

Ducks Confident of Beating Huskies

Oregon Needs Win Tonight to Stay In Fight for Title

Webfoots Ready for Big Series; Changes In Lineup Possible; Bishop Is Husky Star

PROBABLE STARTING LINEUPS

Oregon	Washington
Howell	Edge
Liebowitz	Loverich
Patterson	Bishop
W. Jones	Wagner
Rourke	McKinstry

Officials: Ralph Coleman, Corvallis, referee; Frank Heniges, Portland, umpire.

When Washington's booming basketballers storm McArthur court tonight they may run into absolutely anything in the way of resistance.

Howard Hobson has plenty of surprises planned for the fire-eaters who cage the casaba for Uncle Hec Edmundson. Oregon may use a slow break or a fast break, a man-for-man defense or a zone defense.

At Seattle last week-end the Webfoots fought the Huskies with a fast breaking offense and their customary man-for-man type of defense. They failed to win in Washington's pavilion, but that does not mean the Huskies can't be overcome by that style of play.

Oregon Out for Blood

Whatever system Hobson may use tonight, the Goliaths are out for blood. Every man is confident of a double victory for the series. It is necessary for Oregon to make a twin killing to stay in the upper ranks of the title scramble.

Starting lineup for the Ducks tonight may differ from previous opening quintets, but Hobson is expected to start the five men who played at Seattle last week. Big Wardlow Howell, whose 6-foot 6-inch frame pierces the stratosphere above all the rest of the Grenadiers, will be at his customary forward post and beside him will be Sammy Liebowitz, famed Bronx Bomber.

Subs May Be Used

Chuck Patterson will jump for the tip at center, and at guards for the Webfoots will be Willie Jones and Rollie Rourke. Several reserves have been showing up well in recent practice sessions and may get into the contest, may possibly even start.

Second stringers given a chance to crash the regular five tonight include Ken Purdy, ball handler par excellence from Long Beach junior college; Chief McLean, whose knee injury has healed; Wayne Scott, long range specialist from Southern Oregon Normal; Johnny Lewis, junior veteran from last season's squad; and Budd Jones, rugged footballist.

Courtney Recovered

Little Bill Courtney, who won a starting berth by his showing in the Oregon State game two weeks ago, has been bothered by an infected toe, but was himself again last night and will probably be used in the big battles.

Ralph Bishop and Chuck Wagner are the big guns of Washington's attack, while defensively Captain Bob Egge and Bob McKinstry shine. Ed Loverich is another gentleman who enjoys nothing more than humiliating opponents by poking the sphere through the net.

Egge, one of the best feeders on the coast, will open at forward tonight instead of at his usual back-court spot in order to give Wagner a chance to check Howell from a guard position. Egge is called "Washington's Liebowitz," because of his feeding ability. In addition to being a tight checking player,

Wagner is noted as a howitzer artist.

Bishop High Scorer

Bishop is the latest successor to Bobby Galer, all-time high scorer in the northern division. Last Saturday he eluded the Webfoot defense to cage 19 points.

Substitutes apt to see action for the Huskies are Jack Gannon and Hunt Paterson, forwards; Pal Rosenberg, center; and Walt Kastner and Ross Werner, guards. Gannon, Rosenberg, and Paterson are veterans from last year, while Kastner and Werner are sophomores. Paterson played formerly at Grant high in Portland.

Reserves aren't apt to be needed tonight, however, for Hec Edmundson's lads are iron men. The Huskies are considered the best passing team ever developed by the canny Edmundson; they are deadly dicks on shots, and all around they compare favorably with any aggregation in Washington history.

Snap-Shots

Willie Jones

Last year's all Northern Division center and second highest scorer, Willard Jones, has as his ambition this year the winning of the coast hoop championship by Oregon. Willie thinks Oregon will overcome the invading Huskies this week-end if the Webfoot squad does lots of fierce scrapping.

"Ever since he entered Washington high school in Portland, 'Stretch' has been right in the middle of all activities he has taken part in. Besides being chosen all-city basketball center his final year, Willie earned two letters at football center and three awards playing center field in baseball.

In the 1921-22 basketball season which followed his graduation from high school, Jones played independent basketball for the Portland Rosebuds, a team which played 75 games during the year. Willie and Bob McChesney, former Grant star, together scored over 1500 points in those games.

In the fall of 1932 he enrolled at Southern Oregon Normal school with Budd Jones to play basketball for Howard Hobson. Willie also played football and baseball that year for the SONS before transferring to Oregon.

Although he is majoring in B. A. and foreign trade, Willie's chief occupation during the summer is farming and ranching along the lower Columbia river. This is his last year.

Mrs. Clarence Leslie Moves to California

Mrs. Clarence Leslie, formerly Martha Jewell, who has been employed for the past six years as secretary to J. O. Lindstrom, business manager of the University, has resigned her position and has moved to San Leandro, California. Mrs. Leslie was married the first part of January in Eugene and left here Wednesday. No one has been named yet to fill the vacancy.

Frosh Ready For Astoria

Warren and Players Anxious for Victory

Coach "Honest John" Warren and three of his players will return to the scene of their greatest triumphs tonight with the freshman basketball squad to do battle with the mighty Fishermen of Astoria high. Along with Warren will be ten Frosh ball players including Bob Anet, Wally Johansen, and Hank Nilsen, three former Astoria stars and members of state championship quintet in 1934 and 1935.

