The trees bud and the birds sing their song of spring, but it's fall that some 45 football men working out under Prink Callison are thinking about. Story on this page.

Linfield Shellacks Oregon, 11-6; Helser Hurls 6-Hit Ball

Duck Batters Helpless Before Good Pitching Of Wildecat; Millard Charged With Loss

University of Oregon baseball teams are just Duck soup for Roy Helser, Linfield college lefthander. Last spring Helser held the Webfoots to one measly little hit in winning 7 to 1. Yesterday on Anonymous field he was kind enough to dole out six bingles, but when it really mattered he had the Ducks eating out of his hand and Linfield picked off an easy 11-to-6 victory.

Howard Hobson will take his club to McMinnville for a return game this afternoon, and with Don McFadden scheduled for mound duty, the Ducks may reverse the tables on the Wildcats.

Oregon Scores in First

After Oregon scored a run in the first inning yesterday the stingy Mr. Helser and his hard-hitting teammates jumped into the saddle and piled up the score. Lefty Bob Millard and his successor, Bill Marshall, pitched fair ball for the Webfoots, but bad luck on pop flies that got away over the infield and went for hits and a bit of woozy fielding spelled their doom. Linfield's total of hits off the two chuckers was 14.

Helser permitted only two hits in the first seven innings and it was only his generosity in the final pair of frames that brought Oregon's total to a half dozen. He struck out eight, most of them with men on bases, and had, in general, a merry afternoon.

McLean Lams Triple

Bing Crosbie, breaking in at left field, drew the first of his three walks in the Oregon half of the first, and when Chief McLean slammed a tremendous triple into right field to score him, it looked as if Helser might be in for rough sledding. Not so, however, for nonchalant Roy whiffed Lewis and got Hurney on a roller to first. Oregon didn't threaten again until the sixth, when Linfield had a 7-to-1 lead.

Pitcher Helser scored Linfield's first run himself, after reaching base on Hurney's error. An infield out, Swensen's infield single, and an unsuccessful fielder's chance allowed him to cross the rubber.

Millard Lifted

Hits by Swensen, Brother Morrie Helser, and Stranz accounted for three Linfield runs in the fourth, and in the following stanza Henry Lever's boys went to town with three more on hits by Roy Helser and Hippi, a walk, and an error by DeLaunay. Hits by Cook and Bell added another tally in the sixth, and in the last half of that inning Millard was lifted for a pinch hitter.

The man in the pinch was Ralph Amato, and his single to left field drove home Lewis and Hurney, who had walked, with two Oregon runs.

Marshall took over the hillock and got by well enough on his promising curve pitching in the seventh, but in the eighth the Linfield batters hopped the band wagon again and piled up four runs on three hits, two walks, and an error to make it a rout.

Ducks Count in Ninth

Hits by Bob Wimbush and John Thomas gave Oregon a run in the eighth and in the ninth the Ducks added a final pair on singles by McLean and Bud Goodin and er-

Phi Beta Luncheon Given for Officer

Associate and alumnae members and patronesses of Phi Beta, women's national music honorary, had an informal lunch for Mrs. Herbert Stevenson, national president, today at the men's dormitory. Mrs. Stevenson has been a visitor on the campus for the past week. Mrs. F. M. Hunter, and Mrs. C. Valentine Boyer were also guests at the luncheon.

Johnny Voll and Swensen each laid out three blows for Linfield, and Bell and M. Helser checked in with two apiece. Seven Oregon errors aided materially in Linfield's win. Heads-up fielding by the Wildcats was a big help to Pitcher Helser.

Delt Tennis Team Beats Phi Psis

In one of the closest and hardest fought tennis matches to date, the mountaineers of Delta Tau Delta downed the fighting Phi Psis, two matches to one yesterday. Sleeter and Epler polished off the first doubles match, taking the first set 8-6 and the second, 6-2. In the second doubles, Swenson and Balgood, 3, 5 to 0, 1 to 1, 1 to 1. DeLaunay, 2, 2 to 0, 1 to 4, 1 to 1. Thomas, c, 4 to 0, 1 to 1, 1 to 0. Millard, p, 2 to 0, 0 to 1, 0 to 0. McFadden, 1 to 0, 0 to 0, 0 to 0. Amato, 1 to 0, 0 to 0, 0 to 0. Wimbush, 2 to 1, 1 to 0, 0 to 0. Marshall, p, 2 to 0, 0 to 1, 0 to 0.

