Annual AWS Dime Crawl Dance Tonight

Men Can Attend Houses Of Choice; Alpha Phi Won Last Year

Dancing feet will have a chance to cavort and whirl tonight at any sorority house on the campus from 6:30 to 7:30 for only 10 cents a dance at the annual AWS Dime Crawl.

A prize of tickets to the Mayflower theatre will be given the sorority having the greatest number of men in attendance in proportion to the number of girls in that house.

$110 Raised in 1935

Last year the women's organizations combined in this open-house idea and raised about $110 for the benefit of the AWS in one of the largest and most successful Dime Crawls ever held on the campus.

The affair was revived last year for the first time in two years and was one of the most popular events held last spring term.

Gamma Phi Second

Alpha Phi won first prize last year, with Gamma Phi Beta and Pi Beta Phi in second and third places. Alpha Omicron Pi ran a close fourth.

"Here's a chance for gallant swains to meet and dance with their secret sorrows for only a dime," says Toni Lucas, chairman of the event. "Don't be bashful, boys, and don't think you have to have a special invitation."

Directorate Named

The directorates are as follows: Alpha Phi, Betty Jane Bernitt; Gamma Phi Beta, Eleanor Edlerson; Pi Beta Phi, Kay Buck; Alpha Omicron Pi, Gladys Battleson; Kappa Alpha Theta, Marjorie Baker; Alpha Gamma Delta, Marjorie O'Bannon; Delta Gamma, Margaret Keene; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Betty Howell; Sigma Kappa, Genevieve McNiece; Alpha Xi Delta, Lucille Williamson; Alpha Chi Omega, Marjorie Will; Zeta Tau Alpha, Bertha Sheppard; Chi Omega, Dorothy Dickinson; Delta Delta Delta, Dorris Bailey; Pi Mu, Rose Gore; Alpha Delta Pi, Gretchen Smith; Susan Campbell, Barbara McGreen, Hendricks hall, Dorothy Lachman; Orides, Helen Nickachou.

Toastmasters Plan Discussion

Instead of the usual meeting of the Toastmasters' club Thursday at 7:30 there will be a general discussion open to all the campus to decide what type of discussion will interest the most people at subsequent Toastmaster meetings.

Howard Lee will lead the discussion bringing up such questions as the following: religious perplexities and a philosophy of life, morals and ethical conduct, personality, campus problems, economic problems, inter-racial problems, and questions on war and peace.

Campus Calendar

DAR members will meet at 4 o'clock today on the sun porch of Gerlinger to be presented to Mrs. Hoover.

Campus clothes are in order today at Dime Crawl, those in charge said last night.

Alpha Kappa Delta meets tonight at 8 in women's lounge of Gerlinger. Dr. Huestis will speak.

Speakers' committee of the ASUO will meet today at 4 upstairs in the College Side Inn.

The insurance contest to be conducted by Professor C. L. Kelly's class in insurance and scheduled for today has been postponed until next Wednesday.

Orides will conduct their "Dime Crawl" in the AWS rooms of Gerlinger.

Alpha Kappa Delta will meet at 8 o'clock in the women's lounge in Gerlinger. Dr. Huestis will speak on social organization.

Street Broadcast Catches Two Law School Students

Roped in from the passers-by, Robert Miller and Robert Hunter, both law school students, yesterday contributed their bit in expressing "What Eugene Thinks," in the daily broadcast by that name from 12:45 to 1 p. m. before the McDonald theater, on the KORE hookup.

The Townsend old age pension plan, according to Hunter, who is president of the law school student body, was not "feasible." Miller refused to commit himself, declaring he was not an authority.

To the question, "Do you think Roosevelt will be elected?" Hunter replied, "I'm afraid so." Miller, sidetracking the question somewhat, merely said, "I come from a long line of Republicans."

Other questions shot at the two students concerned Hoover, Borah, Knox, whether or not athletes should be paid, and whether they believed Oregon should play in the present Northwest conference setup.

Phi Sigma Kappa Attacks Council

Says That Council Lacks 'Intestinal Fortitude'; Pays 'Under Protest'

Climaxing an interfraternity council controversy which started in October, 1935, Bill Corman, president of Phi Sigma Kappa announced last night that the "dirty rushing" fine of $10 imposed by the council would be "paid under protest."

In a letter to the editor which appears elsewhere in this paper, the fraternity declares there is an "obvious deficiency in the present system of rushing," and that the council tribunal lacks "intestinal fortitude."

