

League Lead At Stake In Duck-Husky Game

Undeclared Quintets Will Meet Tonight In Northerner's Lair

Like Styles of Play Will Clash in First Of Two-Game Series; Regulars to Start

Basketball juggernauts of the University of Oregon and the University of Washington will battle at Seattle tonight in the opener of a two-game struggle for possession of first place in the northern division race.

Oregon students may hear the contest over radio station KORE of Eugene, which will broadcast the encounter direct from the University of Washington pavilion. Opening tip-off is set for 8 o'clock, but the broadcast will begin five or ten minutes earlier.

Both Teams Boom

Absolutely anything can happen in tonight's game. Experts are at a total loss in predicting the outcome of the fray. Each team is composed of big booming, driving men, and each uses a fast-breaking offense and man-for-man defense. Winner will be the quintet which can out-boom the other.

Both Webfoots and Huskies believe in casting off whenever the slightest chance presents itself. Hec Edmundson, veteran Washington mentor, has long favored the system of shooting from anywhere and then following in. Howard Hobson's hoopers heave for the bucket on any occasion also, and the team which happens to be hitting the hump most often tonight and tomorrow is the team which will climb into undisputed leadership of the conference.

Regulars to Start

Latest indications are that lineups which have started other league tilts will open for both teams tonight. Probable starters follow:

Oregon	Washington
Howell	F..... Lovrich
Liebowitz	F..... McKinsty
Patterson	C..... Bishop
W. Jones	G..... Egge
Rourke	G..... Wagner

Oregon holds three wins and no defeats in division standings, while the Huskies also have a spotless record but have only two triumphs. Both showed abundance of scoring ability in crushing opponents.

Washington downed Washington State in opening games, 30 to 26 and 40 to 23, while Oregon trounced Idaho by 61-to-29 and 45-to-41 scores and edged out Oregon State, 29 to 27. Oregon's offense has averaged ten points more per contest than Washington's, but on defense the Huskies hold an 8-point advantage. Oregon has piled up 145 points, an average of 45 per game, while the Husky average for two tilts is 35 counters. Average score for Oregon's opponents is 32; for Washington's, 24.

McLean Left at Home

When the Webfoots entrained for Seattle yesterday noon Chief McLean was left behind. The flashy Indian guard is still bothered by a knee injury. Loss of McLean leaves the field open to Rollie Rourke and wee Bill Courtney for the only questionable starting position. The two will probably be used interchangeably.

Hobson will depend upon Ward Howell, Sammy Liebowitz, Willie Jones, and Chuck Patterson to pile up the points, Washington's point-manufacturing machine is sparked by speedy Ed Lovrich and Chuck Wagner, two lads who are following in the footsteps of far-famed Bobby Galer, Bob McKinstry, Ralph Bishop, and Bob Egge fill the remaining posts on the Husky first string quint.

It Used to Be a Jinx

Washington supremacy over Oregon in basketball used to be a tradition rivaled only by the superiority of the Webfoots over the Huskies in football, but this year things have changed.

In ten years since the 1926 season, when "Hobbie" Hobson himself was burning up the boards for Oregon, the Ducks have dumped the Seattle squad just four times. Last season Washington won three in four.

It is estimated that a person's chance of being killed in an automobile accident is four times as great at night as during the day.

Wire the Webfoots! Fans Urged to Send Team Encouragement

Oregon's basketball team will need all the encouragement it can get for tonight's and tomorrow night's big fights with the Washington Huskies, and wires from student fans will be appreciated by the squad.

The Webfoots are staying at the Edmondmeany hotel in Seattle.

Howell Leads Hoop Scorers

Liebowitz, W. Jones Also Point-Getters

Up-to-date percentages compiled yesterday put Oregon's giant Ward Howell at the top of the Northwest scoring list. In three games Howell piled up 37 points for a 12.3 average. Wally Palmberg and Cliff Folen, Beaver aces, have rolled up 62 and 41 points respectively, but required five games in which to do it.

Palmberg Second

Following Howell in per-game scoring is Palmberg with a 10.4 average. Sammy Liebowitz, Oregon's humpty-dumpty, rates third with 9.6, and right behind is Willie Jones, second high in season scoring last year. Jones has an 8.3 average. Folen claims fifth place with his average of 8.2.

Chuck Patterson, the Ducks' dark flash, rates eighth with a 7.6 average. At the bottom of the 15-man list is Tuttle, Oregon State, with 5.2.

Complete figures:

	G.	TP.	Avg.
Howell, Oregon	3	37	12.3
Palmberg, OSC	5	52	10.4
Liebowitz, Oregon	3	29	9.6
W. Jones, Oregon	3	25	8.3
Folen, OSC	5	41	8.2
Holstine, WSC	4	32	8.0
Lovrich, Wash.	2	16	8.0
Patterson, Oregon	3	23	7.6
Fisher, Idaho	4	28	7.0
Nelson, WSC	4	28	7.0
Geraghty, Idaho	4	26	6.5
Bishop, Wash.	2	13	6.5
McKinstry, Wash.	2	13	6.5
Wagner, Wash.	2	12	6.0
Tuttle, OSC	5	26	5.2

Variety of Oregon Scenes Shown in Brown Exhibit

Oregon scenes, including several done in Eugene and its vicinity, are depicted in the water color exhibit which Eyer Brown, assistant professor of architecture, now has on display in the Little Art gallery of the school of architecture and allied arts. Thirty-nine sketches make up the exhibit, which will be up for two or more weeks.

The subject matter of each of the drawings is similar, but the total effect is entirely different, as each picture expresses a definite mood of its own. The artist, in an interesting way, has varied his approach to fit the character of the subject matter, which is in almost every case, simple and familiar. Some of the pictures give a strong impression of gaiety and sunshine—others are more subdued and gray in mood.

