First ruling on a candidate came yesterday from ASUO President James Blais after Al Davis, Finley manager, had withdrawn a petition to the judiciary committee on the question of Jim Hurd's eligibility as a candidate for the vice-presidency of the student body.

The action came when it was made known that Hurd did not fill the constitutional requirements for the office. Scholastic eligibility had been passed by the office of the dean of men, but Hurd could not comply with the constitutional provision requiring that a candidate for the office of vice-president must have completed seven terms of school at the University.

Hurd, a transfer from a California junior college, has finished only five terms of work since his arrival on the campus. His ineligibility called for rapid maneuvering in the Finley headquarters. Abroad last night were Finley henchmen pushing petitions which would elevate Cece Barker, president candidate for senior man, to candidacy for vice-president.

Strategists dropped Hurd into Barker's old berth, for which the requirement is only five terms.

Signatures of over fifty student body and junior class card holders last night placed Dave Morris and his accompanying ticket into the race for senior class president. Reason was that he had not made known his intentions to run for office before the Tuesday night deadline.

Odd it will seem when pre-election campaigns open to find that neither freshmen or sophomores, usually the most prolific of log-rollers, will be ballyhooing their respective candidates.

Harry Weston's nomination by Harry Clifford and the second from John Olson carried Weston into the field as the only contender for the title. Both Clifford and Olson appeared as potential candidates earlier in the week but shifts in house support left every candidate high-and-dry except Weston.

Supporting Weston on the ballot, Jack Lochridge was nominated for treasurer, Betty Funkhouser for vice-president, and Margaret Goldsmith for secretary.

Sophs Go Independent
At a meeting of sophomore class members yesterday evening independent candidates announced as unaffiliated with any political party entered into the ballot-box battle. General sentiment at the meeting indicated that the candidates would go to the polls without the usual pre-election campaigns.

Noel Benson entered the field as the lone president of the junior class when Ralph Cathey made the nominating speech.

Others Enter Race
Candidates nominated for the offices of vice-president were Vivian Emery, Jeanette Charman, and Barbara Roome. Gayle Buchanan and Vivian Emery were named as candidates for secretary. Frank Cooper and Don Johnson were nominated for treasurer.

In accepting the nomination for president, Benson pointed out that appointments for next year's Junior Weekend program would be made on a basis of general class opinion and not as political "gravy."

Persons nominated yesterday will go before the campus electorate April 23.

Parsons, Godfrey Gone
Dr. P. A. Parsons of the sociology department, and George Godfrey of the news bureau, attended a meeting of the Oregon state planning board held in Portland, April 16.

High men this week were Ken BeLieu, 190; William Gieseke, 189; and Stanley Warren, 188.

Stork Brings Baby Girl to Bousheys
Mrs. Earl E. Boushey presented Mr. Boushey, assistant professor of PE, with a nine pound, three ounce baby girl Thursday night at 7:05.

Said Mr. Boushey, "She looks like a real heavyweight contender. Mother and baby are doing fine."

Frosh, Soph Tickets Are Unopposed

Advisory Council Set Up By Yearlings as Part Of Coalition Party

Lack of opposing political factions at freshman and sophomore nominating meetings in Villard yesterday, unique in the annals of campus politics, brought forth a set of unopposed candidates for sophomore offices and a group of independent candidates for junior class offices.

Freshman politics, muddled by the appearance of many candidates in the field earlier this week, became rearranged yesterday when a coalition party was formed by freshman representatives from all-campus fraternities.

Weston Nominated

As a result Harry Weston was nominated for the office of sophomore class president by Harry Clifford. In seconding the nomination John Olson suggested that an advisory council made up of representatives from fraternities, dormitories and independents aid the class president in making appointments. The agreement came into being after political leaders had joined forces in an effort to keep ill-feeling out of politics and work for the benefit of the class as a whole.

Supporting Weston on the ballot, Jack Lochridge was nominated for treasurer, Betty Funkhouser for vice-president, and Margaret Goldsmith for secretary.

Ellis, Laurence. Reed Pledged To Ye Tabard Inn

Pledging of Darrel Ellis, Charles A. Reed, and Erwin Laurence to Ye Tabard Inn, writers' honorary, was announced last night by Winston Allard, president.

The neophytes will be initiated Monday night at a meeting at Prof. W. F. G. Thacher's house at 8 o'clock after a day of wearing the traditional burlap vest "tabards" around the campus.