The fraternity, according to the Emerald of October 11, was fined for breaking the "ten-thirty rule." The statement was also carried that one pledge had been revoked because of ineligibility. The latter statement was retracted when it was found that Phi Sigma Kappa had not pledged the man.

As to the "rushee" who was being "rushed" after hours, the fraternity protests on the grounds that the man at no time was considered a "rushee," since he had not filed his high school credentials with the registrar; had not registered at the dean of men's office, and had not been issued a date card, or rushed by the fraternity.

The question will be discussed at Thursday's meeting of the interfraternity council.

Hunter to Leave Today for St. Louis

Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter will leave today for St. Louis to attend the annual meeting of the Educational Planning commission before which he is scheduled to make a speech defending Oregon's system of single-headed administration of state institutions. His opponent, unannounced as yet, will defend the multiple-headed system as practiced by many states.

According to present plans, Chancellor Hunter will not return to the campus until March 1.

The conference is an annual affair. The Educational Planning commission which conducts the meeting has approximately 10,000 members, many of whom will attend.

12 Behind Locked Doors of Infirmary

Visitors are still not allowed at the University infirmary and students are requested to govern themselves accordingly and not waste their time and that of the nurses.

Four new patients who were admitted there yesterday to bring the total to 12 are Jean Larson, Edell Bryant, Walter Engele, and Robert Teepe. The other eight include Lucille Moore, Margaret Harbaugh, George Williams, Dewey Paine, Roger Pendell, Robert Barnes, Rupe Park, and Leon Wentworth.

Koehn Talks On Democracy Today at 11

Oregon Legion Leader To Discuss Present, Future Problems

Possible paths open in the future development of American social and political principles will be the basis for a talk by George Koehn, Oregon state commander of the American Legion, on "Democracy at the Crossroads" in Gerlinger hall at 11 o'clock today. Classes will be excused for the assembly.

Mr. Koehn is exceedingly open-minded and well versed in his views on the world political picture, Clarence V. Simons, local commander of the American Legion post, declared yesterday. He is recognized as an ex-service man who has retained a liberal viewpoint.

Graduate Returns

Today's assembly will also be one of the few occasions in the history of the school when an Oregon graduate returns to speak before a general assembly. Commander Koehn received his LL.B. degree in 1914 and his M.A. in 1916 here. He later attended Harvard where he received another master's degree.

During the World war he spent 19 months overseas as a captain in the motor transport corps. In civil life he has spent much time teaching in secondary schools. He is a former instructor of English and debate at Lincoln high school and of American history at Reed college in Portland.

Townpeople Expected

Many townspeople are expected to attend the meeting, as Mr. Koehn is coming on invitation of members of the local Legion post and the University and is being featured on the national defense week program being conducted by the Lane county American Legion members.

Because of the absence of Dean Karl Onthank the speaker will be introduced by President C. Valentine Boyer.

Harada Lectures On 'Treasures' at 8

Jiro Harada, curator of the Japanese imperial museum and visiting professor on the campus, will speak tonight at 8 in the faculty room of Friendly hall to students and townspeople on the "Eighth Century Treasure House."

Mr. Harada will describe the ancient Shoshin "treasure" of eighth century relics. In 752 Emperor Shomu died and his empire donated his entire earthly treasure to the Buddha of Todaiji. Four years later a museum was built which resembled the American log cabin in design. This museum is still standing and is open only a few weeks a year for visitors to inspect the collection.

The collection includes games, screens, medicine, swords, bronze mirrors, pewter dishes, and glassware of that period. The lecture is free and open to the public.

YW Secretary To Interview Girls

Girls interested in YWCA work for next year may be interviewed by Betty Hughes, secretary, or senior member of the Y cabinet to determine her interests. Interviews will be given from 10 to 4 o'clock all this week, according to Elaine Sorenson, president.

Future cabinet members, nominees for offices, and girls who show outstanding interest in YW work, will be picked to enter in its social activities and discussion groups.

Davis Calls Meeting Of 'Speakers' Today

Members of the speakers' committee of the Associated Students were particularly urged to be present at a meeting of the group today by Al Davis, chairman. The gathering is slated for 4 o'clock upstairs in the College Side.

Dr. Rebec Ill

Dr. George Rebec, head of the philosophy department, is ill at his home. He recently recovered from an attack of pleurisy, and conducted his classes Monday.

