally committeemen, both women and men, were asked particularly by Vail to be at the station, dressed in their sweaters.

Houses were also asked by yell leaders to have late lunches today before Oregon's team speeds south to "ring the bells of St. Mary's."

Portland Chapter Host to Honorary

The Portland chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, men's national education honorary, will entertain the Chi chapter of the University of Oregon with a banquet in the main dining room of the Portland hotel Friday, December 27.

Proposed speakers are Dean Grayson Kefauver, of the school of education at Stanford, and Chancellor Frederick Hunter, who will be attending the OSTA convention there.

Preceding the banquet initiation of seven new members of Phi Delta Kappa will be held. The men are: Adolph Phillips, graduate student in education; E. H. Porter, graduate assistant in education; Oren Frecksen, graduate student in education; Rohen J. Maaske, assistant state superintendent of public instruction; Luther King, of the Oregon City school system; Carroll Howe, junior in education, and George Batterson, senior in education.

University Sick List Hits Week's High

An addition of five new patients in the infirmary yesterday raised the total to nine, a new high for this week.

Those five are Jacqueline McCord, Ruth Byerly, Paul Brainard, Jerry Kestly, and Bill Bradford Crane.

With these five there are also Alys Phillips, Raymond McNair, James Smith, and Frank Goodin.

Says Improvement General in U.S.S.R.; Here to Visit Nephew

By VIRGINIA ENDICOTT

Vital revolutionary changes in Russia's political and economic system have made of Russia an industrial country, but have at the same time taken away much of the excitement and glamour which was hers when Charles Stephenson Smith acted as a foreign correspondent there.

A vivid description of these changes will be made by the distinguished journalist and veteran foreign correspondent of the Associated Press at a student assembly this morning at 11 o'clock in Gerlinger hall under the general topic "Life in Russia." Classes will be dismissed for the event.

Progress General

Russia is building and expanding under the present communistic regime. Under Lenin reconstruction was begun on the country torn by civil war and revolution, Mr. Smith said when questioned yesterday.

Mr. Smith remarked that Stalin's main difficulty in creating an industrial country is that the Russians are people of agriculture. "They are making many mistakes and much bad merchandise, but as Stalin said, 'they can't learn unless they try,'" he said.

Moscow Goes Modern

Moscow is becoming a modern city with modern buildings in the business district, Mr. Smith said. Leningrad, formerly the brilliant capital of the Romanoffs, has become an industrial city, with the population in factory suburbs which have been built around the city.

"The former brilliance and love of beauty and the arts which characterized Leningrad has disappeared, and the once busy streets (Please turn to page four)

Cloran Seriously Ill in Hospital

Dr. Timothy Cloran, only professor of Italian on the campus, is still seriously ill at the Pacific hospital, it was reported last night. For the last few days he has been given oxygen. Although his condition yesterday showed a slight improvement over that of the day before, he is not yet out of danger.

Professor Cloran who came to the University 30 years ago missed his first classes here last week when he was taken ill.

Theta Sigma Phi Lunch Changed to Monday

The Theta Sigma Phi luncheon formerly scheduled for Tuesday noon at the Anchorage has been changed to Monday noon, Henriette Horak, president of the journalism honorary for women, announced. Charles Stephenson Smith, former Associated Press foreign correspondent, will be the guest of honor.

Members of Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism fraternity, alumnae of Theta Sigma Phi, and members of the journalism faculty have also been invited to attend.

Christmas Toys Object of Campaign

Members of Alpha Kappa Psi, national business fraternity, are cooperating with the Eugene Lions club in a drive to collect clothes and toys which will be distributed to the poor and needy during the Christmas holidays.

The organization is divided into two groups under the captainship of Alvin Overgard and Tom Wildish. The team gathering most contributions will be treated by the other side.

SPECIAL BALLOT

I hereby cast my vote to nominate "Little Colonel" for the Scabbard and Blade dance.

Campus Calendar

Gerlinger hall pool will be open to men and women for a recreational swim at 7:30 tonight.

International banquet tonight at 6:30 p. m. in basement of Methodist Episcopal church, 12th and Willamette. For reservations phone 1550-J.

Publicity committee for the Tonqued's Ball will meet at 4:30 p. m. in the College Side today with Margilee Morse.

Phi Delta Kappa, national men's education honorary, will hold a business meeting Monday, December 9.