In the singles match, Clifford, Delt freshman, dropped the first set 6-1, and it looked like an easy victory for Kroschel of the Phi Psis. However, Clifford had other ideas, and he picked up the second by a similar count. The third set was a honey with the score practically even all the way. With the count standing at six all, Clifford put on the pressure and took the next two games for the match and a victory for the Delt team.

Moore Donates Collection to UO

A tiger's tooth, sharks' teeth, and perfect specimens of fossil sea life are included in a large collection of minerals and fossils given to the geology department by Jay Moore, son of the late E. J. Moore, former school superintendent of Lane county.

The collection includes specimens from the bad lands of South Dakota which are perfect examples of mineral formation. One small round piece of brown rock contains quartz and gypsum crystals. Another unusual item is a ball of swallowed hair taken from a buffalo's stomach.

Arrows and spear heads of the collection were given to the anthropology department's museum.

Spring Gridders Working Hard

Many Aces Out for Other Spring Activities; Eagle And Cuppoletti Help

More than 40 young giants have been pushing each other around almost every afternoon since early March under the critical eye of Prink Callison, head football coach. The spring practice this year is of more importance than usual to the Webfoots, because of inexperienced material and a limited amount of time for pre-season practice this fall.

The Oregon coaching staff, consists of Prink Callison; Gene Shields, line coach; Johnny Kitzmiller, backfield tutor, and has the added assistance of Bree Cuppoletti and Alex Eagle, former Duck aces. With the added inspiration of these experts, practice has taken on an atmosphere of intense effort. Varsity prospects this year lack the usual listlessness of attitude.

Many of the gridders who will turn out for football this fall are absent from spring drill due to conflicting sports. Leonard Holland, Bill Foskett, and Chan Berry are out for track. Bud Goodin, outstanding prospect for fullback this autumn, is playing on Howard Hobson's baseball nine. Yerby, smashing lineman of last year's frosh eleven and Cecil Walden, promising transfer from Eastern Oregon normal, are both concentrating their interest on baseball.

Freshman Golf Squad Chosen

The 1936 freshman golf squad was announced yesterday by the physical education department. The squad includes the following twelve men: Doub Ramsey, Frank Binns, Howard Hofer, Bob Speer, Louis Cook, Victor Bakke, Harold Weston, Bob Findtner, Bob Martin, Clair Peterson, George Campbell, and Kirk Eldridge.

SPORT CHAT

By PAT FRIZZELL

Regular shortstop and lead-off man. That's what Oregon's Joe Gordon was Thursday afternoon in the lineup of Oakland's Pacific Coast league Acorns. And Joe came through in great style, pounding out two hits in two official trips to the plate, handling three fielding chances errorlessly, participating in a double play, and scoring a run.

That kind of work means a regular berth for Gordon on the Acorn outfit. Bill Meyer, Oakland's brand new manager, is considered one of the game's most capable men at the business of handling young players, and Joe should have every chance.

Eddie Leishman, who broke in with Hollywood some years ago and has since been joggling around in eastern minor leagues, was the regular Oakland shortstop when the season opened, but, judging from box scores, he has been the weak spot in the infield. Joe Gordon stepped into the shortpatch after Leishman had been lifted for a pinch hitter in Wednesday's 15-inning battle and now Joe may be in there for keeps.

The Oaks, rated a weak sister by pick 'em and hope boys before the race began, have shown amazing power and seem to be in no mood to relinquish their early season lead of the loop. Several of the lads played under Manager Meyers at Binghamton in the New York-Pennsylvania league (class A) last year and they seem to be fitting perfectly into the coast picture. If Joe Gordon continues to fill the bill he's likely to come in for a share of league money when October rolls around.

Seems to be a lot of different ideas as to just what kind of a circuit Ray Koch, Gordon's key-stone mate here last spring, has been sent to by the New York Yanks, who own both Koch and Gordon.

