A New Day

There's a new day dawning for Mike Hoyman's hard working Duck swimmers. One of the greatest teams in Oregon's history will be laurel-hunting soon. See the sport page tomorrow.

Webfoots Crush Union Oilers, 55 to 31

Oregon Basketeers Flash Championship Form in Easy Win

Howell, Patterson Pace Scorers in Eleventh Straight Pre-Season Triumph

Oregon's high-scoring basketball team turned on the heat in its final pre-season game at McArthur court last night and ran circles around the surprised Union Oil veterans to pile up a rousing 55-to-31 triumph.

The Webfoot giants flashed championship form in crushing the Oilers, who on two previous occasions had held them to close scores. It was Oregon's eleventh consecutive pre-season victory and Howard Hobson's crew definitely looked the part of a strong contender in the rapidly approaching Northern Division race.

Nine Players Score

It wasn't the individual work of any one player or of any group of players that carried the Ducks to their amazingly easy win. Thirteen men saw action in the slaughter and nine of them collected at least one field goal.

Big Ward Howell caged three field buckets and five free tosses to edge out Chuck Patterson for scoring honors, 11 points to 10. Sammy Liebowitz followed with 8 counters and Rollie Rourke had 7. Hobson's fast-breaking plays were clicking continually, with the Ducks constantly beating the out-classed Oilers down the floor.

Patterson Takes Tip

Patterson repeatedly outjumped Chuck Wagner on the tip-off, and at the backboards the Webfoots, with Howell, Patterson, and Willie Jones doing the work, virtually monopolized the coveted casaba.

If ever a basketball team had color the Webfoots did last night. It fairly oozed from their spectacular, fast-passing, fast-breaking play.

Oregon led every second of the torrid tilt, from the time Liebowitz sank two foul shots in the first half-minute until towering Ray Jewell flipped in Ken Purdy's rebound for the 54th and 55th points. 23-12 At Half Patterson, Rourke and Liebowitz sparked the Ducks in an early rampage that sent their margin soaring to 11 points, 23 to 12, by the close of the first half. Midway through the initial period the Oilers trailed on the undernourished end of a 19-to-3 count, but Jerry Thomas, ex-Oregon State forward, chucked in three field goals and kept the visitors within hailing distance.

A long howitzer by Ralph Cairney brought Union Oil within nine points at the start of the final half, but Patterson countered with a cripple and the Ducks were off to the races. Hobson changed his players around freely and several different combinations aided in the festivities. Purdy, Jewell, and Silver of the reserves kept up the pace set by the regulars.

Webfoots Cage Fouls

The game was rough, with 15 fouls called on each team. Of 21 chances from the gift line by the Webfoots made good 13 times. Willie Jones of Oregon and Wagner and Railey of the Oilers accumulated four personals apiece and were prematurely banished to the showers.

For the Oilers, whose all-stars looked like pigmies beside the gigantic Webfoots, Jerry Thomas led the way. He tallied nine points. In floor play and on defense Cairney was the standout.

Grid Stars Back For More Work

Back in the fold to complete their academic careers are Bree Cupporetto, Alex Eagle, and Mike Mikulak, three Oregon gridsters who wrote a brilliant chapter in Webfoot sports history.

News dispatches yesterday announced that Stan Riordan, sensational kicker, will be at one of the end positions when a team of western all-stars meet the Green Bay Packers in San Francisco later this month.

Speech Group Starting Work

First Public Discussion Set for January 23

The public discussion group of the University of Oregon will begin its regular speaking program on January 23 at Lowell grange. The subject to be discussed in symposium form will be "The Influence of Propaganda in Modern Society."

Tours are being arranged in five circuits, the groups to discuss problems at granges, schools, churches, and civic and service clubs.

The women's group will make two trips, one covering points between Eugene and Portland, east to The Dalles, and south to Eugene; the other south of Eugene in a circuit to Marshfield. They will present problems of federal relief.

Discussing "American Neutrality" in addition to "Propaganda in Modern Society," the men's group will make two trips to Portland; one to Astoria, taking in points between Portland and Astoria and south of Astoria to Eugene; and one to Ashland.

The University of Washington speech group is expected to come to Eugene to hold discussion groups with the University of Oregon group, sometime this term.

Bossing Book Widely Adopted

Publishers Report Favorable Criticism

Dr. Nelson L. Bossing, of the school of education, has created a mild furor among education circles with his recently published book, "Progressive Methods of Teaching in Secondary Schools," and it has been adopted to date by over 150 institutions.

A circular put out by the publishers, Houghton, Mifflin, and company, states that if a list of all the enthusiastic comments on the book were placed in elite type, it would take 5 pages of 55 lines each, with 93 letters per line.

Some of the comments made upon the book by prominent educators run as follows: "Outstanding in its field, Bossing's 'Progressive Methods of Teaching in Secondary Schools' gives a rounded picture of the educational and social situation which will face a teacher in service."

Moursund Has Paper Published

Math Prof's Work Recognized in Journal

Professor A. F. Moursund has recently had his research paper, "On Summation of the Derived Series of the Conjugate Fourier Series," published in the 1935 October issue of the American Journal of Mathematics. This paper makes Professor Moursund's eighth research publication since his arrival at this University five years ago. According to Mr. Edgar E. DeCou, head of mathematics department, Mr. Moursund is publishing more papers in the field of mathematics than any other man in the state of Oregon.

The Bulletin of American Mathematical Society, November, 1935 issue, listed Professor Moursund's abstract "On the Abel-Poisson summability of derived series of the conjugate Fourier series."

Professor Moursund received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from University of Texas, majoring in mathematical statistics. After three years at Brown university, in Providence, Rhode Island, he obtained his doctor's degree and has since been active in mathematical research work, according to Dr. DeCou.

HOW TO KEEP UP APPEARANCES WITHOUT MONEY IS PROBLEM

BEHIND THE TALK OF OREGON FOOTBALL AND THE COAST CONFERENCE

Just another headache is the bit of brow-wringing worry as to whether or not the University belongs in the Pacific Coast conference. Student body opinion is overwhelmingly for it. But such things are not so easily settled.

Since football has assumed a decidedly commercial complex, what with salaries to coaches, athletes, and publicity men, as well as obese expense accounts to put the school in good standing with powers that be, principally sports scribes and zealous alumni, one finds that little Oregon (and she is little compared to her California sisters) pays a pretty heavy price for the privilege of playing around with these affluent institutions.

Even with a sure and steady source of funds from student fees Oregon has hardly been able in past years to match the reckless abandon with which the southern schools buy their way to grid fame. These last few terms even this source has dwindled much, and where, one may ask, is the so-called cabbage necessary to keep Oregon on the football map?

Unfortunately, we think, the student body's partial failure to lend support is not due to any disgust with the big business aspect of football. It is among the commoners of the state rather than on the campus that the reaction against big business in amateur athletics has taken place. The phenomenon of students asking for winning teams

Frosh Basketeers Win Opening Game

Team Displays Punch In Wendling Victory

Displaying a powerful offense but a ragged defense, Coach Warren's green and yellow frosh basketball team opened its 1936 season with an impressive 50 to 39 victory over the Wendling town team at Wendling Wednesday night.

The yearling players appeared to be handicapped by the small Wendling court and were unable to use any set plays but managed to win through superior team work and better physical condition.

The entire freshman team of Gale and Johansen at forwards, Phelps at center, Heller and Anet at guards showed up well for an opening game. These men played the entire contest except for the last three minutes when Warren sent in his reserves. Gale led the frosh scoring parade with 13 counters, and was closely followed by Phelps with 12. Wicks, with 16 markers, was high man for the Wendling quintet.