Deep, rich colors are much in evidence, as well as the lighter, more delicate shades. The scenes of eastern Oregon are outstanding in that the artist has translated the full intensity of their colors to the medium of the water color. "Smith

Frosh-Rock 'Civil War' Opens Tonight

Powerful Ducklings Primed for Initial Hoop Battle Against Corvallis Youngsters

Possibly the most powerful yearling basketball squad ever to play under the colors of the University of Oregon will journey to Corvallis tonight to meet its keenest rival, the OSC Rooks, in the first of a four game series. The second game will be at McArthur court tomorrow night.

"We'll be lucky if we win one of the four games," declared Coach Warren last night, "the players haven't been showing enough fight." They call him "Honest John!"

An imposing array of deadly shot-makers, accurate passers, and speedy ball-handlers and dribblers have carried the Ducklings to comparatively easy victories in seven pre-season games.

Lineups Given

Heading the point-getters are Wally Johansen, deceptive six-footer, and Laddie Gale, all-state from Oakridge high. These two men will start at forwards tonight, according to Warren, but Gale Fouts and Leonard Heller will probably see plenty of service as under studies. Dee Phelps, from Hood River, has the center position well in hand and will start against the Babes. Bob Anet, two year all-state from Astoria, and Gale Smith, up-and-coming guard from Grant high of Portland, will hold down the two guard posts.

Reserves May Play

Other men making the trip are Hank Nilsen, Rod Hansen, Ford Mullen, Bill Campbell, and Bob Smith.

The probable starting lineup of the Rooks will be: McCarthy and Kuvallis, forwards; Rissman, center; A. Sandoz and Fred Soller, guards.

Casteel to Speak Before Young People

John L. Casteel, director of the speech department for the University will speak on "Beauty in Religion" before the young people of the local First Christian church during their breakfast which will be held at the Cafe Del Rey, Sunday, January 26, at 8 p. m.

The toastmaster for the breakfast will be Tingley Champie. Vocal numbers will be offered by Velie Pruitt, and a piano solo by Miss Jewel Cunningham.

Tickets are now on sale for 25 cents and may be obtained from the following University students: Francis Beck and Ambrose Huff.

Dave Silver, Reserve

Pictured here is Dave Silver, one of the ten men who customarily fill the Oregon substitute bench. Silver starred on the 1935 freshman team, and is waiting for a chance to get into the varsity lineup. He'll go north with the Webfoots this week.

DUCKLING SHOULD HAVE EASY TIME; VARSITY FACES STERNER STUFF

OREGON ALL AROUND, SAYS McCALL, COMING OUT OF A DEEP TRANCE

Quacks

By TOM McCALL

I had planned to devote tonight's column to the report of a telephone interview with Mrs. Haile Selassie. Just as I sat down to call the castle, my eye fell on an issue of the Emerald whose great black type told a story of fiendish activity of the varsity and freshman basketball teams of the University of Oregon this weekend. Transfixed by the interest of the account before me, I ordered, "Long distance," as if in a dream. I don't know how long it was that I read, horn to ear, before the crisp tones of the operator snapped my trance with "Here's your party." I leaned suddenly toward the mouthpiece eager to hear the old familiar tones of my girlhood friend, who was now the Empress. A voice came from the other end of the wire weakly. Enfeebled by the great distance, probably, was my first thought.

"Hello, Lena?" I fairly howled. A cry which sounded like one of recognition came to my ears. Then it was that memories of the old days with Lena's family in their castle on the Nile, Three Trees, Limited, was its name, flooded my emotions, and I talked, heaven only knows how long.

But I guess the operator did for she interrupted the monologue with, "Time's up. Your call to Springfield was exactly 15 cents." Click!

So it was that the decision was reached that this column had better deal with sports exclusively, the localer the better, so here goes with some predicting.

The undefeated, high powered Ducklings are going to trample the Beaver kids tonight and tomorrow night, and any other night that they meet, for that matter.

Although John Warren bemoans the size of his charges, they are clever and fast enough to make up for any height disadvantages. Any way you look at it, 283 points in six games, an average of 47 per game, indicates that the boys have a fair sort of offensive. Leading the team in individual scoring is Forward Lauren Gale of Oakridge, with a total of 76 points in five games. He is trailed by Wally Johansen, Dee Phelps, Gale Smith, and Bobby Anet, who have caged

Spees Defeat DU's; Siegmund, McCredie Bolster Champions In Evening's Thriller

Beta Theta Pi, untrammelled by intramural defeat this term, squeaked through with another victory last night over the fire-eating Theta Chis, 15-12. It was the first time the lofty Beta "A" team has been troubled to win.

Relying on Siegmund, rangy forward, the Betas held an advantage throughout, but were troubled to score consistently until the final quarter. McCredie, Beta center, though unable to see the hoop well last night, controlled the tip-off.

Parks, slippery Theta Chi forward, looped in six points to tie with Siegmund for scoring honors. McCredie, of the winners, and Phillips of Theta Chi, were responsible for four each.

Sigma Nu Victorious

The Sigma Nu "A" team built up a healthy lead in the first half of its contest with the Deltas, and coasted through to a 22-14 victory. Foskett, Sigma Nu center, tore loose with nine points before halftime, giving the Eleventh street team an advantage that stood, even though the Delta team was more careful in the later periods not to let it happen again.

Healy, Sigma Nu, also came in for honors with a total of six points. Swenson and Butler led the Delta Tau Delta forces.

SPE Defeats DU

Sigma Phi Epsilon's "A" team continued as money-winners, victimizing Delta Upsilon, 17-9. The ball-hawking of Bill George, D. U. flash, constantly nettled the Spees, but did not prevent them from