At the meeting Monday members will also discuss plans for a reunion of the group. Graduate members include such writers as Harold Saye and Edison Marshall. Victor Coffman is in Portland arranging there with alums for attendance.

Boyer, Jewell Are Conference Heads

Dr. C. Valentine Boyer, president of the University, and Dean J. R. Jewell, of the education department, have been named section chairmen for the Portland regional conference of the Progressive Education association, to be held at Reed College, Portland, Wednesday, April 23.

Dr. Boyer will head the liberal arts section, and Dean Jewell the elementary school section.

Among professors from this campus planning to go to the conference are Dr. N. L. Bossing, R. W. Leighton, and Dean Jewell. The conference is an annual affair and features talks by national figures in education and group discussions on the matter of progressive education.

Positions Open In Air School

Col. E. V. D. Murphy, head of the military department, recently received from the U. S. army air corps a letter informing him that there are a number of vacancies in the air corps training school enrollment.

Any student interested in making application to become a cadet in the air corps should see Colonel Murphy for particulars.

The chief requirements for admission as a cadet are two years college education and an exceptionally good physique, said Colonel Murphy.

Lomax Investigates Free Trade Zone

While in Portland last week Professor Lomax of the foreign trade department looked over the location of a proposed free trade zone, which it is planned, will stimulate foreign trade in Oregon.

The trade zone will consist of publicly owned docks from which certain manufactured goods may be shipped and unloaded free from duty. It is felt that ocean commerce with the orient will be stimulated in this way.

Dr. Smith Is Judge At Portland Contest

Dr. Warren D. Smith, geologist, left for Portland yesterday to be a judge in the Journal mineral contest which is being sponsored by the Oregon Agate and Mineral society.

The contest is being held Saturday morning at the Journal building.

Mrs. Smith accompanied Dr. Smith on the trip.

Mrs. Schwering to Linfield
Mrs. Hazel B. Schwering, dean of women, is at Linfield today attending a meeting of advisers of girls and dean of women from all over the state. She will return to the campus tomorrow.

Upon the low-slung, sway-backed of a white mongrel pup of uncertain antecedents lay Hunter's fate, both figuratively and literally. In this second case in the moot trial series held by the trial practice class every Thursday in the Lane county circuit court.

Counsel for the plaintiff, George B. Fedde and Alton Hakanson, triumpantly brought the mongrel into the courtroom.

Ye Tabard Inn members will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock at Prof. W. F. G. Thacher's home. New members will be initiated.

Smedley Butler, Picturesque Marine Officer, to Give Inside Dope on War Racket Monday

Program Will Be First Of International Week Libby to Speak

Colorful "Hell-Devil" Butler, retired major-general in the U. S. Marine Corps, will give University of Oregon students a rare treat Monday at 10 o'clock when he explains the inside dope on the war racket, in the first talk of "International Week," annually observed for the promotion of peace.

General Butler firmly believes in the title of his address, "War Is A Racket." He defines a racket as an undertaking whose mechanics are known to a select inside group and whose profits are divided among these select few at the expense of the great mass of people. This he has reaffirmed continually in articles and broadcasts.

Butler Offers Solution

The solution offered by Butler in the event of a war is to draft capital along with labor. As a result the munitions king would receive the same $30 a month as the soldier in the trenches. Thus, by destroying the element of personal gain, the chief cause in his estimation, there would be no war.

General Butler, who has been called "one of the most brilliant officers in the United States" is the recipient of two congressional medals, a distinguished service medal, half a dozen citations, as well as similar citations from foreign countries. He is the only man to be awarded the congressional medal twice.

Chief "Devil Dog" Beloved
Butler, chief "devil dog," is beloved throughout the marine corps for his notoriously blunt speech and apparent disregard of the "bigwigs." In the summer of 1930 when the general was in command of the Quantic marine station on (Please turn to page four)

Cities League Sponsors Talk

Two addresses on municipal problems now before citizens, city planning and vocational education for public employees, will be delivered during the latter part of April over radio station KOAC, it was announced here Friday by Herman Kehrl, director of the University of Oregon bureau of municipal research. The two will be presented as part of the program sponsored by the bureau and the League of Oregon Cities.

The first, "The Economic Necessity for City Planning," will be delivered April 22, from 7:45 to 8:05, by Harry Freeman, technical consultant for the Portland city planning commission, and the second, "Possibilities of Vocational Education for the Public Employee" will be given by O. D. Adams, state director of vocational education, one week later at the same time in the evening.

