

Busy Time Planned For Seniors During Graduation Week

Alumni Office Is Ready To Answer Questions On Proceedure

That members of the class of 1936 will have a busy three or four days during commencement season is indicated by the calendar of events issued from the alumni office. They will be fed, sermonized, ceremonialized, and graduated.

The Failing-Beekman contest to be held in the music auditorium Friday evening will attract a large number because of the prominence of the six seniors competing for the $150 and $100 prizes.

The University luncheon at noon Saturday will assemble representatives of graduating classes, alumni, faculty and visiting friends of the University. The senior class will appear in academic costume and a representative of the class will appear on the program.

The women of the graduating class will take part in the flower and fern procession Saturday evening at 7:30. This impressive event in which graduating women and alumnae march around the statue of the Pioneer Mother, bearing bouquets of spring flowers and depositing them in a circle at the base of the statue, is considered one of the most beautiful events of the commencement season.

The class of 1936 will march in a body, clad in caps and gowns, at both the baccalaureate and the commencement exercises, which will be held in McArthur court. Full instructions regarding time and place of processions and the part each graduate will play in the exercises will be supplied from the alumni office during the week preceding commencement.

Each graduate, including candidates for advanced degrees, is asked to call at the alumni office for instruction and tickets admitting relatives and guests to special reserved sections in McArthur court.

Geology Students Will View Flood Control

A field trip today to Fern Ridge, under the leadership of W. E. McKittrick, ex-Oregon geology student now in charge of building government dams for flood control projects will be the last excursion of the year for advanced geology classes.

The group will go to Fern Ridge which is about 30 miles west of Eugene to view the site of a flood control dam and to see work started upon it. Mr. McKittrick will point out plans to prevent floods which are sweeping the country.

Parsons Is Speaker At Coos River High

Dr. Phillip A. Parsons of the sociology department was guest speaker at the commencement exercises of Coos River high school in Coos Bay.

All the News That's Filth Will Be in Green Goose

The news-hounds are loose! Even now they are prying into the private lives of campus celebrities and socialites, listening to cooing or objecting voices through open windows, or from secret hiding places near trysting spots.

"Get all the stuff that's filth to print," are the instructions which have been given the muck-raking reporters on the staff of the GREEN GOOSE, campus smut publication being put together by members of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national honorary journalism fraternity. The Goose will make its appearance Tuesday morning.

The scandal mongers are gazing with cynical eyes upon the insipidities of certain people and groups and will soon loose their written

15 Positions as Sales Women for Summer At Employment Office

Miss Janet Smith of the University Employment office has positions for 12 or 15 girls as sales women this summer. The positions have the approval of the dean of women and any girl who is interested should see Miss Smith at once.

Five Freshmen Receive Medals

Scabbard and Blade Gives Awards to Outstanding Military Students

Five freshmen, judged the outstanding members of the first year basic military classes, were awarded yesterday with medals presented by Scabbard and Blade at the last of the ROTC parades. Tom Aughinbaugh, captain of the military honorary, presented the medals at the beginning of the drill.

The men receiving awards were: Company A, George Knight; Company B, Robert Findtner; Company C, Charles Murphy; Company D, Galen Robbins; and Company E, Arthur Murphy.

They were picked as outstanding by members of Scabbard and Blade on the basis of classwork and drill.

Competitive manual of arms drill during the term was also used in selecting the winners, frosh. Presentation of the medals will be an annual affair, according to Aughinbaugh. It was discontinued several years ago.

Company B, 10 o'clock unit, was inspected yesterday by Major Charles S. Pettee, representing the ninth corps area officer. The review, known technically as a tactical inspection, is made annually to determine the training efficiency of the unit here.

OSC Westminster Group to Visit

Sunday morning forum at Westminster house will be led by George Berreman speaking on "Religion in Education." Dorothy Jensen will lead the worship service which begins at 9:45.

Corvallis Westminster association will meet with the Eugene delegation Sunday evening for a forum when they return from their annual conference at Cedarwood Tavern at McKenzie Bridge. An informal tea will begin at 6 and Laura Bryant will lead the worship service at 6:30.

Charles Paddock will speak to the combined groups on "Applied Christianity." In order to meet with Corvallis, the sunset service has been postponed until next Sunday.

All old and new officers will meet at 8:00 Sunday evening to arrange the opening meetings next fall.

Tabard Inn Meet Set for Monday At 4 o'Clock

Tabard Inn, men's writing honorary, will meet Monday at 4 o'clock in Professor Thacher's office to elect officers and also to plan for the Tabard Inn reunion which will bring well known writers to the University May 30.

