

McGowan to Play At AWS Carnival

Tom McCall Will Auction 16 Best Dates; Dancing From 9 Until 12

Buck McGowan and his orchestra will furnish the music for the jiny dancing at the AWS Carnival this Saturday night in McArthur court, announces Molly White, chairman of the dancing.

Dancing hours will be from 9:00 to 12:00 with a short intermission at 11:00 when Tom McCall auctions off the 16 best dates and their lunch baskets. The names of the girls will be told Thursday.

The prizes, which will be given to the winners at the concession run by the houses, will include such novelties as cigarette holders, ash trays, and porcelain nicknacks.

"The prizes this year are worthwhile ones and are not cheap," reports Ralph Schomp, assistant graduate manager.

Two cups will be awarded during the intermission for the best constructed and most profitable booths. Judges will be Dr. and Mrs. Schwering, Mrs. Alice Macduff, Ralph Schomp, and Mr. E. C. A. Lesch.

Thursday the raffle prizes will be put on display in the Co-op window. Frances Johnson, chairman of the raffles committee, announces that there will be a door prize given away the latter part of the evening. All tickets can be used in the drawings for the door prize and the final grand prize.

Science Class Observes Stars

Sixty members of the physical science survey class, under the direction of A. H. Kunz, assistant professor of chemistry, made observations of star groups last night at the W. H. Pruett observatory.

Employing the use of three telescopes, a four-inch refractor owned by Pruett, the University three-inch instrument, and Major Back's two-inch telescope, the class, in groups of five, spent fifteen minutes at each instrument. The star groups observed were the Pleiades, the Bee-hive star cluster of the crab constellation, and the double star cluster of the Perseus group.

Assistants for the observations were Don Hunter, Betty Jane Thompson, and Rosemary Fishback.

company's engagement at the Moore theater, the Seattle Star said: "Individual honors belong to Janet Reed, a dancer whose presentations are marked by a joy in dancing which is more than merely apparent, and she manages to give her solos the effect of spotlight creations. Her Coppelia waltz in the dance of the same name was a rare combination of technical and creative excellence and something those who saw it will long remember."

University High Band Takes First

John Stehn, member of the University school of music and director of the University high band, returned Sunday from Corvallis with his victorious students. The 23-piece band took first place in the class C division for high schools of 200 to 450 students. Runners-up were Marshfield and Lebanon, the latter being under the supervision of a former University of Oregon student, Vernon Wiscarson.

Some of the outstanding members of the winning band are sons of the Oregon faculty and personnel, including Morris Hunter, son of Chancellor Hunter, Bill Rossion, and Warren Lomax.

TODAY..the President of the United States throws out the first ball...and the 1936 season is on

Baseball . . . it's America's outstanding gift to the world of sport

SENATORS, representatives, statesmen, judges, doctors, lawyers, business men and Jimmy the office boy... they're all out for the opening game. Thrills never to be forgotten . . . perhaps a home run . . . or an electrifying no-hit game . . . perhaps some callow recruit, unheard of in the big time, smashing his way into the hearts of the fans.

Baseball brings pleasure to the millions who watch it, and rewards the stars who play it.

Such popularity must be deserved . . .

At every game and wherever you go you will find people enjoying Chesterfields.

Why . . . because Chesterfields are outstanding for the pleasure they give . . . outstanding for mildness . . . outstanding for better taste.

More and more smokers, men and women both, enjoy Chesterfield's pleasing taste and aroma...such popularity must be deserved.