Those making the trip are Laddie Gale, Bob Smith, Gale Smith, Leonard Heller, Dee Phelps, Gale Fouts, Rod Hansen, Bob Anet, Wally Johansen, Hank Nilsen, and Manager Barnes. Warren expects to reach Astoria late tomorrow afternoon where they will stay overnight before proceeding to Tillamook where the Frosh meet the Tillamook Cheesemakers Saturday night. They will return to Eugene Sunday.

Warren holds a lot of respect for the one-handed shots of All-state Ted Sarpola, Astoria's star forward, and the bruising play of Henry Kokko, 6 foot 6 inch center. Sarpola has averaged nearly twenty points against major competition in Astoria's games to date. Twice he has rung the bell for 27 counters and he is nearly always making near 20 points per game. Sarpola is flanked by the rugged Kokko who is not far behind the brilliant all-state when it comes to all-around playing. He is constantly getting the ball off the backboards and is a high scorer from under the basket.

Against the Fishermen that he led for seven years, Warren intends to start the following lineup: forwards, Johansen and Fouts; center, Gale; and guards, Anet and Nilsen.

Girls' Swim Meets Open
Chi Omegas, Alpha Phis Are Victorious

Splashing their way to victory were the Chi Omegas and the Alpha Phis over Ordes and Hendricks hall in two swimming meets held at Gerlinger yesterday.

The Chi Omega team beat the Ordes by a score of 31-26 and the Alpha Phis won from Hendricks hall by a 46-15 score.

Diving, 40-yard free style, 40-yard breast stroke, 40-yard side overarm, 20-yard free style, and 20-yard back stroke were events contested. Each match was concluded with an 80-yard team relay.

Outstanding for the Ordes was Marian Smith who made the highest score of the afternoon, 15 points. Olive Lewis, Chi Omega, was next highest scorer, with 11. Molly Cunningham made the best showing for the Alpha Phis, and Maxine Getsch was Hendricks prize contestant.

Betty Rlesch has been appointed manager of swimming in place of Elaine Goodell. Olive Lewis is officials chairman.

Today Kappa Alpha Theta meets Alpha Phi at 4:00 o'clock at the Gerlinger pool.

Teams entered in the meets are: Susan Campbell hall, Hendricks hall, Ordes, Alpha Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Phi Mu, Gamma Phi Beta, Chi Omega, and Pi Beta Phi.

Qualified referees and umpires are given a whole check in women's athletic activities, and scorers and timers receive a half check. They may officiate at any women's intramural basketball games on the campus or at high schools in nearby towns.

Women Basketball Officials to Meet

The second meeting of the officials committee for women's basketball will be in the main gym at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Girls are requested to come dressed in gym clothes, since actual practice, as well as oral instruction, in refereeing and umpiring will be given. Those who were not at the last meeting, but who are interested, may come also.

Oregon Transient Head Here Today
Clarence Reynolds, Sociology Staff Confers

Clarence Reynolds, former secretary of the state relief administration, and for the past two years director of the federal transient service in Oregon, will be on the campus today for conferences with members of the sociology staff.

Mr. Reynolds will prepare information blanks and outline methods of procedure for a research to be carried out in connection with relief administration, according to Dr. Philip A. Parsons, head of the sociology department.

Conferences set for this afternoon

Low Scores Prevail In Men's Loop; Coed Games Are Speedy

Phi Sigs, Phi Deltas, Betas Win Lop-Sided Tilts; Cougill Lays Up Day's Best Record

Phi Sigma Kappa defied the rules of superstition in defeating Zeta hall 13 to 6 in the initial "B" basketball game yesterday afternoon.

Both quintets played on close terms during the first half with the score ending 6 to 4 in favor of the Phi Sigs. A trio of baskets by Cougill, Corman, and Woodard in the final quarter, together with a free shot by Jordan, gave the winners their 13 points.

Vernon Cougill, forward for the winners, holed three baskets, for high point honors while Pat Frizzell tossed in a pair of baskets for the hall five.

Phi Deltas Again

After exerting frantic efforts in maintaining a one to two point lead for more than three quarters, success accompanied the basket shooting inclination of Phi Delta Theta in the final minutes of play to net them a 10 to 4 win from Delta Tau Delta.

Neither quintet gained a decisive lead during the first three quarters, the score reading four to three at the opening of the third. In the final period, however, the Phi Deltas registered three baskets to secure their final six-point lead.

Pi Phi and Oriones Cop Honors Among Women's Teams; Wetson Makes 14

Pi Phi downed the Kappa Kappa Gammus in the second game of the intramural tournament yesterday 21-4, in the women's gymnasium. Jean Favier on the Kappa team made all the points that were scored. Elizabeth Mushen, Pi Phi, and Barbara Weston, who worked together remarkably well, scored 21 points, Barbara scoring 14.

In the second game the Oriones outplayed the Alpha Chi's 22 to 10. Marion Brookings, Alpha Chi, tilted in all the baskets for their score. Kathleen Duffy assisted Marion in totaling the points. Florence Miller of the Oriones was high pointer with 13. Her fellow forward, Irma Helickson, chalked up 9.