Edison Marshall, former Tabard Inn president, still hopes to be here for the gathering. He is going to Sumatra big game hunting and may be able to spend the day on the campus.

Mr. Marshall is the donor of the annual short story contest prize, which was won by Marie Cavanaugh this year.

Ernest J. Haycox and Robert Ormund Case, both well-known authors, Mr. Haycox for his stories in Collier's particularly, are to be guests.

Arden X. Pangburn, Palmer Hoyt, of the Oregonian staff, Harold Say and Victor Kaufman, both Portland literary men are also invited.

Winston Allard, president, urges that all of the members be there.

Frosh Women Get Scholarship Award

Jeanne Bovard, Kathleen McAlear, E. Stetson Get Highest GPA's

Recognition of excellent scholarship will be given freshman women from now on through the Mortar Board freshman scholarship plaque which will be awarded annually to the three frosh girls having the highest cumulative GPA's for their first year.

The initial winners, who led the freshman women this year, are Jeanne Bovard, Kathleen McAlear, and Elisabeth Stetson. Miss Bovard tops the list with a 3.81 average. Miss McAlear is second with 3.75. Both girls are members of the arts and letters school.

Elisabeth Stetson, majoring in education, was third highest with a 3.73. Miss Stetson recently won second place in the Murray Warner essay contest.

The names of these three girls will be the first to be engraved on the plaque. Three will be added at the close of every year.

Honorable mention for excellent scholarship goes to the following women: Eleanor Tingle, 3.67; Beulah Chapman, 3.64; and Carol Coon and Vieno Osterlund, both 3.63.

Benefit Art Sale Starts Thursday

An art sale will be held in the patio of the allied arts building starting Thursday, May 28, and continuing until all articles are sold. It will be for the benefit of the University alumni art league, which is raising funds to build a workshop and gallery in Portland for the Oregon alums in art work.

Women Take Men to Mortar Board Tonight

Annual Dance in Eugene Hotel Features Kwama Pledge Selections

The stage is all set for the last all-campus social event of this year, the Mortar Board ball, to be held in the Eugene hotel tonight.

The ball will prove "who's who" among the campus males, since the coeds are the escorts for tonight, and will show off the cream of the male social circles on the campus. Each "date" fortunate enough to have received an invitation to the most formal campus balls, will also sport a gardenia in his tux, or white coat lapel—the dainty fragrant flower to be sent by each coed.

More Space Provided Because of the large number of tickets which have already been sold to the ball, the entire lobby and dining room of the Eugene hotel will be turned into a grand ballroom, and guests will dance to the gay rhythms of Archie Parrott and his orchestra.

A few tickets will be available at the door of the hotel, but coeds are urged to get the ducats at each women's living organization, or from Mary McCracken, who heads the ticket sales.

Kwama Pledging Planned One of the surprise features of the ball will be the pledging of new members into Kwama, sophomore women's service honorary. A number of sophomore women will be tapped and given the colors of the honorary during the evening.

Virginia Younie, president of the campus chapter of Mortar Board, is in charge of the ball. The time is 9 o'clock; the place, Eugene hotel; the order of dating is reversed, and formal attire is in order!

Roger DeBusk Visits Father

Dr. Roger DeBusk, assistant superintendent of the general hospital at Madison, Wisconsin, arrived yesterday to visit his father, Prof. B. W. DeBusk of the school of education.

After a short visit in California next week, he will return to Eugene, and spend the rest of his month's vacation here. His wife and child will join him here later.

Both Dr. and Mrs. DeBusk are graduates of the University of Oregon.

Bromberg Wins $50 In Essay Contest

Stan Bromberg, Sigma Alpha Mu, won $50 for his essay which placed fifth in a radio-essay program which ended Wednesday night. The contest was sponsored by the Blitz-Weinhard company of Portland over station KOIN.

Correction Noted

In yesterday's Emerald it was erroneously stated that Prof. Frederick S. Dunn was to speak on "The Conjunction of Virgo, Hippolyta and Mary." It should read "The Conjunction of Virgo, Hippolyta and Mary."

Seniors

The alumni office (southeast corner of Friendly hall) has been made official commencement headquarters. They are prepared to answer any questions you may have concerning your procedure during commencement week.

Tickets and information concerning the following events and procedure must be obtained at the alumni office: UNIVERSITY LUNCHEON, Saturday noon, May 30. (Seniors admitted free in caps and gowns; all friends, family, and others, 60 cents per plate.)

