STAGE of the WORLD

By WILLIAM THOMASON

Up and Down

Following our usual procedure we will go into the air before coming to ground. Great Britain has disclosed that she is putting through final tests the most formidable air weapon yet developed. It is a plane powered by a 12-cylinder Rolls Royce Merlin motor, has a wing spread of 54 feet, an overall length of 42 feet 1 3/4 inches, and is capable of doing 300 miles an hour. It is a two-seater job with the pilot and gunner being housed under non-breakable glass, and is reported to be able to do so many tricks that a single-seater looks as untalented as a campus dog in a circus. That is Britain's contribution, along with the $1,500,000,000, to the armaments race.

"The war department disclosed it had ordered 200 new aircraft engines, costing $1,877,030," reads yesterday's paper, and that is part of the U. S.'s contribution to the armaments race, along with $545,000,000 appropriated by the House of Representatives and still being increased by the Senate—but the bill has not yet gone to the President.

"German Dirigible Takes First Trip" runs another squib. "The great new German Dirigible, the Hindenburg, flew west today on its first voyage to South America, passing over the Netherlands to avoid French territory." Here's Germany's peaceful contribution to world peace. Some day it may try and emulate its wartime successors in scaring timid Londoners.

So the world arms to the teeth, or would it be better to say the governments of the world arm to the teeth? Before the Germans re-tinted the diplomatic landscape by moving into the Rhineland, there peeped out of an insignificant corner of the paper the dispatch that the peasants of France had attended church on the preceding day in great numbers—to pray that the then imminent danger of war be somehow averted. Crises of other kinds have come and gone, but the danger of war has not left. It does not seem likely that it will, but will instead flare into another great conflict. And the people of the world pray for peace!

No doubt some will answer this by saying that government exists only by the consent of the governed, and that the policy of the government is an expression of the wishes of the people. Abroad that may be theoretically true, but war seems to be an exception to the rule. People want peace; some are praying for peace, yet the race to war goes on apace. You solve the riddle.

As for disarmament, the other side of the case, let it be answered by the hackneyed refutation—would criminals disappear if policemen threw away their guns? Would the weeds no longer grow if the hoe and the harrow were discarded?

Professors Traded For Summer School

Ohio university and the University of Oregon will exchange professors of sociology for the coming session of summer school, it was announced last night.

Dr. R. R. Martin, assistant professor of sociology here will teach in the Ohio institution from June 15 to September 1, while E. A. Taylor, assistant professor there will come to Eugene June 22.

NYA Workers Asked To Get Checks Now At Office in Johnson

Students who have NYA checks in the University business office are requested to call for them as soon as possible. Checks may be obtained at window two on the second floor of Johnson any time before three in the afternoon.

Canoe Fete Theme, Plans Due Tuesday

Junior Weekend Heads Offer $10 Prize for Best Sketches

Drafts for a Canoe Fete theme must be in by 4 o'clock Tuesday to compete for the $10 prize offered by the Junior Weekend directorate for the best plan, including rough sketches of floats, Dave Lowry, Fete chairman, said last night. Lowry also announced his directorate, with Jay Bailey as assistant chairman.

The members of the directorate are Jane Greenwood, secretary; Kermit Paulson, design and decoration; Ben Bowie, lighting and construction; Don Chapman, floats; Carmen Curry, music; John Allen, programs; Howard Bennett, traffic and transportation. In urging students to enter the contest, Lowry said, "Themes in the past have had ideas from the beautiful to the grotesque, from tragic theme to comedy."

Floats must be adaptable to music and the theme should be applicable to the Junior Prom, the contest rules state. Other points to be considered by the judges—Lowry, Fred Hammond, Kermit Paulson, and Ralph Schomp—are originality, simplicity of construction, and adaptability to the mill race setting.

All entries in the contest are to be given to Ralph Schomp in the ASUO offices in McArthur court. Pairings of houses for the fete will be held later, Lowry said. Constance Kletzer, sophomore of Delta Gamma, was winner of the contest last year with the theme, "Melody in Spring."

Prof. Bossing Issues Warning

All students who expect to complete their work for a secondary school certificate next year and have not had the supervised teaching, are requested to file their applications for student teaching with the school of education at once, according to a bulletin issued by N. L. Bossing, professor of education.