Students Can Hear Talk By Mrs. Hoover

Broadcasting Unit Will Allow All Interested to Hear Speech

University students will have an opportunity to hear Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the former president of the United States, when she will make a short talk at 4 o'clock this afternoon to Girl Scouts gathered in Gerlinger hall.

A public address system will allow those interested who are unable to get inside to hear the former first lady of the land.

Colorful Ceremonies

Colorful and appropriate ceremonies all day will mark the appearance here of Mrs. Hoover, who is national president of the Girl Scouts. The tea at Gerlinger will be from 3 to 5 o'clock with the scouts assisting in serving and in charge of a scout display.

A banquet at the Osburn hotel in the evening with attendance permitted to all interested will conclude the day's entertainment. Tickets sell for 75 cents.

Mrs. Hoover arrives at noon by train and will leave in the evening.

Love, Marriage Talk Thursday Eve

As the final lecture in the annual love and marriage series Dr. J. Hudson Ballard, minister of the First Presbyterian church of Portland, will speak to students Thursday on the psychological aspects of love and marriage. The lecture is to be in Villard hall at 7:30.

Dr. Ballard has given many lectures on this subject, and has appeared in previous love and marriage lecture series at the University.

Tickets for the lecture may be obtained at the Co-op and at all living organizations. Peggy Chessman is in charge of the series for this year. Assisting her are Craig Finley, Charles Miller, Isabelle Miller, and Virginia Endicott.

Costume Etchings On Display at Libe

Colorful costumes pictured from the tenth and eleventh century up to the present year are displayed in the library show cases this week. Etchings of robes worn in the monastic style of France in the tenth century are contrasted with those of 1633 in the time of Louis XIII and the tricolor conservatism of the first French revolution period.

Tilke Oriental costumes, robes of Thespis, and German knights in armor on gaily bedecked chargers of the 1500's are included. Godey's fashions of December, 1861, show the lace-covered and extremely full skirts of that period, which in ten years changed to the plainer, bustled affairs of 1871.

Centered among the medieval and revolutionary costumes are those of the 1936 Vogue showing the trend toward billowing skirts and more feminine dress which costumers have designed for the present mode.

Dr. Caswell Suggests ASUO Cards Be Sold to All

A possible solution offered by Dr. A. E. Caswell, head of the physics department, for the problem now facing the ASUO of securing sufficient funds for activities is to lower the price of tickets to the point that will attract the most buyers and sell the tickets to townspeople, faculty members, and students at the same price. He says that a method similar to this was used at Purdue some years ago when he was there and was convenient and satisfactory.

"I am really glad to see the optional fees for students instead of compulsory fees," says Dr. Caswell. "It now makes it necessary for the activities on the student ticket to give the students their money's worth or they will not buy the tickets," he continued.

"The psychology of getting something for nothing attracts people to buy a season ticket to

'Mad Hatters' To Unravel Tart Theft Mystery

The beloved characters of Lewis Carroll's famous "Alice in Wonderland" began stirring yesterday in preparation for their reappearance at the annual "Mad Hatter's" banquet to be held by the Wesley club Friday at 6:30 p. m. in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Alice, the March hare, the white rabbit, the dormouse, the hatter, and the king and queen of hearts will all be there, Jack Rowland, in charge of costuming, announces.

Each year the banquet is based on a different chapter of the story. "Who stole the tarts?" has been chosen for the theme this year, and a trial will be conducted to allow the king to determine who the culprit is. Instead of tarts, conditions in the city of Eugene will be discussed, and an attempt will be made to find who is responsible.

"There will be plenty of evidence," laughingly declared Charles G. Howard, law professor who has been chosen as toastmaster and who, as king, will conduct the trial.

All students, faculty, and townspeople are invited, announces Mary Field, general chairman for the event. Reservation may be had by calling 1550-J.

Artists' Exhibit Now on Display

Pictures Include Efforts From Various Types of Expression Schools

Work of prominent living American artists is now being displayed by the American artists group in the Little Art gallery of the school of architecture and allied arts. The gallery is open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. every day and the exhibit will remain until Friday.

Outstanding exponents of different schools of expression are represented in the exhibit. In September, 1935, the group assembled four traveling exhibitions and since September 16 these have been on a nation-wide tour of the country. Previous to January 1 they had shown in more than 50 cities.

