News of Jones's being left behind was kept rallied just before the half, slipped in the dark until the last minute, because of its anticipated effect mission on Johnny Lewis' howitzer on the Gaels.

To further augment Oregon's bad luck, it is feared that Bud Goodin, sophomore left half, may not be in shape. He went directly to the train from the infirmary where he has been in bed for the past four days with an infected knee. The trouble was caused by a minor recurrence of the injury he received last year.