Forms for application may be secured at the office of the secretary of the school of education. All students concerned are urged to file their applications at once because assurance of an opportunity to meet the state requirements for a teaching certificate can only be given qualified students if these applications are on file before the close of the spring term.

YWCA Aids Local Red Cross Drive

The community service club of the YWCA is supporting the local Red Cross in a drive to obtain money to send to the flood stricken areas. Ellamae Woodworth, chairman, asks for all girls interested in helping to call at the hut.

Daffodils, donated by the Chase Garden flower shop, are to be sold down town Saturday from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. The flowers are to be sold for 10 cents or whatever the buyer wishes to pay.

Heads of all the girls living organizations have been contacted and two girls from each are to aid in selling the flowers.

The story of J. L. Casteel's invention for speech regulation by lights protecting audiences from boredom and aiding students to improve their public speaking has made the rounds of many newspapers, among them the Christian Science Monitor.

Pilots Planes

Envy of all British aviators is Flight Lieut. E. H. Fielden, above, for he is pilot to their king, Edward VIII. Chosen from a list of more than 80 of England's crack flyers, Fielden was at the controls on many of the long journeys Edward took while Prince of Wales, now having served six years for his monarch.

Columbia Offers Scholarships

Assistance to Be Given to Teachers Working With Handicapped

A limited number of scholarships and teaching fellowships for graduates of normal schools and colleges and for teachers now in service in fields of the handicapped who wish to continue their study programs is being offered by teachers college, Columbia university in New York.

Scholarship awards may include tuition, maintenance and spending money, but the amount of assistance given will depend on the individual case.

According to the announcement sent out by Columbia, programs of study may be arranged leading to the degree of bachelor of science, master of arts, doctor of philosophy, or doctor of education. Application forms for scholarships and fellowships may be obtained by writing to the office of the secretary of teachers college in care of Columbia university. Further information as to requirements and awards available can be had in Dean Karl Onthank's office in the administration building.

Five Enter Jewett Speech Contest

Five students have at present signed up for the after-dinner speech contest, April 27, which is to be given at the dormitory. This contest is one of many sponsored by the Jewett fund.

Those who have registered to speak are: Walter Eschebeck, who will speak on "Dr. F. E. Townsend," Avery Combs on "William Jennings Bryan," Bill Lubersky on "F. D. Roosevelt," Howard Kessler on "For a Brave Nude World," and Howard Ohmart, who has not as yet designated his topic.

About six or eight minutes will be allowed for each speaker. The prizes are $20, $15, and $5.

Westminster Open House Features Play

Open house for all students will be held at Westminster house tonight, starting at 8:00.

A feature of the evening will be a play directed by Leonard Love, entitled "Gas, Oil and Earl." Included in the cast are Carney Burden, Martha Hartshorne, Hazel Lewis, Bob Bailey, and Fred Gieseke.

Calla Holloway and Betty Yuking are in charge. Dancing, ping pong, and games will be in order. Admission is five cents.

Swafford Sisters Plan Tour

Mildred and Miriam Swafford, of Oregon City, graduates from the University in 1931, plan to spend their vacations on a tour of the British Isles, France, and Belgium. Both are high school teachers.

Frosh Patron List Smashes All Records

Campus, State Notables Accept Invitations; $1 Is Ticket Price

Smashing all records for the number of patrons and patronesses invited, the Frosh Glee chairman, Harry Clifford, announced last night that 55 notables of the campus and the state had accepted invitations to attend the annual freshman dance, to be held Saturday night, April 11, in McArthur court.

Clifford also divulged the ticket price, one dollar, with a 25 cent reduction to holders of freshman class cards. Tickets will be on sale early next week. Ruth Stanley will have charge of the campaign.

The 11-piece orchestra of Dan Flood, leader among the Portland maestros, will play for the Glee. His feature attraction, a feminine violin trio, will prove very popular, Clifford believes.

