

Two Phi Delt Quintets Cop Donut Titles

Water Show Slated by Amphibians

Winning Swimmers Are Molly Cunningham And Eileen Moore

Eleven members of Amphibians, women's swimming honorary, appeared in brand new white suits and white caps to participate in a non-competitive water event sponsored by the WAA as part of the health week program.

Molly Cunningham, Jane Chapter, and Joella Mayer participated in the 40-yard back crawl, with Molly copying first place in 34 seconds flat.

The 40-yard front crawl was taken by Helen Fabricius, graduate student and assistant physical education instructor, in 25.9. Marian Smith and June Powell also participated in this sprint.

Moore Takes Breast Stroke
Eileen Moore, famed for her breast stroke, won that event, swimming the 40 yards in 38.3. She swam against June Powell.

Formation swimming began with a chain of four girls doing racing back stroke flanked on each side with a triple side stroke formation. Following this was a double racing front crawl, double racing back crawl, combination front and back crawl, and combination elementary back and breast stroke.

Those taking part in diving were Mary McCracken, president of Amphibians, Helen Fabricius, graduate assistant physical education instructor, Marian Smith, June Powell, and Eileen Moore.

Pretzel Dive Applauded

Miss Fabricius also did a difficult half of a jack knife, wherein the right arm and leg were in the position of a running front dive and left arm and leg being jack knifed.

Those participating in the meet were Mary McCracken, Jane Chapter, Molly Cunningham, Joella Mayer, June Powell, Marian Smith, Helen Fabricius, Jeanne Flemming, Eileen Moore, Thelma Spooner, and Jean Stevenson.

SCOUTS CHAMPIONS FOR VARSITY TALENT; MARSEE, CROSBIE GOOD

McCALL FINDS DONUT TILTS WELCOME RELIEF AFTER VARSITY GAMES

By TOM McCALL

After spending a couple of evenings at the Igloo watching the up and down Ducks mangle and in turn be mangled by the Washington State Cougars, your commentator was pleasantly surprised when he dropped in on the intramural basketball finals in the men's gymnasium yesterday.

The Alpha Tau Omega and the Phi Delta Theta "B" teams were engaged in a well executed struggle for the championship of their class. The blocking, passing, and shooting of both teams was a revelation.

Neither had really had much of an opportunity to acquire other than the rudiments during the short season, yet both squads had seemed to have scraped together some good scoring plays and a tight defense.

The floor work and predetermined methods of play of the ATOs made them a smoother appearing team than the Phi Deltas. But the Barnmen had drive, deadeye shooting ability, and a faculty for following the ball that gave them the 20 to 10 victory.

Big Stan Riordan and Wee Wesley Clausen, both fresh from the infirmary, provided scoring punch and cool headed field generalship that sparked the Phi Deltas on. The ATOs floored a pair of ball handling wizards in the persons of Kirk Eldredge and Sam Fort.

A skillful and experienced Abba Dabba team that had been lying in wait for the "A" league title since school began last fall, saw its chances take a jack-knife as slim giant Urgel Wintermute, and Phi Delt teammates ground out a 10 to 0 lead in the first few minutes of the championship game.

The Dabbas played a brilliantly desperate type of ball that brought them up within two points of the Phi Deltas immediately after the second half started, but Crosbie, Wintermute, and Strohecker developed hot hands and motored to a safe margin of victory.

Never did I see a sweeter pair of ball hawks in any league than Bing Crosbie of the Phi Deltas and Stuart Marsee, Abba Dabba forward. Both snap around the floor like lightning and are crack shots. They would both go on my all-star team, as would Center Wintermute and Guard Strohecker of the champions.

In selecting captains for both the "A" and "B" all-stars, there is not much doubt that Marsee and Clausen are the logical men. The former is a whirlwind of inspiration to his teammates, and Wee Wes is the steadiest, canniest field general in either league. I just overheard the committee that picks the all-stars mention that there were a lot of Phi Deltas on the "A" selections, but that "they were good enough to deserve the honor." Any team that averages nearly 40 points a game against its opponents 10 must have the timber.

Coed Semi-Finals Postponed; Pi Phi Play Susan Campbell

Women's semi-final basketball games have been postponed because all leagues have not completed preliminary play-offs. An exhibition game is scheduled between Pi Beta Phi and Susan Campbell hall this afternoon at 4:30 in the main gym to replace the semi-finals as part of the WAA Health week program.

Huestis Claims People Like Cells

Ants Superior to Humans; Surplus Food Hoarded For Hungry Fellows

"There is a marked parallelism between groups of people and groups of cells," said Dr. R. R. Huestis, professor of zoology last night in a lecture before Alpha Kappa Delta members. "Cells, however, are more sensible in that they obey a central authority, the brain, and are ready to sacrifice themselves for the good of the body. People have to learn this obedience for the good of the whole before they can attain great heights in development of civilization," said Dr. Huestis.