Joplin, Missouri, is the neck of the woods in which Koch will scoop up the sizzlers and dribblers this summer and it's in the class C Western association, composed of cities in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Missouri. Playing each day in that kind of company should be the making of Koch as a big leaguer. The Western association won't begin its season until around the first of May.

Bobby Garretton, Oregon frosh first baseman back in 1934, who has for two summers been with the Portland Beavers, is at Nashville in the Southern league this season. He's merely farmed out and will be back with Portland later. The Southern plays a class of ball almost equal to that on the coast, and if Garretton can make good with Nashville he's definitely on the way up.

Robinson Gives

High school ball clubs as smooth as the one from Grant which trimmed the frosh here Wednesday and then did it again at Portland yesterday came about once in a decade. That team, made up of lads who have played together in prep, summer league, and American Legion junior ball for years, seems to bristle with future college and professional stars.

The two pitchers, Spiker and Garrett, had enough stuff and control to fool the Duckling batters consistently Wednesday. Wimpy Quinn and Bob Baer, the short-stop-second base combination; Shimshak and Layton, outfielders, Shaw, the big catcher, Linde, another hurler, are all veterans of American Legion play.

Five Grant high graduates are busting and chucking the leather apple in Oregon varsity and frosh uniforms this season, and if most of Charlie Orr's present prep line-up doesn't make the collegiate grade, it'll be a surprise to every railbird on the fence.

Ex-Grantians doing their bit on Howard Hobson's roster are Bob Millard and Earle Bucknum of the mound staff and Bing Crosbie, outfielder. On the Duckling club are Gale Smith at first base, and John Yerby in the garden.

Webfoot Trackmen On Review Today At Hayward Field

Lemon and Green Teams Battle in Intersquad Track Competition; Rivalry Intense

By BRUCE CURRIE

The entire University of Oregon track squad will be on review for the first time this season when they participate in an intensive intersquad meet today on Hayward field starting at 2 o'clock.

Bill Hayward has divide his cindermen into two teams, the "Lemon" and the "Green." As they appear evenly matched, the winning team will probably be the one that gets the breaks. The track aspirants who make a good showing in the meet will probably stand the best chances of landing spots on the varsity and frosh teams.

Scharpf Captains Team George Scharpf, veteran distance ace of Bill Hayward's horde of varsity tracksters will captain the "Lemons." Sam McGaughy, so far the outstanding miler on the Duck squad, will captain the "Greens."

Sprints Interesting The 50 and 100-yard dashes will be of special interest. Carson Shoemaker, sprint king of the northwest, will match his burning speed with that of Frank "Squeak" Lloyd. Lloyd, only a sophomore, has already threatened Shoemaker's reign. Shoemaker is conceded a victory in the 100-yard sprint, but many fans think that Lloyd of the "Greens" will take the shorter event.

Although frosh cindermen offer no serious threat in either the sprints or the mile, Jimmy Schriver, frosh member of the "Greens" is conceded a good chance of cleaning up in the 440-yard dash. Schriver, who won over varsity men in the meet last Saturday, was champion prep miler of the state last year.

Many Entrants Unknown Many of the entrants in the meet today are of unknown calibre, and major upsets in some of the favored events may occur. Oregon's hopes of track supremacy this season, and for next year, will be based mostly on those that burn the cinders in today's meet.

Officials for the intersquad meet are: starter, Parke; judges of the finish, Cutler, Callison, and Kitzmiller; timers, Morris, Knollin, Nowland, Greenough, and Rourke; clerks of course, Siegmund, Marshall, Farrar, and Engstrom.

The complete entry list follows: 50-yard dash: "Lemon"—Shoemaker, McClay, Lindgren, Fitchard, Carlson, Wentworth; "Green"—Lloyd, Pollard, Forbes, Currie, Jack Berry.

100-yard dash: Same as above. 440-yard dash: "Lemon"—McDonald, Schultz, Freeman, Burkitt; "Green"—Hall, Don Smith, Schriver, Patterson.

880-yard dash: "Lemon"—Sime, Kropp, Cole; "Green"—Miller, Cody.

