Record Frosh Class To Rally Thursday

Music Auditorium Will Be Scene for First Annual Yearling 'Jubilee'

Oregon's largest freshman class in history will "get together" Thursday night for an evening of noise, fun, hilarity, and laughter in the assembly hall of the school of music for the first annual "frosh jubilee," starting at 8 o'clock.

Ends Frosh Week

The jubilee will provide freshmen a welcome relief from a week of examinations and formal assemblies and the newcomers will be expected to "go wild" in their first informal gathering.

Hammond to Speak

Student Body Prexy Fred Hammond will head the list of speakers who will participate in the pep-creating ceremonies. Campus "big-wigs" will be introduced and prominent members of the new class of 1940 will be called to the platform.

Drama Head Back; Plans New Plays

Refreshed by a vacation visit to San Francisco and the bay region, Otilie Turnbull Seybolt, head of the University drama division, is back on the campus with many new theatrical ideas "up her sleeve."

Enjoys 'Romeo and Juliet'

In San Francisco Mrs. Seybolt saw a number of fine dramatic offerings, including "Parnell," with Otto Kruger and Edith Barrett and the roadshow presentation of the film, "Romeo and Juliet" with Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard.

Dean

Professor H. C. Howe, whose appointment as dean of the college of arts and letters heads the list of faculty changes and promotions announced by Dr. C. V. Boyer.

Hammond's Welcome

To the Class of 1940 and Other New Students, Welcome: This week will give you an excellent chance to orient yourself on the campus and also a great opportunity to make many new friends and acquaintances.

If you have any problems or difficulties in finding buildings or completing your registration in general, don't hesitate to ask anyone on the campus or elsewhere as they will be only too glad to help you.

Student Directory Being Improved

Following the trend for more student appeal, the new student directory which is to be issued the end of the second week of school will contain valuable information and interesting highlights on the University campus.

U of O Band to 'Swing It' At Fall Games, Rallies

University of Oregon students will be pleased to know that the Webfoot pep band will continue to "swing it" at athletic contests this year. A reorganized 38-piece "swing time" band will furnish the music at all Duck rallies and between-half ceremonies.

Howe Appointed Acting Dean of Arts, Letters

Other Staff Promotions, Additions Announced By President Boyer; Personnel Larger

Professor Herbert Crombie Howe, member of the faculty of the University of Oregon since 1901 and chairman of the department of English, has been made acting dean of the college of arts and letters, it was announced by Dr. C. Valentine Boyer, University president.

During his 35 years at Oregon, Dean Howe has become widely known as a teacher and his classes in literature have always been popular. During this time he has also done considerable writing and has had poetry and articles published in various magazines.

Information Book Ready at YMCA Hut

"What Does Education Mean to Freshmen?" study methods, budgeting of time, and participation of students in extra-curricular activities, are only a part of the advice for freshmen contained in the "Green Invasion" issue of the Intercollegian, which freshmen may have for the asking at the YMCA building during rush week.

Dr. Boyer Welcomes Class of '40

The faculty and the administration extend to the entering class of 1940 a warm welcome. We are delighted to see you on the campus and hope that you will soon come to think of this campus as your home and make it a home to be proud of.

ROTC Fight Hot As Vote Push Opens

Student leaders of the initiative to make military training non-compulsory in the state schools of Oregon will launch a unified pre-election campaign next week. Although the Oregon Committee for Peace and Freedom, sponsor, has been active throughout the summer, a new high in peace education is planned for the coming six weeks preceding election.

The measure went on the ballot with nearly 2,000 names to spare last spring, and will be the center of more interest than any other this fall, it is expected. The OCFP during the summer has issued bi-weekly bulletins to a mailing list of nearly 1500. It has arranged for articles in the leading liberal and student publications of the nation, has issued news releases, and filled speaking engagements.

The optionalists held forth at a booth at the state fair, distributing nearly 10,000 leaflets and other literature on the non-compulsory initiative. Eight publications of the Noncompulsory Initiative bulletin are contemplated, of which four have already been published.

Flood

Old timers on the Oregon campus will say "hello" to the class of 1940 at the first campus dance following the Portland game Friday evening, and Dan Flood, above, and his popular orchestra are to furnish the music.

'Hello' Dance Opens Fall Social Season

Dan Flood's Swing Band Will Play; Club Tickets To Be Placed on Sale

A gala, informal opening of Oregon's fall term social season will follow the University of Portland football game Friday night, when Skull and Dagger, sophomore service honorary, stages the "Hello" dance for freshman students in Gerlinger hall.