Some of the pictures on display are Christmas Eve" by Wanda Gag, "God Speed" by Rockwell Kent, "Snow Scene" by Emil Ganso, "Sunlight on Stone" John Taylor Arms, and "Yacht Races" by Arnold Ronnebeck. Among those having work represented in the group are: Peggy Bacon, Ernest Fiene, Victoria Kent, Paul Landacre, Jose Clemente Orozco, Agnes Tait, and Mahonri Young.

Also on display are small reproductions of original etchings, lithographs, and woodcuts, which the group has created for use by art students, libraries and collectors for study and reference purposes.

Dale Mallicoat Wins Prize for Best Poster

Dale Mallicoat, freshman in Journalism, won the month's free pass to the Heilig theatre, for the best poster entered in the WAA Health week poster contest.

The poster will be on display this week in one of the Co-op windows.

Cops Continue Good Posture Health Hunt

Amphibian Group Plans Swimming Exhibition Today at 4:00

Senior Pep Patrol cops in their white sweaters and dark skirts, will continue looking today for girls with good posture for the WAA Health week contest. They will pin yellow and green ribbons on girls they judge to have good posture. At noon they will entertain at the living organizations.

Swim Exhibit on Slate

The Amphibians will put on a swimming exhibition in the women's swimming pool at 4:00 this afternoon. Following the exhibition, which is being arranged by Mary McCracken, there will be an hour of swimming for all girls interested.

On Thursday the semi-finals for the intramural basketball teams will be played in the women's gym at 4:30. Gretchen Smith is in charge of the games.

Directorate Named

The directorate in charge of the Health week program includes: Helen Bartrum, chairman; Jane Bogue, sports; Frances Watzek, secretary; Regan McCoy, posters; Irene Schapp, tea; Phyllis Adams, publicity; Marge Petsch, Senior Pep patrol; and Miss Warrine Eastburn, physical education instructor, faculty adviser.

Women Speakers To Visit Here

The University of Washington women's discussion group will be on the Oregon campus February 27, 28, and 29. James A. Carrell, director of the Oregon women's speech team, announced yesterday.

The Washington speakers will be accompanied by Karl Windishelm, speech director. "What Permanent Form of Relief Shall We Adopt?" will be discussed in a joint symposium with University of Oregon speakers.

Thursday, February 27, the Washington team will speak before the Eugene Women's club. Saturday noon, February 28, they will discuss the relief problem at a meeting of the Women's Democrat club in Eugene, said Mr. Carrell. Other public appearances are being planned which are not yet definitely decided. One of them will probably be a performance at the radio forum over KOAC at Corvallis, February 29.

If the Oregon women speakers go to Seattle, they will leave Eugene during the first week in April.

Cuthbert to Aid In Park Planning

Fred A. Cuthbert, associate professor of landscape architecture, and consultant on parks and city planning for the League of Oregon cities, has been requested to go to Grants Pass on February 21 and 22 to help plan the Riverside park.

Last weekend Mr. Cuthbert went to Reedsport at the request of the city council to plan the treatment of the approach to the bridge on the Pacific highway on the Umpqua river so that no unsightly buildings will be constructed to mar the clean sweep of the two roads branching from the bridge, one going on down the coast and the other into Reedsport.

Huestis Speaker for Alpha Kappa Deltas

Alpha Kappa Delta members will hear Dr. R. R. Huestis, professor of zoology, as speaker at their regular meeting to be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the women's lounge of Gerlinger hall. Reports on the current issue of Sociology magazine will also be heard at the meeting of the group.

Junior Class Finds Itself Minus Prexy; Action Set For Today

Tickets for UO-OSC Basketball Game Go on Sale Today

Tickets for the Oregon - Oregon State basketball game Saturday, February 22, go on sale today at the graduate manager's office, and at Rich's and Club cigar stores downtown for 75 cents. Graduate Manager Hugh Rosson announced yesterday.

Varsity 'O' Ball To Follow Game

Entertainment to Include 'Strip-tease' Burlesque, Chorus Performance

Offering intermission entertainment which is expected to be the biggest event on the Oregon campus this year, the Varsity "O" ball will be held Saturday night in Gerlinger hall. The affair is sponsored by the Order of the "O," campus lettermen's organization, and is scheduled to start soon after the end of the third Oregon-OSC basketball game.

"The Varsity 'O' ball is to be strictly informal," said Fred Nowland, chairman of the dance committee, "and all lettermen will be wearing their award sweaters. Informal dresses for the women and suits for the men are in order," he added.