Mile: "Lemon"—Scharpf, Lyle, Bryant, Jameson; "Green"—McGaughy, Gambee, Hardisty, Barker.

High hurdles: "Lemon"—Sinnette, Lindgren; "Green"—Lacy. Low hurdles: "Lemon"—Sinnette, Wentworth; "Green"—Pollard, Lacy.

High jump: "Lemon"—Marty, Warren, Fitchard, Crane, Hanson; "Green"—Janak, Jack Berry, Lloyd.

Broad jump: "Lemon"—Lindgren, Fitchard, Cole; "Green"—Lloyd, Strickland.

Pole vault: "Lemon"—Hanson, Lindgren; "Green"—Janak, Mulligan.

Shot put: "Lemon"—Foskett, Chan Berry; "Green"—Walker, Holland.

Discus: "Lemon"—Foskett, Chan Berry; "Green"—Holland, Walker.

Javelin: "Lemon"—Hardisty, Lingren, Adams; "Green"—Huston, Koskelo.

440 relay: "Lemon"—Foskett, Berry, Adams, Hardisty; "Green"—Huston, Walker, Holland, Koskelo.

Jury Gives

It seems that neither Hendershott nor Miss Hutchinson didn't like the way the other played golf. Miss Hutchinson explained on the witness stand that the condition of the course kept them from playing a faster game, which irked Mr. Hendershott so that he requested to play through, to which the plaintiff refused.

Just before the contested shot, Miss Hutchinson had strayed into a nearby gully from the fairway. Gordon Campbell, witness for defense, testified that the provoking gully formed a blind spot with a group of trees at the top, to the angle of the spot from which Hendershott was teeing off.

The innocent bystander, Robert Marks, cool, calm and collected on the witness stand, saved Hendershott's career from a life of crime (what's a mere $20,000 to a bank compared to Heinie's need) with his testimony as an impartial observer from a parallel tee. Marks believes that Miss Hutchinson knew the defendant was going to drive.

"I heard Mr. Hendershott's warning cry of 'fore' and protected myself by stepping among the trees above the gully," stated Marks. "Miss Hutchinson who was about 30 feet away from me, had seven or eight minutes between the warning cry and the time the ball was driven, to do the same. She took no precaution."

The defendant drove. Immediately a hubbub arose from the gully. Upon rushing up, he saw Miss Hutchinson lying unconscious upon the ground, and agitatedly shouted, "Oh, I didn't mean to kill her!" An ambulance arrived and carried the unconscious girl away for a three weeks' stay in the hospital. So testified Ralph Bailey, one of the foursome.

Pleadings for the plaintiff before the student jury of 12, by her counsel, Miss Dorothy Kliks and James G. Smith, was based mainly upon the testimony of the doctor, Kendall Lottridge, law student who suddenly accomplished a medical degree. The condition of the plaintiff which was pronounced permanent. She is a victim of headaches, nervousness and an inability to settle down to any work—except in the morning. This time condition was brought out by Robert Hunter, counsel for defense. It allows her freedom enough to go to school. George Hibbard was the other defense counsel.

Hunter appealed to the jury on the ground that Hendershott had given fair warning and that the fairway was clear. Besides, would they ruin this boy's life by making him pay so dearly for this one instance?

The jury swaggered out to return in twenty minutes with the aforementioned verdict. Hearsay has it that observant eyes detected telltale crumbs of hot-dog-bun origin upon a jury member when they returned from their hideout.

Jury members were Nancy Archbold, Robert DeArmond, Frances Spence, Frank Herin, Frances Olsen, Ed Robbins, Nancy Collins, Adelyn Shields, William Russell, Evelyn Shields, Alton Haakanson, Alice Ann Thomas.

Classes Will Prepare Dinner

Members of Miss Mabel A. Wood's foods preparation classes will prepare a dinner for the meeting of the faculty of the minor departments next Thursday evening. The dinner will be held in the dining room of the home economics building at 6:15 o'clock. O. F. Stafford, dean of the lower division, is in charge of the program.

As of July 1, 1935, the Air Navigation division of the U. S. department of commerce was operating 20,769 miles of light airways and 943 miles of day routes.