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE, Sunday, May 31 and COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES, Monday, June 1. (Special reserved sections for seniors in caps and gowns. Each senior will be allowed three reserved seat tickets for family and friends. The balcony will be open to the public.)

SENIOR WOMEN are urged to attend the breakfast given by the women graduates of the University, the State Association of University of Oregon Women. The breakfast is to be held at the Osburn hotel Saturday morning, May 30, at 9:00 a. m. Reservations should be made by calling 891. Tickets will be 50 cents.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR ALL SENIORS AND CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES are to be obtained from the alumni office. It is important that each senior obtain a copy of these instructions.

THE ALUMNI OFFICE will be prepared to answer your questions and give out tickets and the printed instruction blanks on the following days:

Wednesday, May 27—8 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.
Thursday, May 28—8 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.
Friday, May 29—8 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

THE UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT COMMITTEE

124 Girls Desire Male Popularity

Jameson Survey Shows the Problems of Collegiate Freshman Women

In an article Dr. S. H. Jameson, sociology professor, is now writing for the Journal of Higher Education on "Problems of Maladjustment of Freshman and Junior Girls at the University of Oregon," a study begun in 1931, 56 major problems of these girls are presented.

Out of 341 girls interviewed during spring term of 1931, 124 desired popularity with men, 114 desired wider contact with women, 90 wished for participation in more activities, 80 were disturbed about vocational uncertainty (discouragement in courses), 78 had difficulties in living in a group, 76 worried about grades, 74 were perturbed about high-hatting.

Only five girls had problems of race prejudice, four had inadequate pre-college sex instruction, and only nine specified the dislike for blind dating.

This study, says Dr. Jameson, shows that girls really suffer in adjusting themselves to an educational institution, and that parents as well as instructors should be interested to know these major problems confronting University girls throughout the year.

'Tough' Play, Well-Staged, Ends Drama Season

Ending the campus theatrical season for 1935-36, the University players under the direction of Horace Robinson struck a new note in collegiate productions here. Slightly flat in places, "Dinner at Eight" nevertheless was a surprising success considering the magnitude of the show.

This play (which will show again tonight at 8 o'clock), the toughest one undertaken by the campus players since "Dangerous Corner," cuts through the plated front of the "400" to show these figures as they really are. The sophisticated nature of the script makes "Dinner at Eight" a much harder job for college students to stage than other productions undertaken this year. In places the University players achieved that certain gloss to their performance that carried the play along at the fast pace necessary to its success.

Walden Boyle, as Oliver Jordan, the dying shipping magnate, gave an outstanding performance. Looking somewhat young for the part, he nevertheless displayed a mature interpretation of his role. His second appearance, in his office, was his best bit and could he bring the rest of his part up to this standard he would rank well up in the ranks of ace performers in Guild hall history.

Helen Campbell, as Carlotta Vance, repeated her hit performance of "Outward Bound." Her role was enjoyable. It did not require the work she put in on her "Mrs. Cliveden-Banks" but she carried it easily and the show with it.

Marian Bauer's Millicent Jordan was perhaps the most consistently played role in the show. Some felt it was slightly overdrawn, but it showed work and a successful effort to maintain an assumed character throughout.

Bob Henderson played Dan Packard, the rough westerner, smoothly as long as he kept within the bounds set by himself in rehearsal, but when he got his laughs he showed a tendency to "ham" his part which spoiled an otherwise outstanding role. If he would force himself to play the part as he knows he should and not let his audience run away with him he would be in line for great things on this campus.

William Cottrell tackled the toughest role he has met in his two years on the Guild hall stage and nearly mastered it. If his timing had been a bit more acute he would have given the outstanding performance of his career here. His part was studied, and worked out carefully. The fact that his timing was in some cases slow or too fast spoiled the effect of spontaneity necessary to the complete rendition of his role. It is safe to say that no one in the cast, with the possible exception of Boyle and one or two others, could have done a better job than Cottrell, and that would have to be proved.

The noticeable thing about "Dinner at Eight" was that the best performances were not necessarily confined to the major roles. Director Robinson saw to it that the important supporting roles included several of his more capable actors and actresses, which contributed much to the total effect of the show.

Tonight's performance will be the last showing of "Dinner at Eight."—B. H.

Annual Emerald Banquet Slated For Thursday

The annual Emerald banquet for men and women who have worked on the student daily during the past year will be held next Thursday at 6:30. The place at which the banquet will be held is not known as yet but a notice will be placed on the Journalism school bulletin board as soon as information is available.