Patrons, Patronesses Named

The list of the patrons and patronesses follows:

Gov. and Mrs. Charles Martin, Chancellor and Mrs. F. M. Hunter, Pres. and Mrs. C. Valentine Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Brown Barker, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Gerlinger, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Schwering, Dean and Mrs. J. H. Gilbert, Dean and Mrs. K. W. Onthank, Dean and Mrs. V. D. Earl, Dean and Mrs. W. L. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Pallet, Dr. and Mr. J. M. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hopkins, Mrs. Alice Macduff.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Callison, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carrell, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dahlberg, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Gage, Charles M. Hulter, Dr. and Mrs. Fred N. Miller, Miss Margaret Reid, Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Zane, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Starr, Miss Alice Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson.

Phi Mu Alpha Pledges Seven

Seven men were pledged by Psi chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, national music honorary, at a special meeting held last night in the music building.

Men pledged were Robert Gould, Bend; John Miller, Portland; Albert Chamberlin, Roseburg; Jack McClay, LaGrande; Dallas Norton, The Dalles; Tom Turbyfill, Springfield; and Earl Scott, Portland.

These men and several others pledged previously will be initiated next Thursday, April 9, according to James Morrison, member of the honorary.

The group plans to attend the annual regional convention, which will be held at Pullman, Washington, May 2.

Dr. Taylor Attends Teachers' Meeting

Dr. Howard R. Taylor, head of the psychology department left for LaGrande today to speak at the Eastern Oregon Teachers' association.

He will speak Saturday afternoon on "Meeting Mental Hygiene Problems." Saturday evening he will be guest speaker of Eastern Oregon Phi Delta Kappa, men's education honorary, on "Problems of Guidance in Oregon High Schools." He will return to Eugene Sunday.

Lit Class Meets In Carnegie Room

Professor Stephenson Smith's literature of the renaissance class will make use of the Carnegie room in the music building at 11 this morning.

The class will meet there to listen to madrigals and other Elizabethan music. Persons who usually come to the Carnegie room at this time are requested not to be there today.

Social Calendar Notices Must Be in Wednesday Noon

The deadline for all notices to be admitted to the social calendar will be next Wednesday noon, according to the dean of women's office. Present plans call for the calendar to go to press Thursday.

Optional Drill Initiative Planned

Small Group Makes Plans Despite Pleas of Other University Students

Despite the pleas of a group of advocates for retention of ROTC drill as at present, the Oregon committee for peace and freedom threw a state-wide optional military initiative campaign into action last night. The meeting was held in Gerlinger hall prior to the opening of the weekly session of the American Student union.

The initiative movement, threatened some months ago if immediate action was not taken by the state board of higher education, came as the climax to an extended optional military campaign for both University of Oregon and Oregon State college campuses.

Pleas for delaying the move until the next meeting of the state board of higher education came from the advocates of the retention of military drill headed by Don Thomas, after it had become known around the campus that the "peace and freedom" committee was instituting action last night.

Thomas showed much concern for the effect the campaign would have among citizens of the state and their attitude toward the University. He pointed out that the move would raise a dangerous barrier toward liberal ideals because reactionaries will call for a purging of teaching staffs, ousting those who entertain liberal ideas. Continual efforts of a small group, not representing the campus at large, were also condemned by Thomas.

Petitions supporting the optional movement will be ready for circulation early next week, according to leaders of the Oregon Committee for Peace and Freedom. Legal arrangements for the ballot title of the petitions will be prepared today.

Initial contributions to the campaign fund were gathered last night. An outline publicity campaign for the drive was made last night with periodical news releases and a weekly radio program scheduled. Organizers of the movement will carry the cause to granges, labor unions, Townsend clubs, and churches for support, it was made known.

Plans are being made to add support by contacting a group in Corvallis who have shown interest in the movement.

At last night's meeting Glenn Griffith, YMCA secretary, was chosen executive secretary; Betty Brown, former secretary to Gov. Charles H. Martin, treasurer, and Howard Ohmart, financial chairman. Charles Paddock will remain as chairman.

Dr. Cook insists he discovered the North Pole, but it's difficult now to check up on the footprints, the region being pretty well trampled down.

Campus Calendar

Intramural dancing will be at 4:00 this afternoon in the dance room of Gerlinger. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

All student body ticket sellers living in women's living organizations are to meet today at the College Side at 4 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the AWS carnival directorate this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the College Side. All the committee must attend.