Ants, in Dr. Huestis' opinion, illustrate the nearest approach of an animal organization to that of the organization of cells. Ants possess two stomachs—one his own and the other belonging to "everybody." The ant puts just enough food in his own stomach for his immediate needs, and puts any surplus into the common stomach; then when he meets a fellow ant that needs food, he gives up the extra food to the needy. Some ants called "honey pots" are allowed to grow fat and when the community is in need they must give up this extra food stored in their bodies to the others.

In cell structure, the cells use only that part of the food in the blood stream which they need for their immediate use and the rest is stored by the fat cells for need in emergencies.

"People must come to see this fact that the good of the body concerns their own welfare," said Dr. Huestis. "And they must learn to preserve the brains of the country instead of fighting against superior intellects that rule them."

Society is coming to realize the need for following the type of structure followed in cell combination as evidenced in their acceptance of dictators in some countries, says Dr. Huestis. He went on to say that the present administration embodied many of the principles of work by the individual for the common good in new deal policies.

Intramural Wrestling Starts Today

Grapplers Must Weigh in Between 9-12 a. m.; Lightweights First

The University of Oregon intramural wrestlers will test their prowess in a four-day tournament, first bouts beginning at 4 this afternoon in the men's gymnasium.

All wrestlers must weigh in between 9 and 12 a. m. when official entrance sanctions will be given on the eligibility of each participant. No wrestler will be eligible for this tournament unless he has weighed in by the noon hour.

Lightweight Play-offs First
The matches in the lightest weight division will be staged first with other matches following in weight order. Drawings to determine the individual matches within each division will be held at 1 p. m. Those grapplers without seconds will be provided with someone to assist them during the fight.

All wrestlers participating in the tournament must be at the gym at 4 p. m.

The tournament rules state that in order for a championship to be designated in any division there must be at least three entries. Although two entries are required from each house before it can secure entrance points, an individual wrestler can compete for the championship in his class even though he is the only entrant. Five points will be awarded to winners in each weight, with three points for the runner-up and one point for the semi-finalist.

The time allowed for the bouts includes six minutes for the preliminary matches and eight minutes for the final bouts. In case of a draw at the end of the first bout, there will be two-minute extension periods called to decide the winner. An advantage of 30 seconds is being allotted for preliminary decisions with 45 seconds necessary to decide the winner in the final bouts.

The officials for the donut tournament include Fred Sears as referee, with Marion Weitz and Neph Jorgensen as judges.

Cuthbert Speaks To Garden Club

The various kinds and locations of rock gardens was the subject of an address to the Eugene Garden club last night by Fred A. Cuthbert, associate professor of landscape architecture.

"Rock gardens are nice in their place," said Mr. Cuthbert, "but most people haul a pile of rocks into their back yard and dump them. Then they put a little dirt around and plant some shrubs and think they have a true rock garden. It is difficult to build a good garden on the average 50 by 100 lot because the idea of a true nature in the raw setting must be obtained to produce the desired effect," Mr. Cuthbert declared.

Order 'O' Meeting For Final Varsity Ball Arrangements

All members of the Order of the "O" are urged to attend the meeting today noon at the SPE house, according to Harry McCall, president of the organization. Membership plaques will be distributed and final arrangements about the Varsity ball will be discussed.

Fights To Save

Dabbas Lose 26-13; ATO Defeated 20-10 All-Star Fives Picked

Two powerful Phi Delt teams stormed the citadel of donut fame yesterday, swarmed over the ramparts, and hoisted a double flag of victory. Smashing and driving, yet displaying beautiful precision in every maneuver, the winners rode rough-shod over the Abba Dabba "A's" and the Alpha Tau Omega "B's", 26-13 and 20-10.

Their superiority was never in doubt, as both teams piled up heavy first-quarter leads, and followed up their send-off with consistent, sparkling basketball. Seldom hard-pressed or in danger, the Phi Delt quintets pounded along with more dexterity than many college varsity teams.

A galaxy of all-stars in the Phi Delt "A" diadem yesterday outplayed and overwhelmed the Abba Dabbas. Thirty-two minutes of sizzling basketball at a hurricane pace left the winners unperturbed, but was a bit too fast for the Abba Dabbas, who previous to yesterday had mowed down opposition as impressively as the Phi Delt.