Burlesque Chorus Planned

The high spot in the evening's entertainment will be reached when thirteen pachydermic chorus "girls" will strut their stuff as part of their initiation into the Order of the "O." The chorines are all celebrated football players who made their first year letter awards last season, and the walls of Gerlinger hall are expected to quiver when the "gals" begin their thunderous tripping. They will all be appropriately clad in burlesque show costumes, and will have Harry McCall in the role of "strip-tease" dancer. McCall's "hoochie-coochy" dance was the highlight of last year's Lettermen's Limp.

Chorines Rehearsing

Eddie Vail, who is in charge of program arrangements, reported yesterday that he has had the "chorines" rehearsing every day, and that their routine is fast becoming as smooth as Prink Calli.

'Blessed Event' Comes to Morses

Yesterday morning at 8:17 o'clock a six and one-half-pound baby daughter was born to Dean and Mrs. Wayne L. Morse at the Pacific hospital. As yet unnamed, according to the latest reports last night, the infant daughter is the third child in the law school dean's family—all of them girls.

"That's why Dean Morse didn't hold his criminal law class today!" ejaculated a surprised law student when he heard the glad tidings.

Mrs. Morse and her daughter are doing nicely, according to hospital reports.

Kehrli Collects Civil Service Information

Herman Kehrli, director of the bureau of municipal research is collecting material for a model ordinance to be drawn up by the representatives of six cities which voted to establish civil service systems in their respective fire departments as a result of the special election of January 31. The meeting in Eugene is set for February 28.

Cities which will send delegates, other than Eugene, are Bend, Medford, LaGrande, Albany and Baker. All but two have been heard from, says Mr. Kehrli.

Representatives from Salem, Portland, and Klamath Falls, already having civil service regulations, have been invited to the meeting.

BeLieu, Curry Ineligible With Question as to Succession of Peck or New Election

The junior class is without either a president or a vice-president, it was revealed yesterday. The ineligibility of Kenneth BeLieu, president, and Carmen Curry, vice-president, has set the political combinations into premature activity, fighting for the Junior Weekend appointments. Deficiency in meeting scholastic requirements was responsible for the ineligibility of the two.

Two alternatives face the members of the class: a special election to fill the vacant offices can be held; or the secretary, Grace Peck, highest ranking eligible officer, may be elevated to the presidential position. The class constitution is vaguely worded on the method of filling the vacancies.

Request for Decision

A request is to be made today of the ASUO judiciary committee to interpret the constitution so the class may settle its difficulty as soon as possible so as to stir Junior Weekend plans into activity. Before these can begin, a member of the class must be given the authority to name the directorate.

In the event the judiciary group rules that Miss Peck should be given the position as head of the class, she will automatically become president. If an election is declared, the time will have to be decided upon.

Political Act

Political forces in the class were stimulated yesterday as news of the possibility of a special election became known among the students.

George Turnbull, class adviser, said of the developments last night: "I understand that Mr. BeLieu had gone ahead and tentatively selected the personnel of the Junior Weekend directorate, and undoubtedly he would be willing to consult with his successor, in the event of an election, in regard to appointments and help him to select the most capable persons to carry out the vitally important Junior Weekend activities."

Turnbull Speaks
Promise of prompt reference of the problem to the judiciary council was commended by Mr. Turnbull, who expressed his hope that the class would get organized promptly and undertake plans for the weekend to uphold the unbroken tradition of the success of the event. He also suggested that the class take this occasion to put its constitution into workable condition.

Members of the judiciary committee are Wayne L. Morse, chairman, Calvin Crumbaker, Virgil D. Earl, James H. Gilbert, Ray Mize, and Fred Colvig.

OSC Fire Causes $5000 Damage

Fire which swept the Oregon State college armory early yesterday morning resulted in damages amounting to approximately $5000. The entire balcony and two offices of the building were destroyed, and wall plaster, furniture, windows, and floors were seriously damaged by fire and water.

The blaze whose origin had been traced to combustion in a waste paper basket was easily squelched by speedy firemen. Guns and ammunition of the ROTC were not damaged.

Dog Licenses Due, Says Bryan

"Better hurry," said Cal M. Bryan, city recorder, "and get your dog licensed." So far, 271 dog licenses have been issued. During the month of March, 25 cents will be added to the original fee for delinquency and each subsequent month 25 cents more.

After March 1, purchasers will have to pay $1.25 for a male dog instead of $1.00, and $1.75 for a female instead of $1.50. Since the licensing of dogs has become a new city ordinance, students should get their dogs licensed soon.
