Spees, ATOs Grab 'B' Victories; Hall Team Sinks Orioles

Sigma Phi Epsilon Quintet Victimizes Sigma Nu, 29 to 3, Sigma Hall Defeated

A rampaging Sigma Phi Epsilon quintet laid down a 29 to 3 scoring barrage yesterday in defeating Sigma Nu in the opening "B" encounter.

After jumping ahead to a 10 to 3 lead in the first half, Sigma Phi blanked the losers during the final two quarters while it added 19 additional points to its side of the score sheet. Seven of the winner's points were earned by sing foul shots.

Rex Cooper, SPE pivot man, looped in 10 points for high point man.

ATO Wins Final Tilt

Alpha Tau Omega forged ahead to an 18 to 3 win over Sigma hall in the final "B" clash of the afternoon.

The Alpha basketballers secured a flying start in the first half by chalking up a 10 to 1 margin. Both quintets took a holiday in the third quarter with the score remaining stationary.

Charles Erwin, ATO forward, paced his teammates with eight counters, while Bill Shepherd caged the lone two-point shot for the losers.

Lack of a sufficient number of players prevented the first game of the afternoon between Sigma Chi and Beta Theta Pi from being played. The summary:

Sigma Phi "B" (29)	Sigma Nu "B" (3)
Bjork, 4	F. Colvig
Berry, 3	F. Spears, 2
Cooper, 10	C. Peters, 1
Lindgren, 4	G. Anderson
Greenup, 5	G. Fenwick
Coulber, 3	S. Richardson
Alpha Tau "B" (18)	Sigma Hall "B" (3)

Ducks Look To Cougar Series Here

Grenadiers Stung By Crushing Defeat At Hands of Staters; Will Play Monday

Smarting from the worst crushing ever dealt an Oregon team by an aggregation from Oregon State, the thoroughly chastened Webfoot Grenadiers yesterday began to do the only thing there is to do—point for the future.

The coming week is one of no games for the Ducks but not one of rest. Howard Hobson drove the lads through a hard scrimmage yesterday and indications are that similar workouts are on the bill of fare for the remainder of the week.

Washington State's Cougars, resting half a game ahead of the fourth-place Webfoots, come here next Monday and Tuesday, and to even stay in the running for third place in the division gonfaldon chase the Grenadiers must capture at least one tilt in the two-game series.

The Cougars dropped Idaho twice last week-end and whizzed past the Ducks in the standings. Oregon's 49-to-23 loss at Corvallis was the fifth consecutive defeat plastered on the Grenadier hoopers and completely blotted out the last faint ray of hope for a division title. By all precedent the Ducks are entirely out of it now, although a slim mathematical chance remains.

Oregon State was decidedly "on" Saturday night and Oregon was just as decidedly "off." That thoroughly explains the decisiveness of the defeat, but it is doubtful if the Webfoots at their best could have given the fire-eating Beaver quintet that burned up the floor a battle.

The Stater's couldn't miss the bucket. When the Grenadiers threw a cordon of four men around the basket to stop Slat's Gill's tantalizing "work-em-in" attack, the Beavers stood back and swished the hemp with one howitzer after another. After taking a 4-to-1 lead in the opening minute of action, the Ducks were snowed under an avalanche of field goals that saw the count reach 30 to 9 half-time. After that it wasn't a ball game at all.

Wally Palmberg flitted here, there, and everywhere, and thoroughly demoralized the sinking Webfoots with a 15-point barrage that put him in position to challenge the all-time division scoring record of Bobby Galer. Palmberg was by far the outstanding man on the floor.

Oregon State plays here February 22, and on February 28 the Ducks go to Corvallis again. Then comes the Inland Empire trip and the end of the season. Summary of Saturday night's game:

Famed Waikiki Beach Holds No Mysterious Charm for Them

Bernice Scherzinger and Elaine Untermyer. It would be as hard to write about one of this pair of senior coeds majoring in physical education without the other as it would be to think of ham without eggs or popcorn without butter. The whole setup would be wrong.

Having been born and reared in Honolulu, these two tall, slender, strikingly-dark darls are swimmers of the first rank. Elaine broke the women's campus record two years ago for the 100-yard free style and backstroke.

When asked why the Hawaiian islands produce so many fast, powerful swimmers like the Reed boys and themselves, they grinned. "Well, you see over there you learn to swim almost as soon as you can walk and the weather is warm enough to go in every day of the year. You'd almost expect us to begin sprouting fins." Swimming at Waikiki beach is an everyday pastime with them when they are home.

But they don't limit themselves to aquatic sports. When there was an all-star basketball team on the campus two years ago, they both played on it. Bernice is now a

Frosh Five Faces Tough Competition

Warren Schedules 5 Games in Five Nights; Team Will Meet Oakridge Tonight

With five games in five nights on schedule, John Warren's brilliant yearlings will start against the Oakridge high school five. Tomorrow night they play a return game with the Wendling town team at Marcola and Thursday night they will meet a strong CCC quintet. Friday and Saturday the frosh will invade Medford and Klamath Falls to test the strength of Southern Oregon's leading maple court clubs.

