

Work on Canoe Fete Floats Must Start, Says Chairman Lowry

Judges Count Cooperation 20 Per Cent

Betty Shoemaker Picked To Write Script for Annual Event

Work on floats for the Canoe Fete, which will be staged Saturday night of the coming Junior Week-end, must be started immediately, Chairman Dave Lowry advised last night. Plans are carried out the Canoe Fete should be the most impressive Junior Week-end spectacle of recent years, but this will entail well-built floats, which means getting on the job now, Lowry said.

Cooperation Counts 20 Per Cent

"Those entering floats in the Fete this year must remember that 20 per cent of the judging is to be based on cooperation with the committee," said Lowry. "I am keeping close track on this item, as everyone must do his part, if we are to make this year's event the best ever."

Judges for the 1936 water show, which this spring is to be built around the theme "Stardust," are Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, Virgil Earl, Maude Kerns, George Turnbull, and Cal Young.

Snells Guests of Honor

Earl Snell, secretary of state, and Mrs. Snell are to be guests of honor for the famous spectacle which each year draws people from all over the Northwest to witness the passage of the stately floats accompanied by sweet music and soft lights.

Betty Shoemaker, senior in journalism, has been selected to write the script for the event. "Miss Shoemaker's preliminary material included some of the most effective writing for such an occasion it has ever been my pleasure to read," Chairman Lowry stated last night.

Lowry asked that lighting specifications for the various floats be turned in to him immediately.

Awarded Scholarships

Dorothy Denslow, left, and Martha Hennigan, right, who received the Phi Beta scholarship and the Charles P. Poole independent scholarship fund, respectively. Miss Denslow is at present a senior at University high school. Miss Hennigan, a student of Rex Underwood, is a freshman at the University. Both scholarships are for the year 1936.

Starr Appointed To Arizona Post

Receives Aid From Noted French Author in Thesis For Doctor's Degree

William T. Starr, graduate assistant in Romance languages at the University of Oregon for the past two years, has recently received notice he has been appointed instructor in French at the University of Arizona in Tucson.

Mr. Starr received his B. S. degree at the Northwest Missouri State Teachers' college in 1931, and completed his M.A. at the University of Oregon in one year, 1932. This year he has passed his doctor's preliminaries successfully, and is well into his thesis which is "Romain Rolland's Idea of Internationalism."

In connection with this work he has been corresponding with Romain Rolland, who is a renowned French author, and has received his approval of the study as well as several valuable suggestions.

In 1934, Mr. Starr took as his bride Mega Means, a University of Oregon graduate. They plan to remain in Eugene throughout the summer of 1937. Mr. Starr hopes to go to France, where he will have the opportunity to see Romain Rolland and confer with him.

Music Featured In Libe Display

The contest among librarians and assistants in the library display program is in its third week with new interesting groupings on the bulletin board featuring the recent receipt of the $500 Carnegie fund given to the University to promote the use of books on art and music in house collections.

Miss True Morris, library employee, arranged the display this week. It includes a music score and colorful book covers of new music works.

Sigmund Spaeth's "The Art of Enjoying Music," "Twentieth Century Music" by Bauer, and "Music in Everyday Life" by Eric Clarke are the featured books.

Announcements Received

A shipment of 2500 commencement announcements has been received at the University Coop and are ready for delivery, according to Mr. Marion McClain, manager. The late orders for caps and gowns may still be taken but should be made immediately.

Subscription rates $2.50 per year.

7 Adult Education Courses Out Soon

Modern Drama, Everyday Law Work Ready This Week, Says Tobie

Seven courses, prepared for adult education through correspondence, are nearing completion, and will soon be ready for the public. H. E. Tobie, supervisor of the work, has sent out cards announcing the program to persons who took courses prepared under a similar project several years ago, and to educational leaders of CCC camps.

The first 11 lessons of the course in modern drama, prepared by Madeline Goodall of Portland, are now being mimeographed. The lessons deal with such well-known plays as "The Wild Duck," and "Ghosts," by Ibsen; "Candida," by George Bernard Shaw; "Uncle Vanya," by Anton Chekhov; and "All God's Chillun Got Wings," by Eugene O'Neill. There are 16 lessons in all.

Everyday law, a course prepared by John W. Hough, retired Portland attorney, and fundamentals of everyday English, by Verna Valleau, M.A., of Portland, will be ready for stenciling this week.

The other courses, which will soon be mimeographed are textile problems of the home, by Mrs. Ray B. McIntyre of Albany; teen age problems, by Dr. Lulu M. Marquand of Eugene; a traveler's introduction to Chinese civilization, by Mrs. Elizabeth Von Stapp of Corvallis; and child training, by Mrs. Ethel Rogers of Eugene.