22 Pledged By Phi Thetas At Dinners

Sophomore Women Are Chosen for Service, Grades, Character

Twenty-two prominent sophomore women were pledged by Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary, yesterday as the members of the group went to different living organizations during dinner and chose new members.

Those pledged are Olive Lewis, Elizabeth Turner, Molly White, Margaret Carman, Genevieve McNiece, Jean Ackerson, Gretchen Smith, Frances Schupp, Isabelle Miller, Jean Gulovson, Kathleen Duffy, Betty Brown, Jean Larson, Clare Igoe.

Hallie Dudley, Gayle Buchanan, Lucia Davis, Gladys Battleson, Jane Bogue, Martha Stewart, Lorene Brockschink, and Constance Kletzer.

The pledges of Phi Theta Upsilon are chosen on the basis of scholarship, service, and character. Initiation will be held fall term, next year, according to Frances Watzek, acting president of the honorary in the place of Dorothe Hagge, who is not in school this term.

Members of the organization who are still attending the University are Frances Watzek, Martha McCall, Virginia Endicott, Margory Will, Margery Kissling, Corrine LaBarre, Ethel Bruce, Shirley Bennett, Helen Nickachou, Clara Nasholm, Lilyan Krantz, Phyllis Adams, Helen Bartrum, Patsy Neal, and Pearl Johansen.

Alpha Delta Sigma Hears Washburne

D. P. Washburne, manager of Montgomery - Ward, spoke on "Canned Advertising" at a luncheon of Alpha Delta Sigma, men's advertising honorary, at the Del Rey cafe yesterday.

One purpose of the meeting was to discuss the possibility of sending a delegate to the advertising convention of the Pacific coast to be held in Seattle this summer.

"The chapters of Alpha Delta Sigma on the coast have always had a department at the convention. The Oregon chapter has had a delegate every year," said W. F. G. Thacher, faculty adviser. Tom McCall, president, relinquished his presidency to William Schloth, vice-president, for the remainder of the year.

April 4 Deadline For Registering

Saturday, April 4 is the last date when students may register in the University for spring term, add courses, or withdraw from classes unless earning a passing grade, according to announcement from the registrar's office.

This means that study programs are expected to remain as they are on file in the registrar's office on April 4, except as courses may be officially withdrawn from if satisfactory standing has been maintained.

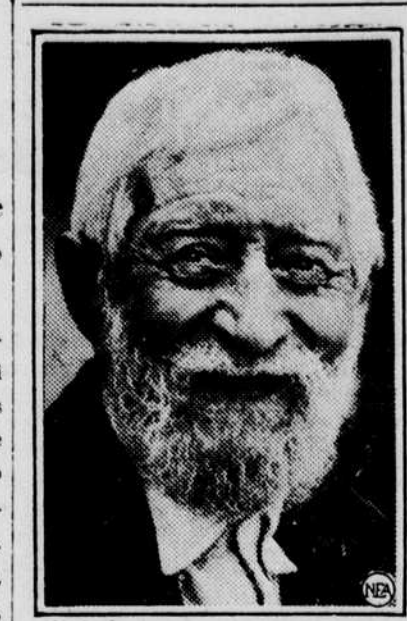

The academic requirements committee has announced that it intends to require students petitioning to add courses after the two weeks limit to pay the late registration fee.

Stetson to Represent Education Honorary

F. L. Stetson, professor of education, has been appointed district representative of Phi Delta Kappa, national education honorary for men. His duties will include visiting and advising all chapters of this fraternity in the northwest states.

Professor Stetson left Tuesday for Spokane, Washington, where he will speak before the Inland Empire convention next week. Before he returns to the campus he plans to visit several high schools in Oregon and Washington.

As Old as Texas

Hale and hearty, Sam Maverick will celebrate his 100th anniversary this year as his home state of Texas observes its freedom centenary. But Sam, whose name has been perpetuated in the term given unbranded or stray cattle, isn't worrying so much about the state fete, his mind being on his garden plans when this picture was taken in San Antonio. He's grandfather of fiery Congressman Maury Maverick.

