

THE CO-OP BOARD

The five student members of the Co-op Board determine the policies of the store, endeavoring to adapt this student supply shop to the needs of the University.
Two faculty members, Dean John F. Bovard and Dean James H. Gilbert, act in an advisory capacity, but the Co-op is entirely student owned and in the main student supervised.

Note Book Paper With a Reputation

Don't fight your paper. Why make writing a wrestling match between pen and paper when you can make it smooth with fine quality, hard-surfaced paper at extremely low prices? We have been able, along with twenty other college co-operative stores, to buy direct from the mill the best paper made on the Pacific Coast. In all sizes, to fit all types of looseleaf notebooks. Either lined or unlined, this fine-quality paper makes keeping notes in class a pleasure.

All the Books You Can Read for $1

Considered the largest bookstore in the upper Willamette Valley, we are able to supply the University of Oregon students with a great variety of books for rental and sale—fiction, non-fiction, the interesting, and the merely frivolous.

Term membership in the High Hat Library is $1.00, for which amount you are allowed all the books you can read.

The 'High Hat' Library

Art Supplies

In the School of Art and Architecture the Co-op maintains a supplementary department for the convenience of the art students, because of the constant demand for supplies in this school. Genial Rollin Boles is in charge of this department. Here are found artist supplies, draughting sets, paper, etc., as prescribed by the faculty of the art school.

What You Need When You Want It

TYPERSWITERS . . .

All the leading makes of typewriters—Royal, Underwood, Remington, Smith-Corona. Attractive portables for your study desk, or standard types for heavy duty. Inquire about our installment plan for payments on your typewriter right away, for you will find that clearly typed neat papers have preference over the old laboriously written, untidy ones.