Hunter, 'Dogged' by Friends, Wins $1 Damages

"Even the ladies bark at me. My friends whistle at me and ask what kind of dog biscuits I like best. It got so humiliating I couldn't even sleep well." So testified Robert C. Hunter, law school student body president in his $13,200 libel and slander suit against Ray Mize, owner of a mongrel dog which had been dubbed "Prexy Hunter" and was consequently, the source of much ribbing of Mr. Hunter. The jury of 12 students assessed Mize $1 for damages done.

Upon the low-slung, sway-backed of a white mongrel pup of uncertain antecedents lay Hunter's fate, both figuratively and literally. In this second case in the moot trial series held by the trial practice class every Thursday in the Lane county circuit court.

Counsel for the plaintiff, George B. Fedde and Alton Hakanson, triumpantly brought the mongrel into the courtroom.

Co-op to Select Board Members

New Directors Nominated At Monday Meet; Annual Report to Be Made

"All registered members of the University of Oregon are members of the University co-operative store and as such are entitled to a voice in the selection of its board of directors," said Manager Marion F. McClain as he verified yesterday that students were to nominate these persons Monday, April 23, at 3 o'clock in 105 Commerce.

There are seven members on the Co-op board of directors, five students and two faculty members. One-third term freshman who will serve for one year is nominated and placed upon the ASUO ballot at regular election time, as well as two sophomores who will serve through their junior and senior years. The other two student officers are those serving their second year. The faculty members are Dean James H. Gilbert, and Dean John F. Bovard.

The Monday meeting is the one annual student body gathering of the student store. The manager's annual report will be read. All students are eligible to attend.

Master Dancers Elect Officers

Shirley Bennett was elected president and Rose Gore, secretary-treasurer, at the meeting of Master Dance held last Wednesday evening in Gerlinger hall. Also decided at the meeting was the date of the annual recital, which will be held May 20.

Anyone who has had dance work and who is interested may submit a dance to be performed by the group. These dances must be turned in by May 1, Mrs. Fay Knox, adviser of Master Dance, announced.

Although the recital will be sponsored by Master Dance, persons who are not members may participate if they wish to try out for it.

Wesley Council To Meet Today

Wesley council will meet at 4 p. m. today to make plans for a meeting April 26, when the University group will be host to Wesley foundation from Oregon State college.

Plans for a joint weekend session of the two groups at Newport May 2-3 will also be considered.

Potluck dinner will be served following the discussion tonight, announced Victor Goff, president.

Secretarial Service Installed by Co-op

A new secretarial service for students and faculty which will include the typing and mimeographing of term papers, announcements, and letters, as well as the taking of dictation, has been installed on the mezzanine of the University co-operative store this past week.

Theda Spicer, an experienced and competent mimeograph operator is in charge. She will be found on the balcony every day except Saturday from 4 to 5 for consultation. Work may be left at any time, however. Blanks will be provided for any information which may want to be left with manuscripts. There will be only a minimum charge.

Eugene AAUW Group Visits in Medford

Several members of the Eugene chapter of the American Association of University Women will be in Medford today assisting the formal founding of a new chapter of the organization.

Among them will be Mrs. Alice Macduff, president of the local AAUW, Mrs. Virgil D. Earl, state president of the association, Mrs. Mervin, head of the district in which the Eugene branch is located, Mrs. Jamison, dean of women at Oregon State college, and Mrs. G. A. Johnson, fellowship chairman for the AAUW.

Fun and Frivolity Reign At Carnival Tonight In Igloo

WPA Director Confers Here

Arthur S. Taylor, director of the Portland adult education classes of the WPA, and professor of education and history at Southern Oregon normal school, visited the campus yesterday to confer with members of the extension division about a series of lectures which faculty members are giving before the Central Labor Council in Eugene.

Dr. Taylor is in charge of a state-wide educational program which is in connection with organized labor, and is sponsored by the state system of higher education and the University of Oregon. He has arranged the series of forum discussions, which deal with labor problems.

Dr. Louis A. Wood, professor of economics, has been one of the speakers before the council. Others will be Dr. Lester Beck, assistant professor of psychology, and H. E. Tobie, instructor in history.

Fijis Down DU's In Tennis Tilt

Scoring victories over Delta Upsilon in both doubles matches, the Phi Gamma Delta tennis team was the first to enter the semi-finals of the intramural championships. Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the cups for the best booth. Judges will be Mrs. Alice Macduff, Dr. and Mrs. Schwering, Ralph Schomp, and Mr. E. C. A. Lesch.