Dean Schwering To Attend Meeting

Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, will leave today for Portland where she will attend a conference of the American Association of University Women at the Multnomah hotel May 6 and 7.

While at the meeting, Dean Schwering will preside over the general session of the conference on Wednesday at 2:15. Subject of the discussion which she will direct will be "New Trends in Our Colleges."

Also on the program of the conference is Mrs. Virgil D. Earl, state president of the AAUW, who will preside over the Thursday morning general session. Topic of this meeting, at which representatives from Montana, Washington, Idaho, and Oregon will speak, is "Legislative Problems of Our Schools."

Dr. Victor P. Morris, professor of economics at Oregon, will be speaker at the Thursday luncheon to be held at the Multnomah for the members of the conference. His topic will be "Present Factors in World Cooperation."

Van Vliet Returns To Oregon Campus

Maurice Van Vliet, former Oregon football player, returned to the campus April 25 from British Columbia where, since Christmas, he has been serving as director of physical education. The Canadian schools have closed for the summer and will open in September when Van Vliet will return to continue in the same position.

Van Vliet is working at present in Eugene and is planning on taking graduate work at the summer session at the University. He will play baseball with the Eugene Townies of the state league.

Flyers Salute Rail Flyer

In the days before aviation, the word flyer meant only one thing to the public—the speedy through trains that shuttled between the rail termini of the country. When the earthbound flyer, the "Florida Special," neared the end of its 5000th trip between New York and Miami, three sportsmen flyers took to the air in their planes in an aerial salute to form this striking picture.

Huestis to Lecture On 'Birds' Tuesday

Slides Will Be Used to Illustrate; Anyone Is Welcome to Attend

"Birds" will be the topic of a lecture by Dr. R. R. Huestis, to be presented as the eighth of the series of popular science lectures, next Tuesday night in Villard hall at 7:30. This lecture will conclude the group of eight planned for the year by the science faculty, the purpose of which has been to popularize scientific topics.

Dr. Huestis, well-known authority upon the birds of Oregon, will describe the most interesting of the 300 species of the state. Illustrating his lecture with slides, he will deal with the life histories, habits of migration, and characteristics of the birds most frequently seen.

The lecture will not be technical and will be open to all persons interested.

Martin Secretary Speaks Wednesday

Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism honorary, will honor Wallace Wharton, secretary of Governor Charles H. Martin, at a dinner Wednesday, May 6, at 6 o'clock at the College Side.

Mr. Wharton was formerly assistant city editor of the Oregon Daily Journal. He will address the group on the subject of journalism as a professional stepping stone.

All alumni of Sigma Delta Chi are invited to be present.

Women's Faculty Club Meets Today

Newly elected officers and retiring members of the executive board of the Women's Faculty club will meet at a luncheon at 12:30 today in the home economics building. Miss Mabel A. Wood, professor of home economics, and

Cement Pouring Starts on New PE Building Today

Pouring of the first cement in construction for the physical education building located beside McArthur court is scheduled to start today. The cement tower used on the infirmary has been moved and set up on the east side of the new building site.

The larger unit of mixing equipment from the new library has been transferred to be used for preparing the cement instead of the small one used on the infirmary. A heat tunnel running through the excavation for the new building has been dug, and drain tile is now being installed.

On the new library, the brick work on the stack room has been finished to a 15 foot level. Inside the stack room the sides of the elevator shaft are being bolted into place and window frames and windows installed in the outer walls in preparation for the brick-laying.

All partitioning on the main floor has been finished except for a few odd spots. Practically all metal lath work has been completed. The masons are now at work in the basement on the partitions there. Metal lath work, ventilator installation, and water pipe installation are also underway.

Oregon Profs Judge High School Debate

W. A. Dahlberg, instructor in the speech department, R. R. Martin, assistant professor in sociology, and Edgar E. DeCou, professor of education, attended the high school debates held in Corvallis April 2. Dahlberg and Martin were judges; Prof. DeCou presented the cup to the winning team.

Oregon Song Series
This is the fourth in a series of Oregon songs representing various periods in the growth of the University.

No Land Like Oregon*

Where the restless Pacific beats ever and aye,
On the rocks and the sands we know well,
Where the fir and cedar loom tall on the hill,
And the brooks wend their way thru the dell,
Where the ring of the axe and the lowing herds,
Are the herald of eras to come,
That's the land that to me is most wondrous and dear,
It's the land the we love to call "Home."

There is no land like Oregon, the land of the Western sea;
In East or West it is the best, It's where you like to be,
Though you wander on and on,
No matter where you may roam,
Your heart still clings to Oregon
Because its home, home, home!