AWS Plans Mass Meet And Dance

Freshman activities and orientation, plans for an AWS harvest dance and arrangements for the annual associated women's mass meeting for new University girls are among matters to be discussed at the AWS, YWCA, WAA planning conference to be held September 29.

Martha McCall, president of the associated women students, said that mass sales will be handled by the AWS as in former years, and that the girls' rally team, an innovation last fall, will continue to add pep and Oregon spirit at football and basketball games.

A harvest dance to be given early this term will be a new enterprise this year.

Officers and committee heads to be present at the conference are Martha McCall, AWS president; Helen Bartrum, vice-president; Gale Buchanan, secretary; Laurene Brockschink, reporter; Isabelle Miller, social chairman; Josephine McGilchrist, frosh counselor chairman; Vivian Emery, frosh orientation chairman; Gladys Battleson, speaker's committee chairman; Genevieve McNiece, Kwama-Thesplan advisor; Jane Bogue, activity chairman; and Erna Huston, president of Orides.

WAA Also Convenes

Elaine Comish, YWCA president, and Frances Watzek, president of the women's athletic association, will present plans for their organizations for the coming year.

A special AWS election will be held soon to fill offices vacated by Elizabeth Ann DeBusk, treasurer, and Martha Felsheim, sergeant-at-arms.

Sorority Rushing Resumes Tuesday

Sorority rushing for women will be resumed Tuesday night after a silent period following the Sunday tea at which all sororities entertained.

Tuesday dinner will open the rushing, and will continue with luncheon, dinner, and evening engagements throughout the week until Friday, which is preference night. At this time women signify the house of their choice by going there for dinner, upon invitation.

Panhellenic Lists Rules for Houses, Rushees; Hours Are Announced

All rushing supervised by the Panhellenic association, and all rushees and houses must observe the rules. Date cards were taken to the Eugene hotel last night, and may be called for there. Answers to these invitations must be in the Panhellenic office by 2:30 Monday afternoon. No girl may have more than six dates with any one house exclusive of Sunday tea and preference night.

Preference Bids Thursday

A house cannot ask for preference night until Thursday at 6:30 p. m. When a house asks a girl for preference, it means that they are interested in her, and if she accepts, it means that she wishes to join that house. However, acceptance of preference night is in no way binding upon the rushee.

Job Hunters Show Larger Enrollment

This year's enrollment will be much greater than last year, if the number of people coming to Janet Smith's employment office at the YMCA is any indication.

All Saturday the outer office was so full of prospective student-laborers that the Emerald reporter had to resort to the telephone in order to reach Miss Smith.

But the increased number of students looking for jobs doesn't daunt the vigorous employment officer.

Campus Dignitaries To Be Introduced to Entering Students

The class of 1940 will meet for the first time tonight at 8 o'clock in the music auditorium to receive official welcome to the Oregon campus.

Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor of the Oregon state system of higher education, and Dr. C. V. Boyer, president of the University, will be the principal speakers among the many University leaders to be presented to the incoming freshmen.

As the audience gathers, John Stark Evans, professor of music, will play organ music.

Freshmen will be introduced to "Mighty Oregon," "As I Sit and Dream at Evening," and other songs dear to the hearts of Oregon students, while a double quartet from the University choir holds the platform.

Hunter to Welcome Frosh

Chancellor Hunter will be introduced and will give a brief welcome to the new students.

With Dean of Personnel Karl W. Onthank presiding, campus dignitaries will be introduced, each speaking a few words welcoming the newcomers to Oregon.

100 Students Join Coop Organizations

New Group of Men Take Phi Mu House; Women, SAC Strengthening

The unprecedented growth of student cooperatives will be reflected on the Oregon campus this fall with 100 or more students living in such houses. Every unit in the fast-growing movement reports increased enrollment, and the necessity of turning away many applicants because of limited facilities.

The Student's Cooperative Living association, the University's pioneer venture, will move into a new and larger house at 1332 Kin-

Larger '37 Oregana Has New Features

A modern, informal yearbook, greater in volume by 80 pages than the 1936 book, boasting several original innovations, and representing pictorially every group on the campus and as many individuals as is technically possible, will be the Oregana of 1937, edited by Don Casciato, senior in the school of journalism.

"Every page an improvement is our byword," says Casciato. "Groundwork for actual publication of the book has been laid during the summer months and all indications point to an Oregana finer than any ever printed on the campus.