In the second doubles, the Fiji team of Platt and Benton downed Deutschmann and Lew 6-0, 6-3. This match was played in a high wind, and neither pair could control the ball.

In the singles match, Rollie Rourke, basketball star, dropped the first set to Dean of DU 8-6, and won the second set 6-3. Since the outcome of the match was definitely decided, the third set was called off.

Dr. Taylor to Lead Westminster Forum

Dr. Howard R. Taylor will lead the discussion on "Some Relations Between Psychology and Religion" at Westminster forum Sunday evening.

Hazel Lewis will have charge of the worship service. The forum will begin at 6:30 and will be preceded by the regular tea at 6. Jim Bryant will speak to the morning group at 9:45 on "Technique for Community Service." Helen Bryant will lead the worship.

Martin to Portland
Dr. R. R. Martin, instructor in sociology, went to Portland yesterday to instruct his extension division classes.

Lawyers and Businessmen Battle This Afternoon

The law school will sally forth this afternoon at 2 o'clock to meet their business administration opponents at the traditional kitten ball game led, according to rumor, by their specially organized band which Dick Devers will conduct with a plumber's friend as a baton. The band will be composed of odd instruments borrowed from the music building and the lawyers guarantee that none of the band members have had previous musical experience.

Following close behind the band the Model T Lena of the Law School, tied together with all available string, will convey dignified and august members of the law school faculty to the fray.

Equally rampant are the "Business Adders" who are out to prove that the lawyers are just big bluffers when they predict a sure win. They point to past victories

Annual AWS Event Set For 7:30-10:30; Sale Of Dates, Concessions, Dancing on Bill

"Gentlemen, name your choices, suhs," will cry "Cunnel" McCall tonight as the fourteen best dates on the campus go under his hammer on the auction block at the AWS Carnival.

Girls to be auctioned off with their lunch boxes at the 10:30 intermission are Felker Morris, Marjorie Will, June Brown, Mary Jane Mahoney, Rhoda Armstrong, Hazel McBrien, Pearl Johansen, Marjorie Gearhart, Katherine Skalet, Iris Schmidt, Jane Chapler, Barbara Williams, Frances True, and Dorothy Ann Clark.

Because of the many attractions this year, the carnival will start at 7:30 so students will have time to try all the concessions, Elizabeth Turner, general chairman, announced. Tickets will be five cents for everything.

Itney dancing from 7:30 to 12 will be another feature of the evening for which Buck McGowan's orchestra will play.

At the intermission, two cups will be awarded to the sorority, fraternity, or hall which had the best decorated booth and also took in the most money. Last year Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the cups for the best booth. Judges will be Mrs. Alice Macduff, Dr. and Mrs. Schwering, Ralph Schomp, and Mr. E. C. A. Lesch.

Girls Count Tickets

Girls who will count tickets at 10:30 to determine the most popular booth are Felker Morris, June Hust, Faye Buchanan, Harriet Sarazin, Elizabeth Onthank, Mary Jane Mahony, Betty Lou Drake, Maude Edmunds, Miriam Fouch and Lois Ann Wipple.

Girls who helped Frances Johnson solicit goods from local merchants were Miriam Fouch, Betty Funkhouser, Elizabeth Ann DeBusk, Gayle Buchanan, Barbara Williams, and Marlonbeth Wolfenden.

Evans Resigns Gleemen Work

John Stark Evans, for many years instructor in the Oregon school of music, conductor of the Eugene Gleemen, has been forced to retire because of ill health. Mr. Evans is spending the weekend in Portland consulting physicians there.

"His illness is not a recent one," said Dean Landsbury, of the school of music. "He had to give up work last fall, and suffered from ill health this winter. We hope he will be back with us next year."

Lawyers and Businessmen Battle This Afternoon

to back this up. The line up of the business men as far as could be obtained is: Bob "Over the Fence" Thomas, Chet "Never Miss" Robinson, Ralf "Hard Hitter" Miller, R. A. "Right Arm" Platts, Pat "Kitten" Furry, Jim "Dizzy" Rummel, Grant "Daffy" Eade, John "Babe" Meyer, and Avery "Home Run" Combs.

With smug smiles the law school refused to reveal their line up but promised sensational surprises to the public in the form of several dark horses. They have already beaten the business adders—verbally at least.

Winners or losers the law students will continue their celebrations after the game with a dance at the Anchorage on the old mill race. Soft music, colored lights, palms, and an imported moon will all go to make the lawyers forget (Please turn to page four)