Men Spend $100 At Dime Crawl

Kappas Take First Place on Percentage Basis, Win Show Ducats

Campus men may not have been forced to attend Dime Crawl, but they managed to donate over $100 to the AWS fund and deposit enough coins to give Kappa Kappa Gamma first place in the race.

Close on the heels of the Kappas came Phi Beta Phi, with Kappa Alpha Theta third, and Gamma Phi Beta fourth.

No awards are to be given other than to girls in the Kappa house, who will each receive a ticket to the Mayflower.

The prize was awarded on a percentage basis though Kappa Alpha Theta turned in the most money.

Kessler Cannon Banquet Manager

Kessler Cannon has been appointed manager of the forensic banquet which is to be held April 15.

John Casteel, head of the speech department, said that the banquet would be given in some local restaurant instead of at the University dormitory, as it has been in the past.

There will be short talks discussing the debate trips and other speeches made this term, all of which will be informal, no actual speeches being given. All speech students at the University and their friends are invited.

Peace Demonstration Set for April 20-25

An anti-war demonstration, in connection with National Peace week, April 20-25, with Smedley Butler, former lieutenant-colonel of the U. S. marines, as chief speaker, was planned at a meeting of the American Student Union, last night in Gerlinger hall. Date of the demonstration on the campus was set for April 20.

Muriel Nichols, Charles Paddock, and Art Stanley were appointed to make arrangements for the affair.

Cannon, Lubersky To Speak at CCC Camp

Kessler Cannon and Bill Lubersky, speech department students, will leave soon for the Long Tom CCC camp where they will speak on parliamentary procedure and public speaking. This camp has classes in speech, and students from the University are being sent out to help them with their problems.

King Offers 'Open, Closed' Rushing Plan

Houses May Pledge Men Vacation; Rush Week Regulations Set

A combined "open and closed" system of rushing was proposed last night by Stan King, co-chairman of the rushing regulations committee at the semi-monthly meeting of the Oregon interfraternity council, held in the Theta Chi house.

Pledging of men with high school diplomas would be permitted during the summer months as the "open" part of the scheme. Actual rush week activities would come under the "closed" regulations.

Although supervision of pre-school rushing would necessarily be rather lax, fraternity pledging methods during registration week would be subject to strict over-seeing, according to King's plan.

Dates would be restricted to not more than two a day or five for the week. Rushes would not be permitted to have two consecutive dates with any house. The plan will be voted on at the next meeting of the council.

Dean Earl spoke on the need for impressing the people of the state of Oregon that the University was no more radical than any other group of young people. He stated further, that every generation differs little from the preceding one in its desire to discover the newer trends of thought.

Mention was also made of the need of everyone and particularly the houses getting behind the ASUO membership drive.

Nurses, Social Workers to Meet

The second conference for nurses and social workers studying community problems will be held on the campus Saturday, April 4. Dr. R. R. Martin, instructor in sociology, and Miss Olive Whitlock, of the state board of health, will conduct the meeting.

Subjects to be discussed are "Health: Social Factors," and "Problems of Mental Hygiene."

These conferences, of which the third and last will be held in Eugene about the middle of May, are designed to supplement the correspondence course in community problems. They are attended by representatives of Coos, Douglas, Lane, Benton and Linn counties.

Obsidians Plan Death Ball Climb

Obsidians will climb Death Ball, 6,000-foot peak near Blue River, on their outing next Sunday. The mountain, which is about 44 miles from Eugene, will require a seven-mile hike. Robert Lemon and Dr. Charles A. Hunt are the leaders.

The group will drive to Blue River, and from there will be rowed across the McKenzie, as the mountain is on the south side of the river. If possible, they will climb the secondary peak east of the rocky pinnacle for which the mountain is named.

Persons interested are asked to sign at Hendershott's gun store. The group will leave from there Sunday morning at 7:30.

Also scheduled for Sunday is a ski trip on the upper McKenzie.

UO Representatives To Speak on KOAC

Two groups of representatives from the University of Oregon will speak over KOAC Friday night, April 3. Avery Combs and Walter Eschebeck of the speech department will talk on "The Next President," and Dr. Victor P. Morris, professor of economics, will discuss the scope of the school of social science.

Dr. Morris is representing Dean James Gilbert of the social science school in a series of talks by the deans on the Oregon state system of higher education.