Coach Warren seemed satisfied with the showing of his team against the Rooks Friday and will probably use the same lineup of Gale, Johansen, Fouts, Anet, and Heller or Smith in this week's contests. Rod Hansen has been showing up well at guard and may start some of the encounters.

Laddie Gale, Oakridge's lanky all-state, is far in front of his teammates for scoring honors with 159 points in 12 games for an average of 13.2 counters per game. Wally Johansen, clever forward, is next to Gale with 94 counters in 13 games for a 7.2 average. Other scorers are: Phelps 72, Fouts 70, Anet 51, Gale Smith 42, Heller 25, Nilsen 22, Hansen 9, Campbell 8, Bob Smith 6, Mullen 6, Jackson 2, and Green 1.

PREDICTING AVERAGE UNDERGOES ILLNESS; BETTER TIMES AHEAD

"It was just a case of one team doing everything right, and another team doing everything wrong." Those were the words and sentiments of Slat's Gill immediately after his big Orange toboggan had coasted over a crushed group of Webfoot basketballers in Corvallis last Saturday. Gill went on to say that his hemp practitioners played their best game of the season in their 49 to 23 victory over Oregon.

"If the team can maintain the type of game that it displayed against the Webfoots and in the first half of the Washington game last Tuesday, it is highly possible that we will steal a pair from the Huskies in the coming Seattle series."

Oregon most certainly was the team "that was doing everything wrong." The whole aggregation, as the game went on, not only had to fight for lost points but for lost confidence. But they did fight, although life seemed a bag of green apples, with their inability to tickle the hemp, and the tantalization Bergstrom 2. Totals: Oregon 7, Oregon State 4.
Officials: Jimmy Mitchell and Frank Heniges.

Snap-Shots

By Wendell Wyatt

August 2, 1914, the day that the world war started and the day that Charles Ivan Patterson, husky negro center on this year's varsity, was born, was a big day all the way around for fighting men.

Although Patterson was born in Vancouver, British Columbia, he is a citizen of the United States, having left the Canadian city when he was eight years old. Along with Courtney and McLean, Pat played high school basketball at Benson in Portland, and followed his coach, Howard Hobson, to Southern Oregon Normal and then to this University.

Just Plays One Year

The big rubber-muscled center and forward played only one full year of basketball in high school, but in that year he accomplished what many players could not playing all during their high school years. He won the 1932 all-city center position in Portland, and received a position as forward on the all-state second team at Salem.

At one time during his high school days in Portland, Pat was all-city handball champ in his class. Besides handball, he enjoys golf and tennis a great deal. "Because all five men play ball together, and because they stay in condition and are always ball-hawking, I think the Washington Huskies are one of the best teams I've ever seen play," Patterson remarked.

To Lose Once

"I think they will lose only one game this season, and that will be to Oregon State," he continued. "Our team isn't clicking now, but I am sure that the boys will look entirely different in the games from now on."

Chuck probably gets more jump out of his height, six feet two inches, than any other athlete seen at Oregon or in the Northern Division for some time. Because of this valuable ability, Pat usually gets his share of tip-offs and does yeoman duty in recovering the ball from the backboard.

Business holds an attraction for this leading Portland prep scorer in 1932. He changed his major from P. E. to business administration this term.

14th, and California on the following day.

Oregon Underdog
"Oregon will be a favorite over San Jose State, but we will be the underdog against both the California and Stanford swimmers," predicts Mike Hoyman, swimming coach. "Oregon may lose, because we lack a large squad, but we won't lose to either California or Stanford by much," declared Hoyman.

The Duck swimmers held an intra-squad meet in Gerlinger pool Saturday to loosen up for the California jaunt. The times were rather heavy for all events as the swimmers kept under wraps.

Meets Due Here

Win or lose, the southern trip will toughen the Oregon squad up for the fierce competition that they will encounter in the Northwest this season. The Oregon swimmers will play host to Washington in a meet scheduled for the last of February. On April 4, the northwest division of the Pacific coast conference swimming meet will be held in Gerlinger pool.

Coach Hoyman named the following swimmers for the southern trip: Jim Reed, Chuck Reed, Verne Huffman, Leonard Scroggins, Clark Thomsen, Forrest Kerby, Bob Chilton, Harold Sexton and Jim Hurd.

Bill Keagy, student manager, and Cliff Troland, brilliant frosh prospect, will accompany the team.

Miss Elde, John Toly Are Married

Evelyn M. Elde, ex-'36, and John Francis Toly were married in Seattle January 9. Mrs. Toly is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. The couple will live in Seattle.