Winners Get Early Lead
The Phi Delt thrusts were deadly from the first minute on. Grabbing a wild rebound, towering Slim Wintermute opened the scoring with a cripple. Crosbie sneaked under the basket for a perfect lay-in to make it 4-0. Driving Ed Strohecker was right back with another cripple. Pickens set up a long one from the corner, and at quarter-time the Phi Delt led 8-0. Of four fouls called in the first canto not one was converted.

Slim Wintermute zoomed into the ozone to bounce another rebound through the net as the second quarter opened. A 10-0 score was too much for the Dabbas. Charging like angry bulls they surged back in a rally that didn't end until the Phi Delt started pulling away after the figures had stood 13-11.

Abba Dabbas Rally
Ed Jacobs looped in a beautiful howitzer from mid-court for the Dabbas' first score. Maury Ward seconded with a perfect bank shot from the deep right corner. Fred West converted for another point after he was fouled by Sid Milligan. Pickens was back to sink a gifter for the Phi Delt and Crosbie scooped up a free ball for another field goal.

It was 13-5 till Al Tingle sank a gifter for the Dabbas, then snatched the next tipoff and let go a perfect howitzer to make it 13-8 at half-time.

Stuart Marsee, who shared with Crosbie all-around ball-handling honors, tapped in a rebound for the Dabbas to make it read 13-10. When the lanky Wintermute got a bit riled the Dabbas were awarded a technical, which Tingle promptly converted to make the score 13-11, closest of the game.

Crosbie countered with a gifter for the Phi Delt, and Pickens sneaked under the hoop for a cripple. Wintermute's pivot shot from the foul line brought the score to 18-11, and the rangy center finished up the third quarter with a short one.

Slim was right back as the last quarter opened to ring in another. Ward slipped in for a cripple, the Dabbas' first score in several minutes. With the score 22-13, Wintermute converted a foul. Pickens, stool pigeoning under the basket, was given one, and converted another foul shot as the game ended, 26-13.

Yesterday's "B" final was a hodge-podge of wild scrambling and ball-hawking, brightened by excellent defenses, but poor basket work on both sides. The Phi Delt were off to a 6-1 lead at quarter-time. By half-time it was 13-5, as Stan Riordan chucked in five points and Bob Bauer made four.

Short Rally Falls
The Alpha Tau Omega hoopers strove mightily to stem the tide, but with Riordan placing the tip-offs to suit Phi Delt plans, and Vernon Sprague feeding the casaba in to a couple of hopped-up forwards, the losers didn't have more than a prayer.

They stabbed back as the second half opened, Jimmy Ballew following a foul shot with a long toss that made the score 16-8. "Wee Wes" Clausen slipped under the basket for a cripple as the last quarter got under way, but Chuck Erwin was right back to push in a rebound for the ATO's. It was 18-10 with about three minutes left.

Clausen Stars
With seconds to go, Clausen, former Portland prep star, pushed in a one-hander from under the hoop for the Phi Delt victory, 20-10.

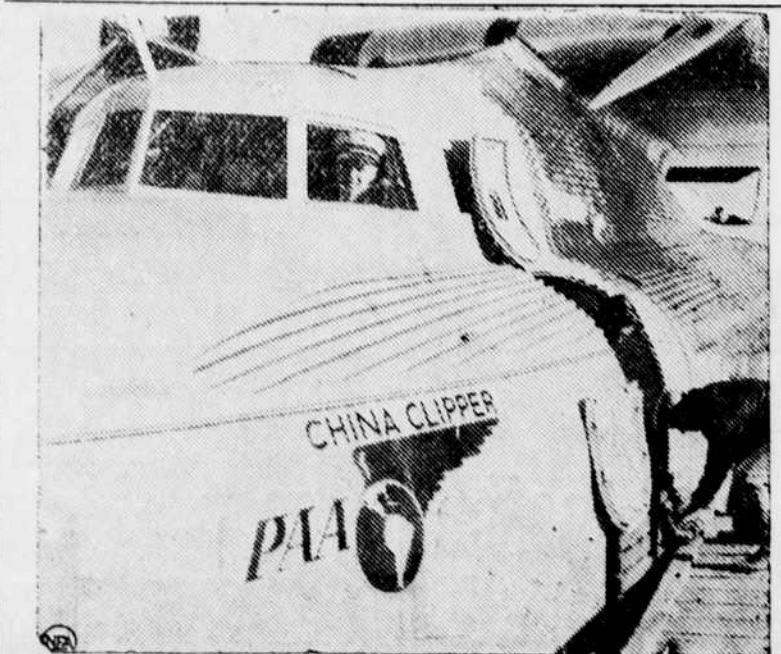

Excessive whistle-tooting kept the game at a slow pace. Jack Berry and Sam Fort of the ATO squad went out via the foul route, as did Riordan for the winners.