At the banquet at which William Tugman, managing editor of the Register-Guard will preside, Editor-elect Fred Colvig will announce his staff for next year, as will Business Manager Walt Varnstrom.

Retiring Editor Robert Lucas will Business Manager Walt Varnstrom will give the Certificate of Excellence awards to his staff members and the retiring Business Manager Eldon Haberman will make the awards to the business staff.

Dr. Moore to Address Triple A Meeting

Dr. W. H. Moore, professor of sociology, will give the presidential opening address at the northern sectional meeting of the Triple A, the American Association for Advancement of Science, to be held in Seattle, June 15 to June 18. The central topic for the discussions is "The Need and Administration of Social Security." Dr. Moore, president of the northern section of the Pacific sociological society, will talk on "Gaps in American Sociological Theory."

Psychology Class Makes Trip to Salem

As the final project of the year, members of Dr. Lester Beck's abnormal psychology class made a trip to Salem yesterday to visit the insane asylum and feeble minded institute.

About 50 made the trip which was originally planned for earlier in the year but was cancelled because of weather conditions. Different forms of common types of insanity were shown to the class by asylum supervisors.

Slugsy Gunn Sends Speech With Musical Score

By HOWARD KESSLER

A letter from Slugsy Gunn, who left the campus in a Huff six after her recent defeat in the race for Junior Weekend queen, was received yesterday by the reporter who press-agented Miss Gunn. Liberally covered with Vassar fingerprints, the letter ran, but not very fast:

"Hya, kid! Hya, old boy! Hya, old sock! Hya, old bean! Hello. "Will consent to deliver valedictorian address at University commencement, if offered proper inducements. Follows text of my speech, with musical accompaniment."

THE ADDRESS

My dear, dear public: We are gathered together on this suspicious occasion to kick the dog around. For four years, or ten, as

New Manager Will Be Named Soon; 10 Students, 14 Faculty Picked

Students won a major consideration in ASUO reorganization plans yesterday, when Fred Hammond, student body president, and Grace Peck, secretary-treasurer, were named as associate members of the new educational activities board. Long-awaited announcement of student and faculty members of activities committees were also made at the meeting of the executive committee.

Hammond and Miss Peck will act in an advisory capacity to the faculty members of the educational board on deciding policies for educational activities. Their power at board meetings is equal to that of the faculty members.

Manager Appointed Soon The appointment of an educational activities manager will be made soon by President Boyer and the newly-formed educational activities board, Hammond said.

Ten students and fourteen faculty members were named to positions on forensics, publications, music and lyceum, and student welfare committees. Members of these committees will act on problems concerning their specific departments. Matters which can not be decided within the committee will be submitted to the central educational board.

Forensic Committee Members Guiding the plans for University forensic activities next year are Kessler Cannon, member of the varsity debate squad; William E. (Tex) Thomason, active in student speech groups; John L. Casteel, speech division director; Calvin Crumbaker, professor of economics; and Leslie L. Lewis, associate professor of English.

Publication Heads University publications will be under the direction of Fred Colvig, newly-appointed editor of the Oregon Emerald; Don Casciato, editor of the 1937 Oregonian; Kermit Paulsen, senior finance man; Carlton Spencer, professor of law; George Turnbull, professor of journalism; O. K. Burrell, associate professor of business administration; and George Godfrey, director of the University news bureau.

Music Planners Named Plans for music and lyceum will be made by Dan E. Clark II, active in student drama circles, Margiee Morse, active in many campus activities; John J. Landsbury, dean of the school of music; Alice Ernst, assistant professor of English; and Lance Hart, assistant professor of drawing and painting.

New Student Group On the student welfare committee, the group that will decide on all matters not under the jurisdiction of the other committees, are Martha McCall, president of the Associated Women Students; Ken

In my case, we have lived in this college immunity, isolated and fumigated. Now, we go out to lie, to gamble, to cheat and steal; in short, to live as normal American citizens.

When first I came to this University, (When You and I Were Young, Maggie) I was dumb, and sweet, and childish. Now, (The Old Grey Mare, She Ain't What She Usta Be) I'm nobody's fool (I'm Nobody's Sweetheart Now). I have learned the truth of the old proverb, "A stitch in time saves a lot of embarrassment." "Stop, look and listen, or tomorrow you may die." "Similarity breeds contempt." "People in glass houses should pull down the blinds," and "People make more noise than anybody."
